The District Investigation. A Washington correspondent under

The investigation of the District government by the joint committee of Congress is progressing more rapidly than could have been expected. The Board of Public Works professes to be delighted at finding themselves so honest thus far. All the newspapers in the District seem agreeably papers in the District seem agreeably disappointed, as the memorialists have no organ whereby to inform the publie of daily developed iniquity. An impartial observer can only judge of the true condition of affairs by wading into the flood of testimony pro and con, or watch barometrical variations of newspaper rejoicing, although they sometimes crow loudest when their case looks worst. One contractor testified this afternoon that he netted ten thousand three hundred dollars out of a thirtynine thousand dollar contract. Thirty-three per cent. on what need not be more than a fortnight's investment at the outside is a liberal profit. The enemorialists will find it up hill work to fasten any specific charge of down- of St. George and St. Andrew takes place right fraud on the Board. It is a this evening. hard thing to do in any case, especially where the past debts and future rewards in the shape of appropriations depend on the issue. It is a question for the man of average honesty whether or not any other body of men with the same advantages, temptations (if not to say natural tendencies) would have gotten rich as rapidly as the members of the present people, which she had taken in to wash, and locked the door upon her. One Moses Reiley also made complaint, yesterday, to the effect that Felder had cursed and abused him and disturbed the neighbors generally. Felder and his wife reside on McRae, between Anson and Nixon streets, The former is now in the Guard House, awaiting an investigation by the Mayor.

An Evil to be Remedied.

Complaint is made that the night-soil carts are being emptied of their contents just on the outskirts of the city, much to the annoyance of people residing in the vicinity. It is also represented that dead animals are frequently deposited in the same localities. It is hoped that the matter will be investiated, as such practices, if continued, are a use and swift way to breed a postilence.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

Fifth Anniversary of the W. S. F. Company No. 1-The Parade and Engine Trial-The Supper, Toasts, Speeches, &c., &c.

The fifth anniversary of the Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1, coming on Sunday, the 22nd inst., was appropriately celebrated yesterday by a parade and engine trial in the afternoon, followed by a supper at night. The trial of the engine took place on Princess street. The engine was stationed at the dock and the pipemen at the corner of Front and Princess, from whence a stream was thrown with ease over the cupola of the New Hanover Bank. The engine proved herself to be in good order and behaved herself admirably.

The main feature of the occasion, however, was

THE SUPPER, which came off at the Hall of the Company, corner of Fourth and Princess streets. Capt. John Cowan presided and the tables fairly groaned under the weight of the manifold delecacies, substantials and refreshments with which it was laden. The supper, of course, was the recipient of ample justice and was hugely enjoyed, the members of the company and invited guests, at its conclusion, entering with becoming earnestness into the spirit of the occasion, keeping time to the popping of corks and the clicking of glasses as were ancounced in their turn the following

REGULAR TOASTS. 1. The 22nd March, 1869.

Responded to by Capt. A. L. De Rosset 2. The Fire Department of the City of Wilmington-We recognize in our leader, one in whom we can repose implicit confidence, knowing full well that the responsibility and trusts, which attach to the position, will be faithfully assumed, and well guarded.

Responded to by Capt. J. H. Robinson. 3. Captain A. Adrian-One who backs his muscle with his means, and his means with his muscle.

Responded to by A. Adrian. Col. Roger Moore-A pioneer of the present Fire Department-one, who adding experience to wisdom, has seen the acme of his hopes realized, by the present efficiency of the Hook and Ladder Company,

Responded to by Col. Roger Moore. 5. The Alex Adrian -- Who adds rapidity of movement, to power of endurance. Her capacity for execution being measured by a full length "Furlong."

Responded to by Walter Furlong. 6. "The Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1."-The advanced guard in time of action.-They conquer the leaping fiame, and demolish the foundations upon which it feeds.

