From the necessarily meagre re ports of the State Educational Convention, which we print in condensed form from the Raleigh papers, we are inclined to regard the first session of the Educational Association as one of great and brilliant promise.

The committee are informed that very few counties in the State have voted for the additional tax, so that seventy cents a year for each child is all that the law provides for carrying fluence, and should be a real Univeron the schools according to the requirements of the Constitution. It is needless to say that the means provided is altogether inadequate to the Then additional facts are striking and suggestive-the population of the State in the year 1870, was 1,071.-361. Of this population there were 397,690 persons who could not read and write-166,397 whites and 200, 606 colored.

There are about 350,000 childen in the State, 230,000 of them are white; 120,000 are colored.

In that year 65,801 white children and 11,419 colored attended school. The report of the Superintendent of Education shows that there were last year in public schools about 50,681 children-34,294 white and 16,387 colored, and 7,055 in private schools. In the year 1860, 116,576 children attended school.

In the year 1850, 100,808 attended school.

The committee beg leave to report the following resolutions: 1. That the dignity and importance inst.

of the educational interests of our people cannot be over-estimated, and they may never be neglected but at the hazard of consequences which no friend of humanity can contemplate without fearful approhension. 2. That the general educational in-terests of this State are deplorable and alarming in a high degree, and are such as to require and command the noblest and most sacrificing efforts of every true son of North Carolina to relieve her from such serious Regiment. We find in the second number of Colonel Pool's Our Living and Our Dead, the official order of the Governor and the correspondence that followed, relating to the occupation of Fort Caswell, also extracts from Gov. Ellis' Diary. It will be remembered that on the 31st of December, the people of this city asked leave of the Governor to take possession of Fort Caswell, as a precautionary measure. Permission was refused. The next day, January 1st, 1861, the Governor was waited upon by a Wil mington delegation, headed by the Hon.

W. S. Ashe. The delegation reached Raleigh by special train, and urged the Governor to give his permission to them to take Fort Caswell, urging the necessity of this step to prevent the Fort from being garrisoned by troops from the Harriet Lane. In his diary, the Governor writes:

"I, of course, refused my permission, having no authority as Governor to grant any such permission."

Our Living and Our Dead prints the on der from the Governor addressed to Col. John L. Cantwell, commander of the 30th Regiment North Carolina - Militia, which directs him to order Fort Caswell to be restored, the State not having seceded. The order from Col. Cantwell to Maj.J. J. Hedrick is also printed, as is also the letter of Col. Cantwell to the Governor, reporting how he had carried out his Excellency' commands.

We find in the same paper other historical matter of local interest, in the sketch of the Third Regiment of North Carolina Troops, prepared by Col. Thruston. The names of several of Wilmington's gallant sons, dead and living, occur, and though the perusal may start a tear, it will also bring the flush of pride. Without further remarks we give the sketch as it came from Col. Thruston :

The Third Regiment of Infantry, N. C. Troops, was organized by order of Gov. Ellis at Garyburg, N. C., under the care and supervision of its most excellent and efficient commander, Col. Gaston Meares, and generally known as the "Ten Regi-ment Bill." As soon as its organization was completed, it was ordered to Rich-mond, and being turned over to the Con-

Fight Between a Man and Woman-A Slung shot Brought in Play. Late yesterday afternoon a difficulty occurred in a house on Dock street, below the Seamen's Home, between a white man by the name of Little and a colored woman by the name of Phillis Green, employed as a cook on the premises, during which it is alleged the former struck the woman on the head two or three times with a slung shot. The parties were arrested and taken to the Guard House, when the woman was released on her own recognizance to appear before the Mayor's Court this morning and the man was lodged in the Guard House to await hearing.

Crop Prospects.

A gentleman just returned from a trip to Columbia, S. C., reports the crops on the route as looking remarkably well. At Woodgrove, about fourteen miles this side of Columbia, he conversed with Messrs. Jeffries and Adams, two large farmers of that vicinity, who stated that they would make better crops generally this year than any previous year since the war. This he found to be the experience of a great many farmers and planters whom he met.

The Moonlight Excursion.

Tickets for the moonlight excursion or Tuesday evening next are said to be "going off like hot cakes." It is the intention to go to Smithville and back and the party expect to have a pleasant time if the moon don't rise until after 11 o'clock. The boat will leave the wharf about 9 o'clock. One or two fine bands will be in attendance.

Candidates for Constable.

Among the candidates for the position o Constable of Wilmington Township we are enabled at this present writing to enumerate the following: S. F. Walcott, now a member of the police force; S. W. Nash, present county Jailor; Simon Hayes, the present incumbent of the office; R. H. Leake, and J. C. Smith.
