NORTH CAROLINA AT VIENNA.

Interesting letter from Prof. Kerr. VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 5, 1873. Editor State Agricultural Journal:

You and your readers will probably like to hear how North Carolina appears in this assemblage of nations, at the great World's Exposition.

To begin with, North Carolina was late. Everybody was late—America was especially late—North Carolina was pre-eminently late.

The two boxes which I packed before leaving Raleigh, arrived here a month behind time, but at length they did come.

You will be gratified to learn that, although too late for the prizes and medals, our little exhibition is considered the best exhibit from any American State.

Nevertheless, the N. C. corner is ahead in several things: 1. Tobacco, the best leaf (from Durham & Wilkes) in the Exposition, and the only manufactured [From Hillsboro].

3. Cotton, the best upland staple here, the only stalk in boll, [the one shown at our last Fair], packed to Savannah and shipped from there.

4. The ruby stone [corundum], of which there is no other specimen on exhibition, and which I have had to divide with the Museum here and at Dresden.

5. The corn [ears] from Mecklenburg, [by favor of Gov. Vance], and the stalk with ears, from Wake, both the finest here. The European corn is small, hard, yellow.

6. The flexible sandstone, a great wonderment to even the Americans here, of which there is only one other specimen [from Brazil].

7. The forest woods, 95 specimens, the only collection from the United States worth mentioning, and only surpassed by one from Brazil and one or two others from the tropics.

enna. About the American Exposition here, again.

Yours truly, G. Further Particulars. [Eagle.] About 8 o'clock on the morning of the 25th of September information was received at the Sheriff's office that a man was lying in the woods about two and a-half miles from Fayetteville, in a very critical condition.

Among the arrivals at the Purcell House yesterday, we notice the name of Mr. H. F. Moore, of New York, Agent of the Old Valley Whiskey.

The harbor is rapidly filling up with shipping. Among the arrivals yesterday were seven "square-riggers," six schooners and two steamers.

Magistrates' Courts. Thos. Middleton, charged with trespassing on the property of Cato Bunting, had a hearing before Justice Howe yesterday, who dismissed the case at the plaintiff's costs.

Police Officer E. F. Martin, charged with resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty, while serving a State warrant upon him, was required to give security in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

Isaac Baker, charged with committing an assault on Alfred Benton, was fined $3 and costs. James Baker, arraigned on the charge of committing an assault on Alfred Benton, was also fined $3 and costs.

Marine Disaster. The Sch. Ben Berland, Capt. J. M. Brittingham, arrived here yesterday in tow of the Brig Black Swan, being in a disabled condition. Capt. B. reports that his vessel encountered a heavy gale off Hatteras on Saturday morning, the 20th inst., which lasted for several hours, washing everything movable from the decks and finally resulting in the vessel's being completely dismasted and at the mercy of the seas.

A curious story of a dentist's revenge comes from Paris. M. Sandre, while returning from a visit to a patient, heard sounds of distress, and hastened to succor a person who was lying on the side of the road. This individual sprang up suddenly and rushed on M. Sandre, who knocked him down with his forceps and tied his hands. The malefactor soon recovered and asked to be released.

The following is a description of the murdered man, whose name is unknown: 5 feet 6 inches high, fair complexion, blue eyes red beard, auburn hair, had on reddish brown coat, calico shirt, dark striped cotton pants no shoes.

The man that was with him when last seen, was a white man, dark skin, black hair, stout built, about 30 or 35 years old, about 5 1/2 feet high, had on a black coat, brown pants, white shirt and black hat, carried a small black carpet bag (oil cloth), with a pair of shoes tied to it. Very quick spoken and quite intelligent. Claims to be a cooper by trade.

A friend gives us a few of the statistics of Brunswick county, which may be of interest to our readers: Total valuation of the county, $1,051,410; rate of taxation per one hundred dollars valuation, $1.60; number of acres of land, 507,804; number of town lots, 136 1/2; number of horses, 383; number of mules, 103; number of goats, 340; number of cattle, 3,930; number of hogs, 18,184; number of sheep, 4,938; value of farm utensils, $28,663; money on hand, $27,561; solvent credits, $47,407; other personal property, $20,094; number of white polls, 709; number of colored polls, 568; county tax, $6,435 15; State tax, $6,963 18.

Local Notes.

