Stockholders Meeting. OF THE Carolina Central Railway Company. WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 1st, 1873. A GENERAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE "Carolina Central Railway Company" of North Carolina is hereby called to be held at the Banking House of the First National Bank, in the city of Wilmington, on Saturday, the EIGHTH (8th) day of November, 1873, at ten o'clock A. M.

Under the caption "Party Lines," we find in the Richmond Dispatch a very sensible article which we reproduce elsewhere. It accords with our own position; and as the Dispatch is one of the leading Conservative journals of the South, we commend its views to the thoughtful attention of our readers.

our Foreign Commerce for the Year 1872-3. The last monthly report of the Bureau of Statistics enables us to compare the movement of imports and exports for the whole country during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1873. We compile the following from the official returns:

Table with 2 columns: Imports (Gold Value) and Exports (Gold Value). Includes Domestic Produce, Foreign Merchandise, etc.

It will thus be seen that the imports aggregated $603,400,000—an amount $23,600,000 in excess of the previous year; nearly $10,000,000 of this increase, however, arose from augmented importations of specie.

The New York Times is very much pleased to announce that the "old lines are distinctly drawn." It is that which the Times wants the people to believe. There is a gradual disintegration of the war party (which has outlived its term) going on which can only be arrested by pitting against it at every election the old Democratic party.

We don't believe that the Times and its party are to be gratified in this particular. The Democratic party has butted itself against the wall to little advantage long enough. The period demands some change of this yearly conflict with an unaltered result whilst the genius and administration of the ruling power is prolonging national discord and national evils.

It is these things that are destroying the peace and crippling the prosperity of the land. South and North may well pray for their annihilation. South and North are to be benefited by union and harmony—by the impartial administration of the Government—and it is time to end the passions and issues of party struggles.

France, October 31. It is reported that in consequence of the position maintained by the Count de Chambord in his letter to M. de Chesnelong all hopes of restoration of the monarchy have been abandoned. It is probable that the conservative deputies in the Assembly will vote in favor of prolonging the term of office of President, MacMahon.

Col. Waddell's Lecture.

We cannot but consider Col. Waddell fortunate in the theme which he has selected for the ample and able discussion which he has given it upon innumerable rostrs throughout the State—and always with one result—the edification and delight of his auditors.

Col. Waddell's topic is not one interesting to North Carolinians only; he suggests a grave and interesting archeological and ethnological subject. And we are gratified that our eloquent Representative has been worthily recognized in his bold effort to open a new field of historical investigation.

The lecture of Col. Waddell is a truly remarkable effort—a move upon a plane of high historical endeavor. The clear and explicit recapitulation of the points of the lecture at its conclusion amply reveals the real purpose of Col. Waddell; he does not claim, as some of the Northern papers have asserted, that North Carolina civilization dates from the period at which he claims the first settlement by white men of this section to have been made, but that a real settlement was made here at least five hundred years before the birth of Columbus, by the Irish.

We have not the space to detail the evidence which Col. Waddell alleges in support of his theory; but we can assert with great confidence that the "incredibles" will be amazed by the extent and variety of the evidence which he adduces, and which he does not fail to array in a manner at once agreeable and almost incontestable.

Another Alleged Child Murder—The Inquest, &c. A little child living with a colored woman by the name of Olive Beck, residing in the neighborhood of Dock and Tenth streets, having died on Sunday under circumstances which led to a suspicion of foul play—or, in other words, that severe chastisement had hastened its exit from this vale of tears—Coroner Hewlett was notified and held an inquest over the body yesterday evening. The body was examined by a physician and a number of bruises found, but the woman alleged that she had only been in possession of the child for a few weeks and these bruises were on its body when she took it. She also stated that it got an accidental fall from a chair or table by which it was bruised somewhat.

Excursion. The fine little steamer Wm. Nyce took down about a dozen or so of the ministers in attendance upon the late session of Synod, yesterday morning, to view the fortifications and other points of interest at the mouth of the river. There were also several ladies in the party. They had a very pleasant day for the excursion and no doubt enjoyed it intensely.

Overdue. The Sch. Jas. P. Eaton, Poole, loaded at this port by Messrs. Jas. H. Chadbourne & Co., with 185,055 feet of lumber, and which cleared for Boston on the 2nd of October, and is now overdue at Boston, has not been heard of and fears are entertained for her safety.

Appointments by Bishop Atkinson. Sunday, Oct. 26th. Smithville. Nov. 9th. Greensboro. Tuesday, 11th. Salem. Thursday, 13th. Reidsville. Saturday, Nov. 15th. Mountain Chapel. Sunday, Nov. 16th. Rockingham Co. Leaksville.

Another Link in the Tragedy.

