We learn from a gentleman who was present lat the Bempson County Fair at Clinton last week that the exhibition on a whole was quite a success. The display of stock was very good and the exhibition in Florel Hall was attractive and creditable to all concerned. But for the disagreeable weather on Thursday, however, the Fair would have been more successful than it was. The attendance on Wednesday and Priday was quite large. The address of Col. Q. P. Meares, of this city, on Friday, was alluded fain the warmest terms of com-mendation by all who heard it.

Burglary and Bobbery. The colored Co-Operative Store, located on the corner of Seventh and Bladen streets. was broken open on Sunday night and robbed of some five or six dollars in change and a box of soap. How many other articles were taken could not be ascertained at the time our informant received his information, but it was the opinion of the keeper of the store that others were taken. The thief effected an entrance by breaking the lock of one of the front doors. No clue to the perpetrator of the robbery.

A Tough Customer. Quite an excitement was created on Prin-cess street yesterday afternoon by the ef-forts of a number of policemen to take a well known colored man to the Guard House. He is a man of powerful frame and almost herculean strength, and being what may be termed "fighting drunk" the officers had about as much as they could handle. Eight of them, however, finally succeeded in getting him under lock and key, amidst a volley of oaths and imprecations which he hurled at them.

Attempt to Burn Cotton. On Sunday, about 12 o'clock, two bale of cotton, the property of Mr. J. B. Hug-gins, and lying in front of his store on Market street, were discovered to be on fire, which had been applied in several different places. Of course the flames were promptly extinguished. What could have caused the perpetration of such a piece of rescality as the setting of fire to the cotton is a mat-

RAMESON, N. C., Dec. 1st, 1873. The bill to amend the Charter of the City of Wilmington passed its third reading in both Houses of the General Assembly today and is now a law. It provides that municipal elections in that city shall take place hereafter biennially, on the days appointed for the election of the Township Board of Trustees. The election that was to have taken place next May is postponed until August, 1875, and the present Board of Aldermen is continued in office until that time. The act also repeals that portion of the charter under which it claimed authority is given the city estimated that this will save to the city some $10,000 per year. Hon. Reverdy Johnson closed his argu ment in the injunction case in a speech of three hours to-day. The greatest interest is manifested in the case here by all classes. If the injunction is granted there can be no appeal until the final decree of the Court is rendered, thus locking up the State funds for an indefinite period. The Court now

After the devotional exercises, the President explained to the members and those wishing to join, the origin and design of the institution, viz: Its main objects and funds raised were to be devoted to the care of the superanuated and worn out ministers, destitute cases of sickness, and to the widows of deceased brothers, who are greatly in need of aid, &c. The Constitution was read by the Secretary, W. J. Moore, according to announcement, delivered an appropriate and interesting address to the members and others present, reviewing the wordings of the Society and the great good it has already done. Several articles in the Constitution was read to the Society and afterwards amended.

The meeting was addressed again by Treasurer Hill and others, and the members paid their monthly dues, and others joined.

The meeting adjourned to elect its officers during the session of the Conference.

Without Strevices was socious, ETC.
So far as I have learned, there was general satisfaction given by our ministers preaching at our various sister churches in the city, the appointments being filled. There was also preaching at the city jail, by Rev. H. McLaughlin and Peter McNatt. I am proud to state to the community, that the Sabbath Schools here, and especially those of Christian Chapel, and St. Stephens', where I visited, excel any that I have visited for many years; especially in rechation of earing ure lessons and singing, the voices of many of the scholars being clear and distinct. Great credit is due to the Superintendents and teachers of those

He (Dr. Torsey) was requested to address the Conference and made some very feeling and touching remarks relative to the work of the Ministry. He further stated that over 11,000 different students for the Ministry had been presided ever by him, and he had worked hard during his life time for the upholding of Christ's Church on earth, by way of teaching men for the Ministry, &c., &c.

On motion of Elder T. H. Lomax, a vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. Dr. Torsey for his very feeling and Christian remarks to the members of the Conference. Elder W. J. Moore offered a resolution to the effect that this Conference donate

The Bishop answered the many enquires of the brethren relative to their not receiving the paper, and its previous condition, &c. stating that the paper has changed hands, has a new Editor, &c., but he could be willing to pledge himself that the present Editor would discharge his duty faithfully; and he further stated that he expected that arrangements would be made to have the paper edited in Petersburg as the Editor had been appointed there. Deacon Burrell Johnson moved that 1,000 copies of the Conference minutes be printed for the benefit of the people. The matter was discussed at length by Johnson and others, but finally laid over until Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

The Committee on Holy Orders reported the following for Deacons: Wm. H. Jones, Peter Calwell, Julius W. Jenkins, Benja-

At 3 P. M. the congregation assembled according to appointment.

The candidates for Deacons' and Elders' Orders were seated before the altar. Elder W. C. Payne selected the hymn ."Let Zion's Watchmen All Awake," &c., as the opening hymn; second by Elder E. H. Hill, the good old hymn, "Am I a Soldier of the Cross," &c. Elder Hill delivered a very selemn and heartfelt sermon to the candidates and the congregation present, from the 5th chapter of Acts, 29th verse. He calmly and particularly reviewed the ministerial duty, especially that of holy living, cross bearing; and to show themselves men of God. He adverted to the origin of the North Carolina Conference, and the number being at first about eight or ten men, around a cold stove in Newbern, N. C., consulting together what steps to take, &c., and thus they worked, toiled and labored, until now our Conference numbers over one hundred and fifty volunteers, bent and bound for Zion's success in this State, &c. He dwelt at length on the sufferings and persecutions of the early christians, &c. The candidates list-ened with marked attention. After his discourse the Bishop proceeded to ordain the brethren as above named, in the midst of a large congregation, in a very impressive manner. The Bishop sang with the Conference during the exercises of the Ordina-tion, the minister's comforting song-

"In the hour of trouble Cheer the weary traveller," &c., which was deeply felt in the congregation while the right hand of fellowship was ex tended to the brethren ordained. The Devotional Committee made the fol-lowing appointments for night services: At Christian Chapel, at 71 o'clock, Abra-ham Aliston, assisted by James W. L.

The charge passed through a cook house and entered the breast and arm of Miss Salter, inflicting severe wounds. She will recover.