Last night was one of the loveliest we have seen in some time. The river is still gradually falling, but is in good boating order. Two colored candidates for Baptism were immersed in the dock foot of Princess street on Sunday.

Historical—A Sterling Fact. We learn that Hon. A. M. Waddell has been engaged for some time past in preparing a lecture or essay on the early history of North Carolina, compiled from the most authentic sources, which it is expected will establish beyond the possibility of doubt the existence of a civilized colony of the Caucasian race in this vicinity at least 2,000 years before the birth of Columbus.

Last week in Yorkville, S. C., died Col. Lee M. McAfee of Cleveland Co., in this State, a talented lawyer and during the war a gallant Confederate soldier. Goldsboro Messenger: A kitchen on the premises of Mrs. Offutt, was destroyed by fire last night. The dwelling was saved through the exertions of our citizens.

Misses Jenkins and Eddins, the young ladies who have been giving concerts for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum, have made $458, which will materially assist that noble charity. At the Charlotte Fair Gen. Wade Hampton delivers the address and not Mr. Adams, of Washington, D. C., as we stated. Mr. A. has been invited to speak on the occasion and will, if he accepts the invitation, speak on matters concerning Granges.

Goldsboro Messenger: Just before going to press we learn that a serious affair occurred at Sauls X Roads, in this county, on Saturday evening last, between Charles Scott and Harrison Palmer, during which Scott was badly out in the abdomen. OUTLINES.

There was an illicit distillery under Sing Sing prison. Gould thinks panic over. Two Savings banks of Harrisburg, the banks of Canton, Ill., two banking houses of Chillicothe, three brokers of London, and one firm of Jefferson City, suspended. Last yellow fever mortality in Memphis 16.

Things look dark for the Spanish insurgents. Lusk elected Lord Mayor of London. More hands discharged from locomotive works in Paterson. Cairo banks suspended.

Large meeting Charleston merchants request President to place on deposit with assistant treasurer at Charleston half million to be used for purchase of exchange on New York. One death, five cases, yellow fever in Montgomery, Ala. Louisville banks form clearing house.

Augusta banks partially resume payments. New York markets: Cotton, 12 1/2 and 19; gold, 12 1/2; turpentine, 39 1/2 and 40; rosin, 37 1/2 to 38.

Louis Muhlbach, the prolific German novelist, is dead. She has probably written more fiction than any other writer of the present day, having, we believe, exhausted all the coats of Europe. Muhlbach will not stand in the pantheon of fiction with Spillhagen, Freytag, Auerbach and other distinguished authors of her country.

In the novel and concise, if not elegant phrase of the telegraph operator, things are "settled" in New York, which is a matter of profound gratification everywhere. "Congolina" is what the Savannah Morning News calls its and our next door neighbor, for an obviously dark reason.

Prof. Kerr's Vienna letter will be found caustic reading. THE YELLOW FEVER. Shreveport in a Most Destitute Condition—Four Hundred Deaths Since September 1—Destitution and Misery on Every Hand.

SURVEYORS, LA., Sept. 26, 1873. The epidemic is unabated. From a population of about 3,000, the deaths are from sixteen to thirty-six per day. Whole families have been swept away. The disease attacks strangers and those acclimated with equal violence. Both members of the firm of Southland & Page died yesterday, and both the partners of Manday & Collins a few days before.

Many of the leading merchants have died, and whole business character of the community will be changed. James L. Ashton, formerly District Attorney and one of the most popular and brilliant young men in the State, is now dying. Several other prominent citizens died last night.

The destitution is as fearful as the disease. Even little children are left without a friend on earth, and women also. An orphan asylum was opened to-day by the Howard Association, which is providing for the destitute as far as possible. The same ratio of deaths to the population in New Orleans would be 1,000 per day. The expenses of the Howard Association are $2,000 per day.

Doctors Chappin, Davidson and Burns, from New Orleans, arrived here on Tuesday, and pronounced it the most malignant type of yellow fever they ever saw. The number of deaths from the 1st of September to date is 440. The number of the sick is now about 700.

This is one of the most fearful epidemics that has ever visited a community. Lieutenant E. A. Woodruff, of the United States Engineers, in charge of the work of removing a raft, is seriously ill here of the fever. Samuel Peters, Republican member of Congress from the District, died to-day.
