THE SPIRIT OF THE SOUTH.

The spirit of the South is to make any sacrifice, if by making it it is possible to give permanent, substantial peace to the country. If to accomplish this pacification, it is deemed necessary in future national elections to be silent about our wrongs, very well, we can be so. We are willing to bear all our ills uncomplainingly, if in bearing them there is afforded hope for the whole country. "Let us have peace," says Mr. Greeley in a Tribune editorial, "is a cuckoo song; but let us try to have it nevertheless."

To us the field of ambition is now narrowed down considerably. If the country can be made happy and prosperous by the adoption of any line of policy, we are satisfied. Loving the glories of constitutional rule as the apple of our eye, if our friends at the North think we can render aid in the restoration of these glories by abstaining from active participation in the political questions that shall arise in the future, we will most cheerfully turn over to them the management of said questions, with not a word of regret.

The South has only sought justice. Still it may be that the seeking has been misconstrued into a demand. Henceforth let there be no ground for misconstruction. We will attend to our ploughing and reaping, our counting houses and workshops, the opening and working of our mines of gold, silver, iron and coal, the getting out of building timbers, and all the pursuits that make for the material advancement of a people. Political control and all the exciting objects of political ambition we will leave in the hands of the Northern people. We quit not in disgust, but we quit for the purpose of showing the people of the country that we are more anxious to have peace, rest, plenty and all the blessings of civil government than we are to have even a special vindication of our own rights so grievously trampled upon by the Administration and its henchmen.

This is the spirit of our people. We care not if we be deemed craven in its exhibition. The world at least will give us credit for sagacity. But we are not craven in making sacrifices for so noble an object. There is a heroism attaching to the idea of self-sacrifice that gives it a moral grandeur. We made sacrifices in supporting old political antagonists for President and Vice-President. We are prepared to make even greater ones now, if in making them we more certainly assure victory for Conservatism four or eight years hence.

BITTERNESS CANNOT LAST FOREVER.

The bitterness of the late contest has taught the country a lesson. We think in the future we shall have less crimination and vilification. We hope those people at the North who have given too easy credence to the blood-and-thunder diatribes of their orators respecting the South, will see in the noble bearing of our people under contumely and defeat something better than they have been taught to believe concerning us. One thing we feel assured of. The bitter feelings engendered in the recent campaign will leave too sore a memory for the same things to occur again soon. And we are disposed to think that the acrimony that has marked our political canvasses generally in the past will not characterize the contests of the future.

COL. A. A. MCKOY.

We published yesterday the proceedings of the meeting of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association, held on Friday night. It was seen that Col. S. L. Fremont declined re-election, and that Col. A. A. McKoy, of Sampson, was elected President of the society for the ensuing year. This is a most admirable selection. Col. McKoy is a gentleman of large intelligence, practical experience and indomitable energy. We look forward to his administration with perfect confidence that it will give satisfaction and make our Fairs the best in North Carolina and the equal of any in the Southern States. It can be made so, if the people will encourage the worthy and able President in the efforts he will make.

President Thiers has been selected as an arbitrator on a colonial question which has arisen between England and Portugal.

BOSTONIC REGENERATION.

Boston has shown a wonderful recuperative energy. Her merchants hardly waited for the flames to be extinguished before they went to New York and laid in new stocks. Places of business to meet temporary exigencies were speedily exterminated. American energy is now world-famed. Chicago astonished the world by her display of enterprise in re-building, and Boston is not a whit behind in showing that whimpering over calamity is not the best policy of restoration.

It is to be hoped that the new city will be a great improvement on the old, and especially in the matter of the arrangement of the streets and their width. Narrow streets are an abomination as regards the convenience of the public, and are a constant menace to the safety and security of property holders.

The Charleston News miscredits our article on "Hotspur Criticism" to the Wilmington Journal.

TIMELY TOPICS.

