It is definitely ascertained that the demands by the United States upon Spain comprise these points: Salute to the flag for the insult, restoration of the Virginius, surrender of the survivors, money indemnity to the families of the victims of the Santiago tragedy, guarantees for the future HERE ASSOCIATE AND

The Washington Government has extended the time for Spain to consider these demands. Negotiations are now in progress between the two capitals.

Mr. Hiden's Lecture.

The very entertaining lecture of Rev. I. C. Hiden on "Literary Murderers" was delivered last night, under the auspices of the Friendship Temple of Honor and Temperance, to a rather slim audience. Those who attended were well repaid, however, in listening to the masterly view of Mr. Hiden ion the faults and frailties of modern literature. His discourse evinced much research and a thorough acquaintance with the field of literature, and was interspersed with many amusing anecdotes of the results of misapplications of quotations. We are sorry Mr. Hiden did not have a larger audience. His lecture merited a much larger crowd, to meet its due appreciation.

An Incident of Thanksgiving.

A couple of gentlemen had been riding out in a buggy to the Charlotte depot on Thursday afternoon and were about returning, when their horse suddenly became frightened at a passing engine and dashed off at full speed. One of the gentlemen was thrown from the buggy and fell violently to the ground and the other sprang out after him. Neither of the gentlemen were materially injured, though one of them received some slight bruises. The buggy was hadly smashed.

Chapman Sisters.

These columns upon frequent occasions, during the past two or three years, have testified to the great popularity of the Chapman Sisters with Wilmington playgoers. In other days the Misses Blanche and Ella have been the recipients of the lavish admirations of enthusiastic patrons of the drama of burlesque, and now they have added to their own the attractions of a younger sister-Miss Belle Chapman. The latter made her bow to a Wilmington audience last evening, and was cordially greeted. Her stage characteristics are not unlike those of her sisters. She sings and dances and gracefully wears the economised garments of the peculiar drama in which herself and sisters make reputations and money, and she frisks about the stage with the same insouchance that makes them so attract ive to a large class of play-goers.

Of the other sisters it is sufficient to say that they have undergone no appreciable change either in appearance or in stage manner since their last appearance in Wilmington. Miss Blanche is possibly a trifle more artistic, and has acquired some mellowness of tone in her acting.

Little Don Giovann, the burlesque opera of last night's entertainment, is, of all the numerous burlesque drams to which the last lustrum has given birth, the worst constructed, the most wanting in pith and pungency, the most meagre in really comic sit-uations and mirth-provoking incidents. Nevertheless, with the Chapman Sisters in its leading roles, it is not likely to fatigue an audience, and is likely often to give shundant entertainment

The audience of last evening was probably the most numerous of the season, and evinced considerable satisfaction with the performance.

How He Missed a Good Bargain. An axe is a small thing to steal, though it has more steel about it than the most of things that are stolen; but when a man loses three axes in this way in about as many weeks it is time for him to begin to be a little annoyed at it. This is the case with a gentleman residing at the upper end of Market street. He brought his axe out yesterday merning, after keeping it locked up very carefully all night, and after using it a few moments wents out to do a little shopping at a corner grocery a few blocks off, leaving his axe in the yard. Ashe came out of the store he saw a colored man offering a very nice axe for sale at 75 cents which was worth at least $1 50. He took it in hand; examined it rather carelessly, said it was cheap at that price, but he had just purchased a good one, handed it back to the individual and passed on. When he arrived at home a few minutes afterwards the first words that saluted his ears were "Somebody's been here since you've been gone and stole our new axe!" Then the thought flashed across the mind of our friend with the speed of electricity that the axe which he had just declined to purchase was very like his own, and now he was convinced that it was not only a resemblance but a reality. As soon as this conviction had forced itself upon his mind he made haste to the spot where he had left the man with the axe, but the "bird had flown." He now thinks that he would have made a good bargain by giving the man 75 cents for the axe, although it was his own property, as he paid just double that amount for it only a few days ago.

Another Runaway. A horse attached to a vehicle belonging to the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing machine agency, being fastened to a rack in the vicinity of the establishment, yesterday afternoon, got loose in some way and started down Front street. He first went rather leisurely, but people commenced shouting wol" and the animal, being a little hard of hearing, and thinking they meant go, quickened his speed and was soon dashing down street in the most reckless manner possible. Arriving at the corner of Front and Orange streets he attempted to turn into the latter, when the buggy was over turned, the animal tripped and fell and was secured before he could recover himself. Fortunately, the vehicle sustained but little injury, a split dash-board being about the extent of the damage.

