ON A RESURGEORIST.

Here lies an honest man, my brothers, Who raised himself by raising others; Anxious his friends from soil to save, His converse still was with the grave; To rescue from the loub his mission, He took men off to the physician; And strove that all, whom death release And strove that an, whom death recess.
Should rest—if not in peace—in pieces.
So here he waits his resurrection,
In hopes his life may bear dissection.

Lead Pencils. In the manufacture of lead pencils there is more than one thinks. The lead is composed of plumbago, which is obtained in Spain, Scotland, Norway, and in this country in Georgia and Pennsylvania. The crude material comes in the condition of lumps, and powder, and after it has been freed from extraneous materials must be ground to a fine dust. It is then whose only outlet from below is a small hole in a solid brass die, the hole having the shape of the cross-section of the lead to be formed. Into this vessel enters a follower which exerts a tremendous pressue upon the material, the effect is immediately seen in the issuance from the die of a slender thread of plumbago. The followers enter very slowly, but the thread comes out with considerable celerity. In this soft and adhesive condition the thread is cut up in short strips and baked, after which the leads are ready for use.

I have often noticed a classification of the inmates of our insane asylums showing that there are more farmers in the list than of any other calling; and these statements are often fol lowed by a learned physiological and philosophical dissertation upon the causes which produce such results, attempting to prove that agricultural pursuits are more injurious, physically and mentally, than any other calling. Now I dissent entirely from any such conclusions; and will suggest that the mystery can be explained by the same answer that solved the sheep conundram: "Why do white sheep eat more than black ones?" Answer-Because there are more of them.

There can be no doubt that the cultivation of the ramie plant will assume great importance in this country as soon as agriculturists are supplied with the necessary machinery for economically preparing their crops for the market, which is proba-bly only a question of time, and that whoever succeeds in devising the means best calculated to serve the required purpose will not only realize a great fortune, but will also confer an inestimable benefit on the country.

A correspondent in the Country Gentleman, p. 808, last vol., inquires about feeding cotton seed meal. The writer has used it more or less for the past four years, and prefers it to any other feed for mileh cows; also for calves, and cows not milking. It has added flesh and growth to the latter to my entire satisfaction.

upward of a twelve-month. Mr. Growler never misses any chance, when the other party is in power, of proclaiming his opinion of the decadence of the republic. Mr. Tomkins cau't enjoy a puppet show because he won't restrain him-

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY. WASHINGTON.

The Cream of Current Comment.

The Civilization We Boast Of. [New York Sun.] The thoughtful observer of the progress of our civilization, scanning this beautiful picture, involuntarily recurs to South Carolina, where Patterson buys a seat in the Senate, paying the average African legislator fifteen dollars a head for votes; to Alabama when the senate of the search of the se bams, where the Attorney-General of the United States virtually elects a United States Senator by deciding upon the qualifications and making his choice between two Legislatures; Raw cabbage composes a part of our dinner every day, and I have various methods of preparing it, but think the following the best.

Shave a hard, white cabbage, into small strips. To one quart of it, take the yolk of three well-beaten eggs, a cup and a half of good cider vinegar, two teaspoonsful of white sugar, or two tablespoonsful of thick cream, or two tablespoonsful of olive oil, one teaspoonful of mustard mixed in a litwhere a railroad manager pays $10,-000 for a Harlan; to Nebraska, where another takes $5,000 interest in a Thayer; to Pennsylvania, where, according to Administration authorities, the Senatorship goes to the man who pays the most money for it; to Congress itself, where Representatives take stock in enterprises they know nothing about, and where there isn't virtue enough to tell the truth except upon compulsion, and then only sparingly—to all these the mind of the thoughtful observer involuntarily recurs at the suggestion of Dr. Howe that annexation would bring San Domingto and Hayti under the influence of our civilization and our institutions.

The Way to Purge the Senate of Corruption.

[Baltimore Gazette.] The Governor of Kansas delivered his annual message at Topeka on the 16th instant, and touched tenderly upon the reports that are widely circulated in relation to the wholesale purchase of the Legislature in a former Senatorial election. The Governor did not sanction these rumors; but, while disclaiming to do so, asked the members present a pertinent question: "Would it not be wise for you to abstain from all appearance of evil?" What his Excellency exactly meant by this suggestive remark, isn't very clear. We imagine, however, that the parties thus addressed fully comprehend ed it. The Governor seems to think that the proper panacea for bribery and corruption is to take away from the Legislature the election of Senators, and give it directly to the people. There is at hand a much better remedy than this, if vigorously applied at headquarters. Let the Senate of the United States expel every man proven to be guilty of such perniciou practices, and positively refuse to admit any one to a seat who presents a tainted certificate. A few examples of this kind would, in a short time, work a marvelous cure in the loathsome disease.

The New Senator from Louisiana. [New Orleans Times.]

Gen. W. L. McMillen, the gentleman elected by the Fusion Legislature to fill the unexpired term of the Hon, Wm. Pitt Kellog, in the United States Senate, derives his title from service in the Union army during the late war. He is a native of Ohio, and brother-in-law of ex-Postmaster General Denison. Since the close of the war, he has been engaged in planting, in Carroll parish, and since 1868, has been a member of the General Assembly. During the late election he east his fortunes with the Liberals, and on the organization of the Senate, in December, protested against Pinchback's quauthorized action and withdrew. The Republican says that "so long as General McMillen remained true to the party that elected him, and to whom he owes so much of the honor and distinction he has enjoyed in this State, we (it) regarded him as one of our ablest and most consistent political friends," We opine that the General is quite as able now as he ever was, and as to political consistency, he will lose nothing in passing from the Mechanics' Institute to Odd Fellows' Hall, It is understood that the new Senator will leave for Washington to-day.

