Gigantic Frauds in Philadelphia.

A telegram from the Quaker city says there is a great excitement there owing to the discovery of gigantic frauds in the office of the recorder of deeds. The origin of the whole is attributed to an alleged conspiracy P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 8 entered into betweet one C. M. Leslie, o'clock. Seats all free. Gentlemanty usha large real estate dealer, who recently became a bankrupt, and a clerk in the recorder's office, to issue clear certificates to properties already encumbered by mortgages. By this made properties, it is charged, were remortgaged to the extent of $700,-000. The total amount of fraud has not been unearthed, but it will probably reach over a million dollars. These swindling operations were carried on during the administration of the former incumbent, and and have been concealed so nicely that it was by the merest accident they were discovered. Leslie has left the city, and no one knows where he is.

A Curious Legend.

In certain localities of the Nord there exists an old belief that when two marriages take place at the same time, the bride who leaves the church before the other will have a boy for her first child. Two weddings were celebrated simultaneously a few days back at the Archies, in that department. The ceremony over, the two couples with their friends hastened to reach the door, and arrived there just at the same time. The situation became embarrassing, for the two parties had stopped and exchanged looks of defiance. Fortunately the mayor was a man of resources, for he stepped forward, and, giving an arm to each of the young wives, took them out together, to the great relief of all the friends on both sides.

Not less bitter than the feuds between the houses of York and Lancaster, or those of the Montagues and Capulets. has been the lifelong vendetta cherished in the Cherokee Nation. The rival chieftains were once Ross and Ridge; later, the family of Downing seems to be the sole representative of the anti-Ross party. The election which took place in the Nation recently was a Ross victory, and a bloody fight is the consequence. The report that a war of extermination is imminent is probably somewhat exaggerated; but it is very likety that many deaths will follow this outbreak, just as has been the case in previous instances. White men can throw no stones at this semi-civilized tribe. Election riots have heretofore been the exclusive pastime of the proud Caucasian.

An Ugly Chasm. We alluded a week or two since to dangerous excavation at the junction of Fifth street with the railroad. Since that time the earth has sunk at that point to the depth of about ten feet, leaving an ugly chasm of about 20 by 40 feet in dimensions. During the war a powder manazine was located at that point and the wood work has rotted and a large portion of it given way, hence the miniature earthquake. Several small children were playing near the spot a few days since and narrowly escaped being precipitated into the chasm. #### Kicked by a Mule. A small colored boy, about 7 years of age, son of Geo Hill, residing on the premises corner of Fourth and Mulberry streets, was severely injured yesterday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, by a kick from one of the mules belonging to the Street railway. The little fellow was playing near the track at the junction corner of Seventh and Red Cross streets, when, getting in too close proximity to the mule the animal suddenly kicked him in the face, skining his nose badly and otherwise injuring his frontispiece, so that a physician had to be called upon to administer to the little sufferer. His wounds are not considered dangerous, though the report was at one time circulated that he had died from his injuries.
