Destructive Flood - Nearly Every Dwelling in Williamsburg Swept Away-The Loss of Life-Bodies Recovered.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 16. Three large reservoirs above Williamsburg, Mass., which were constructed to supply the manufactories of Williamsburg, Leeds and Hoydenville, gave away at an early hour this morning, the water sweeping everything before it. The above named towns were almost entirely destroyed, including such buildings as Hay-den, Gene & Co's. immense brick factory. Large loss of life reported, but it is at present impossible to give any estimate, though it is probable not less than one FLORENCE, MASS., May 16. The reservoir above Williamsburg, Mass. broke this morning, loosening a large volume of water which carried away nearly every dwelling house in its course. Many lives are lost, but so great is the excitement that it is impossible to get the exact number. At Leeds, the silk manufactory and button shop are both carried away. The station agent of the N. H. & N. Railroad and his wife were both drowned. At the same place many persons were swept down the stream. The water is now falling and it is expected that in about three honrs more correct and definite particulars may be obtained.

Several bodies were seen going down the stream, but so swift was the current that they could not be recovered.

DANVILLE, May 16. Twenty-six bodies have been taken from the flood and others are still coming. The whole block was swept.

The Eric Railroad-English Investigation of Its Affairs-French Affairs -The Czar.

LONDON, May 16. In the House of Commons, upon the question of granting leave of absence to Capt. Tyler to examine into Eric affairs, one speaker thought it derogatory to the national dignity to send out a government officer to investigate what it termed "a bankrupt transatlantic concern," although it was satisfactory to know that the Erie road was in good hands. Sir C. B. Adderly, President of the Board of Trade, and Sir Stafford Northcote, maintained that the permission given to Capt. Tyler to absent himself from his duties was proper, and the subject was dropped. A special from Paris to the Standard says if the Ministry is defeated Buffet, President Mutiny on Shipboard-No Lives Lost -What the Officers Say. CAIRO, May 16.

An officer of the steamer James Howard reports that a mutiny occurred in that vessel yesterday and the deck crew virtually had possession of the boat until an armed force from here boarded her. The negroes drove the officers up stairs and warned them not to come down or land the boat. As no arms were to be had the officers made no resistance, but the boat was run near enough to the wharf boat at Hickman to throw off a telegram to the U.S. Marshal at Cairo, asking for a posse to meet the boat below the city.

Breaking of the Reservoir at Goshen -Further Particulars of the Disaster-The Loss of Life and Prop-

SPRINGFIELD, May 16. Reports of the disaster in consequence of the breaking away of a reservoir at Goshen, Hampshire county, this morning, come in thick and fast. The damage to property must be hundreds of thousands of dollars, while it is impossible to estimate accurately the loss of life. · Among those drowned at Williamsburg was the wife of H. C. Frost. At Leeds Capt. Vaugh and Mrs. H. F. Quigley and daughter were in a house which was swept away and they were drowned.

The loss of life by the flood is estimated

At Haydenville, Samuel Hayden, Gene & Co.'s factory, including their office and the Haydensville Savings Bank, with a large amount of funds, and also Loomis' Hotel, were swept away.
At Leeds, Mr. Warren's button factory was swept off entirely, taking the Canal R. R. bridge in its course. It stopped at the South Street bridge. The morning train from New Haven is stopped at East Hampton. The flood is now subsiding. The Goshen reservoir covered 150 acres of ground, at an average depth of 30 feet. It was drawn upon in dry times for the supply of the mills at Williamsburg.

The Haydensville and Florence reservoir was constructed about twelve years ago, in order to get a reliable supply of water for the various factories on Mill river, which is one of the most fickle and uncertain of streams, liable alike to floods and almost utter drought. It was built by a company of capitalists, who were interested in various manufacturing enterprises on the stream and has caused them apprehensions of disaster several times. Last year, how-ever, it was repaired at a heavy expense, and since then has been supposed to be, until now, tolerably secure, although known to be leaky.

this purpose. The Czar went to Chiselhurst this morning to see ex-Empress Eugenia. Upon his return this afternoon he will visit the house of Commons, and this evening his Majesty will be present at the Crystal Palace, where he will witness a grand display of fireworks gotten up for the occasion.

- Newbern Journal of Commerce: Next week the Radical Judicial Convention meets at Kinston to nominate a candidate for Judge in place of the present incumbent. The most prominent in this connection are Judge Clarke, A. S. Seymour and W. T. Faircloth. Each of these aspirants will go into convention with three of the nine votes pledged to them, and it may be that the friends of each will display such obstinacy that it will become necessary to agree upon an outsider. It is said that Thomas, just defeated at Golds-boro, will "allow" his name to be used. It is probable that Judge Clarke would have been his own successor had it not been for his Trenton "Railroad" speech. That arrayed the carpet bag element against him. Their influence may be assumed to be against him under all circumstances.

- In a leading article the Charlotte Chserver gives utterance to the following, which embodies so much of what we have long advocated: We want more uniformity in advertising rates; less "puffing," either for pay or without it; a greater abund ance of high-toned courtesy; a stricter adherence to the principles of Honor and Virtue; a more zealous devotion to the cause of truth; a clearer appreciation of the weighty responsibilities devolved upon those who wield this power of the types; a more ar-dent patriotism; a loftier spirit of independence; less personal abuse; less fawning around the feet of political, railroad and other magnates, and less truckling to men who wield great social, pecuniary, or political power; more justice in criticism, more impartiality in judging, a more determined grappling with the vital questions of the day, and a bolder, sterner, and more un-flinching hand in exposing public abuses, and tearing off the veils of hypocrisy from the faces of those who would deceive the

- Of the colored nominee of the Republican party in the 2nd District the Raleigh News gives the following account: John Hyman, the nominee, is some thirty years of age, was born and raised in Warren county, was the property of Frank Hyman, of Norfolk, Va., but was sold just prior to the war to a gentleman in Alabama returning to Warren county after the close of the war; and being a man of some edu-cation. he was put forward by the negrees of the county as their leader and was the first negro elected to the Senate of North Carolina, which position he has ever since occupied. His political course has been of such a character as to give him no reputation, while there has been nothing in him to really condemn. He has never made a speech in the Senate, has never taken any active part in any measure, although having been always a strict partisan. He is not a man of much ability, and in the U.S. House of Representatives will only act as a figure-head and a voter. It is hard to tell how his nomination was obtained, other than upon the ground that the blacks were determined to send one of their race from a District where they had a majority of some seven thousand, and Hyman was probably the strongest negro in the District.
