It should have been added to the amount of the crop. It was, as appears by "X's" tables, 218,997 bales. From this was drawn the excess of exports over the crop, namely, 125,-000 bales, leaving apparently still in stock, 98,997 bales.

Before the blockade was made effectual the ships were at sea | to a beam, beaten, and then taken to and the supply of cotton was gone. Even if the government had, by the quickness of intuition, discerned on the very day of its formation the advantages of this scheme, it would have been only by the arbitrary seizare of every vessel in port that any practical effect could have been given to it. It cannot be supposed that such a measure would have been attempted; particularly as nearly every one of these ships was under the British flag.

Swedish Character.

There is a striking resemblance between the character of the land and the character of the people. The Swede is never stupid. He is rather fantastic. He has no talent for mediocrity. He has rather a turn for eccentricity. All that is sweet melts him and fills him with joy. All that is great attracts him and fills him with enthusiasm. Even in the poorest circumstances, his heart is always overflowing with sublime longings, which he pours forth in the sweetest and most touching songs the world has ever heard.

The Swede, moreover, affords an example of good manners and graceful courtesy which might well be imitated by the dwellers in a warmer clime. The aspiring youth does not try to show off his dexterity by handling an extensive number of slang phrases. The first token of character of genuine Swedish stamp is the capacity of arguing with gentleness, of denying with courtesy, and pro-testing with politeness. This habit is so prevalent in all speech, that by simple people among his neighbors the Swede is often suspected of falsehood on account of his sweet words. There is perhaps a little extravagance in the Swedish language on this point. When a Dane swears, he is still modest in his roughness. The devil take me, he says. But the Swede is not content with so little. Take me a thousand devils is the oath.

Knights of Pythias.

At the continued session of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, in Pittsburg, on Thursday, the following officers were elected: Supreme Chancellor, Representative Davis, of New Hampshire; Supreme Vice Chancellor, Representative Woodruff, of Georgia; Supreme Recording Scribe, Joseph Dowdall, of Ohio; Supreme Banker, Representative Stump, of Indiana; Supreme Guide, Hugh Latham, of Virginia; Supreme Inner representatives of the Supreme Lodge. About two hundred guests were present, and the affair passed off most agreeably, being distinguished by a more than usually extended and felicitous feast of reason and flow of soul.

DEPAVED OR I SANE.

The Boston Boy-Murderer-A Startling Career. Boston, April 23.

A little boy four and a half years old was found yesterday afternoon by a policeman lying dead in the The Mails. marshes, near the Dorchester line. His body was horribly mutilated. His head was nearly severed from his body, and about thirty stabs were found in different parts of his body. The boy's name was Horace Mullen, the son of poor parents.

A boy of fifteen years of age, named Edward Pomeroy, who resides in Chelsea, has been arrested for murdering the child. Young Pomeroy was recently pardoned from the State Reform School, where he was sent for cutting and mutilating several children vounger than himself.

He was shown the body of his vie tim and being asked if he ever saw the boy before, he said: "Yes: but I don't want to see him any more." He trembled all over while in the room and showed evidence of guilt. He said if he did the deed he was sorry for it, and hoped his mother would not know about it. After looking at the body Detective Woods asked him if he did that, referring to the cutting. He replied: "Yes, I killed him." And on his way back from the undertaker's he said in answer to questions: "I suppose I killed him." Detective Woods then asked him what he thought onght to be done with him, and he replied: "Put me somewhere so I can't do is undoubtedly correct as regards the such things." The youth is undoubt-

The record of this boy Pomerov is extraordinary. His last victim, whom he stabbed, and horribly mutilated and then threw into a marsh, was four years of age. His previous victims were many. One was a son of Mr. Payne, of Chelsea, who was, about Christmas 1871, taken by Pomerov to But it is not correct to say that Powder Horn Hill, stripped naked, bridge of his nose broken, and ticed to Powder Horn Hill soon after July 4, 1872, stripped, gagged, tied a salt water creek and washed. Robt. Gould, in September of the same year, was taken from South Boston to the vicinity of the Hartford and Erie Railroad, stripped, tied to a telegraph pole, whipped, and cut with a knife in the head. Henry Austin, in August of the same year, was at South Boston, stripped beaten, and cut in the back and groin with a knife. George Pratt, about the same time, was entired into the cabin of a yacht at South Boston, stripped and punctured with pins and needles in different parts of his body, and left insensible and bleeding. Jos. Kennedy was about the same time taken to a place on the Old Colony road in South Boston and maltreated in about the same manner that the Gould boy had been. These boys were all of tender age, from seven to eleven years old. For these offenses he was sent to the Reform School in 1872, but in

Again, I was much interested by the pictures of the young son of the poet Browning-sketches and oilpaintings, somewhat crude, but indicating genuine power and inspiration. In definiteness of conception and imaginative force they reminded me not a little of Vedder. I shall not soon forget the young artist's "Ghost of a Haunted House"-a quaint skeleton peering through a shadowy robe, a grim visage of death, rendered more hideous by an unnatural glamour (quite successfully rendered) of hideons life. The son of the Brownings is remarkable for the versatility of his genius, displaying almost equal ture. He is now in Leipzig studying Attempted Robbery.

