The Horse Disease in Wilmington. That fearful and infectuous equine mala dy, the epizootic, has at last put in positive appearance in this city. We have heard of isolated cases of sick horses for a week or so past, which were thought to be the genuine malady, but not until yesterday was its presence made positively apparent. The day previous some of the horses in Southerland & Steagall's stables were taken sick, and yesterday morning every horse in the establishment, some 51 or 52 in number, were found to be more or less affected with the horse disease. They do not permit a single horse to go out of the stable, dose them judiciously with remedies, and try to keep up the same temperature of the body night and day. There are no very serious cases, and by the careful treatment adopted they hope not to lose a case.

Mr. C. C. Redd also has a horse similarly affected, and we hear that several of Mr. F. W. Kerchner's draft horses have the malady. Until it was positively pronounced the horse disease, we have been careful not to give publicity to the report of its appearance, for fear of creating unnecessary alarm, but we are also careful to publish it the earliest moment we are convinced that it is here.

ttempted Robbery.

Some thief or thieves attempted to break into the store of Mr. Wm. Ulrich, corner of Front and Church streets, on Tuesday night, but failed to effect an entrance. Mr. Ulrich heard a noise just before day, which he is now confident was made by the party trying to get into the store, but as it ceased almost immediately he thought no more of it at the time. Upon getting up and opening the store, however, he found two auger holes bored through the window shutter, which was positive evidence of nocturnal visitors with thievish intent, and its is taken for granted that they were frightened from their purpose by some one passing the street.

THE FAIR.

Fourth Annual Fair of the Cape Fear

Agricultural Association. VIOLITY THE SECOND DAY.

The day proved propitious and the Fair Grounds presented rather a more animated seene. A considerable number of visitors having arrived the night previous, quite crowd assembled by noon. It is estimated that during the day there were between 2,000 and 3,000 visitors upon the grounds. Prominent among the attractions were the inevitable which seem to cluster like fate around every exhibition of the character.

In the matter of exhibitions, there was marked improvement on the day previous. In the department of Field Crops and also in the ladies department of Fancy Needle Work and Finer Arts the exhibition was very fine-in these two exceeding all previous Fairs of the Association. But the other departments were far inferior and we confess to a great feeling of disappointment as regards these.

We early took occasion to stroll over the grounds and note what was especially meritorious in the exhibitions. We particularize as follows:

Farmer & Wainwright, Wilson, Graves cotton planter, convertable plow, and a variety of other plows; the Edgecombe Agricultural works exhibited a cotton planter and a choice selection of Edgecombe plows: Dawson, Teel & Henning exhibited a variety of plows, a pulverizing harrow and Brown cotton gin; Mitchell, Allen & Co. had a fine variety of plows; Peter E. Smith, Halifax, cotton planter, sulky plow; G. Z. French, Yankee horse hoe; the wonderful cotton picker was a most attractive and curious exhibition; DeRosset & Co., Taylor's cotton gin; W. E. Tanner & Co., Richmond, 10 horse power portable farm engine, convert able frame and wheels; J. Weller, Wilmington, peanut cleaner; Hart & Bailey, Brook's revolving cotton and hay press.

Having been sufficiently amused with agricultural implements, we proceeded to the poultry yard and there noted among others the following:

C. B. Southerland, game chickens, native ducks, brahma chickens; John Daniel, brahma fowls; T. C. Lewis, game chickens 5 months old, Poland geese: H. E. Scott. game fowls; J. G. Arrington exhibited 5 coops of his choicest fowls, including Irish top knots, red house stags, stone fence game, imported silver cock and dusty miller hen; Mrs. C. W. McClammy, magnificent barn yard fowls, brahma hen and chickens; Miss Lou McMillan exhibited a quantity of fowls, competing for the largest variety; J. W. Schenck had quite a number of white Holland, bronze and Dolly Varden turkeys.

