By Mr. Tate, a resolution to appoint a joint select committee to take a list of bonds and coupons in Treasurer's office. Referred.

By Mr. Patton, a bill giving a right of redemption to debtors whose real estate has been sold under executions, mortgages and deeds of trust. Referred.

AMNESTY.

The Amnesty bill of Mr. Staples, being House bill No. 2, came up as the unfinished business of Wednesday. The bill is briefly explained as follows:

The Amnesty Act, passed by the Legislature of 1872-73, exempted certain persons who were actually present and participating in the commission of certain crimes therein named from the provisions of the bill, while it pardoned an extended amnesty to certain persons who, although they may have aided and abetted, directed, and in fact, entirely controlled the perpetrators of these crimes in their action, if they were not actually present at the commission of the offence, they were not punishable.

Mr. Staples' amendment to the Amnesty bill provides pardon and amnesty to all persons, whether actually present or not, who were connected with the various secret political societies up to the year 1871, and as such committed offences against the laws of the State, with the exception of the crime of rape.

Mr. Staples advocated the passage of the bill at considerable length, in which he detailed the many advantages that would arise from the act by relieving the heavy burden that now oppresses many of our best citizens, &c.

Messrs. Boyd and Spears followed Mr. Staples in advocacy of the bill. Mr. Barnett offered an amendment to exclude from its provisions "murder."

The question was elaborately discussed by Messrs. Boyd and Moring in favor of the original bill and Mr. Blythe in opposition.

The amendment was voted down 70 to 27.

The yeas and nays were demanded on the second reading of the bill, which passed by a strict party vote, with the exception of Messrs. Boyd, Mizzell, Elliott and Norment (republicans,) who voted in the affirmation, and Mr. Carson (conservative) who voted in the negative.

The Craven tax collector was allowed until March 1, next, to settle.

Senate bill to allow Clifton Ward, late sheriff of Sampson, to collect arrears of taxes for the year of 1873, passed its reading.

Mr. Norment complained of the News reporter.

Mr. Pinnix said that in justice to the reporter of the News who set in this House with sealed lips he would say that he had carefully read the report in the News and he could not see the injustice complained of. As far as the gentleman's attack on the Democratic party was concerned, he thought the reporter could have made it stronger by reporting his remarks in full.

Mr. Norment was willing to leave the matter with the reporter.

Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Diamond Rings Stolen.

On Wednesday a fashionably-dressed man entered T. D. Byrmer & Co.'s jewelry store, Broadway, New York, and asked the clerk to show him some diamond rings. Two plates of rings were shown him, and he examined them. He requested the clerk to put a number of the rings in a better light, as he designed to test them. Seemingly not satisfied with the selection, he asked to be shown some rings of greater value, and while the clerk was looking for another plate of rings another man called upon Mr. Byrmer and inquired the price of a handsome bronze clock. Seemingly pleased he said that he would call again with his wife, and quietly walked out. A few minutes later the clerk returned with the rings, and not seeing either the plates or his customer, asked Mr. Byrmer whether he had bought a ring. Mr. Byrmer, thunderstruck at the question, asked the clerk what he meant. The story was soon told, and the clerk became aware that the firm had suffered a loss of $10,000.

The Virginia Delegation in the Next Congress.

The Virginia delegation in the next Congress will be the best for many years. Walker, Tucker, Douglas and Goode are all men of unusual ability, and orators of a high grade, while Harris, Hanton and Cabell are men of sterling integrity and excellent repute. Prof. Tucker now makes his first appearance on a national field. He was attorney general of Virginia before the war, but has kept out of politics and devoted himself entirely to his profession as a lawyer. At present he is a successful attorney, and in charge of the Law School at the Washington and Lee University. Like Prof. Seelye, of Massachusetts, Prof. Tucker was nominated without his knowledge or consent. He is reported the best public speaker in the South, and while eminently practical, is a humorist. The new Senator from Virginia, Robert E. Withers, is a capable man, and enjoys the confidence of all his constituents.

U. S. Commissioner's Court—Arrest on a Serious Charge.

Capt. Geo. B. Weaver, of the wrecked Schr. C. S. Groves, who, with his crew, were picked up at sea and brought to this port by the British Brig Maria Lamb, an account of which appeared in our last, was arrested yesterday, on an affidavit sworn out by Prestley Wilson, one of the crew, before U. S. Commissioner J. J. Cassidy, charged with causing the loss of his vessel. The following is a copy of the affidavit:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Eastern District of North Carolina. } Be it remembered that this day, before me, the United States Commissioner in and for the Eastern District of the State of North Carolina, came Prestley Williams, who being by me duly sworn, did depose and say that he was the steward of the American vessel called the C. S. Groves, whereof Geo. B. Weaver was the master; that on or about the 16th day of November, 1874, said vessel then being on the high seas, the said Geo. B. Weaver did wilfully and corruptly cast away the said vessel, which he was a part owner, with intent and design to prejudice the other owners and the person or persons who had underwritten policies of insurance on said vessel. PRESTLEY WILSON, Deponent.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 28th day of November, 1874. J. J. CASSIDY, U. S. Commissioner.