The acquittal of young Fowell at Brentsville, Virginia, of the crime of murdering the seducer of his sister, James F. Clark, of the particulars of which transaction the public are familiar, is a matter for deep reflection. 1. Are such crimes as Clark committed ever to be punished by the relatives of the injured party taking the law into their own hands? 2. If seduction like rape, be punishable by personal violence, did Fowell take the right course in inflicting it upon Clark at the time and under the circumstances? 3. The jury-act of the question. As to the first head. Seduction is certainly a crime of magnitude, and should be punished. The law is imperfect. We need adequate legislation. The old common law which only gives damages for loss of service is a standing shame, which should be wiped out by proper statutory provisions. We think that the circumstances of a homicide in the nature of family vindication should determine whether the departure from legal modes of obtaining redress is justifiable homicide or murder. In the case of Fowell, the facts look ugly. His vengeance was wreaked in cool blood, after Clark had been put behind the bars of a prison. There was deliberation in the act, and seemingly cowardice. We also think the acquittals in all cases, in this conspicuously, on the hazy plea of insanity is a contemptible subterfuge. That insanity that lasts only for a moment is verily sham. It is a disgrace to the legislation of the age, which cannot be too speedily effaced, that a jury is compelled to resort to such subterfuges. The law ought to pronounce whether the death of a seducer in all cases—or if not in all, in what cases—is murder. If death is to be made the penalty of seduction, it ought to be made so by law. But if the shooting of the seducer is right, it ought to be legalized. Let us have no more pleas of temporary insanity.

The Boston Transcript is a "brick." Since the fire it has been firing off its squibs as if that event was only a great occasion for the explosion of its pent up wit. The following are specimens: "Our 'pi' is baked this time." "Benjamin Franklin stands fir well, if he did lose his birthplace. His statue does not even squint towards Milk street this morning, but with eyes right and the old accustomed smile, he seems to say to every passer-by: 'Up and at it again, boys.' "The Post of to-day must have been set up post-haste." "The gunpowder plots of Sunday morning were in the cause of safety and humanity." "We notice at a store on Washington street, 'No smoking on these premises' is down this morning." "Gunpowder, administered internally in large doses, is an excellent remedy for fiery eruptions—if applied early." Some representatives of the Pilot, Evening Gazette and Transcript sniped hot on Saturday without going to the Boston Press dinner.

The principle of Minority Representation—that is, of dividing a State into districts whereof each chooses three members to its House of Representatives, and enabling the political minority to choose one of these by voting three for him only—has had its first full trial at the recent election in Illinois, and is generally approved. Under it there is more just distribution of representatives according to the real strength of parties.—Pennsylvania has just entered on the revision of her Constitution through a Convention composed of some of the ablest men of both parties in the State. Among these is ex-Senator and late gubernatorial candidate Charles R. Buckalew, who is a master of the subject of Minority Representation. It is thought that through the influence of such friends of reform as Buckalew, Meredith and Curtin that this or some other plan will be devised for purifying elections in the Buck Eye State.

The situation in Louisiana is peculiar. There has been a contest in the returning board as to the eligibility of two of the members. The Grant Custom house faction tried to get control, but an intimation of their conspiracy having been given, Gov. Warmoth promptly checked the movement and secured sufficient influence in the board to throw out two ineligible members. One of the ousted members has issued an injunction against the person seated in his place, but it is believed the Supreme Court will sustain the Governor's friend, as the Chief Justice has given an opinion against the eligibility of the contestants. The result of this contest will decide how the vote of the Pollock State shall be declared in the Presidential election.

Cleveland is willing to offer a concession on advantageous terms, to the little girl at Fort Huron who drowns children sets a day.

PALMETTO LEAVES.

Several of the escaped convicts from the Richland county jail have been recaptured.

Dr. M. M. Sams has been appointed health officer at St. Helena, vice Dr. Ahern, to date from July 1, says the News. Dr. Ahern abandoned the position because he could get no pay for his services.