Responded to by R. H. Beery. 7. "The John T. Rankin."-In the spirit of gain the Company set upon, and at last obtained their "Price." Responded to by Capt. Jos. Price. 8. "Our retiring Foreman."-Our leader from the first, who used his whole influence in perfecting our organization. To him we tender our lasting gratitude, and he has our best wishes for his future saccess. Capt. John L. Boatwright responded with appropriate and feeling remarks. 9. "Our Foreman."-One who has filled his past positions of trust with dignity to himself and honor to the Company. We know that in his present position, we will have a leader whom we will be proud to Responded to by Capt. F. G. Robinson, felicitously.

10. "Our 2nd Assistant Foreman."-We greet his installation with a degree of pride and satisfaction which fully attests the worth of the private. Responded to by N. B. Rankin.

11. "Our Chief Engineer."-Whose adaptability to the management of a machine that squirts water, has been satisfactorily proven. We propose a bumper of something more potent. Responded to by Capt. E. W. Maning. 12. "Cornet Concert Club."-Whose proficiency since their organization speaks immensely as to their assiduity to the task im-posed upon themselves. Though fully able to do their own blowing, they desire assist-ance when they wet their whistle.

Responded to by H. N. Latham. 13. "Our Deceased Comrades."-Though called from us, yet their memory is ever dear. Drank standing, and responded to by Jno. C. James in a very feeling and touch

14. "The Press."-The bulwark of our liberties. It stands like a sentinel upon the watch tower to warn us of danger.

A letter was read from W. H. Bernard in esponse to this toast. 15. "The Old North State."-Heaven's blessings attend her, whilst we live we wil cherish, protect and defend her. A letter was read from Col. Wm. L Saunders in response to this toast, which was followed by the song of the "Old North State" by the whole Company. 16. "The City of Wilmington."-May her efforts to rise paramount above all cities of the South be successfully attained, and ere long may she rank side by side with the cities of the North. We hold the good old place dear in our hearts, and will do all in our power to protect the property of her

Mayor W. P. Cannaday being absent, Mr. Geo. R. French, Sr., responded in fit-

17. "Our Invited Guests."-We extend them a fireman's welcome. John London, Esq., made a response abounding in capital allusions to the fraternity which prevailed among the Fire Department of the city. 18. "The Ladies."—They cheer us on the path of duty by their smiles and kind words. Fit companions in hours of prosperity, they render needful solace in those of adversity. Responded to by J. C. Stevenson.

19. "Our Merchants."—Who by their liberality to enterprises of great moment, and especially the Fire Department, have the satisfaction of seeing the busy hand of the mechanic daily at work, knowing that the result of their labors is well guarded against the ravages of the devouring ele-ment.

Responded to by F. W. Kerchner. 20. "Our Bar and River Improvements." -By the co-operation of the friends of the measure, we hope ere long that our waters will be enabled to extend a hearty welcome to vessels from all ports of the world, of whatever tonnage.

Responded to by Col. W. L. DeRosset. The regular toasts concluded, the following, among other impromptu toasts, were

IMPROMPTU TOASTS. Metropolis of the South-City of Balti

Responded to by Mr. Janney, of the firm of Hopkins & Janney, of Baltimore. Sampson, God bless you-may the huckleberry crop never fail.

Responded to by Capt. J. W. Galloway. Let us follow the head of Our Republic and recognize the Vice Consulate.

Responded to by Capt. W. A. Cumming, Haytien Vice Consul. . The music for the occasion was furnished by the Cornet Concert Club, and it was excellently rendered. The young gentlemen composing the band certainly show a remarkable proficiency considering the short time they have been in practice, and we bespeak for this useful institution, so promising of pleasure and gratification to our citizens, a brilliant and successful career, excelled by no amateur organization of its character in the South.

Body of an Unknown Man Found

Browned. On Sunday afternoon, about half-past 2 o'clock, the body of an unknown man was found floating in the river, opposite the ferry, and was towed by the ferrymen, who were first to discover the body, into the dock foot of Dock street. Coroner Hewlett was notified and at 4 o'clock an inquest was held over the remains. The body was well dressed in black cloth coat and pants and had on an under-suit of coat, pants and shirt. The face of the corpse was horribly disfigured, but enough was seen to render it pretty certain in the minds of the jury that it was that of a white man. His pockets were perfectly empty and nothing could be found about his person to give the least clue to his identity.

