OUTLINES.

New York shoemakers about to strike. Bank presidents think the crisis is over. A street money market is formed in front of New York Exchange. In Missouri in a street fight one man was killed and one man and a boy fatally wounded. Epidemic increases in Shreveport. Prince Bismarck dead. Castelar replying to Garibaldi's offer to fight for Spain, says he needs no assistance in Petersburg. At latest advice financial statement favorable. Burning of Holling's paper mill, Boston, make a $40,000 loss. Castelar, Serrano and Topete have been in conference; result favorable. Bank of France will loan Castelar's government a hundred million francs.

POOR SHREVEPORT.

The news we print, in our telegraphic dispatches, forwarded via Louisville, from Shreveport, would touch a heart of granite. The destitution almost equals the pestilence. The fever itself is spreading into the suburbs, and is attacking acclimated persons.

We urge upon our citizens to increase their donations to the relief fund. Let the committee appointed at the meeting Friday night solicit further subscriptions to-day, and forward them instantly to the friends of the sufferers. No philanthropic heart will refuse assistance to so true and urgent a cause.

LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS.

Henry Clews & Co., of New York, suspended yesterday—they say temporarily. In Petersburg four banks, the Merchants' National, Planters' and Mechanics', First National and People's suspended yesterday morning, and the Citizens' decline payment.

THE MONEY PANIC MONDAY.

Correct Statement of the Conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel—Views of the President.

[Special Telegram to the Petersburg Index and Appeal.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. The return of the President and Secretary Richardson to Washington to-day and the consequent resumption of departmental business has enabled the quid nuncs to reach a more definite solution of the government connection with the financial disturbances in New York.

It seems that the press reports of the Fifth Avenue Hotel conference were incorrect in many respects. The President in conversation to-day denied most emphatically that Secretary Richardson, during any of the interviews, made use of the language: "This, gentlemen, is not my funeral."

He further stated that the position of the Government from the outset that the treasury has no more right to loan its money, legal tender reserve, or any other class of currency to banks or corporations, no matter how good the security might be that they offered as collateral, than it had to loan funds to private individuals.

The propositions submitted that the Treasury should place the legal tender reserve at the disposal of the banks of New York, was therefore rejected as illegal. Commodore Vanderbilt did not propose to the President to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to place $30,000,000 of the reserve at the disposal of the banks, nor did it appear as a condition to this proposition that Vanderbilt would offer $10,000,000.

It was known at the time that the Lake Shore, owned by Vanderbilt, was indebted to the Union Trust Company about $2,000,000, and that it had been forced to suspend operations because it could not realize on its liabilities. It is therefore probable if Vanderbilt had made such a proposition the inconsistency of his position would have been alluded to. In the opinion of some of the distinguished persons who were present at the interview, Vanderbilt was either unable or unwilling to advance ten cents under the circumstances. It is therefore probable that the statement published was the result of a shrewd attempt of Vanderbilt to advertise himself through the publicity which he knew would be attached to the reports of the consultation. It was in answer to this proposition that the President is reported to have said that "he must conform to the Constitution."

Reference was made to the deliberations of the Finance Committee of the Senate of the last Congress which, it will be remembered, had the question of authority of the Secretary of the Treasury of the legal tender reserve, and the majority of which decided that no authority existed in law to use it even for pressing emergencies of the government. This fact was mentioned in reply to the proposition, and while the President announced his earnest wish to do everything in his power to relieve the pending financial embarrassment, he added that he must conform to the law.

Among those who at different times participated in the consultation were President Vail, of the Bank of Commerce, and Moses Taylor. These gentlemen, it seems, represented elements of the market opposed to the interests of operators in railroad stocks. From them it was learned that while the substantial business interests of the community might suffer from the indirect influences of the disturbances, no apprehension exists on their part that certain results would follow. In short it became apparent before the intermission ended that the railroad operators alone were seriously involved, and that the representatives of the banks or firms not complicated by those operations were free from the fright of the panic.

The President further explained that in pursuing the policy adopted it was intended to relieve the stringency of the actual necessities of the community in such a way as not only to relieve those necessities, but enable the Government to purchase its own indebtedness. In other words, he believes that the purchase of bonds by the treasury would enable the public, if an actual necessity existed for relief, to obtain that relief, and at the same time enable the country to reduce the public debt by drawing on its ample surplus of currency. He was well aware of the fact that the opportunity thus afforded to the West and the South to obtain the currency so much desired in those sections of the country would be taken advantage of, but this result he accepted with satisfaction.

