As he came near them for that purpose one of the party struck him a severe blow on the side of the head, knocking him down. He soon recovered, but they had both disappeared. Meeting of the Cape Fear Agricultural

The Cape Fear Agricultural Association met last night, pursuant to adjournment, President A. A. McKoy in the chair. The question for discussion. "Who were most benefited by the fairs of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association, the merchants and traders of this city, or the farmers and mechanics of the section," was called up, and quite a lengthy debate entered into, participated in by Messrs. G. Z. French, Willard, Worth, and Cols. Fremont, Atkinson and Mclibenny.

On motion of Col. Fremont, it was re solved, that the Fairs of this Association are of mutual benefit to merchants, traders, farmers and mechanics.

Col. Fremont moved the following amendment to the constitution of the As-

Resolved. That the President shall have authority to appoint, annually, fifty Assistant and Advisory members of the executive committee, who sdall be members of the Association, and have a vete in all ques-tions submitted for consideration.

After a short address by the President, during which he called the attention of the Association to the election of officers, to be held at the next meeting, the Association adjourned to meet to-night at half past 7

OPERA HOUSE.

"Lotus and Leo," the burlesque selected by the Chapman Sisters for the entertainment of our play-goers last evening, is nothing but a succession of the wildest absurdities; full of pointless pun and execrable rhyme; and altogether unsuited, we think, to the merit and capacity of the leading performers. Nevertheless, the Sisters played with their accustomed spirit, and their efforts were well received by the audience which was much larger than that which greeted them during their short engagement here last week. The Chapmans give another entertainment at the Opera House this evening; and the number of visiters to the Fair now in the city will no doubt give them a larger audience even than that which witnessed their performance last evening. Temporary Suspension.

The Clinton Reporter has been temporarily suspended. This is due, we learn, to th general duliness of the times, lack of adver-tising patronage, failure of subscribers to pay up, coupled with the fact that every thing pertaining to a newspaper establishment costs money-CASH DOWN.

Fifth Annual Fair.

SECOND DAY.

Another mild and beautiful day, with scarcely a cloud to dim the prospect, dawn ed upon us yesterday and lent its cheerful influence to the success of the second day's session of the Fair of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association. There was a very large increase in the number in attendance upon the grounds and all seemed to be pleased with what they saw and heard. There was also perceptible a very considerable increase in the number of entries, particularly in the different Halls, which presented a very encouraging appearance. In a stroll through the various departments, we noted the following objects of interest:

FLORAL HALL. Our limited space yesterday, preventing an extended account of Floral Hall, we made another tour of this certainly attrac tive spot, and were much pleased with the result of our inspection. The floor and ceiling on all sides present a beautiful view of evergreens, wreathed into all sorts of fantastic shapes, looped in each crevice and corner, and again spread out into beautiful forms until the entire Hall seems to give evidence that nature has been robbed to do it honor and add to its charms. Here the real beauty and attractiveness of the Fair seems to have centered. In short, this Hall presents a natural green tinted back ground. from which peer forth, as figures on a picture, a beautiful array of landscape paintings and crayon drawings, by Misses W. A. Wood, L. V. Satchwell, Sallie Price, Mary Devine, Sallie Carter, and Mary Darby, pupils of the Academy of Incarnation. These paintings and drawings attracted much the work of very youthful pupils. Just across from the above collection is exhibited a very much admired collection of oil paintings of landscapes, &c., and one beautiful wax cross, the work of Miss Lillie Van-Bokkelen. The young lady certainly displays much talent in her paintings. At the left of the latter collection are some six or seven very charming oil paintings of landscape views by Mrs. J. C. Mann, and one by Bennie Mann, 7 years old. The above three collections of paintings and sketches form a very attractive feature in Floral Hall as they shine out from the wreaths of evergreens that are so artistically woven about them, giving evidence of the progress of our section in the beautiful art of painting. Floral Hall is peculiarly the ladies depart ment, and of course owes its attractiveness and beauty to that fact. The long tables are literally strewn with the evidences of their handiwork, con sisting of embroidery, quilts, tetting, crochet work, worsted work, in quantities and in various styles too numerous to mention. We have only space for a few. A handsome silk quilt is entered here by Mrs. C. H. King; another of foreign make by the sisters of the Academy of the Incarnation. Mrs. G. W. Pugh also enters a handsome quilt, and Mrs. B. G. Lenehan a collection of embroidery of various patterns Here was also to be found a fine display of worsted work by Miss Sallie Cowan, a young miss of twelve years; a handsome large boquet of wove flowers by Mrs. E. R. McGowan, another by Mrs. J. M. Hinton; a really beautiful oil painting executed by Master Elliet Dangerfield, a youth of fourteen years; wax work by Mrs. J. M. French; a fine collection of embroidery by Miss Jennie Oberry, a young miss of eleven years; a very fine opera cloak, beautiful in texture and appearance, by Mrs. T. J. Southerland a crayon drawing and sket ches by Miss Vic. Gore. Upon a table in the centre of the room are displayed some very choice lots of preserves, jellies, cheeses and other articles of that kind, by Mrs. Peterson and others. Floral Hall, all day yesterday, presented a scene of activity unequalled on any other portion of the ground, all seeming to testify by frequent visits their appreciation of its inviting appearance. Ladies thronged the passages and the numerous articles exhibited were the subjects of their favorable scrutiny and comments, each tasty parcel and collection having its admirers. AGRICULTURAL HALL

