WM. H. BERNARD, CICERO W. HARRIS,

WILMINGTON, N. C.: TUESDAY MORNING, April 20, 1875 AN ELECTION FOR ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY DELEGATES TO A CONVENTION TO AMEND THE STATE CONSTITUTION WILL BE HELD ON THE FIRST THURSDAY OF AUGUST, 1875. THE CONVENTION WILL MEET AT RALEIGH ON THE 6TH OF THE FOLLOWING SEPTEMBER.

PRESIDENTIAL DEAD-HEADING AT A HALT IN CONNECTICUT.

Whether or no the recent comfirmation in the ways of Democracy of Connectiont has had any thing to do with the virtuous inclinings manifested by some of her people since the election we know not. We see that by order of the authorities of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad the President and his party going to the Lexington Centennial were halted at the cars and compelled to "shell out." We learn it happened in this wise: President Bishop, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, sent a dispatch to the general superintendent of that road saying: "An injunction has been served on us by the Supreme Court, in session at Hartford, prohibiting the Company, under penalty of $20,000, from permitting any officer, member of the Legislature, or servant of any State, or of the United States, or of any town, county or city in the United States, to travel on our road without payment of the regular fare. Issue orders immediately to all conductors to collect regular fare from all such perwhether they have passes or

The injunction which brought the wandering Ulysses face to face with stern realities he had not anticipated was obtained by a Mr. Henry L. Goodwin, of East Hartford, who is the owner of ten shares of stock in the company, and claims that his profits as a stockholder are affected by the free pass system. His "sprynge to catch woodcock" was just in time to entrap the festive President of the United States. It is said that that functionary was quite wroth at having to pay his way, and assumed a heroic attitude of disdain.

A STERN BUT RIGHTEOUS RE-

No paper, perhaps, save the New York Tribune in old times, has more zealously advocated the principles of the Republican party and defended, day in and day out, the leaders, no matter how bad, of that organization than the New York Times. Recently, however, the Times has shown unmistakable signs of independence. It has shaken its shackles nearly off, in truth, and soon we expect to see it arrayed in open hostility to the Republican party. It thus alludes to a speech made by the Vice President, who now claims to be a sort of moderate Republican. The occasion was the celebration of the Centennial of the Pennsylvania Anti-Slavery Society. The Times says:

Vice-President Wilson has been making a speech at Philadelphia, in which he ex-pressed his fears that "there is in the country to-day a counter-revolution against the colored man." We can only assure the Vice-President that it must be a very quiet revolution, for we have heard nothing of it. He also laid it down as a principle for action that "the condition of the colored manmust be improved." What! improved again? A great deal of money and some blood have been already expended on these "improvements," and, as in the case of a man who is altering his house, we should be glad to know when the job is likely to be finished. Is it not almost time to think about the desirability of improving the condition of the white man? He may be in-ferior to the black, but still he is a human

NOT AT ALL. Says the Louisville Courier-Jour-

The North Carolina people are very much in earnest over their preparations for cele-brating the Centennial of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, which occurs May 20, and, to testify their general good feeling, sent a cordial invitation to Presi. dent Grant to be present on the interesting occasion. Grant, however, through his Secretary, declined very curtly, saying he was too busy to attend. Knowing that the President has an abundance of time to attend the Concord and Lexington Centennial next week, and to lounge at Long Branch, the North Carolinians are very indignant at his treatment of their courteous invitation.

Not by any means. We don't care one of the straws he will suck his juleps through next summer at Long Branch for his discourtesy. It hurts himself only .. If he had accepted the invitation, he would be kindly entertained as the first officer of the Republic. As he chooses to stay away, n'importe; we will save our pains and politeness for a better man.

