The anomaly is presented of two Leg slatures in Alabama, each representing a party. The regular body, met at the State House in Montgomery Monday and were in each House regularly called to order, but owing to the recalcitrancy of the Radicals, no quorum being present, it adjourned until yesterday. The cause of the want of quorum was the arrest on a trumped charge of violat-

the enforcement act of four members from Marengo county, Conservatives, by a United States Marshal. These men were detained in Mobile until a bogus Legislature could be organized by the Radicals, by receiving persons claiming to represent Marengo, but who did not have certificates of election. This bogus Legislature has a quorum. The real Legislature will have a quorum to-day on the arrival of the members from Marengo.

The whole affair exhibits the real animus of the lawless Radical party. They thought they saw a chance by adopting a highhanded policy of converting the small Conservative majority into a majority for their party, and by the aid of the U.S. authorities thus inaugurate their nefarions programme which we hope the men of Alabama will have the manliness to

THE CITY

Mayor's Court.

The following cases were disposed of yesterday morning:

Collin James, charged with disorderly conduct, was required to pay $5 and the Hager James, charged with disorderly conduct. Case dismissed.

We notice the announcement of the marriage, in Macon, Ga., on the 14th inst., at the residence of the bride, by the Rev. H. J. Harvey, of Mr. S. F. B. Gillespie, of New York, to Mrs. H. N. Ells, of the former city. Mr. Gillespie is well known to our citizens from his long connection with the Purcell House. We congratulate S. F. B. G., that he has at last become free-from the shackles of single blessedness!

In Trouble.

One of our city agents is in trouble. His horse is down with the epizooty; and he finds the "safety line" rather slow and fatiguing for the delivery of his papers. He has two calves, but he says they are mighty thin and weak; so he pineth for an ox. Has anybody a steer to sell, either bridlewise or otherwise ? or a wheelbarrow ? or a gocart ? or a wood-horse? or a velocipede ? If so, he can just name his price at these headquarters, and it's a trade.

A Villainous Act.

Yesterday afternoon, while proceeding to the County Workhouse with two prisoners. policeman James H. Harriss discovered a piece of railroad iron, about five feet in composed of the Conservatives only, length, placed directly across the track of | in advance, or full advertising rates when the Wilmington and Weldon Railway, at a point near the bridge over Smith's creek. The presumption is that the iron was placed there by design; and if we had even the slightest hope that the villain who did it would ever be known, we would say what we thought ought to be done with him.

That Road to the Seashore.

What has become of the project for building a railroad to the seashore, of which there was so much talk a few months ago? Is it possible that it is to share the same fate as our Onslow Railroad, our City Park and our Water Works? If not, let us hear from those who have the matter in hand. We hear many anxious inquiries about the proposed road, but we are in ignorance as to what is being done, if anything, looking to a successful issue to this important enterprise. Let us hear from you, gentlemen, but-don't all speak at once !

Remedy for the Horse Malady.

In the early period of the horse disease two prescriptions were published in the New York Spectator, which were handed the editors by a physician of large practice in the city, and who had found the remedies efficient. From other sources the Spectator has received evidences of the effectiveness of these prescriptions, which are as follows:

No. 1. Protorodide of Mercury-4 grains. Crystals of Iodine-2 grains.

Sugar-1 ounce. Mix thoroughly together; divide into 20 powders. Give one powder on bran mash at 8 o'clock A. M., and 6 P. M., or if the horse will not eat, put the powder in tissue paper, and put it on the tongue, as far back as possible.

Tincture Aconite Foliat-2 drams. Tincture Belladonna-2 drams. Tincture Gelseminum, or Jesoamine-2

Glycerine, pure-10 drams. Give of this about a teaspoonful on bran mash, at noon, 12 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Two doses of each a day, in severe cases, but give the powder in the morning, and the solution at night, in mild cases, or when inproving and conva-

Disinfectants in the stable are to be used. The horses are to be kept warm and the food is to be bran mash, boiled oats, apples, carrots, &c., chopped up with bran mash. These remedies were sent to the superintendent of a prominent street line in New York, who states that he has been using them with the most satisfactory results This line has lost no horses, and out of 400 all but nine or ten are now at work. In 1,000 known cases of its use, not one death has occurred. This remedy will prove invaluable in this and other cities and towns where the epizootic is now prevailing, and ommend its general publicity through

- The Express Company's bully team. Eppy and Zooty, were out yesterday. They steered "powerful well," considering that they were not trained expressly for the business. The fact that the driver told Eppy to "gee" and Zooty to "haw," on turning a corner, will be overlooked by a discriminating public when we inform them that his early bovine education was sadly neglected.

Look Out for Thieves. Two fine turkeys, which were being fattened for Christmas, were stolen from the premises of Mr. S. VanAmringe, residing on the corner of Second and Orange streets, on Monday night. It is about time for depredations of this character to commence in earnest and our citizens should take warning and be prepared for emergencies.

Appointments on the Police Force. Officer J. N. VanSoelen, of the Police force, received the appointment, yesterday, of Sergeant on the force, in place of Sergeant Jack Davis, removed. This appointment, we are assured, will give general satisfaction.

John Statcher, colored, formerly on the Police force, received the appointment of private made vacant by the promotion of Officer VanSoelen.

Oxen vs. Horses. We noticed several oxen doing the work of horses on the streets yesterday. Messrs. Heide Bros, have a team which we should judge is calculated to do excellent service in the matter of transporting goods for their customers. Messrs. Hottendorf & Hashagen also had one attached to a dray, for which they paid a person from the rural districts the moderate sum of forty dollars and five cents; but those attached to the Southern Express wagon attracted the most attention. They will probably be more plentiful before the close of the week.

Provide for the Poor. One great danger to be anticipated from the prevalence of the horse disease, which naturally has the effect to cause exorbitant charges for hauling, wood, etc., is that the poorer class of our citizens may suffer from cold. In fact, we have no doubt that many are already destitute of the appliances necessary to their comfort these cold nights and we hope that the proper steps may speedily be inaugurated to supply the poor and needy with requisite fuel. If the Young Men's Christian Association and the Ladies' Benevolent Society would put the ball in motion they would no doubt receive the hearty co-operation of our citizens in the good work. In this connection we notice that a plan has been proposed in Newbern to provide for the necessities of the poor .-An association of gentlemen is being formed who will purchase or have wood cut and furnish it at only five per cent. on the original cost of the wood, which per cent. will be required to defray the expenses of delivery. Several have already subscribed and as soon as the requisite amount is secured a meeting will be held and officers elected. It is highly important that some such steps should be taken in Wilmington at once, as we have every reason to believe that a necessity already exists for a generous display of liberality on the part of our citizens to prevent actual suffering and destitution in the community.
