The University boat race at Springfield. Massachusetts, is the absorbing topic to-day at the North. Muscular christianity, which once consisted in thorough devotion to base ball, now requires those who hold its creed to find pious pleasure and duty in the more exciting and nobler sport of sculling a boat on a placid stream. Muscle is a good thing to have, but it can't take the place of brains, whatever row the groundlings may make over the Massachusetts University

Don Carlos, unarmed and dressed in citizen's clothes, entered Spain Wednesday, and was received with great enthusiasm. He has joined his troops in the field. The chances for the Don are good, but the slips between the cup and lip in Spain are proverbially numerous. The republic is rickety, but we hardly think the people are willing to accept Carlos with high notions of prerogative and his humiliating subjection to the

It is a noticeable fact that about a million dollars, including $130,000 of the Peabody fund, have been spent during the school year just closing in the Southern States on the common schools. This is only about a quarter what ought to be expended to do the youth of our section justice, but it shows that something is being done for the cause of education in this (according to the Northern view) benighted land.

Mr. W. P. Caldwell, one of the sign ers of the petition in favor of Judge Pearson for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. has written a card in the New York Sun, correcting a report which that paper published, stating that the petition originated with Pearson. Mr. Caldwell says Judge Pearson was even ignorant of the fact that such a petition was prepared until its publication. - COMANDAMIANT

LETTER FROM BATTLEBORO.

Crops in Nash and Edgecombe-A Local Squabble-Pie-Nic, Rte., Etc. [Correspondence Morning Star.] BATTLEBORO, N. C., July 18th, 1873,

Having a few moments more to spare this morning than I usually have I will employ a part of them in giving you a few items, of passing events, if not of interest.

Crops are looking tolerably well in this immediate section, considering the quantity of rain we had in the early part of the season. Cotton is behind at least ten days, though it is looking well for its age, and with a late frost we may yet expect an average yield. Great complaint, though, has recently been raised against the appearance of lice on cotton, which is said to be the forerunner of rust. Should rust attack the crop at this early season of the year it would be considerably damaging to the crop. The shatter worm too is said to be unusually numerous, waging a fierce war on the corn crop, not only here, but throughout every section of the State, from which I have heard. Oats are very good, while such as peas and potatoes seem to be doing well.

Our town authorities, and our rural, as well as our town citizens not unfrequently get at logger-heads. Such was the fierceness of the war a few days since waged between the two parties (didn't you hear the cannonading?) that an armistice was declared and for a time all was "quiet along the lines." The chiefs of the different tribes being brought together, (why is it I can't get the Modoc war out of my mind?) I mean his "Honor," the MayO! and his—(I don't know what to call the body)—any way, let that pass. When the Commissioners (ah! that's it) and one good citizen, who was the supposed offender against the law, was brought together, so plain was the case that it was finally left the interpretation, and (I fear his hogs one morning, was astonished to find at his gate a young babe lying upon the ground. He took it up and carried it to his wife, requesting it to be cared for. She immediately exclaimed, in woman's thunder, "I know whose it is! I will have nothing to do with it!" For several days it lay upon the floor-in fact till its backbone was rubbed through the flesh and skin, and its heels had been beaten off with continual kicking. Eventually it died in flesh, but is still living in that land where tears are unknown and joys will never cease. Just now I will not mention names.

On the 24th of this month there will be the first annual pic-nic at Battleboro. Great preparetions have been made, and a grand and good time is expected.

In my next I will try to give you more items, for now I am in a great More anon, Vox. Northwestern Underwriters' Convention in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKER, July 16. The Convention of Underwriters of the Northwest met here to-day. B. Smith, President, addressed the Convention, closing as follows:

"The most desirable legislative action in reference to fire insurance we could have would be for the general government, instead of the States, to take all organizations in business under its care by the enactment of a general insurance law similar to the National banking law, thus doing away with all supervision, and at the same time placing all organizations of the country under charge of one department, the requirements of which should be such that the interests of all concerned would be protected and guarded, without being burdensome or needessly inquisitorial.

"Then, if the companies were required to have a given amount of capital, besides a working surplus, and to make statements of their actual condition when called upon, instead of at a certain fixed dates as now, we should, I think, feel that supervision would be wholesome, while the companies would be relieved of a vast amount of labor and expense attendant now upon making separate statements for insurance officials of each State, which all must admit afford but little protection to policy holders."

The afternoon session was devoted to an interchange of sentiment.

The Dog as a Nuisance.

We know numerous individuals in our midst who should be made to suffer for the dissipation and unseemly conduct of their dogs, and would suggest to some one who delighteth in law suits to follow the example of the illustrious Caleb Cushing. A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, July ly 15th, says:

Hon. Caleb Cushing brought to-day, in the Supreme Court of this District, a novel suit. He sues Thomas Kelley, residing at 815 Fifteenth street, in this city, in the 815 Fifteenth street, in this city, in the courts, claiming $1,000 damages on the first count and $3,000 on the second. He sets forth that Kelly did wrongfully keep a dog which "was used and accustomed to bark continually by day and night, and that on Saturday, the 12th inst., the defendant did then and there allow the said dog to bark incessantly from early in the day through the whole day and night following, and did thereby hinder and prevent the plaintiff from studying and transacting his lawful from studying and transacting his lawful business by day and deprive him of his sleep during the night, so as injuriously to affect his health and the peaceful use of his property." The second count alleges the keeping of the same dog, and that said dog was a dangerous one." It is to be hoped that the Hon. Caleb may recover, and the case be established as a precedent at one L. rabnost

Wandering Warren.

