Another new paper. It seems, too, to be a Vidette to the grand journalistic corps of reinforcement for North Carolina's Centennial year. The Vidette is published at La Grange by Merss. Preston W. Wooley and Starkey F. Gardner. Mr. Wooley will superintend the political department; Mr. Gardner, well known in this section, the literary and general news departments. We hope the new paper will flourish and grow fat.

The Woollen Manufactures of California. While our manufacturers are complaining of depression and curtailing production, it is refreshing to hear encouraging news from the Pacific coast, free from the discontent which has come to be chronic at the East. so long have complaints been indulged in that it is now very difficult to get at the actual facts of any industry, for all are "depressed"-it is the fashion. The San Francisco Call gives some valuable information as to the rapid progress of the woollen manufactures of that State, from which we learn that the constantly increasing home and Eastern demand has necessitated an enlargement of nearly all the factories on the coast -some nine in number-and excited an interest at many points of the State for the erection of new mills. In the next five years, it is estimated that the number of mills will be doubled in California and Oregon.-The warehouses of San Francisco now contain 27,000 bales of wool, in store, for the use of those mills, and there is room for at least a dozen more mills in California alone. It is estimated that California imports from ten to twelve millions of dollars worth of woollen goods, while the factories of the coast now turn out only $3,000,000 worth, with a consumption of about $3,000,000 pounds of material. As yet these factories have not attempted to compete with the finest qualities of French and English cloths, but they manufacture lower grades, which have a popular demand and are extensively sold, both at home and abroad.

The Dead of the Year.

The necrology of the year just passed away does not contain so many distinguished men as that of 1873, but the list is still a long one, and contains many names linked with our* political and social history. Among them are Charles Sumner, ex-President Ellmore, ex-Senator Wigfall. Chief Justices Perley, of New Hampshire, and Thompson, of Pennsylvania; Hon. Ezra Cornell, Mayor Havemeyer, Admiral Buchanan, President Thompson, of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Rev. Dr. Kirk, Elder Knapp, Rev. Drs. Carleston, Slicer and Marvin, Charles Astor Bristed, N. S. Dodge, Wm. A. Wheeler and Gerritt Smith.

Our Railroad Building.

In the whole country in 1873, not-withstanding the panic, there were built, 3,900 miles of railroad, while in 1874 but 1,825 miles were constructed, the longest and most important being that of the Chicago division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, two hundred miles of which were completed during the year.

Probable Homicide.

On Monday of last week, at Point Caswell, in this county, some misunderstanding occurred between a colored man by the name of Elijah Lamont and a colored woman named Grace Watson. The difficulty originated in front of the store of Mr. L. Vollers, and finally led to a blow on the part of the man, which knocked the woman down. She, when rising, struck Lamont with a piece of hoop, when she ran behind the store, followed by her masculine antagonist. Here the parties in and about the store lost sight of the two and saw nothing further that transpired. A number of men on a flat close by, however, said that after chasing the woman to the rear of the store Lamont hurled two bricks at her, which struck her and probably caused her death, which ensued soon afterward. The above, as we understand it, is the substance of an affidavit made by a resident of Point Caswell before Justice Cassidey, yesterday afternoon, upon which a warrant was issued and placed in the hands of the Sheriff for the arrest of the alleged murderer.

An inquest was held over the body of the unfortunate woman by Special Coroner Mack Horrell, appointed for the purpose, but the verdict of his jury which indicated ber death from natural causes, seems not to have been at all satisfactory to the community at large.

OBITUARY: Julia Emma Bowden is dead! How sad will this intelligence to all who knew her. Tender and gentle in her ways, loving and kind to those with whom she associated, she entwined herself around the hearts of all so that none knew her but to love her. How truly has it been said that "She was The Pure of the Earth," and this by those who knew her best. In early life she gave her heart to God, conse crated her life to life service and was ever found a loving example of Christian Virtue, faithful to her hurch, faithful to her Sunday School, faithful to the friendship entrusted to her, faithful in her family relations, faithful to her God, a Christian fitted for that higher life above. God in His providence yesterday morning, at 5% o'clock, bade her come to Him, and thus after having suffered weeks of affliction without a murmer she answered the summons and "breathed her life out sweetly there," impress ing us with these words.

How blest the righteous when he dies!
When sinks a weary soul to rest,
How mildly beam the closing eyes!
How gently heaves th' expiring breast! In the little family circle there is a "vacant chair" in the Sunday School class there is a vacant seat, in all the relations of life there is a vacant place, but thanks be unto God these places so well filled here have prepared her for all those golden treasures which our Heavenly Father has in reserve or His finally faithful.
