The New York Times savs: The times are hard-but what are we suffering here compared with the miseries of the people in Memphis?

This is true. What do we suffer, any of us, in comparison with the poor plague-stricken people of Memphis? Read the telegraph news this morning. Let us help the afflicted Memohians.

THE CHARLESTON CALAMITY.

The Tornado Blows Down Northeastern Railroad Freight Depot, Killing Two Men and Wounding Several.

From the News and Courier of vesterday we gather the following particulars of the disaster Monday

About quarter to four o'clock a high wind arose, which soon attained the force of a tornado, slamming doors, straining shutters and window frames, and swaving the trees on the streets and the fences in every direc-

THE TORNADO

swept across the city in a northwesterly direction with fearful velocity, striking the freight depot of the Northeastern Railroad on the southwest angle, breaking the solid brick wall as if it had been subjected to-a cannonade, tearing up the roof and continuing its work of ruin through the entire length of the depot, which is two hundred and fifty feet long and forty wide, first completely uncover-ing it, and then cattering its walls, a huge mass of debris, upon the ground.

THE EMPLOYEES OF THE ROAD who were in the building were fortunately admonished of the imperiding disaster by hearing a oracking sound as though the timbers were giving way, and, fearing that something might happen to the structure, began to flee for safety, but before they all could get out of danger a shower of falling timbers, splinters and roofing fell around and upon them. Some of them made miraculous escapes, but others were overtaken by the falling ruins. One was killed outright, and several others injured dangerously or slightly.

THE CRASH WAS HEARD

at a great distance, causing people in the streets to pause to ascertain the cause of the ominous sound. The people who lived in the vicinity of the report were terribly alarmed and rushed to their windows and doors to hear what had occurred. The window sashes and glasses of the houses on the south side of Chapel street were forced out by the great volume of wind that rushed out of the depot when it fell.

THE DAMAGE DONE

to the depot, freight, &c., will be between $50,000 and $65,000. It is true that a large portion of the freight had been removed from the ruins and placed on cars, but what could not be reached had to be left in the condition in which the disaster had placed it. No locomotives or cars were injured. The President's office and Trensurer's room were completely demolished and the Superintendent's office and other departments of the bureau of the company more or less injured.

LIST OF KILLED AND WOUNDED as far as could be ascertained last night:

John Miller, a foreman of hands, who had been in the employ of the was instantly killed.

James Mazyek, an unloading clerk, was buried in the ruins for some time, and supposed killed, but was dag out with his ankle injured. Cambridge Trott, a lad who had but two weeks, had one of his legs broken and otherwise injured.

Peake, Opdyke & Co.

Peake, Opdyke & Co.'s liabilities amount to about $2,500,000. A proposition has been made to their creditors, substantially as follows: ten per cent. at 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 6, 8, 9 15 and 18 months, respectively. This will be equivalent to payment in full, with interest. Paton & Co. have also offered their creditors ten per cent. at 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 15 and 18 months. Their indebtedness is supposed to be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

The Colored Question.

At a late hour Monday night we learned that three colored men had occupied seats in the parquette of the Opera House, and we prepared an article on the subject for publication in our issue of yesterday. Having been called on, however, by the agent of the Skiff & Gaylord troupe and informed that the presence of these colored men in that portion of the Opera House allotted to the whites was entirely the result of a misunderstanding, and that it would not be repeated, we concluded to withhold the article, at least until we could learn something more definite and positive in regard to the motives and objects of the partie referred to, vo surous intern

But after careful inquiry made yesterday we are led to believe that the movement made Monday evening was intended as an experiment to test the feeling of the white people of Wilmington in regard to the promiscuous occupancy of the theatre by the two races.

Now, we do not propose to denounce anybody. On the contrary, we express out sincere regret that any portion of the colored people of Wilmington should show a disposition to force themselves where they are not wanted. And if they persist in it in the case of the Opera House, and the management cannot exclude them, the inevitable result will be the closing of the only place of amusement in the city.

We don't intend to discuss social equality, civil rights or anything of the kind. The plain, simple, naked question of fact is this: Will the whites attend the theatre if they are required to sit with the colored people? We answer, they will not; and if this be true, why waste time in discussion? We think there ought to be some better arrangement at the Opera House for the accommodation of the colored people; but any effort on the part of a few of this class to force themselves where they do not belong eight to be, and we believe will be, frowned down by the better portion of their own

Caving in of the Bridge Acress Smith's Creek-A Serious Incon-

Yesterday morning about 8 or 9 o'clock as a drove of eight or ten cattle belonging to Mr. J. F. Garrell were in the act of being driven across the bridge over Smith's Creek, just beyond the city limits, and when they had reached a point about the centre of the same, the entire middle portion of the bridge suddenly gave way, precipitating them into the creek. A subsequent examination of the broken bridge showed that the foundation was in a very rotten and decay ed condition, the only wonder being that it has not given way sooner. Fortunately there was no injury sustained by man or beast, the former not being on the bridge at the moment of the accident and the latter having made their way safely to the other side. The driver afterwards succeeded in making his way over the broken span and took his beasts to the pasture where they

The destruction of this bridge is a 'more serious calamity than would appear at first glance. A great many carts laden with various articles of produce have been in the habit of passing over this bridge on their way to sed from market, not only from a greater portion of this county, but also from Duplin, Sempson and a portion of Onslow. In fact it was the only means of reaching the city by private conveyance without going about twelve miles out of the way. company since the first of the month, It is to be hoved that immediate steps may be taken to replace the bridge, as from what we can learn it will have to be almost entirely rebuit. Launch of the Pilot Boat Uriah Timmons.

