OUTLINES.

Louisville Hebrews subscribe $1,300 for the Shreveport sufferers. — Louisville Clearing House dissolved. — Twenty yellow fever interments in Memphis Wednesday. — Modes will hang today. — Memphis National Bank resumed payments yesterday. — Shreveport had seven yellow fever deaths on Wednesday. — Sir Edward Landseer, great English painter, died yesterday in London. — Cartagena insurgents thoroughly disorganized. — New York boat club won boat race on the Potomac. — Gold, in New York, 110 1/2.

THE ORPHAN ASYLUM.

The Hillsboro Recorder well says, "The State should become the beneficent mother of her indigent orphans." We endorse its wise suggestion of "an annual provision by the Legislature, to maintain the Asylum at Oxford on a permanent basis, free from the fluctuations of capricious charity." An endowment must come next in order of time. To thrive vigorously there should be a magnificent endowment fund of, say, to start with $50,000. Who will commence the work of securing such a subscription? Let it be commenced now, for it will probably take two or three years to raise the amount, even if as spirited canvasses are made. We are decidedly in favor of holding up the hands of the energetic and devoted Superintendent, in the meantime, by all means possible.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

Those were bold, ringing resolutions adopted in the Democratic State Convention at Utica, New York, yesterday. They denounced the salary grabbers, including the President, advanced specie resumption, demanded a better and an honest civil service, extended fellowship to the farmers and anti-monopolists, and recognized the Liberals as worthy coadjutors. The ticket, printed among our despatches this morning, is a strong one. The candidate for Treasurer, Thomas Raines, is the present incumbent, and a Liberal Republican.

Affairs in Spain are brighter. There is confidence in the ability of the Castelar Government to maintain order and overthrow insurrectionaries. The discipline in the army is improved, too, which is one of the best signs we have observed.

The News and Courier charges that the Radicals carried the election in Charleston Wednesday by means of a vilely partisan law and the artful manipulation of the commissioners.

Remarks on the Situation Wednesday.

[New York Tribune.] Yesterday regular business was resumed at the Stock Exchange. For five hours stocks and bonds were sold as usual without the slightest symptom of panic. It is evident that a new basis has been established, from which any future rise in the prices of stocks will take its start. The level now reached is not materially lower than the prices which prevailed only two or three years ago. So far as the welfare of the stock brokers and their clients is concerned, the closing of the Stock Exchange has been fully justified. The only thing now remaining to be accomplished is to put the bank machinery in working order. Let those over-cautious people who have not some good reason for distrusting the credit of the banks with which they have been accustomed to do business, restore the money which they have withdrawn. So much lies within the power of the people. On the other hand, let the banks use their funds freely in discounting and responding to the demands of depositors.

Gladstone and Disraeli.

This interesting comparison of the two leaders of the English Parliament appears in a London daily. Mr. Disraeli is four years older than Mr. Gladstone, but his parliamentary life has been shorter and the wear and tear of it upon phlegmatic and unexcitable system cannot have been severe. Mr. Disraeli is careful not to overtax his strength. Scarcely a night passes that Mr. Gladstone does not overtax his. Last session, out of 287 divisions he took part in 221. It is quite a common occurrence for the prime minister to be found in his place at 2 o'clock A. M., when the business to be transacted is quite of second-rate importance.

Chicago Enterprise.

Four months ago a newspaper paragraph suggested the erection at Chicago of the later State Industrial Building. With the usual surprise of the West, and especially from that city, its representative heart, capitalists took the idea, and in less than four months the building was completed in every detail and crowded with every imaginable production of industry and art.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XIII.—NO. 10. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1873. WHOLE NO. 1,881.

MISSISSIPPI AND ARKANSAS.

[New York Tribune.] The pleasing intelligence is telegraphed from Little Rock that the political warfare in Arkansas is at an end, and the Republican party is at last united and happy. The Supreme Court has decided, as we always held that it must decide, against the right of court of law to determine the Governor's title to his office. The writs of quo warranto and similar processes issued by Attorney General Youley, become mere waste paper. Chief Justice McClure, retires from the more congenial excitement of partisan journalism to the seclusion of the bench. His newspaper changes hands and supports the State administration which it has blackguarded so long and with so keen a relish; and Gov. Baxter musters out his militia. So ends the Little Rock War, which threatened at one time to convulse the whole State. It was a wretched mixture of violence, corruption, and base intrigue, which had no other cause than the boundless appetite of two rival sets of politicians for the sweets of office. By what secret compact the struggle has been stopped we do not yet know. It is a satisfaction at any rate to know that it is over.

