The Morning Star.

THE JOURNEY OF LIFE. BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Beneath the waning moon I walk at night And muse on human life, for all around Are dim, uncertain shapes that cheat the night, And pitfalls lurk in shade along the And broken gleams of brightness, here and Glance through, and leave unwarmed the death-like air.

The trampled earth returns a sound of A hollow sound, as if I walked on tombs; And lights that tell of cheerful homes, ap-

FIELD AND FIRESIDE.

Editor of The Poultry World: Thinking it may be of service to some of your readers to know of a thoroughly effective cure of frozen comb, which is a constantly occurring grievance to breeders and owners of the large-combed breeds at this season. About three weeks ago a Spanish cockerel in my possession had his comb and wattles severely frozen. I immediately treated him as follows: Every morning I rubbed the affiicted parts with a preparation consisting of two parts of distilled glycerine and one part of turpentine. At noon I applied sweet oil and rose water (3 parts of former and 1 of latter), and in the evening the glycerine and tur-

At the present writing the bird is entirely cured, the comb and wattles presenting almost the same appearance as if they had never been "nipped."

SUBDUING BEES.

The stings of bees were given them for the protection of their stores. They are not disposed to sting when not in danger, and every bee which does sting dies. Away from their own hive they rarely make an attack. The natural dread of stings deter many from keeping bees who would be glad to do so. In the use of modern hives the danger of being stung is lessened, as these give you facilities for subduing them. A bee with its honey-sac full never stings. When you alarm a colony of bees, they all instinctively at once fill their sacks with honey, and after time has been allowed them to do this, their hive can be opened and examined with no danger from their anger .-Mrs. Tupper.

H. W. Dews, Griffin, Ga., has two Light Brahma fowls that laid ninetyseven (97) eggs, and both raised a brood of chickens in one hundred and twenty-eight (128) days; and he wishes to know whether anybody, up North, can beat that.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

The Cream of Current Comment. THE PEOPLE INDIGNANT AT THE POLAND REPORT.

The depth, universality and spontaneity of the public disgust and indignation constitute the only consolatory and hopeful feature about the whole wretched affair. Whatever their representatives in Congress may say or do about it, it is something to know that the people are right, that the public sense of right and regard for truth and justice is neither deadened nor blunted, and that public opinion will make amends for the scant shortcomings of congressional justice. At the same time this consideration cannot lessen or take away the responsibility which rests upon the House of Representatives to deal fairly and squarely with the facts which have been brought before it. This, by common consent, it is conceded that Judge Poland's committee have not done. * Independently, however, of what may be called these more personal bearings of the case, as affecting the character and reputation of individuals, whether members of the House or not, there is another and broader aspect of the question which makes it imperative upon Congress so to deal with it now as to make it an example and a warning for all time to come. It must not be forgotten that the money-the bonds and dividends with which Oakes Ames was tempting his fellow-members of Congress, and which they were willing to receive noas the money of the United States which the Credit Mobilier was engaged in filching from the public treasury. It was all-every dollar of it-the proceeds of the land bounties and subsidies which Congress had voted to the Pacific railway, and which these individual Congressmen thought it no shame to put into their own pockets, and which Judge Poland's committee cannot find it in their hearts to chide them

[New York Sun.] The little State of Florida affords a fine example of the results of negro and earpet-bag rule. There is not a dollar in the Treasury, and the bonded and floated debt, according to the report of the Comptroller, is $5,844,- not so much of a bear garden as it is MANUEL BORNIO, As there are less than 36,000 voters, white and black, in the State, taking the last Presidential election as a test, it follows that each voter's proportion of the debt is over $160. Add to this the county and municipal debts, and the general average will doubtless run up to $200 for each voter. How the State funds have been squandered was shown in the account we published the other day of the bond transaction of M. S. Littlefield, a shining light of the Administration party, who also distinguished himself by his financial achievements in North Carolina under the corrupt Holden administration.

CONGRESSIONAL DEMORALIZA-TION.

[New York Tribune.] One of the most discouraging things about the present demoralization of Congress is its apparent inability to Ames occupied his own seat for a few purge itself. The action of the Senate on Mr. Caldwell's case, yesterday, is a startling evidence of this weak-ness. Mr. Morton's motion to take up the case was defeated by a vote of 22 yeas to 32 nays; this is accepted by the friends of the convicted Senator as conclusive evidence of his strength in the Senate. Those who voted to let the thing alone might or might not have voted for Mr. Cald-well's expulsion. It is not germane to the question of his final fate to inquire how these Senators would have voted had the case been squarely before them. They showed their irresolution in the test proposed. The Senate is judge of the qualifications of its own members; if Senators hesitate as to who shall throw the first stone, they must also decide whether Mr. Caldwell is good enough for them.

VALE, LONGUM VALE.