CONFERENCE MEETING.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 28, 1873. Tenth session of the African Methodist Episcopal Zien Church convened in the Christian Chapel of this city, according to its adjournment, at 10 A. M. on Wednesday, November 26th, Bishop J. W. Hood.

He opened the session by reading the 39th chapter of Job very impressively. Singing and prayer by Elder W. J. Moore, after which the Bishop delivered an able address to the members of the Conference, reviewing the ministerial labors of the past Conference year, and the signal blessing that the Giver of all good has bestowed upon the members of this Conference, in sparing the lives of so many members of the Conference, amidst the difficulties, toils and trials of this inconstant life, and only two of Zion's trumpeters have fallen asleep in death and gone to their reward in glory. He further stated that the flag of Zion is being waved all over this State, in the val-lies and upon the hill-tops, and is destined to sway all over the continent, if the ministry be pure, good and holy men of God. The Bishop further stated to the Conference that there were very important matters to claim the attention of the body. First, our system of Lay delegates on church representation; second, church extension; and, thirdly, education of the ministry, and especially the latter. He hoped that the Conference would take prominent action during the session on Education—to estabish a College for the young men joining the connection.

At the close of his addres, J. Tyler was appointed Recording Secretary, and Adam. Barrett, Assistant, after which the Roll was called and over one hundred members answered to their names and the Bar of the Conference was fixed. The Bishop then proceeded to the exbers to the hour of adjournment. The Devotional Committee made their report for the first night service: Christian Church, 71 o'clock—H. C. Phillips and Deacon King.

On motion by the Conference, it was re solved to keep Thanksgiving Day by holding service in the morning. Elder G. W. Farmer delivered a practical and interesting discourse on the occasion from the 103d Division of the Psalms, 19th and 20th, as-sisted by Bro. Logans.

The Conference convened at 2 P. M., Bishop Hood opened the session by repeating the Lord's Prayer, the Conference joining, after which the roll was called and the minutes of the previous session approved. The Committee on Complaints reported on the complaints referred to them that all the cases were settled in a Christian spirit, except that of Tobias Miller, who was found guilty of the charges and expelled by the Conference.

BECOND DAY.

THIRD BAY NORNING SESSION. Bishop Bood, presiding, read the 18th Chapter of Matthew and commented on the same. Roll called, minutes of the previous session, read and approved. During the morning session the following ministerial brethren of the city visited the Conference whither a detective traced him.

and were introduced by the Bishop to the brethren and invited to seats within the Bar: Isaac King, of the Baptist Church; Rev. Horton, of the Baptist Church; Rev. Nichols, of St. Stephens; S. Sauls and Rev. Spriggs, of the M. E. Church; and Henry Tucker and Rev. Piersol, of the M. E. Church, North.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The Conference met pursuant to adjournment, the Bishop presiding.

The mintes of the previous session were read, corrected and approved. The Committee on Complaints reported, in the morning session, that the complaints against London Johnson originated from prejudice; he, with others against whom similar frivolous complaints were made, were all restored and their characters passed.

The Statistical Committee continued to receive statistics from the various stations and circuits, containing statistics, Bishop and Conference money. It is proper to state that in the afternoon of the second day's session there were pre-sented to the Conference, by their Elders from the District, 38 candidates desiring admission into to the ministry. They were examined by the Bishop according to rule and admitted on trial, thereby swelling the number of the North Carolina Annual Conference membership to ever 150. Quite a number of new societies were also added to the record. Rev. Mr. H. B. Blake, Superintendent of Public Schools, was introduced to the Conference and invited to a seat within the bar. He subsequently addressed the Con-ference, stating that he first met with the brethren here in Wilmington five years ago. He cordially invited the brethren of the Conference to call at his office and get some Sunday school papers, &c., which had been sent to him from the North by his Northern friends. He addressed the Conference on the subject of Christian union associations, which should be formed in this State to in-increase knowledge and Christian feelings and sympathy among all classes of Christians. He spoke of the great Evan-gelical Alliance, which was held in the city I New York, during the month of October. for the better understanding of the Christian denomirations of the world, &c.,

On motion by Elder T. H. Lomax, a vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. H. B. Blake, for his able address and liberal offer to the members of the conference of Sabbath school books, papers, &c. The vote was taken by rising.

The Bishop remarked that the suggestions the prompt and faithful execution of all kinds of of Rev. Mr. Blake on the subject of Christian Union struck him very forcibly, and he approved of them and brethren would consider the importance during the session of a Christian Union with other Christian denominations. The Statistical Committee resumed their work. The hour of adjournment having arrived the Devotional Committee made the followng announcement for services: Christian Chapel, Elders David Williams and McLaughlin, at 71 o'clock. Conference adjourned with the benedic-
