THE TENDER HEARTED ENGI-

Among the sad incidents of the numerous recent railway accidents there is none more melancholy than that related in our telegraphic columns this morning. An express train collided with a carriage, killing its occupants, and when the engineer, who is not charged with carelessness, saw the horrible wreck his engine had made he fell dead.

This is in bright contrast with the conduct of that Illinois engineer, whose criminal folly caused the terrible disaster last week near Chicago, and who fled immediately after his bloody foolishness was consummated. If not a hero the New York engineer was at least a man with a heart.

The murderers of Canby will swing from the gallows for the crime. The heroism of Jack, Schonchin, Black Jim, Boston Charlie, One-Eyed Jim and Sloluck finds its conclusion at the end of a rope. A policy of justice, rigorous in protecting the Indian's rights as in punishing him for his crimes, is what is demanded from the Administration.

Body Re-Interred. We stated yesterday that the body of the man who was recently drowned off the steamer North and whose remains were interred in the neighborhood of Hilton, had been partially exhumed and mutilated by beasts of prey. As soon as Coroner Hewlett heard of the facts, yesterday morning, he procured assistance and visited the spot, when he found the report correct. It seems that he had employed two colored men to perform the necessary service, giving them positive instructions in the matter, but they failed to bury the body at the necessary depth and did not come up to the requirements in other respects. The Coroner had the body re-interred and placed beyond the reach of interference hereafter.

Major J. W. Schenck-His Wherenbouts and What He is Boing. By a letter received a day or two since from Maj. J. W. Schenck, formerly Sheriff of this county, we find that he is located in the thriving town of Dallas, Texas, where he has established a general business agency. From a glance at his circular it is evident that "No pent up Utica contracts his powers," as he agrees to furnish steam and hand fire engines, hook and ladder trucks, hose carriages, all descriptions of fire extinguishers, locomotives, upright and tabular boilers, stationary and portable steam engines, grist mills, saw mills, circular saws; brick, shingle, barrel and pail machines; planers; surfacers and matchers lathes, horse powers, shafting and hangers, and all kinds of wood working, saw mill and cotton mill machinery; leather and rubber hose, felting and packing and all kinds of rubber goods; sole agent for Northern Texas for Fairbanks' platform, counter and hav scales: Marvin & Co's. Herring and Farrell's fire and burgler proof safes; bank vault doors; Bradley's enameled mixed paints; tanner's and currier's oils; car, engine, machinery, sperm and lard oils; will furnish estimates, plans and specifications for towns in Northern Texas, as to cost of water works and gas works. He also informs persons interested in the establishment of schools, colleges and other institutions of learning, that he will furnish estimates or lists of the most approved school material, including furniture, globes, maps, astronomical, chemical, philosophiand anatomical apparatus, &c., &c.

We are surprised that in all this list the Major does not once mention "dogwood and persimmon bobbins," which were wont to be his favorite item of manufacture when he was interested in the "Wilming-ton Wood-Eurning Company." Our friend "Scanks" says he is "thoroughly disgusted

First Co-Operative Store. A sale of stock in the First Co-Operative Store took place yesterday at $37 50 per share, the par value being $25. This is a good showing and proves this useful and popular institution to be on the high-road to prosperity. At the last meeting of the Board of Directors Mr. A. G. Hankins was elected Store. keeper for the ensuing year, Mr. J. H. Mc-Garity, to whose ability and experience the Association owes so much of its success, having declined for reasons satisfactory to aimself to serve another term.

The Cape Fear.

Capt. Worth, of the steamer A. P. Hurt, reports the freshet in the river so high that no freights can be loaded or received at a number of the landings along the river, including Nat. Moore's, County Line, Roan's, Harvey's Newfield and Elwell's. At Elizabethtown freight and passengers have to be landed in a ferry flat. At Bernheim's landing, also, everything is under water. Corn in the lowlands along the river is almost utterly ruined. When the Hurt left Fayetteville the water was gradually fall-

Triplicate Bills of Lading.

Bills of lading, like hills of exchange, it is suggested by the New Orleans Picayune, should be issued in series, numbered one, two and three, and with the usual condition that any one being satisfied the others shall be void. This is suggested, particularly in the case of long foreign voyages, where there is risk of loss; and an additional reason urged for it is, that the system will facilitate delivery in this class of mercantile securities. The plan has started quite a discussion among the merchants of New Carolina Central Railway Extension. At a meeting of the Board of Directors on the 20th inst., the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a Committee to consist of the connection from Lincolnton to Hickory Station; also what facilities and induce-ments will be offered.

At the late meeting of the Board, as we learn from the Charlotte Democrat, it was resolved that S. L. Fremont be designated as Chief Engineer and Superintendent, instead of Engineer and Superintendent as Another Robbery. A raid was made upon the drug store of Messrs. Conoley & Wooster, on Fourth street, just beyond the railroad, on Monday night. The thieves entered the store by cutting out a pannel of the rear door, when they gathered up about fourteen dozen cigars, two boxes of tobacco and a few other articles and departed. The cigar boxes were emptied and left on the premises. No ringe, who resides at the corner of Second and Orange streets, had occasion to hire a servant. The colored woman he engaged was a stranger to him, but the circumstances were such that he could not exercise the proper prudence in selecting a servant at that time, as he was partly compelled to have one without delay. The woman went to work and remained until about 7 o'clock in the evening, when she called to Mrs. VanAmringe, who was in one of the upper rooms, and informed her that she was going home, but would return early in the morning. She was told that she could do so. The following morning the family waited until about 9 o'clock and no servant came to prepare breakfast. Finally it was suggested that the woman, who gave her name as Katie Potter, had made a raid upon the silver ware and had no idea of returning. Upon examination this was found to be the exact condition of affairs. She had filled a large tub on the evening previous with every thing available that she could lay her hands upon and decamped with the spoils. Among the missing articles may be mentioned the tub, four silverplated forks, three silver spoons, a blanket, several doilys, two stove pots and various other things, amounting altogether to twenty-three different articles. No clue as yet to the whereabouts of the perpetrator of the theft.

Dishonest Servants. ZA few days since Mr. Stacey Van Am-

Your paper of this date contains an account of "Tax-Payers Meeting" and "South Washington Aroused," in which is stated that Dr. Satchwell was called on to make his report, that he showed in the most impressive manner that the books of our county officials were in a terribly loose condition, &c.