[Columbia South Carolinian.]
In bidding an affectionate farewell to the Legislature, we must say that, generally speaking, it has been an improvement over its immediate predecessors. This is manifet particularly in the House. That body has had a large infusion of new members fresh from the people. When not particularly tempted they appear to be inclined to do what they think to be right. They have shrunk from Mrs. C. Very. Why haven't you their duty fearfully on occasions when money was brought to bear upon them, but when there was no pay in doing wrong, they have generally done right. Whatever amiss has been done, may be set down as naught to malice, but all to money. Their predecessors of the last four years harbored malice against the property Mrs. C. Had the President voted in the Senate last Monday the vote would have stood eleven for Tom Scott to ten for the people. The race is a close one. "The wealth of England soverigns. "Twenty thousand dollars for one vote" was the startling rumor whispered into the ear of our Trenton correspondent a few days 25 HRDS DEMARARA AND F. R. SUGAR, ago. This is, indeed, a grave crisis in the history of New Jersey. Tom Scott lost the Assembly and he gained 200 BBLS FINE DISTILLERS' GLUE.

MOBILIER DAY.

The Great Sensation in Congress-Ladies in the National Bear Garden -Scenes, &c. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.

AN EXCITING DAY IN THE HOUSE. It is conceded by all who have witnessed the most exciting scenes in the House of Representatives for the past ten years that there has never been an occasion which attracted such an immense crowd as that of to-day. Even the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, exciting as that was, did not

'draw" so well. Although it was announced in the House yesterday, and the fact was published in the Baltimore and Washngton papers, that the doors leading in the galleries would not be opened until half-past ten o'clock, the House corridors were thronged as early as half-past nine o'clock to such an extent that it was almost impossible to make one's way through the surging

THE CRUSH AND ITS EFFECTS. Two-thirds of this throng were ladies, and the crush was so great that some of them actually fainted and had to be carried out. Such a rush as was made, when the doors were finally opened is not often witnessed, and in a very few minutes every seat was occupied, and still there were hundreds in the corridors and passage ways. They hung about the lobbies and clamored for admission, and finally, when the journal of vesterday was about half completed, Mr. Cox, with his accustomed gallantry, moved that all ladies who had failed to obtain admission to the galleries be admitted to the floor.

BEAUTY IN THE BEAR GARDEN. This was adopted, and in a few mo-ments every available space on the floor was occupied. They occupied the sofas and chairs in the rear of the members' seats; they stood upon every foot of flooring, and finally encroached upon the seats of members, so that scattered all over the hall, and sandwiched between members, were dames and misses in gay attire, forming one of the most brilliant scenes that had ever been witnessed on the floor of the House. But the crowd was an orderly one, and maintained the greatest good order and quiet. Indeed, the presence of ladies seemed to have an admirable effect, as the House was on ordinary occasions. It was sug- First Sub-Collector of Lott gested in the galleries that it would be well to have ladies on the floor at

There was a slight confusion for a time while a number of ladies who could not obtain places elsewhere crowded to the front and took seats on the marble steps leading to the Speaker's chair.

MR. BROOKS AND MR. AMES.

Mr. Brooks, pale and apparently very feeble, was an attentive listener to all the discussions. He referred to the testimony as attention was directed to it, and took copious notes, evidently with the purpose of making an elaborate reply before a vote shall be taken. Mr. Ames appeared very much unconcerned while Mr. Poland was speaking, and frequently indulged in a smile. But he seemed more serious while his own statement was being read, and at the part making allusion to his services to the country he was seen to shed tears. This statement, it is understood, was prepared by General Butler.

The House then took a recess until 7:30, when it was understood that the session would be devoted to debate only. Mr. Poland will not call the previous question until late tomorrow afternoon. in all its various forms incidental to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal testimons of the masses in its favor are its own best advertise of the masses in its favor are its own best advertisements.

The ingredients which enter into the PAIN-KIL-LER, being purely vegetable, render it a safe and efficacious remedy taken internally as well as for external application, when used according to directions. The slight stain upon linen from its use in external applications is readily removed by washing in a little alcohol.

This medicine, justly celebrated for the cure of so many of the afflictions incident to the human family, has now been before the public and has found its way into almost every corner of the world, and wherever it is used the same opinion is expressed of its real medical properties.

In any attack where prompt action upon the sys-tem is required the Pain-Killer is invaluable. Its almost instantaneous effect in relieving pain is truly wonderful, and when used according to directions is true to its name.

A PAIN-KILLER.

It is, in truth, a family medicine, and should be kept in every family for immediate use. Persons traveling should always have a bottle of this remedy with them. It is not unfrequently the case that persons are attacked with disease, and before medical aid can be secured the patient is beyond the hope of recovery. Captains of vessels should always supply themselves with a few bottles of this remedy, before leaving port, as by doing so they will be in possession of an invaluable remedy to resort to in case of accident or sudden attacks of sickness. It has been used in and never has failed in a single case, where it was thoroughly applied on the first appearance of the symptoms.

To those who have so long used and proved the merits of our article we would say that we shall continue to prepare our Pain-Killer of the best and purest material, and that it shall be in every way worthy of their approbation as a family medicine.
