It should be remembered that Miss Olive Logan gives her fascinating lecture on the attractive and interesting topic, "Gleanings at the Opera House to-morrow night," to be followed on Tuesday evening by a discourse on the subject of "Nice Young Men." As public curiosity is aroused in regard to Miss Logan, who is singing words of the warm commendation from the press of Richmond and other places she has visited, we give the following sketch of the prominent facts connected with her history.

She is a daughter of C. Logan, a comedian of ability and note, and sister of John Logan, one of the finest actresses of America. She was born in the State of New York in 1841, and is now in her 32d year. She had the advantages of a happy, virtuous and cultivated home, and in the grade, with the highest honors, of an English female college, speaking all the modern languages with fluency and correctness. In August, 1864, she made her debut on the stage in Philadelphia at the Arch Street Theatre, but retired temporarily from the profession in 1867, when she went to France. In 1869 she was presented at the Court of the "Fulcrum," and received marked attention from the Empress Eugenie. While abroad she wrote for the press of both France and England, and published several works of fiction that established her literary reputation. "Chateau Frisco" and "Photographs of Paris Life" were issued in London in 1869 and achieved great success. She returned to the stage in August, 1869, appearing in New York at Wallack's Theatre, in the play of her own composition, "Evelyn." She was again successful in New York, but becoming dissatisfied with the life, she finally renounced the stage in 1868 and became a public lecturer. Through kind notice to fame as Olive Logan, she is married, her husband being Mr. Wist Sikes, well and favorably known as an actor. She is the author of the following works: "Chateau Frisco," or "Home Scenes in France; Photographs of Paris Life; Politics, Art and Fashion in the French Capital; and the Mimic World and Behind the Scenes; the History, Morals and Effects; Approaches of Women and Theaters; Gleanings at the Opera House; and the following Christiania stories: John Morris's Memoirs; Somebody's Stocking; and The Good Mr. Baggett's Story.

The Convicts.

The following prisoners, convicted at the late term of the Superior Court, were taken to the Work-House yesterday to serve their respective terms. In the respectable employment of making brick: Josh. Irving, 12 months; George Thompson, 12 months; Sam. Robinson, 12 months and 12 days; 4 months. There are six other convicts, three white and three colored, waiting transportation to Raleigh, where they have been sentenced to various terms in the Penitentiary. The three white men, Branch, Wilson and Mintz, from Duplin, will have to wait until the receipt of a notice of a commutation of their sentence from the Governor, which was asked for by the Court.

Cotton Manufacture in the South—A Splendid Exhibit.

The annual report of H. H. Hickman, Esq., President of the Graniteville (S. C.) Manufacturing Company, gives a gratifying exhibit of the progress and success of cotton manufactures in the South. The factory of the company is situated a few miles from Augusta, on a fine water course in South Carolina known as Horse Creek, though it might be termed a small river instead of a creek. The Graniteville Company, though having met with many reverses since the beginning of the late war, has yet been remarkably successful in the end. During the past year nothing has occurred to mar its progress, and as a consequence it is able to show a marked increase in production and profits over previous years. The President's report shows in detail the operation of the mills for the year ending February 28th, 1873. From this exhibit it appears that the sum of $22,814.28 has been added to the surplus, this sum, with the dividends paid, places the net earnings of the fiscal year at $190,289.76, being nearly 26 per cent, of the capital stock, which is $716,500. This is a practical illustration of the advantages which the South can lay claim to, in the manufacture of cotton goods, and why the citizens of capital and enterprise should hesitate for one moment to embark in a business which is so generally remunerative in its results and which is certain to prove a profitable investment in Wilmington, where every facility is at hand, surpasses our comprehension. Of all the schemes and enterprises for building up the towns and cities of the South, outside of the indispensable railroads and such like improvements, cotton factories are the most sure, speedy and satisfactory in their results, not only tending to promote the material prosperity of the place and of those who invest their funds, but affording employment to a large and useful class of the population. We must have a cotton factory and the sooner it is built the better it will be for us!

Justice of the Peace.

In the case of Wesley Nixon, charged with murder, which came off at Tarboro on Thursday last, the jury brought in a verdict not of guilty, or justifiable homicide, in one hour after retiring. The defendant was charged in the indictment with killing Daniel Nixon in an affray in Edgecombe county, about three or four years ago. Both the parties were former residents of this city, though not related to each other, Wesley Nixon being a brother of Lewis Nixon, Captain in the police force. Geo. L. Mabson, colored lawyer of this city, appeared for the defence, and it is said to have displayed no little ability in conducting the case to a successful issue. Wesley Nixon returned to this city after his acquittal. This jury was composed of seven whites and five colored.

Referring to the appearance of our colored disciple of Coke and Blackstone in the Bar of the Court of the Superior of Tarboro.

For the first time in Edgecombe's history a colored lawyer, in person of G. L. Mabson, of Wilmington, occupied a seat in her bar. At an considerable excitement was created, but was gradually cooled down on finding that he did not deign himself to take any part in the case that had been expected from our acquaintance with his "brother."

