Easter Sunday. The Festival of Easter was celebrated the various churches in which it is observed, on Sunday, with, if possible, more than usual interest. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather large congregations were in attendance. At St. James' (Episcopal) church the most prominent feature was a new and handsome Lecturn, composed of solid brass, ordered direct from Europe and used for the first time on this occasion as an Easter offering. The decorations were profuse and very handsome. In rear of the pulpit was the inscription, in beautiful lettering, "The last Enemy that shall be destroyed is Death." Over this inscription was a large cross, set in a mound of flowers, with a large and magnificent calls lily rising from the base, and above the cross was a crown composed of evergreens and beautiful flowers. Each corner of the chaucel railing, and the Baptismal font, were also handsomely decorated, while other portions of the building were rich in floral adornments, festoous and wreaths of evergreens, &c. Bishop Atkinson conducted the morning services and confirmed fourteens persons, Dr. Watson officiating in the evening.

On Good Friday the decoration of St Paul's Evang, Lutheran Church were very handsome. The pulpit, altar and gas fixtures were adorned with moss and crape. In the rear of the pulpit was a large cross, which was duplicated by a small one in front of the same, both composed of moss and crape. On the wall, on the left of the pulpit, was the inscription: "It is finished," and on the right the same sentence, translated in German, "Es ist vollbracht," all in black letters of German type. On Sunday the decorations in this church were also very handsome and striking. The inscription, "The Lord is Risen Indeed." in letters of evergreen, adorned the wall, a portion of the sentence being on either side of the pulpit, and made a very fine appearance. Suspended above the pulpit was a - Both printing and ruling done handsome crown composed of evergreens, in the finest grades of copying ink at the while in the rear of the pulpit was a cross of the same material. Another cross, of smaller proportions, was displayed in front of the pulpit. festoons and wreaths of evergreen. St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church was also very tastefully decorated, particularly the communion table, Baptismal font and the window in the rear of the church, altogether having a very charming effect. The Reder, Rev. Mr. Ambler, officiated.

The prominent feature of St. John's Church was an Easter Offering composed of two handsome vases, which were filled with beautiful flowers. We were disappointed in not receiving a description of the decorations which was promised, but learn that they were much the same as those at St. James', being very handsome and tasty. The Rector, Rev. Mr. Patterson, officiated in the morning and Bishop Atkinson in the evening services, the latter confirming a number of persons.

We were also disappointed in our expectation of receiving a description of the decorations at St. Thomas' Catholic Church. We understand, however, that they were profuse and very handsomely and appropriately arranged. Rev. Father Gross officiated at this church.

Miss Anna Dickinson Coming.

From a note from Mr. O. G. Bernard. agent, we learn that Miss Anna E. Dickinson, the celebrated female lecturer and orator, will, early in April, make her first Southern tour, and will include this city in her route. Her subjects embrace 1. "Joan of Arc." 2. "What's to Hinder." The agent states that in a few days he will be able to name precise date of her projected visit to Wilmington. As an eloquent and popular speaker Miss Dickinson has attained a very wide and enviable reputation, which secures her large and appreciative audiences wherever she appears.

- Upward and Onward. This seems to be the motto of all the towns and villages on the Carolina Central. On a recent visit to Wadesboro, says the editor of the Polkton Ansonian, we were highly gratified to see so many evidences of improvement and progress. Her streets were thronged with wagons, and the sound of hammer and saw could be heard in every direction. We were glad to see it, for we are proud of the spirit which is waking up this old country. Give Wadesboro the C. & S. R. R., and new houses on her vacant lots, and a liberal dress of white lead, and Anson may well feel proud of her old bor-
- A Saturday Night Scrape. A warrant was issued by Justice Van-Amringe, on Saturday night, for the arrest to be (5) five feet gauge as it run into South of a young man by the name of John Hewett, charged with assaulting one James Miles and inflicting a wound on his head with a deadly weapon. Hewett was captured and lodged in jail, but was released on Sunday, on the application of his father, and recognized to appear before Justice VanAmringe's Court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Having failed to put in an appearance at the time specified another warrant was issued for defendant for contempt