Current Topics the Capitol. The House committee on Post-Of fices Friday agreed to report the bill reducing the rate of letter postage to two cents for every half-ounce. The committee are not entirely certain of the wisdom of this step, and it may, the wisdom of this step, and it may, therefore, be regarded as an experiment or effort at reform. The bill will be urged upon the House with much strength by Mr. Farnsworth, who has great faith in its wisdom. Should it become a law, and after a two-year's trial it is found that it does not yield enough revenue, it may be changed. The committee also deci-ded to report a bill for the prepayment of postage on newspapers, except in the counties where they are printed. A large mass of figures has been collected, which will be used to aid the passage of the latter bill. It appears that in the New-York offices alone, on each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 30 to 65 tuns of newspapers and printed matter are received, all unpaid, and it is held that to such an extent has the practice of sending free printed matter reached, that matter upon which nothing will ever be collected clogs the mail cars on leading routes, and frequently delays letter mails. The combined circulation of newspapers and periodicals in the mails is as foland periodicals in the mails is as follows: Dalies, 800,000,000 per annum; Weeklies 600,000,000, and Monthlies, 100,000,000. The committee estimate that the Post-Office Department ought to get $2,292,307 from newspaper postage, if it was duly collected and honestly accounted for, while it only gets $985,940, making a loss which is due to the system now in use of $1,-306,367

Considerable comment has been made within the past few days, especially since Mr. Morton's committee has prosecuted the Caldwell bribery case so vigorously, on the action of the Select Committee to inquire into certain allegations against the Hon. Powell Clayton. This committee is composed of Messrs. Wright, Lot M. Morrill, and Norwood, and during the last session sat for many weeks with closed doors, and took an immense mass of testimony, very much of which is not believed to have any bearing on the case. The charges which caused the appointment of this committee were contained in testimony taken before the Klu-Klux committee a year ago last Summer, and reported to the Senate by Senator Scott more than a year ago. The Claims Committee were allowed two hours of the time of the House Friday, and passed a large number of private bills and an important meas-ure of great interest to the South, extending for four years the opera-tion of the law creating the Southern Claims Commission, which expires by limitation on the 4th of March next. Among the select propositions now before Congress, that is, propositions which are secretly worked up before they are made public in the form of a bill or resolution, is one to increase the salaries of Senators and Members to $8,000 or $10,000 a year. Those who have conceived this project, in order to gain strength for it, have proposed to make the act retroactive, so as to apply to the whole of the present Congress. In this way they hope to enlist in its support many members whose terms of office expire on the 4th of March next, and who would vote against any increase that was to apply against any increase that was to apply only to the future. It is claimed by the friends of the measure that a majority of each House is in favor of this increase, but it is doubtful if enough will be induced to go on the record for it this session to pass it.

The House Committee on Elections reached a decision, to-day, in the Flo-ida case of Niblack agt. Walls and ida case of Niblack agt. Walls, and unanimously agreed to give the seat to Niblack. Walls is a Colored Republican, who was given the certificate by the Republican Governor of Florida, and has managed to delay a decision in the case until the term of office for which his opponent was elected, and he was not, has almost expired. Niblack will have the poor satisfaction of holding for six weeks an office for which he was duly elected for two years, and the people of Florida will be represented for that brief period by the Congressman who receiv ed a majority of their votes. Of course both the contestants will get pay and mileage, and the Treasury will be over $12,000 the poorer by reason of the action of the Governor in giving the certificate to the defeated candidate. Senator Morton's speech in the Senate Friday, on the mode of electing President, was listened to with more than usual interest, especially by the Senators themselves, who will probably give the matter very careful consideration at the next session of Congress. It seems to be a very prevalent impression that if any legislation take place on this subject it will go no further than to propose a constitutional amendment abolishing the Electoral College, and allowing the people to vote directly for President and Vice-President, but making the election still determined by the States -that is, allowing each State to cast a fixed number of votes, as now. No general discussion will be likely to take place on this subject at this session, unless it arises on the report of Mr. Morton's committee in regard to affairs in Louisiana and Arkansas.

How an Eccentrict Vermonter was Buried.

Jan. 13.1 An exceedingly eccentric man has just died at Hinesburg, Vt., in the person of Augustus McEwen, aged eighty-four. He had his grave dug twenty years ago, and stoned up and filled with earth that it might be in perfect condition whenever needed. Last fall he had the earth taken out of it, saying he expected to be laid there before winter was over. His coffin was in readiness seven of a camel?

Hoax Ames—By the mass, and 'tis he could lie on his side with his knees drawn up, as he said he slept in this condition in life, and wanted to sleep so in death. All his plans for the funeral were made in advance, and among the rest he selected four colored boys who had worked for him more or less, as had their father before them, as pall-bearers. They were to carry the body to the grave, which was on his own farm, lower it to its last resting-place, fill the grave with earth, and then walk back to 300 BBLS. OF THE CELEBRATED "DICK-"Why, sir, in the 18th verse of 8th the house, where they were to find chapter of Romans he says: For I each a letter sealed and directed to reckon." A PAIN-KILLER.

It is, in truth, a family medicine, and should be kept in every family for immediate use. Persons traveling should always have a bottle of this remedy with them. It is not unfrequently the case that persons are attacked with disease, and before medical sid can be secured the patient is beyond the hope of recovery. Captains of vessels should always supply themselves with a few bottles of this remedy, before leaving port, as by doing so they will be in possession of an invaluable remedy to resort to in case of accident or sudden attacks of sickness. It has been used in and never has failed in a single case, where it was thoroughly applied on the first appearance of the symptoms.

To those who have so long used and proved the merits of our article we would say that we shall continue to prepare our Pain-Killer of the best and purest material, and that it shall be in every way worthy of their approbation as a family medicine.