Meanwhile in Mississippi an equally serious quarrel of the factions now seems to be approaching a crisis. It is known to all mankind that for a long while the fate of Mississippi has trembled in the balance while it has still been undetermined whether Ames or Aloom should be the next Governor, with the right of promotion subsequently to the United States Senate. Mr. Ames got the regular nomination by the Republican Convention in August, and Gov. Aloom thereupon declaring himself evaded, became an independent candidate and drew off with him a considerable party of seceders. The Democrats joined him and in their Convention at Meridian, on the 17th of September, resolved that in the approaching election it was "inexpedient to nominate a State ticket." The campaign has been a hot one, and the November election promised to be highly interesting. But now Gov. Powers has issued a proclamation declaring that there shall be no election this year at all. He bases this order on an opinion of the Attorney General, that the election law is unconstitutional, and that the persons now in office must hold over until the Legislature can pass a new law for an election in 1874. The ground for this opinion is very curious. "The Constitution provides that the general elections shall be held biennially. The Legislature of 1871 therefore provided for an election in November of that year and biennially thereafter," at which State and county officers were to be chosen; but by the same law the election for members of Congress was appointed to be held in 1872 "and biennially thereafter." That, argues the Attorney General, makes the general election come around annually. The law is consequently invalid, and nothing can be done until we have a new one. Meanwhile the present officers hold over.

The difficulty about this is that if the law is unconstitutional now it was unconstitutional two years ago, and the election of 1871 was invalid. The officers who purpose holding over until the 1st of January, 1874, have consequently no title to the places they occupy, and Mississippi is practically without any legal government at all. How the question will affect the Senatorial quarrel remains to be seen. The organs of Senator Ames denounce the Governor's proclamation as revolutionary, and threaten to have an election in spite of him, and if they persist in this determination the complications may be very serious. It will not be surprising if in this dilemma the Ames party appeal to the administration to help them as it helped Kellogg. A Durell would make short work of legal and constitutional difficulties, and Governor Powers might be ousted on the 1st of January by the same means that were employed to oust McEnery—and with much greater color of justice.

The French Reactionists Rejoice.

The Fusionists in France are making super-human efforts to attain their purposes. The novel statement is made that the Count de Chambord repudiates any intention of introducing reactionary measures or of attacking Italy when he occupies the throne. It is inconceivable that such a man as the Count de Chambord should pursue any other policy than one of reaction, or of un-friendliness to a nation which opposes the pretensions of the Pope to temporal power. But it is not surprising that the Monarchists, in order to raise themselves to authority, should resort to such an evasion.

The Christian Advocate learns that there has been a revival of religion on Leesburg Circuit, Caswell and Person counties, at Durham, with 25 conversions, at Pechers with 24 conversions, all in Durham circuit, at Madison, Rockingham county, with 15 conversions, and at Providence church with over 35 conversions, the last two places being on Everettsville circuit.

Contents of death was passed at the fall term of the Superior Court for Johnson county, Judge Watts presiding, on David Collins, white, and Alexander Brylock, colored, who were sentenced to be hanged Friday, November 7th, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock, for the murder of Allan Jones, colored.

TO CITY SUBSCRIBERS.
City subscribers are earnestly requested to report failures or irregularities in receipt of the STAR, at this office or to Mr. L. J. Thornton or Mr. Hugh Green. In Mr. Green's District, South of Market street, some of the subscribers may receive their papers a little later than indicated for a day or two, but as soon as Mr. Green becomes familiar with the route, we are sure there will be no reasonable ground of complaint. Our city circulation has reached such proportions that it requires much care and labor to distribute the papers properly, but we have the business thoroughly systematized now, and can guarantee promptness and regularity.

The Southern Trade.
From the following statement of the trade between Baltimore and the Southern ports, which we find in the Sun, it will be seen that Wilmington comes in for a large share:

"The trade with the South has been unusually large during the past month, and compares favorably with the trade of the preceding month, besides being greatly in excess of the Southern trade during September, 1872. The receipts of lumber and shingles from North Carolina have been much larger than usual, and the shipments hence have been heavy also of general merchandise. The receipts of cotton from the South by water during the month of September were 3,905 bales.

The following is an exhibit of the receipts of the principal articles from the various Southern ports: From Wilmington, N. C.—4,708 bbls. rosin, 1,365 do. spirits turpentine, 53 do. crude do, 245 do. pitch, 1,979 do. tar, 165 bales cotton, 294,000 feet lumber, 225 bags peanut, 181 bushels flax seed, from other North Carolina ports, 136 bbls. rosin, 10 do. spirits turpentine, 119 do. pitch, 738 do. tar, 89 bales cotton, 136,000 feet lumber; from Charleston, 1,911 bbls. rosin, 1,148 bales cotton, 182,000 feet lumber; from Savannah, 135 bbls. rosin, 509 hides, 436 bales cotton, 199,000 feet lumber; from Norfolk and the James river, 4,829 bbls. tobacco, 3,073 bales cotton, 4,476 bags cotton; from Jacksonville, Florida, 210,000 feet lumber.