The following prices ruled during the afternoon: Turnip salad, 25 cents per peck; onions, 10 cents per bunch; cabbage, 20 @ 25 cents per head; sweet potatoes, 35 cents per peck; Irish potatoes, 50 cents a peck; radishes, 5 cents per bunch; lettuce, $1 a dozen; carrots, 10 cents a peck; apples, 75 cents a peck; peaches, (dried), 10 @ 12 cents per pound; walnuts, 25 cents per pound; walnuts, 50 cents per peck; pickles, 20 cents per dozen; rad, 19 cents per pound; butter, 35 cents per pound; cheese, 25 cents per pound; chickens, $1 25 @ $1 40 a pair; lamb, 20 cents per pound; beef, 12 @ 20 cents per pound; beef, (ground) 15 cents per pound; pork, (fresh) 12 @ 15 cents per pound; real, 15 @ 20 cents per pound; ham, 18 @ 20 cents per pound; shoulder, 10 @ 12 cents per pound; tripe, 30 cents per bunch; oysters, (New River) $1 50 a gallon; oysters, (Sound) 80 cents a gallon; clams, 20 cents a peck; open clams, 15 @ 20 cents a quart; oranges, 40 cents per dozen; green peas, 30 cents a peck; soup bunch, 10 cents; strawberries, 30 @ 50 cents a quart; ash, 75 to $1 per pair; asparagus, 25 cents a bunch; eggs, 20 @ 25 cents a dozen.

More Thieves.

While Prof. J. F. Rueckert was waiting at the ticket office of the 323d train yesterday morning, he stepped out about a minute, leaving his valise containing piano-tuning tools and strings in the office. As soon as his back was turned a colored individual seized the valise, together with an umbrella, and made off with them. A young man of the National Hotel and Prof. Rueckert were close at his heels, but the thief suddenly darted into the bushes and in the darkness of the early morning was lost sight of and escaped. It is suspected that this is the same thief who, not long since, snatched a pocket book from the hands of a gentleman while he was paying for his ticket at the office window, and who escaped with the prize. The contents of the valise are worthless to the thief and can be easily recognized as belonging to Prof. Rueckert. This should prove a warning to persons while waiting for a train to keep at least one eye on their baggage or bundles.

Due announcement, however, will be made of the time and place during the early part of the week. Our citizens may prepare themselves for a well calculated treat from the distinguished South Carolina orator.

There will be but one package of these tickets in each Ward, and they will be arranged in the order in which they should be voted under the cumulative plan, and every Conservative should vote the ticket handed him by the ticket-holder.

The Pic-Nic To-morrow.

Don't forget the pic-nic to come off at Col. Kiehn's Wilmington Casino to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 4 o'clock. The pic-nic will be given under the auspices of the German Association, in honor of two of their friends who are on the eve of departure for Europe. There is every reason to expect that the affair will be a pleasant one in every respect.

Wanted.

As a matter of importance to voters in this Ward, we would state that the lost registration book has at last turned up. It has been found yesterday in the post-box in the Sheriff's office. As the master now stands all who registered at the last election in the First Ward can vote to-morrow the same as in the other Wards, whether they have re-registered or not. Let our friends in that Ward poll their full strength.

Let us vote for Moore, Grainger, Adrian and Fishblate.

Capt. Walter Furlong declines the nomination for Alderman tendered him by the Liberal Republican Club. See his card of declination elsewhere.

The second Quarterly Meeting of Front Street M. E. Church is now in progress. Rev. Dr. Closs will preach to-day, both morning and evening.

The name of John McRee should have appeared in the report of the Nutt street jury, under the head of damages, instead of Donald McRee, in yesterday's issue.

The Conservatives are united. The Republicans are divided. Let us vote to-morrow for the success of our ticket, and we will win. "Nothing succeeds like success."

During the week closing yesterday there were 3 interments in Oakdale Cemetery, of which one died of apoplexy, respectively, were 68, 50 and 40.

We were glad to meet Capt. George Morrison on the streets yesterday, after being confined to his room for several weeks past with a severe attack of rheumatism. He is gradually improving, and we hope will soon be able to report for duty on the "Carolina Central."

Closing of Bar-rooms.

Mayor Wilson gives notice by public proclamation that all bar-rooms or places where liquor is retained within the city limits, or within one mile thereof, must be closed from 6 o'clock to-morrow morning until 6 o'clock Tuesday, and that the law will be strictly enforced against all who keep open during that time.

The colored groom from Charleston, being for his home yesterday afternoon, left escorted to Union Depot by the Cape Fear Company. During the forenoon they were again the recipients of the hospitality of the Howland Company, at their Engine House on Fourth street, to the joy of those to bid.

Mr. Jerry Mayo, of Washington county, and Ella Moore, colored, of Oregon Hill, Beaufort county, were buried to death recently, says a correspondent of the Tarboro Enquirer, while incautiously sleeping too near fires raging in the woods.