The amount of currency at the demand of the New York sub-treasury is $20,000,000 from all sources and this, in the President's opinion, is amply sufficient to meet every demand that may be made upon it by the purchase of bonds. He felt confident that the end has been reached and as soon as the adjustment of affairs now progressing is affected, the customary channels of business will re-open and commercial transactions of every character will proceed as before with the favorable exception that the markets will have reached a last and substantial basis. In alluding to the character of the panic the President denounced in most unparading and severe terms the absurdity of the proposition of stock gamblers, and added that the result of the purchase of bonds exposed the utter rottenness of the basis on which they carry on their business. He received two dispatches yesterday from eminent houses in Europe interested in American securities, informing him that the policy of selling bonds had operated to restore as well as elevate confidence.

Ex-Governor Cook is in New York in consultation with the other members of the firm to-night. The belief is widely entertained here that the firm will recover. The First National Bank, as the agent of other banks, had on deposit when it suspended $800,000 as security for the payment of commissions to it for the transaction of their business with the government. Its charter is now forfeited, and although but little is known regarding its condition, it is safe to say that it will not be able to pay its depositors. This fact, of course, effects nearly every National Bank in the South. Ex-President Johnson had $60,000 to deposit with the same bank. It is evident the end of the panic is come. The Treasury officials and interested parties here are satisfied that in a few days business will be resumed all over the country as usual.

LIST OF FAILURES. The following is an additional list of failures, which we copy from the Tribune: Corporations in New York—Bank of the Commonwealth, National Trust Company, Union Trust Company. Failures in Philadelphia—Charles P. Bayard, H. H. Bull, E. W. Clarke & Co., DeHaven & Brother, Henry H. Douglas, Henry L. Fell, Gelbough, Bond & Co., T. C. Knight, John P. Lloyd, George H. North, J. S. & H. E. Yerkes, Union Banking Company. Miscellaneous.—Thomas Squires & Son, Albany, N. Y.; Horace Conn, Woburn, Mass.; Franklin Banking Co., Chicago, Ill.; Taussig, Fisher & Co., St. Louis, Mo.; Powell & Co., Williamsport, Pa.; H. J. Morse & Co., Toronto, Canada; City Savings Bank, Burlington, Iowa.

[New York Bulletin of Monday.] THE EFFECT IN COMMERCIAL CIRCLES. The continued failures and general demoralization in connection with the closing of some of the prominent banking houses found its way into commercial circles at an early hour. Men who yesterday expressed themselves as confident that the crisis would not seriously affect the commercial interest, were loth to give an opinion as to the result. Rumors of a serious character were whispered from ear to ear, and so far as transacting any business, none were disposed to operate. The news of the suspension of the Commonwealth Bank was regarded with much anxiety, and was looked upon as the most damaging to the commercial interests of anything that had as yet transpired. Those who on yesterday were so sanguine that all the banking institutions identified with commercial affairs would weather the storm, gave marked evidence of general distrust. This feeling was observed in all the different branches, and seemed to increase as the current rumors became more frequent and damaging.

In the vicinity and at the Cotton Exchange the same effects were notably apparent. The feeling of confidence which so generally prevailed on Friday was changed to one of feverish anxiety, and some alarming developments will culminate unless the opening of the coming week brings a more settled condition of finance. In the grocery and other trades depending on the interior country for business, the same forebodings were the topics of conversation. No business was consummated and no desire either to buy or sell was apparent. The lower section of Wall street was crowded with the merchants interested in the various branches located there, and all were engaged in the one absorbing topic, What will be the result?

THE SOUTHERN MAIL. Cotton caterpillars ravage St. Paul's parish, Carleton county, S. C. Lewisville, S. C., ships 30 bales of cotton so far against 300 bales same period last year. W. H. Thomas, of Rome, (Ga.), attempted to reach the bottom of a well, but was killed by the noxious gas. And now Bainbridge (Ga.) digging among her fossils brings up a hundred-and-fourteen-year-old negro woman. She has just died and so is put down again.

The grand jury of Marlboro county, S. C., have presented J. L. Breeden, the County Treasurer, for malfeasance in purchasing school certificates and county checks at a discount.

According to the Herald the Atlanta Constitution has a talented young man who sits in the back room of the Constitution building and writes European letters. He is in Italy at present. At a meeting of the directors of the Norfolk City Library, Saturday evening, Miss Nana H. Tunstall was elected Librarian to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of Mr. West.

A late Pensacola paper says of the yellow fever: This scourge of the Southern coast is prevailing here, though in a mild form compared with what it was in 1867. There are now comparatively but few deaths, although there has been an average of at least one a day ever since about the middle of August, when it first made its appearance.