WYMAN COMING.
Prof. Wyman, the celebrated wizard and ventriloquist, will give a series of entertainments at the Opera House in this city, commencing on Wednesday evening, the 8th inst., and continuing for four nights. In addition to the regular entertainment, which never fails to be appreciated, and in which will be introduced many new and wonderful feats, there will be a present given to every purchaser of a ticket, there being no blanks.

Sick and Destitute.
A white man by the name of A. M. Hale, halting from Halifax county, but who says he has been employed for some time past on the Carolina Central road, near Abbottsburg, made his appearance in this city yesterday in a sick and destitute condition. The Mayor obtained an order from the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners and he was sent to the City Hospital.

County Commissioners and Tax-Payers.
Owing to a press of other business, the Board of County Commissioners will not be able to hear and consider complaints of tax-payers at their meeting on Monday night next. They will, however, designate an early day for that purpose, when proper and reliable witnesses can be present and give their testimony as to the value of lands in their respective townships.

Instantly Killed.
From a friend at Greenville, Pitt county, we learn that Henry Taft, brother to Dr. Taft, a prominent citizen of that place, was instantly killed on Tuesday last by the discharge of a gun in the hands of one Eugene Holliday. Whiskey is said to have been at the bottom of the difficulty. Holliday, who is now under arrest, is an unmarried man, and was also his victim. No further particulars had been received.

The Schr. Anna Shephard.
The wrecked Schooner Anna Shephard was pumped out and taken upon Mr. F. A. L. Cassidy's ways on Saturday last, for the purpose of undergoing repairs. We learn that the bottom planking and keel will have to be replaced, and that a general refasting will be necessary throughout, after which she will be ready for service again.

A Helle of the Olden Times.
We learn that a party of men, while engaged in digging a well at Dollerson plantation, in Brunswick county, a few days since, came upon the bow of a yawl boat about twenty feet beneath the surface of the ground. From appearances it would seem to have been of what is known as the clinker build.

Assaulting and Abusing an Old Man.
A colored man by the name of George McRea was arrested by the police yesterday on the charge of assaulting and abusing an aged colored individual by the name of Plumb, tearing his garments, &c. He will probably have a hearing before the Mayor this morning.

Local Notes.

Plenty of oysters in market yesterday. — The police force have been paid off for the past month. — Ejectment suits and excitements are becoming quite common. — The Schr. Hansen, arrived at Hayre from this port the 17th. — Regular meeting of Wilmington S. F. E. Company this evening, at 7 o'clock. — The Schr. Joseph Fish, Hooper, arrived at Newburyport from this port on the 27th ult. — The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held this evening. — Orion Lodge No. 87, aided by Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, will institute a Degree Lodge in this city next week.

A white man, yesterday, who had taken too much "tay," was carried to the Guard House riding on a dray. — Sheriff Black visited Harnett township yesterday for the purpose of collecting taxes. To-day he will call on the good people of Masonboro'. — The steamer Daisy has been laid up for the purpose of receiving a new boiler and a new propeller, which she will "make the fur fly" or the Fire-Fly.

The Concert and Ball by the Wilmington Star Troupe (colored minstrels), at City Hall last night, was pronounced a very successful affair, the attendance being large. — A colored individual by the name of Willis Drake, was arrested and lodged in the Guard House yesterday on the charge of cursing and abusing Rees Young, also colored.

Mrs. Piner, we learn, is the name of the lady who took an overdose of laudanum a few days ago—not Mrs. Williams, as we were incorrectly informed. She has recovered. — A grand concert will take place at the Opera House in this city soon for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. Several of our distinguished amateur vocalists will take part in it.

Yesterday was a very pleasant day, notwithstanding the prediction of "Old Probs." However, we will do him the credit to say that his prediction was not for this locality specially.

That Recourse.
Referring to the lecture prepared by Hon. A. M. Waddell, allusion to which has been made in these columns, the Raleigh Sentinel says:

"We are pleased to learn from a friend that Hon. A. M. Waddell, of Wilmington, has prepared a lecture that is singularly fresh, instructive and entertaining. It has certainly a novel title, and contains matter that will be new to nearly every one who may be so fortunate as to hear it. Here is the title: 'Hyrtmannaland (The White Men's Land), being the country once called Hyrtland in the Great Ireland, but now known as North Carolina.'

"In other words, Mr. Waddell has undertaken to establish that five hundred years before Columbus was born, the Irish settled North Carolina. Now here is something startling, unique and suggestive. Here is a fresh contribution to the history of North Carolina, and if Mr. Waddell can make good his argument, then we have another chapter added to that of Hawks that will prove as interesting as any that follows it."

