He argued that the bill was dangerous to the interests of the people of the whole State and against the fundamental principles of Democracy. It was a thrust at civil liberty continued his argument for th space of forty-five minutes, stating in the course of his remarks that he joined the Republican party because of the reconstruction acts, and he warned the Senate that this step might lead to bloodshed.

Mr. French favored this bill. He reviewed the workings of the reconstruction acts, the evils it had inflicted upon the people of the South, the degradation it had brought to the Anglo-Saxon ruce to which the Senator from New Hanover belonged, ud the death-blow it had given to vil liberty, and asked if he who had no to the support of the Padia acts had any right to claim that he was now the peculiar champion of civil liberty. The gentleman had warned the Senate that this step might lead to bloodshed and had even threatened that the strong arm of the Federal Government might be interposed, and yet this Senator preached of civil liberty. The Senate was not to be frightened from doing what it deemed it had the Constitutional right to do, and if blood was to be shed it could be done only by the gentleman's own party. The General Assembly had the Constitutional right to grant, amend or repeal all charters within the State, and this Legislature had the right to give the relief asked by the down-trodden people of Wilming-

The bill passed its second reading by a vote of 34 to 11. Mr. French moved to suspend the rules and place the bill upon its third reading.

Mabson, colored, opposed the mo-tion to suspend. He had heard Democrats in Wilmington assert that they would have control of the city at all hazards, and he believed they were prepared to execute this threat. The passage of this bill would, in his opinion, bring about bloodshed, notwithstanding the Ku Klux Klan had been done away with.

Mr. Bell stated he didn't think any body was frightened.

The rules were suspended and the bill put upon its third reading. Mr. French called the previous

The New City Bill. Bill to amend the charter of the City of Wilmington in the upper house of city of Wilmington was considered. the Legislature last Thursday, was quite animated. The bill was opposed by Senator Cantwell, who was assisted by Mabson, colored, from Edgecombe. The champion of the measure, Col. French, of Robeson, made a strong argument. He contended that the Constitution of the State gave the Legislature an undoubted right to grant, amend and repeal all charters within the State and said that it would exercise this right, regardless of threats from the Repub-cers. He was willing to grant the property-holders of Wilmington a city and county bills were not taken up in cost would Brooklyn pay? Will some good

Went on his Way Rejoicing.

The man named James Hamilton, who was arrested a few days ago on suspicion of obtaining money under false pretences, was released yesterday, after a hearing. The testimony was not deemed sufficient to support the charges against him. Some of the gentlemen who had listened to his tale of educational aspirations, his efforts for the poor, or his story of disinterested hardship in collecting money for schools, &c., appeared and testified against him. The good people gave generously, and now they have concluded that the sweet mouthed student was a fraud and the heaviest sort of a fraud. However, when the order for his release come he straightened himself up, dusted his hat and put it on, tied up his faithful umbrella, picked up his carpet-bag, bid the janitor an affectionate adieu, and casting his youthful eyes in a lingering glance around his temporary abode while in Wilmington, he was gone. of 1873, allowing Knights to belong to more than one Lodge, was repealed. The Grand Lodge decided that Subordi nate Lodges could not require dues from Pages or Esquires. After transacting some private business, the Grand Lodge adjourned at 24 o'clock to meet in June, 1876.

In the afternoon the members of the Grand Lodge visited the different places of note, and during the time were enlivened by Mr. D. J. Aaron, of Myrtle Lodge, in his Dutch songs and dialogues.

The supper on Wednesday night was one of the grandest affairs that has ever taken place in the city. The National Hotel was crowded with the Knights and their invited guests. The tables were beautifully arranged and the supper room decorated with evergreens. The entire affair was gotten up in a style of magnificence that reflected credit upon those having it in charge. Noticeable among the addresses that were delivered were those of Messrs. John Nichols, Edwin W. Kerr, C. M. Busbee, Dr.