THE CITY. NOTICE. To City Subscribers South of Market Street. From the 1st day of October next, the City circulation of THE MORNING STAR South of the centre of Market street will be exclusively in charge of Mr. Hugh Green. All subscriptions up to October 1st will be payable to Mr. W. J. Elwell; and from that date to Mr. Green, who will deliver the paper regularly thereafter.

Accidental Drowning. A colored man by the name of Peter Lock was accidentally drowned in Town Creek, Brunswick county, on Thursday night last, between 10 and 11 o'clock, by falling off a flat. Deceased lived at what is known as the "Bellamy Place" and was in the employ of Mr. J. E. Pound, from whose flat the accident occurred. The body was recovered on Friday and an inquest held, the jury returning a verdict that the deceased came to his death by accidental drowning.

Cape Fear Agricultural Association. Meeting of the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association, in accordance with previous announcement, met at the Purcell House on Monday evening. The members all appeared to be in a hopeful mood in regard to the approaching Fair, which it is their expectation and design, so far as their efforts can contribute to that result, to constitute one of the most successful ever held in the State.

The Tournament Committee was granted further time to report. Col. S. L. Fremont was appointed a Committee of one to see the different Railroad and Steamboat Companies in regard to securing low fare for visitors and articles intended for exhibition. Committees were appointed to visit the Fairs at Baltimore, Richmond, Weldon and Raleigh to induce the exhibitors at those places to bring their articles here. G. Z. French, Esq., was charged with the duty of getting up a pigeon-shooting match. A proposition of citizens of Wilmington to furnish a purse of $1,000 for a horse race and trot on Saturday after the Fair was accepted.

Local Notes. The Nelly, Hasland, cleared from London for this port on the 8th inst. J. H. Myrover, Esq., of the Fayetteville Gazette, was in the city yesterday. The schr. Ben, Davis, 20 days from this port, arrived at New York on the 20th. The Joseph Seger, Ellis, arrived at Kingston, Ja., from this port on the 4th inst. The schr. Anna W. Barker, Snowman, cleared from Castine for this port on the 18th. The schr. J. W. Dodge, Spaulding, 10 days from this port, arrived at New York on the 21st. The schr. John D. Williams, Pearce, cleared from New York for this port on the 20th inst. The German Barque Hibrundo, Hansen, cleared from Boston for this port on the 19th to load for Europe. One devotee of Bacchus taken to the Guard House yesterday, which was the only police arrest we heard of. The late rains have caused another bouncing freshet in the Cape Fear, all the lowlands being under water again. There were only two trifling cases before the Mayor's Court yesterday morning, both of which submitted and paid their fines. Keep the drains cleaned out. We noticed in several localities yesterday where deep gullies had been washed in the streets on account of the drains being choked up. Our city subscribers South of Market street may rely on the early and prompt delivery of their papers after the close of the present month. The irregularity in serving the STAR in that portion of the city has caused many complaints recently, but we will guarantee a decided change for the better after September 30th.

Personal. M. J. McSweeney, Esq., of the Fayetteville Eagle, will be in the city to-day in the interests of his paper. The Eagle not only has an extensive local patronage, but circulates largely on the line of the Carolina Central road, and as such is an excellent advertising medium for our merchants.

Heavy Rain. Yesterday and last night it rained almost incessantly, and it wasn't over and above "mild" about it either. In fact, from present appearances there will be a tremendous flood in this latitude. The amount of the rainfall since yesterday morning must have been immense. Admitted to Bail. The case of Betsey Merritt and Catherine Merritt, colored, formerly of this city, alluded to some time since as having been arrested in Raleigh on the charge of infanticide, came up before Judge Watts at Chambers, in that city, on Monday, Messrs. Rogers, Haywood and Ashe appeared for the defendants. After hearing all the testimony in the case, the accused were admitted to bail in the sum of $500.

Drowned. In our paper yesterday morning we published a brief paragraph announcing that a colored deck hand had been drowned off the Steamer R. E. Lee near Kelley's Cove. This is a point about forty-two or forty-three miles above this city. The name of the deceased, who was only about 19 years of age, was Rufus Biner, and he belonged in Fayetteville. It seems that about sunset on Monday evening deceased and another boy by the name of Joe got to "skylarking" on the deck. Joe had a small switch with which he had struck Rufus, when the latter endeavored to snatch it from the other, but in doing so he lost his balance and fell overboard. The steamer was almost immediately stopped and a small boat lowered, but before assistance could reach the boy he had disappeared beneath the treacherous waves and was seen no more. It is a little singular how few escape a watery grave who are once plunged into the depths of the Cape Fear, where the immersion is caused by accident. The increasing frequency of these accidents on the river boats suggests the propriety of having it so arranged that a small boat can be lowered at an instant's warning.