It was at first thought that the body migl be that of the sailor drowned off the Rebecca Clyde a few days since, but a little reflection served to disabuse the minds of these present of this idea. The body was not only dressed entirely different from a sailor, but it had to all appearances been in the water for several weeks. There was no evidence to show who the man was nor how he came to his death, there being no indications of violence having been used. The jury, therefore, returned a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by accidental drowning.

Yesterday it was reported that the body was believed to be that of a bright mulatto, by the name of John Brown, whom it was difficult to distinguish from a white man. Brown was a native of Raleigh, was a stone-mason by trade and had been in the employ of Mr. P. Liuehan for the past three years, being recently employed on the Pee Dee Bridge. He left there about six weeks ago with the avowed intention of coming to Wilmington, having in his pockets at the time a considerable sum of money. Since that time he has not been seen or heard of to Mr. Linehan's knowledge, although Mr. L. has been here and made inquiries about him. Mr. Linehan's description of the clothing worn by Brown when he left the Pee Dee Bridge agrees exactly with those found on the drowned man alluded to above. The shirt worn by him opened at the back, which was the case with those worn by the eceased. Mr. Linehan also says the boots worn by Brown were rather long for him and turned up at the toes, which was the case with those worn by the drowned man. There was some talk of exhuming the body, which was buried in the National Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, and instituting a re-examination with the view of identifying it, but no difinite action in the matter, so far as we could ascertain, had been taken up to late last evening. If the body is that of the missing Brown it is taken for granted that he must have accidentally fallen into the river and was drowned, or that he was foully dealt with.

The Election Yesterday. - The Appropriations Defeated. The electon yesterday passed off very quietly, as was to be expected, there being no potitical question involved. Early in the day it became evident that there was no chance for the appropriations, and the final result was therefore not surprising. A great many did not go to the polls, as the shortness of the vote will indicate. The following is the result in the various Wards for and against the Donation of $4,000 to the Cape Fear Agricultural Assocication and the Subscription of $10,000 to the special stock of the Sea Side Railway:

FIRST WARD. 260

John G. Saxe.

The rare intellectual entertainment to be given by this gentleman, which will take place at the Opera House on Wednesday evening next, under the auspices of the Wilmington Library Association, will doubtless attract e large and appreciative audience. As a poet of extraordinary genius and ability, his name has long been prominently before the country, and as a lecturer and reader he is hardly less distinguished. rendering the name of John G. Saxe almost as familiar as a household word. Reserved Seats can be secured at Heinsberger's without extra charge.

Another Attempted Incendiarism. The house on the corner of McRae and Walnut streets, occupied by a colored family, was set on fire Sunday night, but the lames were fortunately discovered in time to prevent serious damage. The incendiary had dug a hole under the side of the house, in which combustible material was placed so that the fire would communicate with the weatherboarding. It was just getting under way good, however, when some one passing saw the flames and extinguished

Sling-Shots.

Two serious accidents came near result ing on Sunday by the use of sling-shots, and as a consequence we learn that a large number of the boys have resolved to ob stain from their use hereafter. It is to be hoped the dangerous sport will be discarded altogether.

Another Great Literary Sensation.

The Modern Robinson Crusoe

in which, not content with the old stories of "ROB-INSON CRUSOE" and the "SWISS FAMILY ROB-INSON," the writer undertakes to shew how a party of men cast upon a mysterious and desert Island, may live by their own scientific resources alone, without the aid of any wreck to draw upon for their materials of life and comfort. of life and comfort.

The party are Americans who start out from Richmond, Va., during the seige, in a balloon. M. Jules Verse unit s with an accurate scientific knowledge, an exuberance of inventive genius that has