A prominent citizen of Wilmington, now sojourning in a Northern State, writes to his son in this city, we are informed, that the "Reverend" Charles Wesley Warren alias Horton, alias Ware, is now in Rochester N. Y., engaged in preaching, and that he is "stirring up the monkeys" in the liveliest imaginable style.

An Aggravated Case of Robbery-The

Thief Enters a Sick Room. Yesterday morning, sometime between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock, the dwelling house of Mrs. Kelley, residing on Macumber alley, between Eighth and Ninth streets, was entered and robbed of a number of articles, including two very handsome quilts, ready for use; a very handsome laid-work quilt, ready to put together; two patchwork quilts, nearly finished; one white counterpane; one large winter shawl, two small neck shawls, a large double bed blanket, one log cabin rug, some other small articles of quilted work, besides other things of not much value. Mrs. Kelley is a widow lady and has an ged mother and others dependent upon her exertions with her needle for a support Her mother has for some time past been very ill, requiring almost constant attention. It is usual, however, for the rest of the family to retire about 12 o'clock, and after resting until about 4 o'clock Mrs. Kelley again visits the room of her mother to adninister medicine and attend to her other wants. It was during the interval comprised in the two periods mentioned, while the mother was alone in the room, with a window hoisted to admit fresh air, she being probably asleep, that the thief seized the opportunity of committing the robbery, effecting an enterance into the room through the open window and making his exit in the same manner. Mrs. Kelley, under the circumstances, could ill afford to lose the articles stolen, which were specimens of her own handiwork and industry during moments of relief from more pressing duties, and it is hoped that a generous public will contribute to repair the loss she has sus

Sanitary.

We have heard several complaints lately of the condition of Quince's alley, between Market and Dock streets. The smell from decayed matter, &c., which finds its way into this receptacle of filth is said to be absolutely awful, proving not only offensive to the olfactories of those who do business in the vicinity, or who have occasion to pass through it, but really a fruitful stimulant of disease. The authorities should see to it that the allies are not allowed to become the depositaries of filth, especially during the heated term.

Schooner Ashore. The Schr. Annie Shepherd, from Little River, S. C., with 1,100 barrels rosin and 200 barrels of spirits of turpentine, got aground on the shoals near that place on Saturday evening last. The steamer Waccaman went to her assistance on Wednes day, with a wrecking party under command of Capt. B. W. Beery, but returned yesterday, having left her party to assist those of the Steamer Alpha, which had previously reached the seen of the disaster. The most of the cargo had been thrown overhoard and was being picked up by small schooners and will be brought to this place. The remainder was being removed from the vessel when the Waccamaw left. The schooner will probably be gotten off, provided the weather remains favorable. The Annie Struck by Lightning.

Shepherd was bound for New York.

During the severe thunder storm on Wed nesday afternoon last lightning struck the dwelling house of a colored man by the name of Alex. Beasly, located at the head of Whiskey Creek, in Masonboro Township. The fluid came in contact with the northeastern end of the building, stunning all that were in the house at the time, including several children, all of whom soon recovered except one of Beasly's daughters, who is still suffering from the effects of the electric shock. One hen was killed on her nest under the house and three others, with a few chickens were found dead in the vicinity of the building. The lightning also struck a tree in the neighborhood and set fire to the woods during the same storm.

The "Ups and Downs of Life." A colored man by the name of Mose Armstrong, employed as a laborer at the Murchison house on Front street, was considerably stunned for a few minutes yesterday by a fall. He was seated on the end of a piece of scantling which was being used as a lever, when it suddenly slipped and he was thrown several feet into the air, falling on the bricks and rubbish below. He was soon upon his feet again, however, and proceeded with his work as usual.

- On the 16th the advertised meet As some assistance will be necessary to equip the new Brass Band in process of organization it is to be hoped that it will be cheerfully rendered by such of our citizens as can afford it. Two first-class bands will be quite an acquisition to the musical facilities of the city.

— On the 16th the advertised meeting of the stockholders of the Raleigh and Caston Railroad could not take place because not a sufficient number of stockholders were present. The Sentinel says: It is strongly suspected, and generally believed, by the stockholders with whom we have conversed, that the meeting was prevented, designedly, by the influence of the Seaboard & Roanoke Railroad Company. A meeting was appointed for August 31st. CITY ITEMS.

After it had been performed and his hands secured behind, the Dr. left, but was again called to see Rimer who had succeeded in getting his hands loose and tearing asunder his wounds to such an ex-tent as to allow his intestines to protrude.