An ineffectual attempt was made on Sunday night last to rob a dwelling house on Bladen, between Eighth and Ninth streets, occupied by two white ladies. What adds to the atrocity of this attempted robbery is the fact that one of the ladies is a hopeless and helpless invalid, her condition being such as to require the constant attention of her sister, and but for the aid extended them by the Sisters of Mercy they would necessarily suffer. The discovery of the attempted robbery was owing to an act of charity on the part of the ladies. A poor man in the neighborhood who had been compelled to leave his house because of his inability to pay rent, and being sick, was furnished a room and bed in their house until he could do better. The thieves were about getting in at one of the windows, when the sick man became aroused and made a noise, at which they dropped the window and fled in great haste, thinking they were about to be pursued.

Rev. Mr. Milburn. Rev. W. H. Milburn, the blind preacher and poet, occupied the pulpit of the Front Street M. E. Church, on Sunday morning and evening, and on both occasions the spacious edifice was filled almost to its utmost capacity. At night, particularly, the crowd was immense. His sermons were eloquent, forcible and impressive, displaying an ability as a minister in holy things equal to that possessed by him as a lecturer. A collection taken up for his benefit in the evening realized the handsome sum of $60.

Superior Court.

The following cases were tried yesterday: State vs. Joseph Fowle, charged with larceny. Not guilty. State vs. James Fennell, charged with as-

Alarm of Fire Last Night.

Last night, about 9 o'clock, the unwelcome sound of the fire-bells were heard, and upon investigation it was found that the flames were in a room above the California Auction House on the North side of Market, between Front and Water streets. The fire department was quickly on hand, but luckily their services were unnecessary, as the flames had been brought under control by parties who were near at hand and who used buckets and water freely.

The fire was discovered in the partition which divides the two rooms above the auction room, and was bursting forth in the apartment occupied by Mr. Charles Casprowitz as a cigar establishment. The flames had communicated to some of the boxes of cigars in the room, but only a few were in-

The firemen, who were spoiling for a little exercise, and having no fire to turn their pipes upon, took it out in deluging the Market House and streets with water.

A Young Man Injured by the Falling

In of a Roof. On yesterday morning, between 10 and 11 o'clock, as two young men by the name of Richard P. Gregory and W. S. Ellis were making preparations to re-shingle the roof of a house on Fourth street, just North of Boney Bridge, the roof of the shed upon which they were standing suddenly gave way, young Ellis falling through to the floor beneath, with the plank and rubbish on top of him. He fell across a barrel, by which, with the other causes combined, he received severe injuries, his back and side being badly bruised. Young Gregory was sufficiently near the side of the roof to jump off when he discovered that it was falling and consequently sustained no injury.

A physician was immediately summoned to attend the young man who was wounded and at last accounts he was as comfortable as could be expected.

Mayor's Court. The following cases were disposed of yes-

Sandy Campbell, charged with being disorderly on the streets, was required to pay a fine of $20 and costs.

Henry Williams, charged with stealing chickens from Mr. Neil Gerken. Judgment suspended until Tuesday morning at 9 o'elock.

Judgments rendered as follows: Charles Torkly, fined $20 and costs or thirty days on the streets; Wm. Bruce, judgment suspended until 9 o'clock this morning; John Holland, fined $5 00 and costs or ten days on the streets.

One case continued over. Took His Small Change.

The residence of Capt. Walter Furlong, on Church, between Second and Third streets, was entered on Saturday night by thieves, who succeeded in relieving his pockets of what money they contained, nothing else being disturbed. Entrance was effected through a window.

The Odd Fellows' Celebration Yesterday. The members of Cape Fear Lodge No. 2 and Orion Lodge No. 67, in their handsome regalia, paraded through the principal streets yesterday with full ranks, presenting a very fine appearance. The occasion, it will be remembered, was the celebration of the first anniversary of Orion Lodge and also of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the introduction of the order of Odd Fellowship into the United States. Nearly every member of the Lodges were in the procession, which was headed by the Rose Bud Brass Band.

The parade ended, the procession was dismanded at the Lodge room, with the injunction to the members to meet at the same place at 74 o'clock in the evening. The ceremonies at night were of a very interesting character, and after the addresses were concluded the members and invited guests repaired to Temperance Hall, where the festivities of the day were closed with music and dancing.

Man Drowned.

On Sunday last a white and colored man, the former named J. N. Cciley, were in a boat on Lumber river, about four miles from Fair Bluff, when it was accidentally capsized. Mr. C., who could swim, was drowned in attempting to reach the shore, while the colored man, who could not swim, saved himself by clinging to the boat. The last the colored man saw of his companion he was swimming in the direction of the shore.

Mr. J. C. Heins, of this city, was at the scene of the disaster as late as 6 P. M., Sunday, and up to that time the party engaged in dragging for the body had not succeeded in recovering it.

Robbery of a Shoe-Shop. On Sunday night last, sometime between midnight and day, the shee-shop of Mr. J. Bauman, located on Second, between Market and Princess streets, was entered by thieves who carried off three pairs of fine boots and a few other articles. An entrance was effected through a back window, a board from the shutter of which was found to be torn off and the sash pushfoundry, yesterday morning, while under- ed in. It is supposed that the thieves were going the process of drying, caused quite an | frightened off before fully accomplishing their purpose, as there were a large number of boots and shoes in the shop at the time.