The beautiful pilot boat Driah Timmons, several times alluded to in these columns, was launched from the ways of Messrs. Cassidey Bros., yesterday morning, shortly after 11 o'clock, in the presence of a number of persons who had gathered to see the novel sight. We say novel, because, as we are informed, it is the first vessel that has been built here since the close of the war. The launch was a decided success, no accident or mishap of any kind occurring. The operation of "christening" was very gracefully performed by Mr. H. C. Cassidey, and after the launch the new boat was taken in tow by the steamer Wm. Nyce and carried up and down the stream to allow the spectators on the wharves an opportunity of getting a look at her. The flags which graced her on the occasion are a present from Capt. Timmons, of the Schr. Tarry Not, in whose honor she was named. The Uriah Timmons is a magnificent boat, her model and everything connected with her build being as nearly perfect in beauty and symmetry as could well be attained, and we can well afford to congratulate Messrs. Morse and Dozier on being the proprietors of such a handsome craft.

Young Men's Christian Association. The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association took place in their new rooms in the Masonic Hall, to which they removed on the 1st of October, for the first time last night. The attendance was good and much interest was manifested as to the future success and usefulness of this important and praiseworthy institution. The first half year's rent for the Hall was raised on the spot and the remainder, we learn, will be collected by voluntary contributions outside of the Association. Those of our citizens to whom application will be made will no doubt cheerfully respond to the call. The Hall has been handsomely fitted up and every convenience necessary to constitute a pleasant resort for the intellectually inclined has been provided.

The Discovery of North Carolina-

Highway Rabbery. The Washington Republican thus "goes back" on its friend Timothy Lee, of Raieigh: "It has been popular to characterize the people of North Carolina as Rip Van Winkles, and now they are engaged in asserting their right to their characterization by researches into the long forgotten history of the State. Among the latest results of these efforts is an alleged discovery by the Hop. A. M. Waddell that the State 'was visited, if not settled, by voyagers from Ireland prior to the year 1000 A. D.' We are aware that a certain 'bald-headed Irishman' discovered Raleigh in 1866, and now man' discovered Raleigh in 1866, and now Col. Waddell's researches have been made public to rob that hairless Celt of the honor of which he is so boastful."

Being on Your Cotton.

If our planters want a good price for their cotton now is the time to bring it in. They have probably noticed that the price in the Northern markets for future delivery are not as good as they are on spot sales and those who hold their cotton back for better figures will run a great risk of not getting as good. Pesides, if all persist in holding profor better prices they will probably all make the "forward movement" also at the ame time, when an over-stocked market will necessarily cause a tumble in prices. Good living prices are being paid in this market now, the staple is in demand and the best way is to bring it along.

K. Johney Kerr, R. B. Kelly, Emma

Funeral Services.
The June 10 fine late Junius D. Gardner will take place at Front Street Methodist Church this morning at 10 o'clock. The Odd Fellows are requested to meet at their Hall at 91 o'clock precisely. The funeral was to have taken place yesterday afternoon, but was postponed on saccount of the non-arrival of some of the absent members of the family in time.

The Minstrels Last Night.

Quite a small andience assembled at the Opera House last night to witness the second and last performance of Skiff & Gaylord's minstrel troupe. The programme was but slightly varied from that of the preceding night, and though the performers eviaced considerable spirit under the circumstances, in their several parts, still it was evident that they felt the depressing influence exerted by the rows of empty benches before them. A noticeable fact, however, was the absence of all objectionable persons from the parquette and dress circle.

Wyman To-Night.

Wyman, the magician and ventriloquist, will open his budget of wonders and eccentricities at the Opera House this evening. Tickets of admission can be had at the Opera House. Those who wish to avoid the rush should secure them in advance.

The sidewalk on the North side of Chesnut, between Fourth and Fifth streets, has long since been voted a nuisance in rainy weather and time has not improved it in this respect. Suppose the authorities try their hand!

Mayor's Court.

The only case before the Mayor's Court yesterday morning was that of Racher Moore, charged with disorderly conduct, who was found guilty and required to pay a fine of $10 and the costs.

At about the same spot Saturday night a colored man by the name of Woddie Powers was attacked by the same men, (as is supposed,) thrown down and gagged and $3, all he had, taken from him. These are News items.

- The Charlotte Democrat makes these suggestions to the Legislature which meets next month: The people need some jurisdiction of Magistrates, making it a 200 PAPERS RIVETS, punishable offence to interfere with laborers by hiring them away from a man who has make a bargain for their services, and a more speedy punishment for rogues and rascals. A more stringent vagrant law should be enacted so as to compel men and women to work or show some means of living without stealing. We hope some member of the Legislature will have the independence to inaugurate a movement for the re-establishment of the whipping post and pillory.
