was one of great importance. It was lina. one that particularly was of vital interest to the Northwest. The States of Illinois and Iowa alone raised 400,-1000,000 bushels of grain, which for the most part sought transportation to the seaboard. It was of vast importance to these States, and in proportion to their products to the other States of the Northwest, to secure ithe lowest rates and best means of transportation. The railways companies were yearly carrying away large sums of the people's money, paid out for moving their productions, and they were enriching themselves. It was their oblect to take proper measures to exterminate extortion. Later in the day a permanent organization was effected by the election of James M. Allen, of Illinois, as President. The entire day and evening were devoted to the discussion of resolutions providing sthat all transportation companies and corporations be subject to the restraigts of law; that the making of a ship-canal from the Atlantic by way of the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico shall be urged on Congress; that the producing classes of the country can no jumped the fence and disappeared. The longer endure the existing exorbitant rates of transportation; and that one or more double-track railroads be doing so he would endanger the lives of built by Government from East to West. No definite conclusions were arrived at to-day, but the convention before adjourning will report a platform through a committee on resolutions. The convention has been asked to send a delegation to a meeting of the Senate Committee on Transportation, now in session in St. Louis.

which they had assembled to discuss,

Strange Story of Domestic Trouble. The New Orleans correspondent of the Courier-Journal, referring to the murder of young Armant by some villain in the parlor of his boarding-house, and in the presence of several ladies, a few days since in that city, relates the following incidents con-nected with the family history of the deceased :

An unfortunate affair occurred here a few days since, which illustrates the fate which pursues some families like a Nemesis. A young man named Henry Armant was killed while he was talking with a lady whom he was visiting, without being allowed shance or warning, Some years ago, it will be remembered by your Lexington readers, a gentleman of that name came there from Louisiana, bringing with him his wife and three sons.

The family lived in great seclusion, Mrs. Armant rarely seeing any one .-She was very beautiful, and seemed overwhelmed with an intence melancholy. It transpired that she had married in oposition to the wishes of her relateves, and had once separated from him on account of his savage and violent temper. Strangely enough this temporary divorce, a mensa et thoro, was terminated by an actual elopement; she ran away from her friends and rejoined her husband .-Shortly afterwards Armant attacked one of her relatives, who stabbed him repeatedly and left him for dead.—

Just here, however, the brilliant and promising career of the indomitable John Smith was nipped in the bud for the time being by his being arrested under two warrants, one for stealing the hog and the other for "appropriating" the sad-Our Fair. dle, on both of which he had a hearing before Justice Thomas on Saturday last .-He was required to give security in the sum of $200 in each case for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court, in default of which he was placed in the custody of Constable Travis Bryan. with instructions to lodge him in the county jail at Smithville. Before starting for Smithville a rope was procured and the prisoner's hands were tied behind him. Everything went on all right until the officer and his charge had arrived within a shart distance of the jail, when Smith, who had succeeded in working his hand loose, suddenly seized a large stick which Constable Bryan carried under his arm, and dealt the officer a severe blow on the head, felling him to the earth. He was stunned for a few moments, when he revived, sprang to his feet and discovered his prisoner making his way through the yard of the jailor, when he officer drew his pistol and would have fired on the retreating form, but found that in

By an advertisement in the New York Times (!) we see that Wm. P. Craighill, Major of Ragineers, will receive proposals until noon of the 20th of November, 1878. for furnishing and delivering timber and plank at Federal Point, on the Cape Fear River, and separate proposals for timber and plank loaded on United States lighters at points on the river accessible to tug-boats. Why Maj. Craighill should have chosen a medium of conveying this information so remote from the proposed scene of operations is a problem difficult to solve. The advertisement in the Times will scarcely be seen by a single individual who will be likely to take any interest in it.

Meyor's Court. The only cases before the Mayor's Court yesterday morning were those of Charles Grey and Peter Morris, charged with disorderly conduct, the first of whom was found guilty and required to pay the penalty and costs, and the latter was discharged. There are six cases on the docket awaiting trial and these will probably come up for a hearing this morning.

At a meeting of the Executive Commit tee of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association, held at the Purcell House last night, it was decided to hold the next annual Fair PRINTING PAPER.-We now have in stock over of the Association in the second week in 200 reams of news paper, size 24x36, weight 30 Ibs

December, commencing on Tuesday, the per ream. It is good, rag paper, and will be sold, in lots to suit, for cash, or sent by express C. O. D. 9th day of the month. Among the features of the occasion will be a grand Tournament, the participants to be clad in armor, a Gift

Concert and a shooting match. of the latter, advertisers will find it an admirable Farmers, planters, mechanics and others medium of communication with the farmers and planters of the two Carolinas. (not forgetting the ladies) are urged to hurry up their articles for exhibition. The Cape Fear section should not be behind others in the display of products of industry, skill and ingenuity. The display can be made a grand and imposing one if our friends will but put their shoulders to the wheel. Many of the Fairs held this Fall. including the one which has fust closed at Raleigh, have been pronounced more successful than any heretofore held. Let ours merit the same happy verdict from the Press and people. Let the work of preparation go bravely on and the result will be all that the most sanguine friends of the Association can desire.

The Lumberton Tragedy. Mr. William Wilson, of Robeson county, who has been on the track of the murderers of Mr. B. F. Smith at Lumberton on Thursday night of last week, states that he has done everything in his power to find the guilty parties and has failed. He went to Wadesboro and from there to Whiteville, but the witnesses who accompanied him could not find the men connected with the circus whom they had promised to identify. Wilson therefore delivered the papers to the Sheriff at Whiteville and returned home. It is reported that three men left the circus at Rockingham on the Friday succeeding the murder and proceeded in the direction of Charlotte, and it is generally believed that these were the three men who are alleged to have committed the murder and for whose arrest warrants were issued.

Superior Court. In the Superior Court yesterday nearly the entire day was consumed in the trial of Thomas Cenner, charged with keeping a disorderly house at the corner of Nutt and Mulberry streets, in this city. The jury took the case late in the afternoon and about 8 o'clock last night returned with a verdict of guilty. With the exception of one other trifling case, which was submitted, this was the only business transacted by the Court yesterday. In the case of Richmond Leake, charged with embezzlement, tried on Thursday, the jury had not returned a verdict late last evening. ----