The statement was to the effect that the vessel left Norfolk for Demarara with a load of staves; that she got ashore twice while entering the harbor of the latter port, by which she sustained considerable damage, resulting in leakage, &c.; that no repairs were put upon the vessel while at Demarara, but after discharging cargo the vessel sailed for Navassa Island to load with guano for Wilmington; that it was found necessary to put into Nassau in distress; discharged part of the cargo and went into the dry-dock for repairs; that upon being launched the vessel was still in an unseaworthy condition; reached Navassa Island safely, loaded and sailed for Wilmington. It was further stated by Wilson, and the remainder of the crew, five in number, all of whom were present, that the Captain was frequently incapacitated for duty on account of indigestion in intoxicating liquors; that on Monday, the 16th inst., a gale of wind came on, and that about the same time a brig (which afterwards proved to be the Maria Lamb) was sighted in the distance, under very light sail, the schooner, in the meantime, carrying all of her canvass; that the gale continued to increase in violence, that the schooner was kept under full canvass, with the exception that a reef was taken in the mainsail; finally both masts were carried away, one being severed near the cross-trees and the other about one-third down; that the wreck was cleared and the pumps put to work, but there was very little water in the hold and in fifteen minutes the pumps sucked; that about this time the captain went below and packed up certain articles that he wished to take with him and ordered the boat to be got in readiness for abandoning the vessel, in the meantime a signal of distress being hoisted to the stump of one of the masts; that just before leaving the vessel the pumps were again tried and in a very few minutes the water was all discharged; that they (the crew) then got into the boat, in obedience to the Captain's orders, and abandoned the vessel, the captain and men being soon after picked up by the Brig Maria Lamb.

A further examination of the case was postponed until Monday morning, and is meantime Capt. Weaver was ordered to be confined in jail.

The mate of the wrecked vessel was summoned to appear as a witness in the case at the investigation on Monday, but objected to doing so, giving as an excuse that he had a chance for leaving the port before the examination would come off and he should make use of it, or words to that effect, whereupon a warrant was issued for his detention.

Wilmington Library Association.

We are informed that it is the purpose of the Library Association to institute a course of free lectures during the present winter. That by the Rev. Mr. Oertel on Thursday last was the first of the course, to be followed by others, it is hoped, at regular intervals. Invitations have been, or will be, extended to distinguished gentlemen which we trust they will find it agreeable to accept.

One of the objects of the Association is to furnish the public as well as its members with the means for enjoyment and culture, and the lecture course has been determined upon in furtherance of this. Not much else can be done at present, however, owing to its embarrassed financial condition. Large sums are due which cannot be collected while the actual revenues are barely sufficient to meet the necessary daily expenses. Many needed improvements have been of necessity postponed and the purchase of books suspended temporarily.

To induce an increased membership and thereby to provide a remedy for this state of things, the fee for admission has been reduced to one dollar ($1), the quarterly dues of $1 remaining unchanged.

The library contains upwards of 3,000 volumes of standard books, including the best of the modern works of fiction, while the reading-room is furnished with the leading daily papers, as well as a number of the best magazines and periodicals. The museum, too, is quite an attractive feature, in which will be found much to interest and instruct; and for those who prefer to pass their leisure in that way, chess and other innocent games are provided.

It is the intention of the Association to remove shortly from the present rooms to a location more desirable in every respect, and which will be so arranged as to make it pleasant and attractive. This can be done without increased expense, and, it is thought, will tend to add largely to the list of active members, particularly among the ladies, which is specially desired.

We think our citizens will appreciate, and lend their aid to, these efforts of this deserving association to extend its usefulness.

Extensive Robbery on a Steamboat—Part of the Money Recovered—Arrests on Suspicion.

We have known for a day or two past that quite an extensive robbery had occurred on the steamer D. Murchison, while on the trip from this place to Fayetteville, on Wednesday last, but have withheld the facts for prudential reasons. It seems that the boat was stopped at some point on the river for the purpose of landing a lady passenger, Capt. Garrison accompanying her some distance. In the meantime the hands were directed to gather moss on the shore, and it was during this interval that some person or persons of those remaining on the boat went to the Captain's desk, got the key of the safe, unlocked it and took therefrom a package of money amounting to $5,000, which had been forwarded by Messrs. Williams & Murchison to some party in Fayetteville, after which the safe was relocked and the key returned to the desk. The money was not missed until the boat arrived at Fayetteville, when circumstances which came to the knowledge of Capt. Garrison led to the arrest of Perry Cotton, Assistant Pilot, and the freeman, known on the river by the appellation of "Big Allen," who were lodged in jail. A colored boy employed on the boat was also held until the examination came off. Subsequent to the arrest of these parties a portion of the missing money, amounting to $2,500, was found secreted in what is known as the "dome house," which would lead to the impression that there were two persons concerned in the robbery and that the money was divided between them.

The trial of the parties mentioned was to have taken place at Fayetteville on Friday.

The Berger Family.

The amusement of a young public will be in mind that the Berger Family Swiss Bell Rings will give two of their magnificent entertainments at the Opera House in this city commencing with to-morrow (Monday) evening. The reputation of the Bergers is so well established that it would seem superfluous to discount upon the merits of this really excellent company. They have drawn crowded houses elsewhere in their travels and will doubtless meet with the same success here. None will deny that they deserve it.

Civil Service.

The various mail agents on the railroads connecting with this place have been undergoing a rigid examination here during the past week under the civil service regulations, with reference to the proper and systematic distribution of the mails. They will meet the Committee here. The Committee on the part of the Company consists of Hon. R. R. Bridgers and Messrs. W. T. Walters and B. F. Newcomer.