On last Tuesday afternoon, says the Charleston News, Mr. George F. Habenhin, a grocer residing on South Bay street, was struck over the head with a stick and knocked down by a negro named Harvey Wilson.

The South Carolinian regrets to learn that a span of the bridge which is being erected over the Wateree at Camden, S. C., fell on Monday, killing a colored man and wounding two others who were at work on it.

Dr. Edward Smith, Demonstrator of Anatomy in the South Carolina University, has tendered his resignation of that position. His successor is Dr. John Watson, of Yorkville, a young man and a graduate of the Baltimore Medical College.

The business men of Columbia will be pained to learn of the death of that estimable officer of the South Carolina Railroad, Mr. Jno. E. Marley, which took place at Aiken, after a brief attack of pneumonia, says the South Carolinian.

Joe Howard, who was arrested in Augusta yesterday by telegram from Aiken, charged with robbing a dead man of $250, was returned to this place yesterday evening, says the Journal. He gave bond and was released, after a few minutes in the calaboose.

Yesterday, says the Columbia Union, a boy, while chasing a rabbit through the burial ground, corner of Barnwell and Richland streets, known as the Taylor graveyard, came suddenly upon a canvass bag lying on ground, and on examining the same found it to contain the dead body of a male mulatto infant.

The Synod of South Carolina, says the Carolinian met at the Presbyterian Church, Columbia, Wednesday evening. Rev. H. R. Dickson called the body to order, and preached the opening sermon. The new organization was then made. Rev. J. O. Linsay was elected Moderator, Rev. R. A. Mickle, temporary clerk, and General W. L. T. Prince, assistant clerk.

Two inquests were held in Columbia on the 13th. The first was on the case of the colored girl killed on the 14th instant by falling from a train at the Greenville and Columbia Railroad depot in this city. The jury found a verdict of accidental death. The second case was that of a negro woman who had a white child strangled and the body thrown into a vacant lot, and the verdict was wilful murder.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE KEY TO HEALTH.
It is the easiest thing in the world to lose the blessing of health, but when lost it is not so easy to regain it. The popular idea of fifty years ago that a tremendous scouring of the bowels was an essential element of cure in almost all diseases has fortunately for mankind been pretty effectually exploded. The introduction of Ho-tetter's Stomach Bitters, nearly a quarter of a century ago, may be said to have given the coup de grace to drastic purgation. The world has learned from the beneficial effects produced by that admirable preparation, that one medicine may embrace the three properties of a tonic, a laxative, and an alterative; that the three curative processes of invigoration, purification and regulation may be compassed at the same time by the operation of a single agreeable remedy. There are sound, philosophical reasons for the remarkable improvement which the Bitters occasion in the condition of a debilitated and unbalanced system. This pure combination of vegetable juices not only strengthens the stomach, stimulates the appetite and braces the nerves, but also imparts tone and vigor to the secretory organs—the skin, the liver, and the kidneys; and if the blood has become too thin and watery to furnish the body properly with energy and vitality that "raw material" of all the solid portions of the frame. At this period of the year, when intermittent fevers, bilious disorders, stomach complaints, and dysentery and diarrhetic ailments are always more or less prevalent, it is especially imperative that the best and most reliable remedy should be used to counteract the malarious conditions which generate them. An accession of general vigor is necessary to enable the system to resist the morbid influence of the malarious vapors which rise from the earth at this season, and of all the known invigorants, Ho-tetter's Bitters is the safest and most effective.

Pain Killer.
The Most Popular Medicine Extant.
OVER THIRTY YEARS
SINCE THE INTRODUCTION OF
PERRY DAVIS'
Pain Killer.
After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good names by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for its efficacy and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity. The various ills for which the Pain-Killer is an unfailing cure, are too well known to require recapitulation in this advertisement. As an external and internal medicine the Pain-Killer stands unrivalled. Thirty years is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors' claim for it is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.
