Attempted Murder. No. 20184928 .13 Geo. Waddell, colored, was arraigned before Justice T. M. Gardner, yesterday morning, on the charge of an assault on Mr. John E. Dennis with a deadly weapon. It seems that Mr. Dennis is bridge tender at Hilton and resides in the dwelling at that place and Waddell carries on a farm on the Hilton tract. On Saturday night, about 10 o'clock, Mr. Dennis went out to arrange the switches for the train to pass noticed Waddell standing behind a tree. As he was acting in a somewhat suspicious manner Mr. D. called to him to know what he was doing there. Receiving no answer, and suspecting something wrong, he again started for the house and was just in the act of mounting the steps when he was fired upon by Waddell, the ball from whose weapon whistled in close proximity to his head, passing through a window of the house and burying itself in the mantelpiece

Mr. Dennis was not molested any further and on Sunday he had a warrant issued for the arrest of Waddell, who was taken in custody and brought up for a preliminary examination this morning. This resulted in his being required to give security in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court, in default of. which he was committed to jail.

Educational and Agricultural. The Educational meeting took place at Leesburg, as per announcement, on Saturday last, The New Hanover County Agricultural Society also had a meeting at the same time and place. Addresses were delivered on the occasion by Mr. Henry Nutt, Dr. Murphy, G. Z. French, Esq., Rev. H. B. Blake and Col. Powers. The Educational meeting adjourned to assemble again in Wilmington on the 19th inst., and the Agricultural Society to meet at Rocky Point on the 7th of June. We hope to see more interest aroused in behalf of these educational meetings. They are fraught with importance to the rising generation and to the teachers of the county.

THE GORDIAN KNOT.

The New Board of Aldermon Most for Choice Ex-Mayer Wilson Has his Mations Brought in for Demolition-Exciting Scenes.

The Aldermen elect for the term beginning at 18 o'clock M. May 19th, 1873, and anding at 12 o'clock M. on the second Monday in May, 1874, assembled in the City Court Room at 12 o'clock M. yesterday. French elections. — The Emperor of The City Clerk announced the following as the Aldermen elect: Roger Moore, W. P. Canady, A. Adrian, S. H. Fishblate, L. putting down McEnery. — Another E. Rice, James Wilson, H. H. Hankins, Modoc engagement, and the Indians were Jacob Wise, Wm. H. Banks and Henry Brewington. All being present, they were sworn in by Justice E. S. Woodford.

Alderman Fishblate having suggested that there should be a Chairman of the meeting, it was decided that the Clerk and Treasurer of the city should act in that capacity, and he assumed that position accordingly Adov A VALSS CIA

It being decided to go into an election for Mayor, the Chairman appointed Aldermen Fishblate and Banks tellers to conduct the election, and the balleting proceeded. 1sr Ballor.-For James Wilson, 5: A Adrian, 2; L. E. Rice, 1; W. P. Canaday, Ald., Wilson said it had always been the custom to elect the Mayor first. The motion was lost by a tie vote, Adrian, Moore, Fishblate, Rice and Canaday in the affirmative. and Wilson, Banks, Hankins, Wise and Brewington in the negatitive.

Ald. Moore moved to go into an of Clerk and Treasurer. Lost by tie vote. Ald. Banks moved that the Board proceed to ballot for a City Marshal. Ald. Rice seconded the motion. Lost by a tie vote, Banks "taking water" on his own motion, and voting in the negative.

"What is your pleasure now, gentlemen?" asked the imperturbable Chairman. Ald. Rice asked if Ald. Wilson had any decision or opinion showing that the Mayor could hold over beyond the term for which he was elected. Ald. Wilson said he had

Ald. Rice again moved for a recess until 8 o'clock, and argued in favor of his motion. But it was very much like "singing psalms to a dead horse," the Wilson men being united in their opposition to it,-Banks spoke against the motion; said he had come to stay until they got a Mayor. Rice asked him if he would remain over Sunday to which the Parson made no response. Wilson was going to stay until a Mayor was elected. After much dicussion the Board made a fifth effort to elect a

Ald. Fishblate said in explanation of his vote on the fifth ballot: "Mr. Chairman-I do not wish to vote for a Republican for Mayor, but as the Conservatives cannot elect one of their own number, I shall choose the least of two evils and vote for W. P. Canaday. I cannot and will not vote for the man who publicly declared that he could not give any charity to Jews or Ro man Catholics, as it was against his conscience to give anything to those people. That man is James Wilson; and for the reasons stated I cast my vote for W. P.

