

They will be produced in a handsome octavo volume, which will be elegantly printed on tinted paper. To the Sketches, as originally published, we shall add several other papers from the same gifted pen, which have never before been given to the public, and we have every reason to expect a brilliant success in our adventure. The Sketches, of which we speak, have done more to popularize the History of North Carolina, perhaps, than all the learned and laborious works which have been given to the public, and in saying this, we are not guilty of injustice to the historians of the State, whose labors we fully appreciate and admire. Vance's papers have been essentially popular. He wrote them currente calamo for the columns of the Daily Landmark, and ignored, on a sound theory, the more ponderous treatment, and elaborate details of the annalist or historian. But, in doing this, he has still preserved the essential facts of Carolina's history he has grouped those in a masterly manner, and through the whole performance, hasty as it was, he has shown an affluence of resources and a warmth of coloring which render his successive pictures worthy an enduring place in our literature. It is in this belief that we have collected them, in the volume now in press, and m offering this to the public in a cheap and attractive form, we feel that we are not only illustrating our own enterprise, but that we are performing a duty to the State of North Carolina, whose name and fame are so dear to the heart of the distinguished author of the "Sketches" of which we speak.

- Judge Kerr conducted prayer meeting at the First Baptist Church of this city on Sunday morning last.

- For the information of those who do not know, we state that Sunday was a very cold day for the season.

- We learn that on Sunday some of the firemen lost all their admiration for 'beautiful bell(e)s" of the ding dong sort.

- We announce again that marriage and obituary notices are charged as advertisements. and that those received by mail will not be inserted unless accompanied with a responsible name.

- In consequence of the pedestrian feats recently performed by the manager and some of the operators in the telegraph office here, that establishment will hereafter be known as the Weston Union office.

- Notwithstanding the numerous fires we had day before yesterday, the city seemed to be extremely cold. Scarcely anybody got warm except the firemen, and that was only because they were fire-men. - The drawing of the Greensboro

Another alarm followed so closely that it was thought to be the same, but was found on investigation to be caused by the burning-of a turpentine distillery, located in the extreme northern portion of the city. The distillery was the property of Messrs. J. R. Blossom & Evans. The watchman upon the premises is of the opinion that the fire was ignited from sparks from one of the engines on the railroad adjacent, as there had been no work done at the still since Thursday last. The fire department was promptly on the spot, but owing to the combustible character of the materials, not a great deal could be done. Messrs. Blossom & Evans lost about $1,800; uninsured. It was a fortunate circumstance that the fires located in thickly settled portions of the city were discovered so soon after their origin, or otherwise, owing to the high wind that prevailed nearly all day, serious consequences must have been the result.