The first thing that attracted our attention here, not previously noticed, was a collection of articles exhibited by G. Z. French, Esq., of this county, among which we noticed a lot of Earth or mineral paint; iron ore; a specimen of course marl good for sidewalks; black muck for fertilizing; a about 450 pounds, exhibited by M. Batson; specimen of Sea Island cotton, raised as an experiment; a specimen of bread corn, one ear of which contained one thousand grains. | and yoke of fine work steers, by L. A. Pow-He raised 42 bushels and 6 quarts to an acre | ell, of Sampson; single harness ox, "Moof this corn, after taking off a crep of "Marrow fat" peas, and used no fertilizer. In his collection was also a specimen of Lima beans, millet for fedder, &c.

Of native hay we noticed specimens exhibited by Mesars. Northrop & Cumming, of this city, KcKoy & Boyken, of Sampson, and James Norwood, of Orange. Messrs. McKoy & Boyken also exhibited a fine lot of sweet potatoes.

Messrs. J. J. Pearce, of Hilliardston, Nash county, J. T. Pike and J. A. Shine exhibited specimens of cotton in bales, Mr. Pike's being for the largest yield, for which a special premium is offered by Messrs. Vick & Mebane.

We noticed a lot of brooms, manufac-

HORTICHIATURAL HALL. Among the articles in this department not heretofore alluded to, may be mentioned the following:

A lot of Dickson Cluster Cotton, a very fine article, exhibited by Mr. David Dickson, the noted planter. A lot of cotton stalks, with blooms, exton, Nash county, a very pretty specimen. The Cape Fear Building Company, of Abbottsburg, have on exhibition here specimens of their workmanship, consisting of a wire safe, samples of moulding, ballisters, brackets, &c., which are very creditable. In boots and shoes, very fine collections are exhibited by Messrs. C. A. Price and Evans & Von Glahn. Mr. J. H. Allen, who has lately commenced business in this city, has on exhibition a very handsome assortment of watches, clocks, jewelry, &c., which are very tastefully arranged and show to great advantage.

Messrs. J. & J. Johnson, agents of Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines, make a very creditable display, and exhibit some choice specimens of their workmanship. Our attention was particularly struck with a sample of figure work executed on patent leather and placed in frame and which has the appearance of being printed.

FAYETTEVILLE. Our noble Cape Fear sister, always among the first in skill and enterprise, is very well represented in the two lower halls.

Here we find the Diamond Cotton Chopper and Cultivator, the invention of Mr. J. B. Underwood, of Fayetteville, which attracted a great deal of attention. Mr. Underwood was present and explained the manner of its use and its many labor-saving qualities. It has taken the first premium, we believe, at every Fair at which it has been exhibited and we were shown yesterday a splendid gold medal which was awarded it as the most important improve ment in Agricultural implements during the past year.

very fine open buggy, of his own manufacture, which received very flattering commendations from visitors on account of the beauty and taste displayed in its workman-

Mr. Walter Watson has a fine display of turpentine tools, of his own manufacture, consisting of the combined Scraper and Pusher, patented by him, round shaves, hackers. &c. His tools are now in exten sive use in North and South Carolina and Georgia and are regarded with much favor on account of the character of the metal used in their manufacture and their consequent durability. Mr. Wm. Overby exhibits what is termed the Improved Spinning Wheel, a very simple and useful Kentucky invention, the right of which he has purchased for this section of the State. It can be attached to a table or any similar contrivance and can be work-

MACHINERY DEPARTMENT. The contest between the Remington Needle Gin, and Taylor Saw Gin, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed until this morning, when these directly intetested in agricultural implements, may witness the competition, which promises to be an interesting feature of this department. The Taylor Gin is one of long standing, while the Remington Gin is said to be an improvement on the process of ginning cotton. The latter is being introduced in this section, by Capt. B. H.

