Wilhelm, author of "Watch on the Whine," is dead. - Bank of England forgers found guilty and sentenced to penal servitude. — A waterspout at duanojuata, Mexico, destroyed lives and property. - Governor Dix will not arm the New York police. — At Shawneetown, Illinois, the Belle Vernon sunk. -Great storm in New Foundland. - Castelar, elected President of Cortes, makes a speech. - Agitation in Paris over high prices of bread. -- "Village Blacksmith" won the Long Branch hurdle races. -- In 76 a Grand National Temperance mass meeting will be held in Philadelphia. -Pennsylvania Democratic Convention met vesterday at Wilkesbarre. - New York markets : Cotton, 203; gold, 154. - The South Carolina Supreme Court decided the case of the bondholders vs. the State against the latter.

The Radical Supreme Court of South Carolina yesterday at Columbia decided the case of Morton, Bliss & Co., bondholders, against the State of South Carolina adversity to the latter. This result was apprehended by the tax-payers, who are at the mercy of a vile Legislature, administration, and judiciary. The bonds amount to several millions, and were issued in fraud.

THE LATEST MAILS.

- The Lower California Company of which Mr. Benjamin F. Butler, the Massachusetts "claimant," is President, and Mr. John A. Logan, of Il linois, Vice-President, has a snug little claim before the Mexican and American Commission at Washington for 30,000,000 acres of land in Sonora under a contract with the Mexican Government for surveys in list. that State. It is this kind of "professional" business, doubtless, that Mr. Butler refers to when he compares the beggarly pittance he receives from Government with his income from his practice. Mr. John A. Logan seems to be in prosperous circumstances too.

- Prof. Hayden, in a letter received Tuesday, dated Twin Lakes, in the mountains, Aug. 15, 1873, says: We are returning loaded down with wealth. The collections of this year are greater than ever. Our next annual report will be fully as large as this year and much more important. We will enter the Middle-Park after examining the mountains of the Holy Cross and Blue Range. Then we will ascend Long's Peak, go thence to Pike's Peak and ascend that.

- The Scientific Association on Saturday listened to an animated discussion of the theory of evolution, energy and eloquence. It is not likely, says the Tribune, that this momentous question, which in fact involves all others, will be settled at Portland this year, but its discussion will certainly call into exercise the highest powers of those who accept and those who reject the theory.

An American Home for the Roman Pontiff.

Herald correspondence from Rio Janeiro alleges that an opinion, almost a belief exists in that city to the effect that His Holiness Pope Pius IX secretly favors a Vati-can policy indicative of a removal of the chief seat of government of the Roman Catholic Church, subsequent to his death, from Rome to the territory of the Brazilian empire, thus fixing the center of the great religious propagandism in America. writer sets forth some curious reasons of the position. The new pontiff, wise in his generation, as he will most assuredly be, might do very much worse, and may not, perhaps, do better, particularly when he comes to Attempted Robbery. An effort was made to effect an entrance into the residence of Mr. J. C. Pittman, on Fourth, near Davie street, on Tuesday night, but the barking of a dog on the premises, which had become aroused awakened the family, and the thief was frightened off. When the family were first aroused they heard some one trying to force open the rear door.

Beware of Sling-Shots. shots on the streets, or anywhere else within the city limits, should lay them aside and amuse themselves with something less dangerous and not so liable to bring them into trouble, or so calculated to cause them or their parents unnecessary expense. A little youngster, yesterday, who, we are assured, had no idea of causing any mischief, had the misfortune to break a pane of glass in one of the windows of the Mayor's office, in the City Hall building, with a rock from one of these dangerous playthings, which cost his father $5 in the City Court, and this was only one quarter

The First Bale. The first bale of cotton of the new crop, so far as we have been advised, arrived Prof. Morse sustaining, with equal here yesterday by the Southern Express.

It came from Mr. J. H. Moody, of Marion, S. C., was raised by Mr. J. D. Jamison, 8 miles from Marion, and was consigned to F. W. Kerchner, Esq., of this city. The bale weighed 480 pounds. Unmailable Letters.

The following unmailable letters remain in the post-office in this city, August 27th: Robert Brooks, Baltimore, Md.; Rosie Black, Goldsboro, N. C.; Henry Pearsell, Kenansville, N. C.; Oakford & Norsiso, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. J. M. Baker, Atlanta, Ga.; Memory & Williams, Grists, N. C.; Rev. Wm. S. Plumer, New York.

Not So Bad. The mother of the young colored woman who was reported to have been delivered of a dead infant on the recent excursion, called on us vesterday and assured us that while it was true that her daughter was taken ill on the boat, the other statement was incorrect, the event chronicled by us having transpired after leaving the boat, the body being subsequently interred in the City Cemetery. We gave the statement simply as it was given to us.

Errors Corrected. In the report, published in our paper of Tuesday, of the tax-payers' meeting held last Saturday, at South Washington, some errors occurred, as we are informed. For example, one of the speakers is published as saving "that the books of our county officials are in a terribly loose condition. We are requested to state that the only reference made by this speaker to "county officials" or "books" was wherein he claimed that the books of the County Commissioners failed to show that the Board met, as the law directs, on three days succeeding the third Monday in May to hear complaints, revise the tax lists, &c. No complaint was made, as we are informed, by him of any other "books" or county official, except the Board of Commissioners. Here we would remark, parenthetically, that we were present during the investigation by the securities of Sheriff Black and heard the speaker alluded to did not intend to convey the impression that his books were kept loosely, but as the remarks, as reported, were capable of such construction, he wished to set himself right before the public. Another error: It is reported of another speaker that he said the State taxes amounted to $21,000, more than they required. He really said, as he informs us, that the Sheriff would collect nearly $21,000 in excess of last year's taxes. In justice to ourselves, we must add that these errors were not made in the STAR WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1873.

From a report just completed by Officer VanSoelen, of the police force, we learn that between the 10th of April and the 25th of August, a little over four months, there were erected in this city 56 dwellings, 1 warehouse, 10 additions, 1 shed, 2 shops, 15 stores, 1 church, 1 stable and 1 banking house, aggregating in cost of construction, &c., $185,000.

Photographed.

Yesterday morning Elijah Martin, David Martin, Jimmie Anderson and Billy Merrick, who stand charged with the murder of little Willie Carter, were taken from the county jail and carried to the art galleries of Messrs. VanOrsdell and Yates, where photographs were taken of the parties both singly and in groups. In a few days the illustrated papers will teem with the details of the great murder, with pictures of the alleged criminals.

The Anna W. Barker.

At Castine, Me., Aug. 21st, was launched from the yard of J. W. Dresser a fine threemasted schooner of about 275 tons, called the Anna W. Barker, being named after the wife of the senior member of the firm of G. G. Barker & Co., of this city. She is owned by Barker Bros., Daniel Curry, A. H. Soder, William Phipps, and J. H. Sears, of Boston, and Samuel Adams, J. W. Dresser and others of Castine, is to be commanded by Capt. Thomas Snowman, and is designed for the Boston and Wilmington trade.

The Crops. We learn that the crops along the line of the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad have apparantly been considerably damaged by the late heavy rains. A gentleman who arrived here yesterday, and who travelled the entire route from Augusta, says there has been a very discouraging change as compared with their appearance two or three weeks since, and he is fearful that the yield will not be near so large as