Yesterday morning Mr. S. H. Terry repaired to the scene of the late murder of little Willie Carter and made another effort to recover the pantaloons of the murdered boy, which were alleged to have been thrown into the river at that point, after the legs had been filled with rock, and which was alluded to in the condemned prisoner, David Martin, on the occasion of his visit to the scene of the murder, in company of Solicitor Cantwell, Sheriff Black, Coroner Hewlett and others, during the progress of the preliminary investigation before Justice Cassidy. He finally succeeded in attaching his hook to the garment, a portion of which was brought to the surface and secured, but the weight of the rocks prevented him from recovering the other part. We learn that he was to make another effort later in the afternoon, when he would be better prepared to succeed.—Thus one by one the links in the horrible tragedy are brought to light.

A Runaway and Smash-Up.

A runaway horse, attached to a dray, created considerable excitement on Market, between Front and Water streets, yesterday morning. The horse had been left standing near the foot of the market and, becoming frightened, in the absence of the driver, dashed up Market to the corner of Front, opposite Mr. A. D. Brown's store, when one of the wheels became hitched in the rock crossing and the dray was smashed. The horse ran a short distance further and was secured. Just a few moments before a number of baby carriages had concentrated at the spot where the collision occurred, but had fortunately removed beyond danger. The ordinance prohibiting horses being left standing on the streets without some one in charge of the same should be rigidly enforced.

County Commissioners.

Synopsis of Proceedings. The Board met yesterday morning. It was ordered that all papers of this county now in the City Hospital for treatment in proper condition be sent to the County Poor House. The application to lay the Schilling pavement in the passage of the Court House was not granted. Application having been received from Federal Point Township for the relief of a pauper named Henry Grissim, it was ordered that he be sent to the Poor House. J. J. Scott, application for reduction of taxes: The petitioner says that he had consigned to him cotton by different parties which was sent by him to Philadelphia and sold there. That an account of sales was returned to him and he deducted commissions and remitted the balance to the original consignors. He claims 1 per cent. on $13,988 90 for State and 1/2 per cent. on same for County taxes. Petitioner states that he received 24 per cent. commission for above sale. The Committee to whom the matter was referred report as follows: The sale, although made in Philadelphia, was made by petitioner in the line of his business as a commission merchant, for which he received his commission, and he ought not to be relieved of the tax, otherwise there would be no means of defining a commission merchant. Two classes would be created, one praying a tax for selling in North Carolina, and the other escaping by sending his products to other States. This would work great injustice. It is evident if the petitioner had not received a commission that he would be exempt. Report received and adopted and ordered put on record.

Magistrate's Court.

Before Justice Gardner, yesterday morning, Caroline Andrews was arraigned on the charge of assaulting Julia Smith, both colored. Case dismissed on the payment of costs.

Concord has had a balloon ascension. Eastern Medical Convention meets in Goldsboro to-day. A black bear was killed near Lincolnton, on Thursday last. No improvement in condition of Justice Boyden of the Supreme Court. Greene county votes on the Railway subscription question on Thursday next. Pitt county is to have a grand Tournament and Ball, at Saratogo, on the 14th inst. The kitchen of Mr. John A. Sikes, of Fayetteville, was damaged by fire last Thursday. Messrs. W. Whitaker and Josiah Jones are announced as editors of the Workingmen's Journal, at Raleigh. The Intelligencer informs us that a bitter five feet, eight inches tip to tip of wings, was killed in Iredell county last week. The Statesville Intelligencer speaks favorably of the cotton yield in the Bushy Mountains. It is a brand new crop up there. The editor of the Goldsboro Messenger in correspondence with some families in Pennsylvania who wish to come to North Carolina to live. On the 14th a hop will be given by the young men in Fayetteville Hall, Fayetteville, complimentary to the Cumberland County Agricultural Society. The Charlotte Observer learns that the store of Messrs. Rhynes & Love, at Woodlawn, Gaston county, was broken into a few nights ago and robbed of a quantity of goods. The last number of the Asheville Express contains the valdictory of Col. F. D. Carter and the salutatory of Maj. W. H. Hollingsworth. The Expressor has always been a vigorous paper. There was quite a large railroad meeting at Speight's bridge, in Greene county, last week, says the Messenger. Mr. W. A. Darden, Jr., spoke in favor of subscription, and Jas. P. Speight, Esq., and Dr. Hardy against it. The floor of the colored Methodist church at Statesville, which was about four feet from the ground, fell through last Sunday night. Fortunately, says the Intelligencer, no great damage was done to either the congregation or church. Fayetteville Statesman: We regret to learn that A. J. Hollingsworth, Esq., who lives two miles from town, on Clinton road, was knocked down and badly beaten and cut by one Howard, his neighbor, in Howard's house on Wednesday last. After rendering Mr. E. Hollingsworth helpless, Howard proceeded to rob him of all the money (some few dollars) which he had with him. Howard thus far has made good his escape. Fayetteville Statesman: We learn that a little girl, only seven years of age, the daughter of a highly respectable farmer, living a few miles out of town, was horribly outraged, on yesterday, by a white employee on his farm, named Charley Barber. The inhuman fiend succeeded in hiding himself. Barber is about 23 years old, slim and dark complexioned, light eyes, broad shoulders, and is about 5 feet, 8 inches high. Since the above was written, we learn that Barber has been arrested.
