VIEWS OF TWO PROMINENT MEN

We have received a private letter from a distinguished ex-Governor of North Carolina, in which occurs the following passage:

"The better opinion of our people here-and they are as true and intelligent as any in the State-seems to be that we should take on no extra weight, but should save ourselves for the great struggle in 1876. I concur fully in this judgment and for the sake of the great end am willing to details given by our Omaha corressuffer on a little while longer."

Hon. William Eaton, of Warren, one of the ablest and coolest public men of Eastern North Carolina, says, in replying to a letter from Senator Cooke, of Franklin, enquiring his views on the question:

I think that it would be premature and unwise at the next session of the Genera Assembly to agitate the question.

A bill for that purpose, if I have not mis taken the public mind, would be rejected All of the Radicals, and probably some o our friends, would vote against it, and a two thirds majority is not to be expected. Debtors who constitute a large class of our people, are extremely sensitive in reference to their homesteads and personal property exemptions, and it will be almost imposs ble to convince many of them that their rights in these particulars would not be endangered, however groundless may be their fears. The colored voters would be exceedingly uneasy about their equal rights and privileges with the white race, and although it is certain that a Convention would not, and could not, without a violation of the Constitution of the United States, invade these rights, still it would be hopeless to make them believe so.

The apprenensions of these two classe would be engendered by the harangues of unscrupulous demagogues, who would know themselves that there is not the slightest foundation for the alarm which they in

Some of the people would oppose a Convention in our present depressed financial condition on the score of expense, which would be much exaggerated for political

I feel unwilling to do anything which is evidently calculated to imperil the success of that party. No doubt whatever is entertained by me as to the pure and hono able intentions of those of our friends, who have solicited a Convention, some of whom have acquitted themselves nobly in the late contest, and I certainly mean to cast no reflection whatever upon their intelligence and worth; but they must permit me to say that in my judgment their course on this particular subject is precipitate and injudicious.

The failure of the Supreme Court to sustain the constitutionality of the amendments passed last year would in Mr. Eaton's opinion alter the case. He would then favor a Convention as a necessity. But he thinks the Court will decide that the amendments are constitutional.

The Next President.

Instead of speculating as to the man who is to be the next President of the United States, we had better be considering the principles and policy on which the anti-Radical elements of the country are to be crystalized for effective organization against the common enemy. There is a chaotic confusion in national polities just now which baffles all calculation as to the shape or strength of parties in the national campaign two years from now.

We hear this man and that man mentioned for the Presidency, as if we had a personal government dependent upon the caprice of the chief magistrate of the nation for the direction of its course, regardless of all established principles and in utter defiance of all constitutional limitations. The country is in need of a plain and positive policy, embracing the interests of all sections, founded upon the organic law of the Union as it now stands, tolerating no sectional prejudices, and encouraging a generous spirit of genoine friendship among all the people of all our country.

It is important, of course, as to the man who may fill the first office of the government. But it is more important that the principles represented by that man when he is declared the choice of the people should be such as to assure the country of peace, barmony, justice to all sections, and wise and liberal legislation for the general good of every State in the Union.

Our Conservatine party offers a broad basis to build upon.

The Spelling of hakespeare or Bacon. There was an ingenious gentleman in Philadelphia who published a few years ago a marvellous Shakespearian pamphlet. It consisted wholly of the name Shakespeare, spelled in over two thousand ways. There was Shakspeare, Shakespere, Shoeckspear, Sheakspare, Shuckspere, Shikespere, and almost everything but Spokeshire or Shyspoke. It looked like a list of letters written by over two thousand lunatics, transcribed by delirious postal clerks and put in type by a band indicated. They are supposed to be the of inebriated compositors. There will be a meeting of the Veterans of the Mexican War in Raleigh during the approaching Fair, says the News.

Unfounded Report.

A report having obtained circulation on the streets to some extent that a case of yellow fever had appeared at the Marine Hospital, in the outskirts of the city, we would state that we are authorized by Dr. J. There has not been a solitary case of the disease at the Marine Hospital or elsewhere in the city this season.

[Correspondence.] ROCKY POINT, NEW HANOVER Co., ) September 10th, 1874.

A. R. Black, Esq., Wilmington, N. C.:

DEAR SIR: On the occasion of your leaving the office of Sheriff, which you have filled with marked faithfulness, your old neighbors of Rocky Point and vicinity desire to testify their appreciation of your character and usefulness. They authorize us, therefore, to tender you the compliment of a public dinner at such early time as may suit your convenience. Exemplary and useful in private life, your public service, whether in the cause of education or as Commissioner and Sheriff of the county, has been distinguished for integrity, impartiality and efficiency. You have not been partisan either as a candidate or as an officer. Independent, standing aloof from political parties, you have run on your own individual strength and personal merits. Born of the people, you are of the people. The large vote, two thousand eight hundred and forty-five (2845), recently polled for you for Sheriff, shows that you received the support, as you are the well-known favorite, of the moving, intelligent masses of New Hanover county.

It is well, then, that you should meet around the festive board those who have known you longest, that they may make known their sympathy in your recent de-feat, and their undiminished confidence in you as a gentleman, citizen and officer, Very truly yours, &c., JAMES H. DURHAM, F. H. BELL, JOSEPH H. WESTBROOK, WILLIAM ROBETYSCH, S. S. SATCHWELL, JOHN H. HICKS, Com. of Correspondence.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 11, 1874. Messrs. Bell, Westbrook, Durham, Satchwell, Robitysch, Hicks and Gamberg: GENTLEMEN-Your kind invitation to be present at a dinner tendered me by my old neighbors and friends reached me this morning, and I may say at once that I have no language adequate to express the gratification it affords me, coming, as it does, as an expression of approval. The plaudit of "well done" is always acceptable to the hu-man heart—few, perhaps, deserve it. I only claim this: that I have endeavored to fill whatever place has been assigned me with honesty, impartiality and faithfulness. It is impossible for me now to indicate a time for the festivitives you are kind enough

I remain, with sentiments of the highest regard, the friend and obedient servant of each member of the committee and the dear old neighborhood that has shown me so much kindness. A. R. BLACK.