After referring to its expected delivery in Charlotte, and the fact that Governor Vance is taking a peculiar interest in it, the Sentinel indulges the hope that Col. W. is enabled to deliver his lecture in Raleigh, and adds: "Surely the intelligent citizens of the metropolis will not be behind the 'future London of the South' in hearty appreciation of an intellectual treat, and that treat too prepared by one of the most skillful, graceful and eloquent sons of the State. We for one thank Mr. Waddell for having devoted himself to such a graceful task, and trust that he will be called upon to deliver his lecture at all of our intellectual centres. Our colleges should set an example in this direction."

Gibben Lodge.
The last brick on the new structure on the corner of Eighth and Princess streets, the property of Gibben Lodge of colored Masons, of this city, was laid yesterday, and we learn that the building will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks. When finished it will be quite an ornament to that part of the city.

Exploiting the Nile.
We learn that Gen. R. E. Colston, late principal of the Cape Fear Military Academy, in this city, and now in the service of the Khedive of Egypt, is one of the American officers in charge of the expedition about to start from Cairo, Egypt, to explore the upper region of the Nile.

Freemasonry again.
The 60th session of the Synod of North Carolina will commence in this city, on Wednesday, the 29th day of October, 1873, at 7 o'clock P. M. The repairs on the Church will probably be completed before that time.

Mayor's Court.
The only cases before the Mayor's Court yesterday morning were those of Benj. Lane, charged with abusing W. H. Robinson, and Scipio Hill, charged with disorderly conduct, both of which were continued over.

State and County Taxes.
We learn that the State and County taxes are being settled very slowly. Those who would "avoid unnecessary expense and trouble" will benefit their own interests by attending to the matter before the first of November.

A Beautiful Craft.

The new pilot boat constructed by Messrs. Cassidy Bros. for Capt. C. C. Morse and Mr. Julius Dozier, of Smithville, and which has been christened the Uriah Timmons, will be launched in a few days, the finishing touches now being put to her. She will register 35 tons and is pronounced by all who have seen her to be a magnificent boat in all her appointments.

The following is a list of the unmailed letters remaining in the Postoffice in this city: Mr. Dones Davis, Kinston, N. C.; Mr. A. Toon, Fair Bluff, N. C.; Mr. F. R. Rose, Fayetteville, N. C.

Spirits Turpentine.

Chills and fevers prevail to a considerable extent in Alamance county, in the neighborhood of the Saxapahaw Factory.

Hon. A. W. Venable, once distinguished in the politics of the country, has returned to Oxford from Statesville where he has passed the summer, much improved in health. Mr. Venable is 74 years of age.

The Clinton Reporter is in full mourning for Albin Johnson, Esq., a prominent citizen of that place, who died there on the 24th. He was a native of Middleboro, Conn., but had been a resident of Clinton for 40 years.

Hillsboro Recorder: John F. Thompson, Stephen T. Forrest, Jr., and several others who left Orange since the war to try the El Dorado of the West, are now on their return from Indiana to occupy their old homes.

Erz: Frank Harrison, the colored man who robbed a country gentleman in Raleigh some time since, has been arrested and put in jail at Danville, Va. H. M. Miller, Esq., has been sent with a requisition from Gov. Caldwell to bring the criminal to North Carolina for trial.

Well may Durham boast of her tobacco trade. The Plant says: We think our figures will not be too high in estimating the tobacco trade of this town from April last to April 7th, at 2,000,000 lbs. Many visitors who knew Durham a few years ago are astonished to see the rapid progress she has made in it and making.

Reidsville Record: Our community was horrified a few days ago, by the knowledge that a most unnatural crime had been committed in our community. A woman by the name of Mary Miller, who resides some three or four miles from this place, gave birth to a child and then deliberately destroyed it.

Goldshoro Messenger: We made brief mention to our Monday's issue that Mr. Chas. Scott was seriously stabbed during an affray near the Cross Roads, on Saturday last. Mr. Scott died from his wounds on Monday. A coroner's inquest was held on Tuesday, and we learn that the jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from injuries inflicted by Mr. Harrison Palmer. The evidence and reports are somewhat conflicting. It seems that an old feud existed between Scott and Palmer. Of course, both parties, with a number of friends, had been to Goldshoro, Palmer on a charge of violating the U. S. revenue law, and Scott as the informer. They were returning home and most of the party seemed to have been under the influence of liquor. When near the farm of James C. Gardner, a negro man, who is in the employ of Mr. Harrison Palmer, and one of his party got into a dispute with Mr. Christopher C. Gardner, which resulted in an altercation. Palmer ran up to interfere, when, it is said, he was struck several times on the head by Charles Scott with a stick. This brought the friends of both parties into the affray, and Scott was stabbed in several places. In his dying evidence he accused Harrison Palmer of having done the killing. Mr. Palmer was arrested and an investigation will be held to-day.
