THE STATE EDITORIAL CONVEN-TION. Our contemporaries of the State press are very nearly unanimous in F. Post. the desire to meet in convention during the spring; and we believe by common consent the 14th of May, as the time, and Goldsboro, as the place, have been agreed upon.

It is thought that matters concerning the business interests of the profession require that such a meeting should be held soon. We hope there may be a full attendance. Every paper in the State should be repre-

In worrying over the causes of the Atlantic catastrophe the New York Times lashes itself into a fury with the White Star line, and several times asks "What company is it," &c. It censures the captain for being below in his cabin on a stormy coast at that hour of the night, and excoriates the company for not providing coal sufficient for the voyage.

It is always best to wait and see.

Mr. Hampton of the Raleigh Sentinel, called upon us last evening. He is in the city on business connected with his journal.

THE LAST MAILS.

GENERAL NOTES.

- Norfolk and Portsmouth are making extensive preparations to entertain the President.

- The sumae mill, with machinery and a large stock of sumac, corn, &c., belonging to W. F. Smith, of Gordonsville, Va., was destroyed by fire on Thursday. Loss, $15,000. In-

- Thursday afternoon in Norfolk sphere about the size of a twelvepound cannon-ball, of extraordinary brilliancy, traversed the heavens, atof the party from leaving until all danger tracting the attention of many of the citizens, and causing considerable speculation as to its character.

- Judge Staples and other promi-nent men of Patrick county, Va., who were brought to Danville charged with Ku Kluxing, were tried Thursday before Commissioner Latham, and honorable discharged. The negro, Carter, who preferred the charges, left for parts unknown just as the trial commenced.

The Farmers' Convention at Springfield, Illinois, to fight the railroads, was a spirited and significant demonstration. The delegates evinced more than usual tact and and strightforwardness, proceeding directly to the consideration of the business in hand. These seconds the consideration of the business in hand. They propose to deal with the railway managers—not with go-be-tweens and agents. Gov. Palmer seems to have struck the keynote of the Convention in his remarks that this is a struggle between the railway managers and the people who make railways and are taxed for their support.

Speeches by Colored Men in Denunciation of Certain Radical Officials. The Raleigh Sentinel alludes to speeche made by Geo. M. Arnold (formerly of this city) and Carey, both colored, at Yanceyville, Caswell county, on Tuesday last, in which the former showed up Pool, Carrow and Perry, the Supervisor, in fine colors and high style. He represented them as selfish, political hypocrites no longer to be trusted by any party. He tells how he denounced long Perry to his face and he dared not resent it. Carey, better known as the "archives of gravity," followed Arnold, and said he endarsed every word Arnold had uttered. Cary wanted to see a better state of feeling between the white and the black races. It was to the interest of both races to be on better terms with each other. The prosperity of one the prosperity of the they had to rise or fall together. made up the Republican party, but they were not thought of in the distribution of honors and offices. The speeches of Carey and Arnold were well received by a large crowd of negroes who were attentive listeners. Two years ago, says the Sentinel. these colored men could not have talked in this way. Judging from the signs of the times we shall have ten negroes to take the place of every white man who is seduced by office to vote the Radical ticket.

Duncan Holmes was elected temporary Chairman and Wm. A. Green temporary Secretary. The following members of the Committee were

The boilers were thoroughly cleaned and put in steam the 10th of last January, and have run constantly since, without any complaint of pumps, pipes, or any other deficiency, whatever. We expect to go to work to-morrow morning and rebuild, and hope that the interruption of our business will be but temporary.

After considerable discussion as to the egality of the representatives of the various Wards, it was moved and carried that the City Committee call a meeting of the Republican voters of the Third Ward on next Tuesday evening and elect members of the City Committee from that Ward The Committee then adjourned subject to the call of the Chairman.

A little white girl by the name of Capps was attacked on the streets yesterday morning by a ferocious Newfoundland dog, and was bitten severely in the hand and arm before she could be rescued.