Ald Wilson said he had been attacked and wished to set himself right on this question; but Rice insisted that there was nothing before the Board and Wilson was ruled out of order.

6TH BALLOT. - Wilson, 5; Rice, 3; Moore, 1: Canaday 1.

Ald. Wilson explained his vote by saying he voted for a Republican for Mayor be-cause he advecated before the old Board a donation for the Sisters of Mercy, and had never assaulted the Jews and Roman Catholics. He had not refused to give anything to the Jewish Synagoguge, but had only asked time to consider. He said the Republican he voted for was James Wilson.

Ald. Rice made another motion for a recess, which was lost by the usual tie vote. 7TH BALLOT,-For W. P. Canaday: Aldermen Moore, Adrian, Fishblate, Canaday and Rice (5). For James Wilson: Al-

Banks moved that the Board proceed again to ballot for Mayor. Lost—Banks, Hankins, Brewington, Wise and Wilson in the affirmative and Moore, Adrian, Fishblate, Rice and Canaday in the negative.

At this juncture Ald. Canaday handed Parson Banks a copy of the Bible with the following passage marked: "For this cause many are weak and sickly among you and many sleep." Banks read it, but said "Nix."

Adrian, 1: Moore, 1. Ald. Fishblate, in explaining his vote on the above ballot reiterated his charge against Ald. Wilson in regard to the Jews and Roman Catholics, and sald witnesse were in the room to prove it if desired Ald. Wilson made no response to this state-

A motion made by Ald. Rice that no vote be taken for 5 minutes was adopted, and under this each Alderman was allowed to retire for 5 minutes, only one being allowed to leave at one time. It being now 84 o'clock, several Aldermen appealed to Alderman Wilson and his supporters to take some action that would allow members to go to dinner; not to convert the City Court Room into a bar-room and cook-shop; but the inevitable tie vote was the result of this effort.

Wilson informed Hankins that his din ner had arrived. Hankins replied: "] ain't hongry: I don't want no dinner. When I listed I listed forebber. I want to stay here until due time to adjourn when de business are done. We'll try another ballit on the Mayral."

Hankins moved dat the highest man at de Bode be Mare. Somebody having produced a tape-line and suggested that Canaday's height be measured. Hankins didn't oress his motion; and, besides, the Chairman decided that it required a majority (6 Aldermen) to elect on a full Board.

On motion of Alderman Rice, Alderman Wise was permitted to retire 5 minutes, with the understanding that no vote be taken during his absence.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock, Alderman Wil son's "grub" was brought in and he "went for" it as fiercely as if he thought it a dish of Canaday's liver "cooked rare." Then came Brewington's rations which he and Parson Banks chucked into their capacious mouths with undoubted relish. Next came champagne on the Canadayan side; but at this period of the proceedings Aldermen peals for a recess of 30 minutes that the notion prevailed. These gentlemen de nounced the scene about to be enacted in the strongest terms, terming it an outrage and a disgrace to the city that the Court Room should be converted into a restaurant and cook-shop, with the Aldermen as the prime movers.

The recess having expired, another ballot was had for Mayor, as follows:

11TH BALLOT.-For A. Adrian-Alder men Rice, Canaday, Moore, Fishblate and Adrian. For James Wilson-Aldermen Banks, Wise, Brewington, Hankins and

Rice moved to pay an Assistant Clerk $4 00 per day for services to be rendered and expressed the opinion that the deadlock would probably continue until next May. Motion lost, as usual. By consent, Rice was allowed to retire for three min-

The disorderly conduct of some of th spectators had now become so violent that the Chairman acknowledged his inability to preserve order and called on the City Marshal for assistance. The Marshal or dered a squad of policemen to enter the room, and on their arrival there was a marked change for the better.

