Church South, in Beaufort county, North Carolina, and applied for license to preach, but was refused on a charge of theft. He ran away in the night, leaving a wife and a helpless family of small children. He now claims to have been licensed to preach by the M. E. Church, in Illinois, and to have been ordained by Bishop Ames. He is evidently a great fraud.

Mr. Boynton's Dress.

Mr. Boynton's dress is mostly of India rubber, and is so arranged that it can be inflated and rendered not only huovant, but water-proof. Boynton, on his way over from New York; jumped overboard some ten or fifteen miles from the coast of Ireland, landing with safety. Recently, in London, he gave an exhibition on the Thames, he and two others floating from Westminster to Greenwich, the trio eating, drinking and smoking en route. More recently Boynton gave an exhibition in the presence of Her Majesty, in the waters of Southampton, which resulted in several snits of the dress being ordered for the royal yacht. The dress is so arranged that the wearer can carry not only a supply of provisions, but rockets and other signal apparatus. With a fair wind Boynton generally sets a small sail. He also uses a double paddle to propel himself along. He is an American, and is quite noted as a pearldiver and saver of life.

We are sorry to see it stated in the Alexandria Sentinel that General W. H. F. Lee is lying quite ill from indence in Fairfax county.

W. H. BERNARD, Esq.:—My Dear Sir: I am here on my way to Greensboro and will be absent all the week.

I see from THE MORNING STAR of to-day that we, with Maj. Hall McKoy, have been appointed a committee to raise funds for the Centennial celebration at Charlotte.

I do trust that you will make an earnest appeal to the good people of New Hanover county to do what they can to make this celebration a great success. Euery man, woman and child ought to feel it to be a privilege to do something in this behalf. It appeals most strongly to our State pride. It s an event of which our people ought to feel proud, and we ought not to permit this occasion to pass without a demonstration worthy of our good old State; and New Hanover ought to be next to Mecklenburg in her efforts for its success. Would it not be well to interest the ladies to have concerts, &c. for the purpose, and let the little girls organize and take round their subscription lists. Time is short and prompt action necessary.

ANNUAL REPORT:

WILMINGTON, April 18, 1875. Gentlemen of the Wilmington Produce Ex-

Another year has passed and on this, the second anniversary of your organization, I have again to congratulate you on its great and merited success. No one can doubt the fact that you have accomplished all that you hoped for, and that your organization has been of great benefit to the commerce of our growing city. Although you have passed through a season of great depression in all kinds of business you have meterially increased the trade of our port, and upheld the credit and long established reputation of our merchants, for fair and liberal dealings. I am happy to call your attention to the large increase in the receipts of cotton at this port over the preceding year-the increase amounting to fifty per cent.—which is much greater than at any other port in the United States.

The marked increase in the direct foreign shipments is also a subject for congratulation, the increase being two hundred per cent. on the year previous. The ruling prices for cotton here during the season will compare favorably with those paid in any other market on the coast. In this connection I would state that the Wilmington Compress and Warehouse Company has lately increased its capital stock very largely, and is now negotiating for a first class cotton press with the latest improvements and it will be equal in power and capacity to anything in the country. It will be ready for operation at the beginning of the next cotton season and will be able to offer extraordinary inducements to shippers in the way of handling cotton and putting it on board vessels at less expense than it can be done at any other port. With the advan-tage that we have in always being able to furnish vessels with naval stores for ballast at paying rates, we can certainly always pro-cure foreign freights of the lowest rates.— We have every reason to believe that the work now being done on our river and bar will give us a sufficient depth of water to enable a much larger class of vessels to load here without the expenses of lighter-The completion of the Carolina Central Railroad to Charlotte opens up a large

Owing to the general depression in trade, both in this country and in Europe, and the very low prices, our receipts of naval stores have somewhat decreased, but you can still justly claim to have the leading naval store market in the world. I believe that the members of your Exchange would do well to discourage the production of naval stores until the large stock now held in this country and abroad are diminished and better prices obtained. Notwithstanding the falling off in the receipts of naval stores the amount of tonnage at this port for the past year has fully equalled that of any previous year. I herewith hand you a statement of the receipts and exports of cotton and naval stores for the past two years to April 1st. :

Thanking you, gentlemen, on behalf of the Board of Managers and myself, for the confidence you placed in us, as well as for the courtesy and kindness you have always extended to us.

