

OUTLINES.

An effort is making to have a meeting of the National Democratic Committee to disclaim sympathy with reported Southern outrages.

SOUTH SENSITIVE CONVENTION.

What It Proposes to Do—New Dodge of the South—The President and Cabinet to York Herald Washington Correspondence.

The Convention of Southern Republicans of the Southern States, including Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Kentucky, which has been called to meet at Atlanta, Ga., on the 12th of October, not only has the unqualified approval of the President and members of the Cabinet, as a movement calculated to do more to conserve the peace than any other yet inaugurated, but has also the indorsement of the Republican Congressional Committee, as well as that of prominent Northern Conservatives, who are most anxious that the political effect of exaggerated outrages may be stilled at once and the reaction of the agitators on both sides be understood in its true light.

In this Convention it is understood there will not be a single Federal office-holder, the object being to have a fair and truthful representation of the political and financial condition of the Southern States, and the reforms necessary to make the work of reconstruction complete and satisfactory to the entire people of the South and the nation. Hence it is determined that the delegates to this Convention shall be not mere politicians but such men as are entitled to respect and confidence by reason of their loyalty during the rebellion, and unbiased now by either Federal appointments or regard for Federal patronage. The time when the Convention is called is so near at hand that the duty of naming the delegates has been entrusted to the State Central Committees of their chairman.

If the Atlanta Convention, composed, as it is hoped it will be, of men commanding the respect of all classes of citizens in the Southern States, declares that the only object to be attained is the property of the South, and once more render its citizens innocuous and happy, it is believed the irreconcilable element who have been the agitators on one side while the advocates of "the best cause" have attacked them on the other. The President is pledged not to further Federal appointments in Southern States among the agitators, or among that class who have abused their official position from selfish and corrupt motives. That the object of the convention may not be misunderstood, or the meeting turned from the purpose for which it is called, is the intention of the President, Vice President, members of the Cabinet, especially the Secretary of the Treasury and Postmaster General, to be in Atlanta during the session of the Convention, together with leading statesmen and capitalists who desire to know the true condition of the South, and who have long sought the Southern people that they, too, have but one desire, and that a united and prosperous country.

The National Change in Vermont.

The Democratic gains in Vermont appear more notable as the result is figured out. A correspondent of the Boston Post, writing from Montpelier, Vt., sums up some of the more significant changes among the people. The capital of the State gives a Democratic majority for the first time since its present boundaries were designated in 1848. In the House the Democrats will have at least fifty-six members against twenty-two in the last Legislature, and in addition to the strictly party strength the correspondent mentions at least fifty so-called Republicans elected to the House who are more in sympathy with the Democrats than with the administration party.

The Lebban (Pa.) News.

The Lebban (Pa.) News contains the following startling information: "We are credibly informed by a gentleman that the family of Mr. Isaac Wagner, a well-known distiller of whiskey in East Hanover district, this county, some few years ago returned home from near Springfield, Ohio, about three weeks since. In a conversation he had with them yesterday they stated that after going from this county they went on a farm purchased by Mr. Wagner, within six miles of Springfield. The cause for their return is, as they stated, because Mr. Wagner was to be hanged to-day for the murder of an infant child of which he was the father. Rumors of his being the father of several children by women in his employ while residing here, were prevalent at the time, but their disappearance was never accounted for. Since his residence in the west he is alleged to have been guilty of the same things, and his last attempt at destroying the life of an infant was detected by his sons who brought him to justice. The excitement incident to the occasion brought out a mob, who attempted at lynching him, which was avoided by his confessing to having destroyed the lives of eleven illegitimate children, of which he was the father, at various times. Upon this confession he was sentenced to be hanged, and the day of execution is to-day. These are the facts as they have been given to us, and we publish them for what they are worth."

The Herald on the Situation.

We should either regard the South as a military conquest and govern it by proconsuls, or as a sovereign element of the Union and worthy of fraternal sovereign rights. If we cannot trust the Southern States to restore the military departments and send their generals down to command them. Such a change would be welcome in some respects, for there would certainly be no war between races, no legislative repudiation. If, on the contrary, we can trust the Southern States as sister sovereign commonwealths, then we must show a fraternal and courageous feeling.

