On examination, his neck was found to be broken, and his horse was found loose within a few steps of the dead body. It is supposed that he fell off his horse and was killed by accident.

- Wilson Plain Dealer: George Dixon, white, who killed a negro man at Red Hill near Whitaker's on last Sunday week, was brought before Judge Seymour from Edgecombe last week, upon writ of habeas corpus with the hope of being allowed by Judge Seymour to give hail, which was refused and he was therefore taken back to Edgecombe jail. - A-heville Expositor: Last week

Rufus Miller, a cuizen of Asheville, was committed to jail on a charge of rape on Mrs. William Hall. The prosecutrix, Mrs. Hall, is the wife of Hall, now confined in jail on a charge of the murder of John Gillespie last week. This is quite a complication of charges. Miller, as we are informed, was authorized to arrest Mrs. Hall on the same charge of murder, and she alleges that while Miller had her under arrest that he forcibly assaulted her. As the matter is to undergo investigation in the court we will express no opinion.

Sudden Beath-Coroner's Inquest. Coroner Hewlett held an inquest yester day over the body of a colored infant, whose mother, one Violet Henry, lives near Rock bring. The evidence developed the fact that the child was born on Wednesday last; that on Thursday at 2 P. M. it appeared to be in excellent health, but that about sunset its mother gave it some tea and at 71 o'clock it was a corpse. After investigating the case as far as was possible the jury retrial before the Mayor's Court yesterday turned a verdict that the deceased child came to its death from causes unknown to the jury.

A Man Under the Bed-A Woman's

Firmness, &c.

A gentleman just from Wilson county gives us the particulars of quite an exciting incident that occurred near Black Creek, in that county, on Wednesday of this week. A Mr. Jesse Bass, a very worthy farmer, was out in his field, while his wife was attending to some duties in the kitchen. Finally she thought she heard some noise at the house and immediately started to ascertain the cause of it. Going into the house she could perceive nothing amiss and was about to conclude that her imagination had deceived her, when, in glancing about the room, she suddenly detected the presence of a man under the bed. She didn't faint. she didn't scream, nor she didn't go into hysterics, but she did what any other sencible farmer's wife would have done under like circumstances. She walked cut of the room as if she had not noticed anything unusual, went into the passage and got her husband's gun, with which she returned to the room and, pointing it at the man, told him he must remain where he was until her "old man" returned. It seems, however, that the man under the bed had prepared himself for such emergencies, as, reaching his hand behind him, he deliberately drew a pistol and presenting it at the lady got from under the bed and slipped out of the door. During this time Mrs. Bass, who had naturally become somewhat frightened, did not pretend to molest the fellow, who proved to be a colored man; but as soon as he cleared the door she discharged both barrels of the gun at him, but with what effect is not known. As she fired, however, he dropped a tin box filled with some articles which he had taken from the house and also a whiskey flask. The latter was subsequently identified by the stopper which was in the flask when it was picked up. This, of course, will prohably lead to his ultimate arrest, and we learn that at last accounts the neighbors were in hot pursuit of him. Previous to the fellow's discovery under the bed he had burst open a trunk and taken the clock partially to pieces in his search for money, but luckily he did not obtain any. There have been many robberies in the neighborhood of Black Creek recently, one man losing as much as $200, and it is supposed this same individual has had a hand in all of them.

Alarm of Fire Yesterday Morning. Yesterday morning, about a quarter to ( o'clock, a room adjoining the kitchen of Dr. Henry Flanner, corner of Second and Mulberry streets, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was sounded and the engines were out on the streets, but before reaching the scene of the fire the flames had been extinguished by a few members of the Hook and Ladder Compony, including the foreman, and a number of citizens who lived in the neighborhood. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to have

Conscience Money. A member of a dry goods firm which did business in this city before the war found a drop letter in the postoffice vesterday, addressed to the now defunct firm, which, upon being opened, was found to contain used beense to retail spiriturene fiquors be fifty cents in ourrency, which the writer wen on to state was due by him or her before the war for articles obtained at their establishment. There are doubtless many of our old merchants who would be glad if the consciences of their creditors would trouble them in the same manner. And. by the way, if creditors' consciences worry them in proportion to the amount of their indebtedness, and the one that "ponied up" that fifty cents after so long a time was so operated upon, what must be the condition of those who owe hundreds of dollars?

U. S. Commissioners' Court. U. S. Commissioner Cassidey, who has removed his office to the new Postoffice building, had a white woman before his court yesterday on the charge of selling iquor in violation of the Internal Revenue laws. The evidence being deemed insufficient to convict the case was dismissed.