Mr. Richard W. Andrews, Secretary and Freasurer, submitted an annual report of the finances of the Exchange, accompanied by the report of the Auditing Committee, which, on motion, were received and ordered spread upon the minutes.

At 11 o'clock the polls were opened under the supervision of Messrs. J. L. Cantwell, A. A. Moffitt and J. D. Woody, the Inspection of Election, and remained open until 1 o'clock, when the ballots were counted and the following gentlemen declared the duly elected officers for the ensuing other Centennial Curiosity. We were shown yesterday, by Capt. W. A. Cumming, of this city, a most remarkable cup. It is made of horn, is lined with silver and banded near the bottom with a narrow strip of the same precious metal. The inside is much worn and battered and a crack, extending nearly from the top to the bottom, is noticeable. It is also somewhat worm-eaten at the bottom, but is still in a condition to be used. In dimensions change, were represented by one or more it is about three and a half inches in height, one and one-half inch in diameter at the bottom (which is narrowed down) and two and a half inches at the top. This cup has had a very strange and eventful existence and we will try and trace out its history for the benefit of our readers. It was used through the Revolutionary war by William Cumming, the grandfather of Capts. W. A. and J. D. Cumming, and Mr. Preston Cumming, who was an officer in the Continental service. In his custody it passed through the battles of Trenton, Princeton and ern campaign at Camden, Cowpens, Kings Mountain and Guilford Court House. In the war of 1812 it also played lts part, be ing used at the mouth of the Cape Fear River by James F. and Jno. R. Cumming, sons of Wm. Cumming; and during the late war, Wm. H. Cumming, another of the sons of Wm. Cumming, into whose hands it had fallen, carried it for a short time, but owing to his advanced age was compelled to retire from the service, when it descended to his three sons, by whom it was borne throughout the fiercely contested struggle for Southern independence. What is considered as a remarkable coincidence connected with the present owner, his two sons, and three grandsons, all successively held it in three wars, in the same place, vix: at the mouth of the Cape Fear River. This somewhat extraordinary relic of the olden time is intended, we learn, to be used as a drinking cup by the speakers on the stand at the approaching Centennial Cele-

A Remarkable Cup-Its History-An-

cup is the fact that a grandfather of its

The company now numbers forty-five members, which is not enough to man the battery, 71 being the requisite complement. It is hoped, therefore, that the young men of the city may become interested and soon make up the deficiency. A splendid battery, consisting of four steel rifle guns, now awaits the pleasure of the company, at Raleigh, whenever it shall have attained the requisite membership. Persons who wish to join the company can do so on application to Captain Flanner or any of his

The Case of Ex-Sheriff Schenck.

Maj. J. W. Schenck, Jr., formerly Sheriff of this county, whose arrival here from Dallas, Texas, on Monday morning, in charge of an officer, was chronicled in yesterday's paper, had a preliminary hearing before Justice VanAmringe yesterday morning, which resulted in his being released on bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the approaching term of the Superior Court.

The charge against Maj. Schenck, it will be remembered, is that of embezzling certain funds belonging to the State and county while acting as Sheriff. His friends seem to think that he will come out of the difficulty with flying colors.

John Bell, charged with the violation of city ordinance, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10 and the costs. Eliza Leach, charged with cursing and abusing Mary Crossley, was found guilty and required to pay a fine of $1 and costs. Two cases were continued over for a fu-

COPY OF TESTIMONIAL. -- HANNIBAL, Mo., May 30, 1874.-Messrs. J. & W. Tolley, 29 Maiden Lane, New York-Gent .: The 12 Gun which you built for me, Brandywine, and also figured in the South- No. 2093, has arrived safely to hand. Allow me to thank you for the fidelity with which you carried out my instructions. The general outline, beauty of proportion and excellent finish, are all that could be desired, and more than meets my expectations. I am more than ever impressed with the idea that it is as necessary for a man to have a gun built to measurement as to have a boot so built to ensure a good fit. The pattern 175 and penetration 40 are very superior. The pattern is as close as I desire, and the penetration I think is seldom attained, being far ahead of any public record which I have seen.