A dozen different motions for recess agreement not to vote for a specified time. &c., were put and lost. But the liveliest scene of all ensued upon a motion of Brewngton "dat dis Bode set here till 12 o'clock o-night and not take no vote until dat ime." This motion was immediately "gobbled up " by the opposition and unan ly passed; whereupon Aldermen Moore. Fishblate, Adrian, Rice and Canaday put on their hats and retired from the imme diste session of the Board. Brewington, Banks and Hankins almost foamed at the mouth with rage and disappointment at this triumph of the opposition. Brewington cried out to them to "come back and set in dem cheers aroun dis bode." Hankins said "dat was de stinction tween de diffruns," and Banks talked long and earnestly in favor of nothing. Several motions were made, but the Chairman decided that the Board had unanimously resolved to vote on nothing until midnight, and he could not entertain any motion whatever. Caught in their own trap, beaten at their own game, the Wilson men were glad to persuade the opposition to resume their seats and compromise on recess until 9 o'clock. This gave the members about two hours breathing time -something that had been persistently and without reason denied them by those Aldermen who were seting as the friends of Wilson. and who were encouraged by him in their disgusting course.

NIGHT SESSION. The Board re-assembled at 9 o'clock

Ald. Rice moved severally that the Board ballot for a Clerk and Treasurer, and Marshal, and that the Board take a recess until Tuesday noon. All three motions lost by a tie vote.

The Beard then proceeded to ballot for Mayor with the following result: 12TH BALLOT.-For Adrian, 3; Wilson 5; Rice, 1; Canaday, 1.

Mr. M. London, the City Attorney, then appeared before the Board, and by consent urged the propriety of adjournment. He said this farce of keeping up a tie vote brought the city into disgrace and ought to be stopped. He suggested that all agree to adjourn to meet at some hour Tuesday and that the Chairman call the meeting to order 15 minutes after the hour named. His suggestions were made in the interest of the whole people of Wilmington-not in the nificent and bound to be valuable.

interest of any party or faction. Mr. London stated explicitly that Six Aldermen were required to constitute a quorum, and that less than that number could take no action legally. An adjournment, he said, could not prejudice the question as to whether or not the Mayor could hold over. Hankins, the ornate orator from the Fifth Ward, said: "I consquintly adjourned and I consquintly returned. I speck to stay all night and take a fresh holt in the mornin consquintly no use for me to go home and sleep. I don't do no work in the night, consquintly I does my work in de day."

Banks fought against adjournment on what he called the "antagonistical princi ple." He wanted to stay all night, send for the Doctor if he got sick, and die and go before his God if necessary. It was the general impresssion that Banks was speaking metaphorically.

Ald. Fishbiate said he didn't propose to stay all night. The five Aldermen opposed to Wilson could go away at any moment and leave the Board without a quorum, and they would do it if driven to the necessity. Banks said to his "components" he'd like to see a man leave his wife's house without her consent. W 70 1 70 6

Wise, who was growing very weak in the 'peepers," moved that the Board take a nap. Wise showed wisdom in this, but he didn't press his motion.

Ald. Banks was glad to hear the City Attorney say we had a Mayor. Ald. Fish blate said there were two opinions on that subject. He insisted that the Mayor's term had expired. The City Attorney said that question was not before the Board; he only gave it as his opinion that the Mayor held

Brewington said he had prepared himself die here in such a way as was becummin befo daylight; he proposed in his present condition to stay here and die a fitin' for de mare. THe was not dead at last accounts. though it was said Wise had threatened to kill him if he didn't continue voting for Hankins moved that each gentleman be confined to his cheer without de consent ob de Cheerman to leave. This motion being interpreted by the Chairman, was lost by a tie vote.

At this stage of the proceedings Ald. Moore received a written legal opinion to the effect that the Mayor could not hold over. but it was not brought before the Board. the question not having arisen.

The Board then proceeded to the 14TH BALLOT.-Wilson, 5; Fishblate, 4; Cana-Alderman Wise said, "I move, if I can

It was ordered that a township tax be levied in Masonboro Township of 3 cents on the $100 valuation on real and personal property for township expenses.

A few applications in regard to bridges on county roads were referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges. A Committee of two, consisting of the