The Bibernian Ball and Supper-

The Opera House last night wore a festive appearance, the occasion being the tenth annual supper and ball of the Hibernian Benevolent Association. The spacious hall was lighted up from dome to floor, and the brilliant gas jets shone in fascinating radiance upon the many colored banners that hung in lavish festoons around the walls. The music was all that could be desired to render the pleasure of the dancers most perfect. The committee showed by the perfection of the arrangements that no expense had been spared to render the occasion one fit to eclipse all its predecessors. We have seldom gazed upon a more joyous throng than that that crowded the ample floors and "tripped the light fantastic" until the "wee sma" hours. Erin's green predominated in the decorations and the beautiful banner of the Association hung suspended from the centre of the hall. We cannot forbear to speak in terms of fitting commendation of the really charm ing appearance presented by the ladies on the occasion. Suffice it to say that the entire affair was truly pleasant and was extremely enjoyable throughout. At about 12 o'clock supper was called. Two long tables filled with everything the most epicurean taste could desire were set upon the stage and when the scenes were shifted the arrays of eatables that were presented to the gaze of the worn and weary dancers was sufficient to recuperate their wasted energies at a glance. The guests being all seated at the tables, supper was served up by Collins in his usual satisfactory style. Capt. I. B. Grainger, the President of the Association, occupied the seat at the head of one of the tables, at the foot of which was seated Mr. J. H. Allen, the Vice President. Mr. John Dawson, the honorary President, occupied a seat at the head of the other table.

After the table was cleared the popping of champagne bottles ensued, and Capt. I. B. Grainger, who presided, announced the following regular toasts of the evening: 1. Ireland.

- Responded to by Mr. John Dawson 2. The Land of our Adoption. Responded to by Mr. F. H. Darby. 3. The Old North State.
- Responded to by Mr. J. W. Reilly. 4. Our Sister Societies. Responded to by Mr. Berry Gleaves.
- 5. Our Deceased Members. Responded to by Maj. James Reilly. 6. The Press.

- 7. The Ladies. Responded to by Mr. Wm. A Wright. 8. The City of Wilmington.
- Responded to by W. P. Canaday, Esq. After a sufficient time had been spent in reiterating the memories of "Old Ireland." and in response to the several toasts that were proposed over sparkling glasses the dance again ensued and was still at its height when we wended our way from the festive hall and turned our backs upon the gay assemblage, leaving them to dance the merry hours away until the first peep of dawn

- THE GAUGE QUESTION. We have a decided opinion that the State should assert its right to maintain uniformity of gauge in our railroads at all hazards. The State seems originally to have left the question of gauge to the first railroad companies, and they followed the custom then existing in England and in the Northern States of this country. We are informed that the Supreme Court ascertained that nine-tenths of the railroads in the world have
- A 4 feet 81 inch gauge!
 One of the Judges has been heard to remark that while there was no statute law making the gauge of the N. C. Road 4 feet 81 inches it was no doubt the policy and intention of the State to have the road built that gauge as it connected with only railroads of that gauge in the State.
- Dudley, Dickinson, Lazarus, Meares, Cowan, McRae and associates, in laying down the track of the Wilmington & Wel don Railroad established the North Carolina gauge and followed the well-known custem of the world as to the width of railroad tracks. When Ashe, Gilmer, Morehead, Fisher and their associates chartered and built the great State Railroad from Goldsboro to Charlotte, they never for a moment dreamed that it was necessary to say this road shall be of the same State gauge as the Wilmington & Weldon and Raleigh & Gaston roads, with which it connected on the East, as they did not believe she had a recreant son that would rather make it five (5) feet to connect with the existing gauge of the only railroad then running into Charlotte, its Western terminus, this being the South Carolina gauge. It - seems the Cape Fear and Obio rivers are the general lines of division of the gauge! There are but two lines of railroad in Var ginia with (5) five feet gauge-Mahone's line from Norfolk to Tennessee, and the Rich-mond and Danville, with the York River added, running from York River to Dan-The Piedmont in both States was allowed to be widened after the war because it belonged to the R. & D. A. R. This was a very unwise concession to that road, but was considered a part of the Virginia system and not of this State. For a similar consideration the Wilmington and Manchester Railroad, with only 60 miles in North Carolina, was allowed by special act broken somewhere and it was thought to be an advantage to have it broken here at Wil-
- For a similar reason the State has intended to have the change of gauge at Charlotte! And by what course of reasoning the Observer of that city has adopted the views of Maj. W. A. Smith and thinks a change of gauge by which a straight unbroken run can be made from Augusta on the one line and Atlanta on the other through to Richmond, will benefit Wilmington or Charlotte, we are unable to see.