POULTRY. In a stroll among the chicken coops we noticed some very fine specimens of the feathered tribe, among which may be mentiened a lot of game chickens, by R. O. Grant; gold and silver Hamburg, by W. M. Parker; a trio of Buff China, very fine and large, a lot of gray Brahmas grade pullets, &c., by Mrs. S. Bethel; a trio of buff Chinas by G. Z. French; a Stone Fence cock and Stone Fence chickens, by A. H. Cutts; a pair of very fine native turkeys, six months old, by Maj. C. W McClammy; a Sumatra chicken, by E. D. Walker: game chicken, by G. F. Tilley; Rover ducks, game chickens and other fowls, by Mrs. T. J. Southerland.

LIVE STOCK. In this department there is a very fine display. We learn that there are about twenty-three race horses and trotters on the grounds, including seven from Columbia, S. C., five from Weldon, exhibited by Mr. T. L. Emry, of Weldon, two from Washington City, and some from Virginia. We shall refer to this particular department more at length in our next issue,

Of other stock we noticed a Big Guinea and Essex hog, two years old, weighing a Berkshire pig, Essex sew and Essex boar, by W. A. Faison; Devon and Durham bulls grade Alderney calf, "Sue," grade Durham cow, "Grace," Devon cow, "Kate," Devon bull, "Cornet," native heifer and thorough bred Jersey bull, "Nero," by Northrop & Cumming; Devon steer, by G. F. Tilley; Devon bull, by J. T. Elders, of New Hanover, a fine animal.

THE BACE COURSE.

At 2 o'clock a trotting match came off for horses from North and South Carolina, mile heats, best three in five, for a purse of $100, viz: $60 to the winning horse, $25 to the second and $15 to the third. The following horses entered; "Shoo Fly" alias "Bob." owned by T. J. Southerland and driven by Mr. Trout; "Buckskin," owned by Mr.

roy, and "McDuff," owned and driven by Washington Lamb. The result was as follows: First heat, won by "Buckskin," in 3:02; second heat by "Buckshin" in 3:06; third heat drawn; fourth heat, "Buckskin,"

Next followed a trial of speed of running horses, for the best two in three, half mile heats, the premium being $100, viz: $70 to the first horse and $30 the second. H. E. hibited by Mr. J. J. Pearce, of Hilliards-Bartan entered "Lost Cause" and "Nelly;" C. T. Walker entered "Baltimore Bell:"T. L. Emry entered "Light Wood." This race was very spirited and interesting, the railing of the race course being skirted by > in three straight heats, "Baltimore Belle" coming in second. A Walking Feat.-The racing was very fine and was greatly enjoyed, but decidedly the most attractive feature in this part of the grounds during the afternoon was the feat of pedestrianism performed by Mr. P. M. O'Hara, who walked around the race course until he had accomplished the disance of five miles, which feat he executed in 49 minutes and 26 seconds, walking a half mile and sixty yards of that distance backwards. This beats Weston, who, if we mistake not, accomplished the feat in Raleigh in 57 minutes. Mr. O'Hara is a native of Ireland and has been in this coun-spectators. It was won by "Lost Cause"

try about five years. ENTRIES

Mr. John Coffin Wood, an old and es teemed citizen of this place, died last night, at about half past 8 o'clock, aged about 70 years. He was what may fitly be termed "An honest man, the noblest work of God."

CITY ITEMS.

THE "New American Steam Washer and Bleacher" combined is on exhibition at our Fair-Wil liams & Harrison, patentees, Raleigh, N. C. This is a novel invention and deserves the patronage of our people. There are also specimens of its work on exhibition, showing the reliability of the machine as a washer and bleacher. They guarantee it a success. We learn from the patentees that they are fast disposing of State and County rights on most favorable terms. This is a new invention, patented November 4th, 1878, and is the first Bleacher invented for family use. We can only say, success to home enterprise.
