O'Conor vs. Johnson.

Charles O'Conor, in a letter to the New York Herald, reviewing the argument of Reverdy Johnson on Louisiana, says: "The single point in issue between Mr. Johnson and myself is whether an Executive error, such as he says the President committed in stifling the legitimate voice of Louisiana and placing a usurper in the chair of State, binds the President himself, and makes him a sort of liegeman, so that, willy nilly, he must thenceforth be ever ready to come at the call of the usurper, and with the whole Executive power of the Union crush all local opposition. The illegitimacy of Kellogg's original claim is asserted by Mr. Johnson with the concurrence of nearly every intelligent and disinterested person having knowledge of the subject. This should be kept in view, since much is always gained in discussion by confining the issue to its own precise limits. One advantage here is that it will enable those learned jurists who may think Kellogg was duly elected to examine, and without the excitement of passion or partiality to form an independent opinion concerning Mr. Johnson's dogma, that Executive resolutions in such a case are irrevocable." Mr. O'Conor then proceeds to combat to show that the President can and should reconsider his decision.

The Herald, in reviewing this letter, remarks: It may perhaps seem presumptuous in us to hold decided opinions on points which divide these great lights of jurisprudence. But, since they differ, our freedom of judgment is not restrained by authority, and when learned doctors disagree, reason and not authority must be the umpire. Before proceeding to state additional reasons in support of the views we expressed at the outset of this controversy, we trust we may be pardoned for criticising one point made by Mr. O'Conor in the letter printed to-day. He says that the constitution "confers no express power on the President or even on Congress; it is the 'United States' that must protect the true State governments 'from domestic violence," Mr. O'Conor seems to have overlooked one of the most important, and, as regards this controversy, most pertinent provisions of the Federal constitution. We claim no originality for the point we are about to state. It is often presented in the works of Mr. Calhoun, with an emphasis which attests the importance which that profound constitutional reasoner attached to it. The point is that every undisturbed or unassignower conferred on the Federal Government is vested in Congress. The provision which that great statesman and masterly logician perpetually quoted in support of this view is this:-"Congress shall have power to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying fish-trout 25 cts. per bunch, mullets and all others vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or any department or officer thereof." The argument which Mr.

Calhoun deduced from this part of the constitution admits of no suc-

the mode of their exercise, being to Congress. No other department or officer of the Federal government can take any step toward putting them in execution until Congress shall have passed laws conferring the requisite authority. This seems so plain on the very face of the constitution that the opinion of Mr. Calhoun, who laid such a constant stress upon it, can add nothing to its intrinsic force.

A New Confidence Dodge. A man from Brown Marsh, who had the misfortune to be possessed of a club-foot, was on a visit to this city a few days since when he met a colored boy on the street who wished to "show him a thing or two." The boy produced a cigar case, opened it and showed the man that it contained a quantity of tobacco. The boy closed the box and offered to bet the Brown Marsh man $5 that the tobacco was in the box. The man said of course it was. "Well, I'll bet you $5 there is no tobacco in the box, then!" replied the boy. Done, said Brown Marsh. At this point another boy stepped up and said he would hold stakes. The money was put up, he opened the box and there was no tobacco to be seen. The same could be said of the two precocious youths in the short space of half a minute. and Brown Marsh, (with his club-foot) not being able to give chase, was minus his five dollars. The box or case of course had a false bottom, the one used having a spring to it, which, when pressed, holds one of the drawers in place and permits the other (or false one) to be drawn out.

Fred. Smith, charged with cursing and swearing and other disorderly conduct on the streets, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

Annie J. Speight, charged with disorderly conduct in two cases, gave bond for her appearance when required.

A Difficulty Quashed.

Two colored men by the name of David Walker and Collie Taylor got into a diffi culty at the corper of Second and Market streets last night, and the former, who had seized a large rock, was about to demolish the latter, when a policeman appeared on the ground and took them both into custody. They were carried to the guard house and both recognized, Walker as principal and Taylor as a witness against him, to appear before the Mayor's Court tomorrow morning.

THE TOLLEY GUN.-COPY OF TESTIMONIAL. HUDSON CITY, N. J., Sept. 30th, 1874.-MESSRS. J. & W. Tolley-29 Maiden Lane, New York:-The 10-guage Gun No. 3078 I ordered from you gives me entire satisfaction. I was very exacting when ordering the Gun, but must say that you have more than fulfilled what I required of you. I have shot several breech-loaders by first-class makers, and your gua beats them all for beauty and workmanship. As for shooting qualities, your gun shoots stronger and more even than any gun I ever shot. I have shown it to several good judges (including first-class gunmakers) and all agree that the action is very strong and durable, and that the gun is one of the best they ever saw. I have made some very long shots with it, using only 3% drs. of powder, which is all your gun requires. I have shot it at a targat according to the rules of the Turf, Field and Farm trials, and the average of 6 shots at 40 yards is: Left-pattern, 169; penetration, 38; right-pattern, 175; penetration 39; using 31/2 drs. powder. Now I am sure such a gun is seldom met with, and am very proud to be the owner of it. But the real test of your gun is in the field-there it excells all others, killing cleaner and handsomer than any gun I ever saw, as you assured me they would. Both paper and metal shells work splendidly. Gentlemen, I have to offer you my very best thanks, and will recommend your guns to all my friends.

Yours Respectfully,
HENRY LORIOT.