Sauntering to the stock pens, we found in the hog line: Fine Essex boar and sow, by C. W. McClammy; H. E. Scott had on exhibition a Chester boar 2 years old, sow and litter of pigs 9 days old; J. R. Thigpen, of Edgecombe, Poland-China boar, 5 months

In the way of cattle, J. R. Thigpen exhibited a fine fat ox; W. A. Faison, of Sampson, had quite a collection of good cattle, among them a grade cow, Devon bulls, Devon heifers, Devon cows, and a large genuine Brahman bull; M. J. Faison, of Sampson, heifer, Devon and Durham cows, Devon bulls and Devon and Durham cows; Northrop & Cumming, Alderney cow; Miss Adele Smith, heifer; Dr. J. E. Winants, 3 year old bull, native breed; Jerry

Among the horses and mules we mention specially: Dr. W. D. McMillan, lady's saddle mare, brood mare and colt, 4 year old stallion. G. Z. French, saddle mare, fine pair mules, brood mare. Moore, of Wayne, trotting and pacing mare Fannie Bear. Willard Bros., single harness horse native breed. F. W. Kerchner, Normandy draft mare, buggy horse.

Passing from the outside grounds to the exhibition building we found on the ground floor the following specimens deserving notice: G. Z. French, bread corn, sweet potatoes, English turnips, peanuts, millet. J-R. Thigpen, black oats, bread corn. C. W. McClammy, elegant specimen unwashed peanuts, turnips, large sweet potatoes. In addition to these there were other fine specimens corn, wheat, oats, turnips, 3:11 and 3:16. potatoes, quite a quantity of hay, etc. A large pumpkin, weighing probably over 50 lbs, and raised by H. Armstrong, of Bladen, attracted particular attention. On the same floor were fine specimens of brick exhibted by Willard Bros. and Dr. H. H. Robinson, D. W. Ketchum, M. Leving and W. C. Jackson exhibited barrels of fine pale rosin. Dawson, Teel & Henning had a quantity of wood work, wheels, etc.; Parker & Taylor, an excellent display of stoves; Wilder & Morton and Willard Bros., spirit barrels; A. Oldham, flour, meal and pearl hominy; DeRosset & Co., bagging and ties. On the first floor above we noted the following specially: Large variety of dried fruit, by Jas. Norwood; smoking tobacco by Webb & Roulhac, fine display of liquors by A. Greenwald & Co.; handsome assortments of drugs ect., by W. Cowan Green, and Green & Flanner. We were particularly struck with the immense cotton stalk, exhibited in a glass case on this floor by Arthur C. Smith, of Cumberland, over 6 feet high and containing about 300 bolls, of the specimen known as the twin and tripple boll cotton. Parker & Taylor, made a creditable exhibition of lamps and bousehold ware, etc. But one of the most bril-Hant displays was a large case containing ware and jewelry by T. W. Brown & Sons. Hofflin & Rich, and Munson & Co., display of clothing. Heinsberger, the irrepressible, had a fine exhibition of paintings, books, etc., and also, some of his celebrated pianos, and cabinet organs. His corner the ladies found quite attractive. There were also quite a number of sewing machines of the Howe and Wheeler & Wilson manufacture. J. C. Stevenson had quite a creditable assortment of fancy groceries; Geo. R. French, boots and shoes; Dawson, Teel & Henning, edged tools; J. S. Topham & Co., harness, trunks, valises, rugs, blankets, etc.; A. Eichland, Petersburg, leather and calf skins We now come to the handsomest exhibition of the Fair, one which we find it particularly difficult to refer to with just discrimination, but to which we feel irresistably attracted. Last, but chief among all, we would speak of the ladies and their beautiful arrangement of, and exhibitions in, FLORAL HALL.

