Horrible Beed-Three Children

Burued to Death. The Barnwell Sentinel contains the particulars of a dreadful tragedy that occurred in that county last week. It appears that on Friday last, the 20th instant, a negro house on the plantation of Mr. Judson Rountree, in which were some five little children, was set fire to and burned up, and three out of the five perished in the flames. The others made their escape by rushing through the fire. The persons living on the place did not know the house was on fire until it reached the division in the building, and unfortunately there was no window or door leading outside, whereby the other three, who were asleep, could be saved, and the little unfortunates were burned to a cinder. Suspicion rests on Tom Wood and his son Calvin, two colored persons living on the place, who were at once arrested and are now in jail awaiting the inquest.

The Origin of the Granges in North

The New York Tribune of the 26th inst., there appears a notice of a new publication, entitled "The Granges of Patrons of Husbandry," written by a lady, giving the history of the Western farmers' organization. In this work the origin of the Granges is attributed to an association of "Scotch farmers in North Carolina." The original object of the order was to enable the farmers to purchase supplies at wholesale prices and from first hands, and for the cultivation of social feelings among the members.

In the spring of 1868, the idea of these North Caralina Scotch farmers was communicated to the farmers in the West, and the first Grange was organized that year in Minnesota, "except the genuine germ in North

In Barnwell county, S. C., the last eight or ten day, the weather has been exceedingly hot and dry, enabling planters and others to make sad havor with the grass, which, in many cases, had got the upper hand of them. Cotton, although several weeks behind this time last year, is looking vigorous and healthy, and corn never promised better

— Mr. Sidney Stephens, township constable of Leasburg, Caswell county, was waylaid by a negro who knocked him down waylaid by a negro who knocked him down and was proceeding to get away with Mr. Stephen's pocket book when the latter recovered and knocked the robber down with fence rail. The latter escaped, after drepping the pocket book. This is Chronicled.

Arrested for Larceny.

A white woman, answering to the name of Frank Hargrove, was arrested yesterday on the charge of picking the pockets of a man who happened on her premises, of the sum of $7 in greenbacks. She was taken before Justice T. M. A Singular Escape.

One of the street cars ran over a large dog belonging to Policeman Walcott, yesterday afternoon, and although one wheel passed directly over his neck as he lay across the iron, the dog was not injured and the car not thrown off the track. The animal wore a brass collar, which was considerably bent and bruised and this probably protected him from injury.

A friend who has lately visited Beaufort speaks of it in very flattering terms as a watering place, and especially of the accommodations furnished to visitors by the Ocean House, of which our old friend Samuel R. Street is proprietor. He "goes back" on the barbers, however, of whom there are three. He says they are extortioners and cautions visitors who go there to stop any length of time to take a barber along or a good razor and other shaving

He says there are a great many health seekers at Beaufort just now. There is no doubt that our own coast affords as good watering places as can be found anywhere the Incarnation.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the veather, quite a large audience assembled at the Academy of the Incarnation last evening to witness the annual commencment of that institution.

The exercises consisted of various performances in music, the reading of compositions and recitations in French and English; a programme well calculated to exhibit the study and progress of the young ladies of the Academy. The address of Welcome, to Bishop Gibbons, who pre sided, was delivered by Miss Helen Bates, who displayed much merit. The premiums were awarded to the following young ladies: Senior class, Miss Lizzie Satchwell, Miss Mollie Wood: Intermediate class. Miss E. Carter; Second Division, Miss L. Turner; Junior class, Miss Kate Newkirk; Primary class, Miss F. Newkirk. The exercises concluded, Bishop Gibbons made a few remarks, complimenting the young ladies very highly upon the manner in which they had conducted themselves and the degree of proficiency manifested.

Two cases for failure to attend as wit nesses were disposed of.

One case was continued over.

The Livingston Case. We learn that the men (the Seal brothers) who shot and nearly killed Mr. D. B. Livingston, of Richmond county, some months since, the particulars of which were published in the STAR at the time, have been arrested and were undergoing a preliminary examination at Laurinburg when the train passed that point yesterday. Mr. Livingston was so far recovered as to be able to attend the examination.

The "New Movement,"

We announced Thursday that "Col." Geo. M. Arnold, formerly of this city, was to arrive here Friday. We learn now, from George himself, that he will be in Wilmington at an early day, for the purpose of making a speech in the interest of the "new movement." His coming will be duly announced, as well as the time and

Street Railway. We learn that the new cars for the street railway are expected to arrive this week. The track has been laid beyond Second, on Red Cross street, and workmen were engaged yesterday in grading for the curve to connect with the old track on Front St. When this is completed there will be a continuous line from the corner of Front and Red Cross, running down Front to Market, up Market to Seventh, up Seventh to Red Cross, and down Red Cross to Front street, the starting point, together with branches leading to Union Depot and Oakdale Ceme-

Superior Court. The State docket was disposed of yesterday and the civil docket taken up for con-

Thos. B. Webb, charged with entering the stores of Messrs. Brunhild & Bro., and Mr. H. Marcus, an account of which has been published, was brought into Court. He submitted to a verdict of guilty in the first case, but plead not guilty in the last named and was remanded for trial. The prisoner wore a very sad look and appeared to have a keen appreciation of his humiliating position. During the brief proceed ings in his case he leaned his head upon his hand with his elbow on the railing before him and looked as if he could scarcely control his emotions. His appearance while in the bar naturally excited the sympathies of the spectators. In the case of Richmond Leak, charged with embezzlement, the jury failed to agree, were discharged and a mistrial entered. The case of Wm. Woodberry, colored, charged with forgery, was continued over.

The Court has now entered regularly upon the consideration of the civil docket.

Improvements. It is encouraging to see the number of improvements going on, especially in the business part of the city. Of these, the beautiful structure on the corner of Dock and Front streets, to be used as a Seamen's Home, is being rapidly completed; Mr. Lesman's fine brick building, with iron front, is approaching completion; the fine brick building on the Southeastern corner of Front and Princess, is nearly finished; the New Hanover Bank, with splendid iron front, is going up rapidly; Mr. G. R. French's fine four story iron front is getting along handsomely, as is the fine building next north of Messrs. D. A. Smith & Co.; and work was commenced yesterday preparatory to the erection of two fine stores next north of the New Hanover Bank building. The large brick building being erected on Second, between Market and Dock streets to comprise three stores, with dwellings above, with iron front, is also going up rapidly, besides which there are several other buildings being erected in different sections of the city.

JEWETT HEREBY ANNOUNCES tain air for a season, and expects to return and reresume his school labors early in October He is compelled, contrary to his usual practice, to make this public announcement before leaving, because, for several years past, his customary exit, at the close of his school term, has been the signal for starting the groundless report that he was not to re turn. This annual fiction, with others set affoat for kindred ends, seems to argue that he is in somebody's way. If he is, it has arisen from no obtrusiveness of his, for he has uniformly refrained from canvassing for patronage, either personally or by proxy, has kept himself and his school almos wholy secluded from the public gaze, has laid no schemes for newspaper puffs, and has not, to the best of his recollection, resorted to any other of the various devices in vogue for attracting public notice, Possibly these facts, coupled with another not less significant, that his school has never lacked for patronage, while others, backed by an army of retainers, have "gone where the woodbine twineth," may furnish a useful lesson to somebody.