What the New York Sun Thinks of It.

No law of the United States was ever called for the intervention of the President. Neither of the Governors made any demand for the aid which the constitution authorizes in certain contingencies. It was, therefore, a gratuitous, offensive, and unauthorized exercise of power, wholly prompted by a low partisan motive, and designed to intimidate the whites at the coming elections, whose success the Kelloggs, Spencers, Pattersons, and that tribe big on fear, in spite of the support of the administration.

The Savannahvertiser Republican.

The hope of reviving this paper, which was recently suspended and afterwards sold by the Sheriff, seems to have vanished. It is now announced that Mr. E. Beard, one of its late proprietors, who has been strenuously endeavoring to effect some arrangement with a view to republication, has given up the effort under the conviction that it is a hopeless task, and has gone North to engage in some other business. This leaves but one daily paper in the Forest City. Maintaining newspapers at the South, nowadays, is no child's play.

Spirits Turpentine.

The crops of Stahly county are unusually large. The turpentine crop is improved by painting the trees with a solution of sulphuric acid. Dr. John A. Collins, of Edfield, was quite severely hurt on Friday last by his horse running away from him while he was painting a tree.

We received a paper published in Washington by Dr. Patrick called the "African Repository." It takes the place of the "Woman's Right."

The Wake Sheriff Imbroglio.

So far as the county commissioners are concerned, was concluded Tuesday, Mr. Dunn qualifying as sheriff of the county. The Sheriff Sheriff Lee will at once take the matter before the courts. Noticing the fact that a large majority of the Democratic Conservative press are opposed to entertaining a convention proposition at this time, the Monroe County says: All necessary amendments to the constitution, which are many, can be made as the former amendments were, and we do not know but this will be the best way after all, all things considered. Constitutions things the people are afraid of, and they take long years of effort to get our present flagrant one thoroughly revised.

Fatal Accident.

A little son of Mr. William Shepard, of Middle Sound, named Henry, aged about 11 years, met with a fatal accident on Sunday last. The family were on a visit to a friend near Jacksonville, Onslow county, and attended church. During the services little Henry, accompanied by two or three other boys, unbitely a horse belonging to his grandfather and Henry mounted him, riding him to a well near for the purpose of watering him. The horse was a fiery animal when aroused, and upon being struck with a whip in the hands of the little fellow, darted off suddenly through the woods, throwing the child and breaking his neck. The bereaved family returned with the remains of their unfortunate child to Middle Sound, where the funeral services took place on Tuesday.

Portrait of Bishop Gibbons.

Mr. William Kopecke, a rising young German artist of Richmond, Va., has just completed a full length portrait of Right Rev. Bishop Gibbons, which, the Enquirer says, far exceeds the anticipations of both his friends and critics. The canvas measures some 68x37 inches. In composition the figure is strikingly happy. The figure is in full practical robes, and is easily and gracefully posed, but full of dignity in every line. The right hand rests lightly upon the baptismal font, while in the left is the open liturgy. The treatment of the background develops careful study and thought in the introduction of accessories.

The Case of James Heaton.

Yesterday, in accordance with a previous understanding, James Heaton, who had been convicted of certain riotous and disorderly proceedings on election day and appeared at the City Marshal's office and paid his various fines in all cases in which final judgment had been rendered. In another case, in which he had been bound over to the Superior Court, he was ordered to be given into the custody of the sheriff, who was to have taken his bond, but that official declined to have anything to do with the matter, on the ground that his tenure of office as sheriff had expired. Heaton was thereupon returned to the Mayor, who took his judgment bond in the sum of $500, with R. H. H. as surety, for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

The New River Canal.

The New River Canal, the flow of water would be reduced to 157 miles, and that the water in its exit to the sea would gain 331 miles. This would prevent freshets, and by continuing the Canal to the mouth of Goheen all the swamps and overflowed lands upon the North East river from Peggy's Island would be reclaimed; including Angola Bay and the great lines of swamps in Duplin county, that were contemplated to be reclaimed for the benefit of the Canal basin for the benefit of the North East river, and that the connecting swamps would be drained by smaller canals.