This was most handsomely decorated, and the fruits of the industry and skill of the fair sex were visible everywhere. All was plain sailing until we got here, when we confess to being considerably puzzled how to particularize amid the array of needle work and other fancy articles which met the eye. They are too numerous to mention as fully as we have done in other departments, so we confine ourselves to the following, which struck us as being most noteworthy: Mrs. C. M. Wesson, of Edgecombe, exhibited a tidy, the delicate finish and beauty of which surpasses description; Miss Laura P. Clark, of Edgecombe, handsome specimens of embroidery; Mrs. J. T. Wiggins, of Wilson, had 175 handsome articles of needle work on exhibition; Mrs. David Anderson, zephyr wool-work; Mrs. McGowan, Raleigh, zephyr wool-work. Miss Placide Engelhard, Wilmington, aged 14, exhibited several handsome specimens of needlework; Miss Sue Collier, table mats; Miss O. A. Wiggins, Mrs. J. W. Atkinson, Mrs. W. G. McNeeley, elegant afghans; mats and tidy by a child 10 years old; sofa cushon, Mrs. T. H. McKoy; infant's dress, 150 years old, Mrs. B. Gleaves. There was also a handsome display of silk quilts and counterpanes, and the finest assortment and specimens of rag carpets we have ever seen. Tidys, mats, baby sacques and cotton socks were scattered around in profusion. The culinary department presented a small though tempting display of bread, biscuit, cakes, pies, preserves, candy, etc. A most attractive and exquisite arrangement of a cross clustered around with fern leaves and phantom flowers was exhibited by Mrs. E. R. McGowan, of Raleigh. Miss A. Green exhibited curious specimens of flowers formed and cut from such vegetables as beets, earrots, turnips and potatoes.-Among the curiosities was a piece of lace from the ruffle of an immediate ancestor of the Roulhacs, of Hillsboro, worn at the first inauguration ball of George Washington. Another curiosity was a silver elephant, sur-on the beach near this city, and exhibited by Mrs. R. Shields, of Richmond, Va. Mrs. Shields is now 76 years old and certifies that this interesting relic was presented to Blucher by Frederic William of Blucher. It formerly had a glass card reciever which having grown thin with age and service, was replaced by the above described unique arrangement. In the way of drawings and patntings there were some fine exhibitions by Miss Kate Burr, and scholars of Misses. Burr & James' school, Mrs. J. M. Robbinson, Miss M. W. James, Miss Mary Ryan and Miss Sallie Price. Miss E. D. McIlheny exhibited an elegant oil painting of Beatrice which attracted especial and deserved attention. The whole appearance and attractions of Floral Hall were added to and set off by an elegant display of plants by Mrs. H. Webb. Having paid our respects to the exhibitions we went outside to view the

These did not amount to much. Besides some scrub racing there was only one of any importance. Moore's pacing mare Fannie Bear, was entered against Mr. Smith's, of Cumberland, trotting horse Henry Clay-mile heats, best 2 in 3, for Association purse. The race was won by Fannie in 2 straight heats, made respectively in

THE BALLOON ASCENSION came off just before sunset. An immense canvass balloon having been filled with heated air was let go from its moorings at a given signal and a young man ascended with startling rapidity upon a trapeze attached in place of a basket. The balloon ascended amid the shouts of the crowd to an altitude approximating 1,500 feet, when it began to descend and finally alighted safely in a few minutés about three-fourths of a mile from the grounds. This was truly an interesting and hazardous exhibition and is well worth seeing.

A correspondent, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athes, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their goods. Dr. Aver's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Arcopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. When the pure medicinal restorative, now so widely known as Undlehe Wolfe's Schiedam Schnaffs, was introduced into the world under the endorsement of four themsand leading members of the medical profession, some twenty years ago, its proprietor was well aware that it could not wholly escape the penalty attached to all new and useful preparations. He, therefore, endeavored to invest it with the strongest possible safegnard against counterfeiters and imitators, to render all attempts to pirate it difficult and dangerous. It was submitted to distinguished chemists for analysis, and pronounced by them the purest spirits ever manufactured. Its purity and properties having been thus ascertained, samples of the article were forwarded to ten thousand physicians, including all the leading practitioners in the United States, for the purpose of experiment. A circular, requesting a trial of the preparation and report of the result, accompanied each specimen. Four thousand of the most eminent medical men in the Union promptly responded. Their opinions of the article were unanimously favorable. Such a preparation, they said, had long been wanted by the profession, as no reliance could be placed on the ordinary liquors of commerce, all of which were more or less adulterated, and therefore unfit for medicinal purposes. The *peculiar excellence and strength of the oil of juniper, which formed one of the principal ingredients of the Schnapps, together with an unalloyed character of the slocholic element, give it, in the estimation of the faculty, a marked superiority over every other diffusive stimulant as a diuretic, tonic and restorative.

Triumphant for Twenty Years.—More than twenty years ago the Musrane LIMINERT made its debut in the West. Its cures of the various expenses and cattle, astonished the its debut in the West. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive sale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, earache, toothache, and other external aliments of mankind. Then it was tried as a healing, pain killing application, in cases of outward injury, such as cuts, bruises, burns, spasms, &c., and was found equally serviceable.—The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful fills that effect mankind and the lower animals, spread rapidly, and Musrana Likhman coon took rank in every lights and Territory of the Union as a Standard Course.
