Resources of North Caroling-How to Develope Them.

An intelligent Englishman, who has late ly taken up his residence in this section of the State, gives us a few practicable hints and suggestions which might prove of benefit if properly considered by our people. He says:

"When an emigrant lands in this country it is curious to observe how consider Northern people are to get engineers, mill-wrights, carpenters, machinists, etc., to locate anywhere but down South. I have been in this country some years, having labored as engineer, millwright, pattern maker, &c., in different sections, say, Bos ton, Jersey and New York, and if I had not ventured here in North Carolina my ignorance would have remained. I find he in North Carolina land to be had in abun dance and if it could be divided into farms of 20 to 40 acres each, with a house upon them a system of immigration might be encourage ed by North Carolina that would induce Englishmen to come here gladly. The following trades could be wrought here to great advantage: Cotton spinners, hose and shirt makers, bleachers and trimmers, cotton weavers. India rubber weavers; and if finer sorts of cotton were spun to suit the lace trade might be transferred here from Nottingham. Now, to begin, say the cotton spinners are introduced first The following would be required: One picker, one carding machine, one doubling frame, one driving frame, one improving frame and one spinning frame. The Carolina wool would help. You could get the best merino fabric out of the cotton and wool; so good that I am persuaded no better merino could be made in the world. That would induce farmers to grow cloves and turnip for keeping sheep. The machinery for making hose, shirts, drawers, pants, ladies' under-vests, &c., can all be bought very cheap to what they could some years ago, and the working of them is no difficulty, as I well remember. What is to hinder some of the above trades being wrought in the neighborhood of Wil, mington? A moderate sized establishment to make real good articles would surely be possible when we could get every thing from England, including men and machinery, besides others who would gladly de. sert the North and come South and leave the Northern cities to ku-klux themselves. Instead of sending money from the South to scene the fire was found to proceed from the residence of Mr. Richard A. Price, lo-and did excellent service, quickly bringing the flames under subjection. The fire had got under such good headway, however, that it was impossible to save any part of the building, which was a total loss. The wind was blowing briskly at the time, scattering the sparks in every direction, but the roofs of the houses in the vicinity were carefully guarded and the sparks swept from them as fast as they fell. The roof of a small store caught from a flying cinder, but the fire was quickly extinguished. It was thought at one time that the kitchen, which was only a few feet from the dwelling, would cer-

On the 10th the weather was more moderate, the wind being from the Southward and Westward and leak increasing. At 5 A. M. one pump choked, the water then gaining 'a foot per hour. At 6 P. M. the second pump gave out. At 7 o'clock made Federal Point light, bearing West-Northwest, distant about 10 miles. Steered West, intending to beach her, there being five feet of water in her hold. When the pure medicinal restorative, now so widely known as Udolpho Wolff's Schiedam Schnapps, was introduced into the world under the endorsement of four thensand leading members of the medical profession, some twenty years ago, its proprietor was well aware that it could not wholly escape the penalty attached to all new and useful preparations. He, therefore, endeavored to invest it with the strongest possible safegnard against counterfeiters and imitators, to render all attempts to pirate it difficult and dangerous. It was submitted to distinguished chemists for analysis, and pronounced by them the purest spirits ever manufactured. Its purity and properties having been thus ascertained, samples of the article were forwarded to ten thousand physicians, including all the leading practitioners in the United States, for the purpose of experiment. A circular, requesting a trial of the preparation and report of the result, accompanied each specimen. Four thousand of the most eminent medical men in the Union promptly responded. Their opinimen. Four thousand of the most eminent medical men in the Union promptly responded. Their opinions of the article were unanimously favorable. Such a preparation, they said, had long been wanted by the profession, as no reliance could be placed on the ordinary liquors of commerce, all of which were more or less adulterated, and therefore unfat for medicinal purposes. The peculiar excellence and strength of the oil of juniper, which formed one of the principal ingredients of the Schnapps, together with an analloyed character of the alcoholic element, give it, in the estimation of the faculty, a marked superiority over every other diffusive stimulant as a diaretic, tonic and restorative.
