

WILMINGTON, N. C .: THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 9, 1873

THE END IS NOT YET.

Twelve years at break-neck speed the country has been driving on to centralism, but the end is not yet. States have been conquered, rifled of local rights and liberties, plundered of property by bummers, menaced with Federal regulation on the crooking of a little finger, subject to obloquy, insult and injury. Satrapies have given place to proconsulates and proconsulates in turn are making room for the personal representatives of the czar. We have had Sickleses and Canbys, and we have had Holdens, Bullocks and Scotts. We now have our Kelloggs, our Pinchbacks, our Durells. They all belong to the horseleech family-they continually cry, "Give, give!"

We are sick of the toiling and troubling to keep these villains from cutting our throats after they have stolen our purses. We are tired of the fierce conflict over our few remaining rights. We want peace in Arkansas, peace and order in Louisiana, peace, order and liberty in the whole country.

The President pretends that he wishes quiet restored and the right maintained. He interferes, and mud. dles everything. He can't stop the caldron he set to boiling. He set up the pretender Pinchback, but now that that mock executive outrages even the callous sense of propriety and justice at the North, he attempts to blow him over with a breath.

The whole policy of mismanaging the political affairs of the South has resulted most disastrously. It has wrought mischief, shown its own folly to its own promoters and recoils upon the heads of its inventers.

But the end is not yet. The crystallization goes on: the chords are at the same time of attempting to murder

A Cancer Cured in Fourteen Days-The Medical Faculty Nonplused. [From the Kansas City Times, Dec. 24.] There has transpired in this city during the past two weeks one of the most remarkable cases on record. being no more nor less than the extraction, root and branch, without pain, and by the simplest of means of a large cancer from the left cheek of Mr. C. A. Chace, freight agent at Kansas City of the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad.

Mr. Chace discovered about six years ago a small red spot growing upon his left cheek immediately below the left eye. This red spot increased in size, and soon developed one of those dangerous and most unpleasant of bodily afflictions-a cancer. For two years Mr. Chace has tried every medical advice and treatherself. ment, and still the horrible protuberance continued to grow, and threatened ultimately to eat the face and cause him to lose the use of one eye. A council of physicians, each of them prominent in his practice, was held a few weeks ago, when it was proposed to cut out the cancer from last by a dog that showed evident the face. This proposition, had it symptoms of hydrophobia afterwards. been carried out would have endangered the life of the patient, hence - A. J. Brown, the coroner for | it was not adopted. About two weeks er. Albermarle county, held an inquest | ago Mr. Chace called upon Prof. Kellogg, proprietor of the Turkish baths on Walnut street, who boldly announced his ability to cure the cancer in fifteen days if his directions were strictly complied with. Mr. Chace, glad to avail himself of any resource for getting rid of his cancer, consented, and at once went under Dr. Kellogg's treatment. igain, He was placed in the Turkish bath for two hours each day for seven days, with a temperature of 170, when it was found that the cancer was dropping out root and fangs entire. It first became red on one side and then burst the skin. ' Mr. Chace applied, by Professor Kellogg's advice, a poultice, which aided in drawing the cancer from the cheek. During the last week his family, who reside in West Kansas City, have watched with great anxiety the cure being effected. On Sunday the forgotten him. anxiety was so great that notwithstanding the intense cold weather, Mrs. Chace called at the baths to in-There were 204 deaths in Boston form Professor Kellogg that the cancer was about to drop out. Yesterday morning the patient brought the cancer himself in a small vial to Professor Kellogg, and it had fallen out clean, and with all its roots and fangs attached, leaving nothing except the ugly indentation in the face where the cancer had been. He will now continue to take the baths until the cheek is healed. The cancer, as extracted, is about the size of a hazel nut. It is preserved at the baths for the inspection of the curious. Mr. Chace and family are, of course, much delighted at this almost miraculous case, which is as surprising as it is important to the public. It has heretofore been considered almost impossible to cure cancers except by cutting them out by the roots. The discovery made and the cure performed by Professor Kellogg, by means of hot vapor baths, is one of the most useful as well as the most remarkable on record.

Wilfred pulled his little rockingchair near the fire, and sat long time scowling at the stove. Presently he began to kick with his foot. He knew his mother disliked the noise, but he did not care. She did not ask him to stop, and, after a while, he was tired of it himself.

He was very unhappy, and he began to be a little ashamed of himself. Besides, he was getting hungry. He wished his mother would speak to him, but she didn't. She was sewing on a little coat, and singing softly to tightened and begin to cut into the flesh and the blood begins to flow from the lacerated body; juggernaut rolls on as mercilessly as in the past; the thing that has been shall be; verily the end is not yet.

But it is time it should come. It is time all the people saw. When they all feel, it may be too late. The chalice with all its bitter contents, of which we have been made to drink, may be placed to the lips of those who laughed when we frowned and quaffed, and they may be forced by a power they have themselves inconsiderately created to drink to the last vile dregs.

RATS.

The President has directed the Secretary of State to prepare immediately an Executive order in effect prohibiting persons holding. United States commissions from occupying office under State authority.

What are the Custom House and other Federal harbarrats who are snugly ensconced in the various Southern Legislatures going to do now?

Let go, boys, gracefully. Two teats give more sustenance than one, but that sort of thing has "kinder played," you know. More virtue at Washington, you see. The machine is to be run henceforth as a great moral elevator-of such squeezed oranges as your tribe.

But we are sermonizing. We had only intended to remark in the language of the Sanscrit poet or the Chinese philosopher (we forget which): "Republics are ungrateful."

A HOME MAGAZINE.

It is with real pleasure we commend the Old Dominion. It is steadily improving with each new issue. The last number is an argosy, of intellectual ware, having long and short stories, poetry and book reviews, well written and timely. We think this magazine, conducted by a Southern lady, and therefore thoroughly moral and elevated in its tone, should be read by all our people of taste and culture.

The indictment is founded on Article 80, section 158, of the State Code, which is as follows: "Every person, his or her aiders and abettors, who shall be convicted of the crime of attempting to poison any person shall be sentenced to undergo a confinement in the penitentiary for not less than two nor more than ten years."

It is fearful to think of the causes that led to the impulse at the verdict against Stokes. The first trial, the surroundings in the court room and the disagreement of the jury in the last trial, the general apathy as to crime, all induced the belief that the murderer would be acquitted. Quite recently an interest has been excited, and it it hoped that the conviction of Stokas marks the inception of a new era in mur-pity and more justice. ART, MUSIC AND LETTERS.