 We refer to Maj. Smith's views in favor of a change all the way to Morehead City and West to Wolf Creek, to connect with

- return to the State gauge, and use all the legal power in his hands to that end. Let the gauge change at Charlotte and Wilmington and all the benefits of breaking bulk be ours-accrue to our State. Let the Railroads north of us change to our gauge if they desire our trade, as they will at no
- distant day. Reform must not go backwards. While, as we said, the Ohio river is the line of division between the roads of 4 feet 84 inchs and 5 feet gauge, yet several of the Kentucky Railroads are 4 feet 81 inches, and one running towards the Cumberland Gap from Cincinnati is of that gauge.
- The tendency of the change is not to a wider, but to a narrower gauge. You go ahead; the people demand it and will stand We are sorry to see the Asheville papers urging their people to follow the wide gauge to Richmond to trade there.

Facts for the People. BOSTON, Dec. 17, 1872.

- H. R. STEVENS, Esq.: DEAB SIR.—May 1 ask the favor of you to make my case public?

 In 1861, while on picket duty in the army, I was taken with a fit, which lasted all night. Was taken After this had fits every day, and was taken to New bern Hospital, and there treated by the attending physicians. I grew worse and was sent home. Remained in poor health for four years, treating with mained in poor health for four years, treating with many physicians and trying many remedies. Finally Scro-ula made its appearance on different parts of my body, and my head was so diseased as to be frightful to look at, and painfal beyond endurance. After trying the most emlnent physicians without improvement, a change of climate was advised. Have been to the Hot Springs in Arkansss twice, each time giving their treatment a thorough trial. Finally came back to Boston, discouraged with no hope of help. Life was a burden to one in my situation. My disease, and the effect of so much powerful medicine, had so damaged my system that the action of my stomach was apparently destroyed,
- action of my stomach was apparently destroyed, and my head was covered with ulcers which had in places eaten into the skull bone.

 The best physicians said my blood was so fall of places eaten into the skull bone.

 The best physicians said my blood was so full of poison they could do no more for me, About this time a friend who had been an invalid told me VEGETINE has restored him to perfect health, and through his persuasion I commenced taking VEGETINE. At this time I was having fits almost every day. I noticed the first good effects of VEGETINE in my digestive organs. My rood sat better, and my stomach grew stronger. I began to feel enceuraged, for I could see my health slowly and gradually improving. With renewed hope I continued taking the VEGETINE, until it had completely driven disease out of my body. It cured the fits, gave me good, pure blood, and restored me to perfect health, which I had not enjoyed before for ten years. Hundreds of people in the City of Boston can vouch for the above facts.

 VEGETINE has saved my life, and you are at liberty to make such use of this statement as pleases you be st, and I beg you to make it known, that other sufferers may find relief with less trouble and expense than I did.

 It will afford me great pleasure to show the marks of my disease or give any further information relative to my case to all who desire it.

 I am, sir, very gratefully, JOHN PECK,