Narrow Escape. An accident occurred near Western Prong Church, Columbus county, on Sunday last, which came near resulting fatally. Mr. Alex. Nance, accompanied by two young ladies, Miss Katie and Miss Lena Brown, were attempting to ford the Western Prong Swamp in a buggy, the water at the time being very high. They had reached the deepest and most dangerous part of the swamp, where the water was over six feet deep, when the horse suddenly became unmanageable and refused to go any further, the party in the meantime being in imminent danger of drowning. Just at this opportune moment Mr. M. Nance, a brother of Alexander, arrived on the ground and hurried to the rescue. He went out to the vehicle, took charge of one of the young ladies, placed her on his horse and carried her safely to the land. He then returned for the other, and she succeeded in seating herself upon the horse with Mr. Nance, but in doing so the animal became frightened, the saddle was disarranged, and both Mr. N. and the young lady were precipitated into the deep water. Mr. Nance kept his presence of mind, however, and after a hard struggle finally succeeded in reaching the shore in safety with his precious burden, Mr. Alex. Nance having in the meantime also made a landing. The affair created considerable excitement, and the church services which the party were on the way to attend became a medium of thanksgiving for their safe deliverance from the jaws of death.

Spirits Turpentine. Hon. Z. B. Vance will deliver the address at the Hickory Fair. The Christian Advocate speaks flatteringly of the prospects of Trinity College. Rumored that Tarboro is to have a telegraph office in the centre of the town. The Monroe Enquirer says there were 48 conversions and 15 reclamations at the Antioch campmeeting. A short time ago a barn of tobacco belonging to Benjamin F. Hester, Esq., was consumed by fire. Loss $200. Monday Governor Caldwell pardoned out of the Penitentiary Henry Herring, convicted at Johnston Superior Court, Fall term, 1870, of manslaughter, and sentenced by Judge Watts to five years imprisonment. The Observer says Mr. W. W. Adams, of Washington City, Master of the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, has been invited to deliver an address at the approaching Fair of the Carolinas, November 25. The Charlotte Observer describes a singular corn stalk as having the appearance of a man having his arms above his head. Near the top of the stalk two limbs, as it were, grow out, reaching high above the head of the main stalk, and on the extreme ends of each of these projections, grows a large, well developed ear of corn.

CITY ITEMS. THE ROAD TO FORTUNE.—The shortest road to the temple of fortune is now open through the halls of the Public Library of Kentucky and its Fourth Grand Gift Concert announced for December 3rd, of the present year. One million five hundred thousand dollars is offered to the ticket holders in gifts of $50, $25, the lowest gift, to $250,000, the highest. There are sixty thousand tickets and twelve thousand prizes, being a prize for every fifth ticket. This is certainly the most tempting opportunity ever offered to the public for obtaining medium wealth. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars the first prize, and others of $100,000, $50,000, $25,000, and so on down to $50. The price of whole tickets is $50, halves $25, tenths $5, and they may be obtained by addressing Geo. W. Price, Librarian, office of the Public Library, Louisville, Ky.

DEED. GREGORY.—In this city, on the 7th inst., Annie M., youngest daughter of Wm. H. and Sue A. Gregory, formerly of Richmond, Va., aged 4 years, 9 months and 18 days, died. Buried in the cemetery at Richmond, Va., papers please copy.

MISCELLANEOUS. New Mill For Sale. WISHING TO CHANGE MY BUSINESS OF STEAM SAW MILL for sale. Also Planing Machines and Shingle Machines. It has been pronounced by a first class machinist to be a good mill, and worth seven or eight thousand dollars. It will cut 100,000 feet of lumber and feet of lumber per day with proper management. The engine is forty-five horse power, and situated near Lumberton, on the C. C. Railroad, also on the bank of the river near the depot, and in a plain section of country. It will cut 100,000 feet of lumber per day. Lumber can be shipped to any Northern market. The mill is so arranged that a cotton gin can be attached at little cost. Offer the whole for Forty-five Hundred Dollars Cash, including two acres of Land, Shanties, Mill House, &c., &c. If not sold by the first Monday in October it will be sold at public auction at the Court House door on that day. THE TOWN OF LUMBERTON. The mill will clear from $50 to $70 per day. Get some one acquainted with the mill business to make figures for you as to the business. Would be glad to see parties from all parts present on day of sale, as we think the mill will be sold at low rate of value. sept 21-2f T. R. NEWBURY.
