EPIZOOTIC IN VIRGINIA.

The Horse Epidemic.

[From the Norfolk Journal of yesterday.] There is no abatement in the disease in this city, but all the cases seem to be yielding to the treatment employed. Not a single death has occurred thus far, and it is hoped we have seen the worst of the disease. There is a noticeable absence of trucks and hacks on the streets, and

HAND CARTS are used to transfer freight and baggage from the wharves and depots to various parts of the city. The hotel teams are all sick, and the proprietors meet with much difficulty in transporting the baggage of their guests to and from the hotels.

The horses and mules of the City Railroad are still sick-a few of them will recover sufficiently to resume horses of the fire department are sick, but on a push they can be used.

The malady seems to be spreading in Portsmouth. Out of fifteen carts employed daily at the wood dock, there were but five on duty yesterday, the rest being laid up with the prevailing epizootic. The fire department is partially prostrated, the horses of the Independent Fire Company being down with the disease and the others being closely confined to avoid the contagion. The apparatus of the Friendship Hook and Ladder Company has been fitted up to run by hand, and their draught horse will be kept as distant from the contagion as possible. Horses infected with the disease should not be allowed to drink from the horse troughs at the town pumps, for by this means the virus from the infected brutes is communicated to those animals that drink after them. They authorities should order the immediate stabling of all brutes affected with the disorder.

From the Petersburg Index.]

The Horse Malady.

We are sorry to hear that the horse plague has extended very generally throughout the city, and that a large number of animals are prostrated by it. Fortunately the disease, as so far developed, is of a mild and comparatively innocuous type, and there have been no serious symptoms which sufficed to excite alarm. We learn that the horses of both the express companies are all affected, though special pains and care were taken, in the case of the Southern Express Company, we know, to prevent the malady from reaching its stables. Many of the horses of Stone & Friend are said to be sick-one rather severely. Messrs. Marks & Friend have a sick horse and one sick mule. Indeed, the disease is said to be all over the city, though no death has ensued from it.

We know of no better advice to give than that frequently reported in these columns, to pay special attention to diatetic and hygienic regulations, and let the disease have its

The Discovery of the Violator and Murderer of Young Miss Day. CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 3, 1872.

On the morning of the 25th ultimo the young grand daughter of Sylvester Day, of Northwood, about twentyfive miles distant from here, suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. All efforts to ascertain a cause for her voluntary absence were unavailing, as were also all efforts to discover her whereabouts. In a day or two circumstances transpired to lead to the belief that she had been murdered, and was very two same was suspected as the murderer. Suspicions were so strong against him that the Deputy Sheriff of the town was persuaded to take him into custody, although there was no evidence to justify such a proceeding. Evans, upon being arrested, stoutly denied all knowledge of the whereabouts of the young lady, and at length there was a reaction in the public feeling against him. The story that the girl had eloped obtained general belief. Sheriff Drew, however, did not share in the opinion, but felt and that old Evans was the murderer. He employed all sorts of means to get him to confess the suspected crime, finally telling him that if he would own up and disclose the whereabouts of the body he would assist him in his escape to Canada and also give one-half of the reward which had been

What the "Tribune" Said Before the Election.

The campaign has been a bitter and active one. We believe it will result in great good. If Mr. Greeley is elected to-morrow the Reforms for which the Liberal Convention declared will at once be set in motion. seriously-but with the continuance If he is defeated, the movement is of good weather it is thought they only delayed. - The Warrenton Gazette speaks very favorably of the address of Hon. K. P. Battle at the Weldon fair last week.

- A Court has been setting here for the trial of some fellow for stealing a hundred dollars, says the Charlotte Home. If he had stolen a hundred thousand, he would be a great man in the party.

- The body of an infant, apparantly about a month old, was found on the road about a mile the other side of the Lunatic Asylum, on Saturday night. It had been dead some hours, says the Sentinel.

- The Charlotte Home regrets to learn that Mrs. John D. Rankin and her daughter, on returning from church on the 27th instant, were thrown out of the buggy. The old lady had her arm put out of place and Miss Jane had her arm broken.

- We saw yesterday two colored men, brothers, that had six fingers on each hand, and they also had two other brothers that had six fingers, making four in the family. The sixth finger grew next to the small finger, was completely formed, and was about half the size of the little finger. -Newbern Times.

- We have been shown, by J. H. Steadman, Esq., says the Newbern Times, a pair of the sabre fish, or silver eel, which were caught by Mr. Thomas Dixon. They were caught at Morehead City and are a curiosity, being in shape not unlike a sabre without a guard. They appear to be a com-bination of Spanish mackerel and eel, and are transparent when held to the light. This is the second specimen we ever saw of this rare fish, and we are of the opinion that they are not to be found north of Hatteras.

- Of the two stores burned yesterday morning in Raleigh the News, of the same morning, says: Major Williams was insured in one of P. F. Pescud's agencies for $500 upon his stock. Mr. Betts was uninsured. The buildings belonged to the estate of Kimbra Jones, and were uninsured. There was a dead calm at the time or the flames would have spread either way for two or three squares, as there was no water in reach of the hose. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. Loss about $3,000 above insurance.

The vote at Weldon precinct was 452 for Grant and 196 for Greeley, with 2 scattering votes. The Governor's vote was, Caldwell 418: Merrimon 215. No returns from the other townships, but the vote will probably hold out in the same ratio as here. It was Local Dots. quiet throughout the day.

WILSON, Nov. 5. There is nothing definite so far. This township has given Grant a majority of 6, a Democratic loss of 48. No other precinct heard from. It is thought the county is in doubt, with the chances in Grant's favor. There was less interest manifested to-day thon at any election since the war. O'Conor received 8 votes.

GOLDSBORO, Nov. 5. The election in Goldsboro township was the quietest ever held here. About 100 registered whites failed to vote, while the negroes voted their full strength. The result in the township is 310 for Greeley to 513 for Grant, a Radical gain of 83 on the August vote. No straight-outs.

Beports from the country precincts indicate great apathy on the part of the whites. Nahunta township reports 32 Radical gain. Boon Hill township, Johnston county, had no Greeley tickets until supplied from here at 3 o'clock P. M.

MOREHEAD CITY, Nov. 5. Grant's majority in Morehead precinct is 16, a Republican gain of 40. The Conservatives did not poll anything like their strength and there seemed to be a lack of interest felt over the county. Greeley's majority at Newport precinct is 12, a Republican gain of 13.

The day was quiet and orderly. Grant's majority in Newbern Township, including the city, is 958, a Republican gain of 66. In James City Grant's majority is 443, a Republican gain of 11. The indications are that Grant's majority in Craven county will be from 1,600 to 1,700. The Democratic vote is very light.