Grissom and Maj. Seaton Gales. The toast of the guests to Centre Lodge No. 3, was proposed by Mr. W. H. Gerken. The representatives from this city arrived here yesterday evening delighted with their trip, and were loud in their expressions of the kind treatment they had received at the hands of the Knights of Raleigh. The Play To-Night. This week Edwin Adams and his troupe have played "Enoch Arden" on the Richnond, Petersburg and Norfolk boards. We condense from the papers of the former two cities some of the criticisms of the

The Richmond Dispatch says of the first night's performance: "Mr. Edwin Adams may well feel complimented at the audience which last night welcomed him back among old friends and admirers. It was the largest that has been assembled this season at a dramatic entertainment, and comprised an unusually large proportion of our fashionable people, and nearly a quorum of each house of the General Assembly." The Richmond Enquirer: "Mr. Adams has made the part of Enoch Arden. It is thoroughly his own, and in it he has justly met the approbation of the most appreciative. The high dramatic plane upon which the role now stands is due to Mr. Adams' efforts, and there is no standard of comparison by which to judge him in it, save the broad one of dramatic acting as a particular school. Tried by this test, we find a finish and a force in his impersonation that ranks him as a perfect artist." The old and staid Whig says: "The dramatic critics everywhere have pronounced him the only Enoch Arden of the American stage, and his friends in Richmond are right in ranking his performance of the part with the Rip Van Winkle of Jefferson and the Luke Fielding of Couldock."

Of the performance in Petersburg the Index-Appeal writes: "A splendid house greeted Mr. Edwin Adams at the Academy of Music last night, on his appearance as Enoch Arden. The body of the hall and the first gallery were crowded-many persons being compelled to stand. * * Mr. Adams' acting shows feeling and sympathy, and combining as he does a rich, deep, musical voice with a manly bearing, he is the very personation of a hero."

The News says the rendition of the play Thursday night exceded all expectation. We quote literally: "Mr. Adams, by means of a certain genius, has amplified the conception of the poet, and imparted to it a vividness and a reality which will be sought in vain in the tranquil atmosphere of pure poetic narration."

New Bucket Company. We are glad to chronicle the fact that new Bucket Company has been formed by a number of young men residing in the Fifth Ward of this city. They already number fifty members, and they will doubtless do good service at all future conflagrations at which their efforts may be enlisted

The organization is to be known as Fifth Ward Independent Bucket Company No. 1. At a meeting held on Wednesday night the following officers were elected: F. M. James, Captain.

Ed. Griffith, First Assistant, Bryant Swann, Second Assistant. L. H. Mann, Treasurer. J. G. Darden, Secretary. A number of buckets have been pur chased and the company is about fully accontered and ready for service.

Mayor's Court. The following cases were disposed of yesterday morning:

James Hamilton, obtaining money under false pretenses, was discharged. John Scott was arraigned for larceny and bound over to the Superior Court in the sum of $100.

A. Nelson, drunk and disorderly. Fined $5 and costs.

The Fire in Sumter.1 We learn further of the fire in Sumter of which we spoke in yesterday's issue. The fire originated at about 11 o'clock on Wednesday night in the rear of a store and before it could be extinguished it consumed the stores of A. A. Solomon, Morriss, Ryttenburg and one other, also the kitchen of Todd. The loss amounts to $70,000. Insured for $49,000.

OBITUARY.

William C. Frederick was born in Duplin county, N. C., 10th May, 1849, commenced his education at the school of Mr. Morrissey, and received his Diploma at Baltimore Commercial College in 1857. His health, hitherto robust and vigorous began to fail about four years ago; the approaches of that dread disease consumption being unmistakable, and it was deemed advisable to remove to some more elevated and healthy region. Lilesville, Anson county was selected, and in here September '72, he commenced business with his father N. Frederick, Esq. Soon the benefits of this change were apparent, and his many friends held high hopes of his entire recovery, but the insidious destroyer was still at his work, and during last winter it became evident that his triumph was only a question of time. at his work, and during last winter it became evident that his triumph was only a question of time. All that the science and skill of our best physicians, secured by the attentions of attached friends and devoted parents could do was done, but in vain. On 22 January, 1875, he died. As a business man he was of rare capacity and promise. We mourn his loss sincerely—for he was a genial, gentle, kind, generous, openhearted man, whose every word and act in that friendly and social intercourse which he so loved, seemed to be the prompting of a noble spirit.