The country has now some able Governors. To the list below, named by the Philadelphia Times, we might add a few more. The Times. nal, and they are, or ought to be, or says: "Tilden, of New York; Gaston, might have been, or thitherward, inof the Bay State; Allen, of Obio; society, being vis inertia, co eval, Kemper, of Virginia, and Hendricks, co againste, co ordinate and co-extensive, that he therein partook of the

In a letter from Arkansas, Mr. Charles Nordhoff, of the New York Herald, bears testimony to the judicious administration of the present State government under Gov. Garland, and to the liberal treatment of colored citizens by the Conservatives now that they have gained the ascendency, a fair proportion of the offices having been given to persons of African descent by the Garland men.

Thus is that gallant ex-Confederate helping to nail indignantly to the counter the spurious coin of "rebel atrocity to the negroes."

WASHBURNE DECLINES. A Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader says he is told by high authority that Mr. Washburne "has informed his confidential friends that he has positively withdrawn from the contest for the presidential nomination." Then Mr Washburne has put himself to a good deal of unnecessary trouble. Every body else knew that it must be either Grant or an antipodal man like Blaine. The contest for the Presidency has already assumed that positive phase

We are to have a Napoleon on the press. Prince Napoleon goes to Brus sels to start a newspaper. His kinsman, citizen Charles Napoleon Bonaparte Evans, of the Milton Chronicle, could show him a thing or two in the business if he would come over to our Press Convention, which meets in this city next month. At least he could show him how fools are killed who, playing out as princes, set themselves up as journalists. .

They say the beaviest editor-in averdupois, we mean-is Mr. Michael Maylart, of the Sullivan county, Pa., Democrat, who pulls down the scales at 375 pounds. Now, if Milord Maylart will come down here with the North Carolina quill-drivers on the 11th of May, we'll give him a front seat in the synagogue and the largest devilled crab on the dish. Come, Mike, me broth of a boy.

The two party organs of St. Paul's, Minnesota, the Pioneer and the Press, have consolidated under the name of Pioneer Press. The new paper will be independent, and the move decidedly detrimental to the Grant party.

Gen. J. B. Hood has arranged to establish a stock farm and summer residence near St. Paul, Minnesota, George Alfred Describeth Evarts.

In a pen portraiture of the notables in the Beecher trial George Alfred Townsend, the "Gath" of the Philadelphia Times, thus unfavorably and sensationally gets up Mr. Evarts:

To arraigu so great a legal fame would be an assumption, but a man can often be seen through his law, and I am always amused to see Evarts, who is a polemical kind of a lawyer, throw the grandeur of his smallness into an audience. He has a good deal of Beecherism about him, and mixes platitude, law and artifice to-gether, and delivereth the gruel with the seriousness of Don Quixote administering his magic lotion to an audience of Sancho Panzas.

Imagine a man resembling one of

high stock, a rueful countenance, and a high hat clapped on the summit of a lean, theatrical figure, stalking into court fifteen minutes late every day, but conscious that there can be no justice when he is absent. In a few minutes he starts up at an available place and speaks, perhaps, as follows: 'Now, if your Honor please, our point is this-to-wit: That in the scale of moral places there are articles which are-nay must-by law be computed, and if not so computable obtain in ethics no standard of weight, measurement or dynamics, and that, amongst these articles, is the article now in evidence-to-wit: dried apples, which, in the res digestæ of the case, and my brother Abbott has authorities to bear me out, expand, enlarge, rotundify, and, if your Honor please, swell in the human gatronomy when associated with fluids sufficient to their purposes, and that, so inflating, they produce effects upon the perfunctory parts of our imperfect nature similia similibus, as the arcients had it -to wit : colic ! colic !" Here the Plymouth rows, which like anything a little incomprehensible, lean forward and hold their hoofs in readiness for a slam, while a poor, resigned juryman—dead to his friends—cuts off a fresh chaw of tobacco, Something in Evarts swelling nostril. and extensive forelinger frightens this juryman, so he puts his jackknife in his mouth and throws his tobacco under his chair. The "Head of the American Bar" proceeds: "Now, you are down to colic," says Fuller-ton, "what is the wind of your argument ?" This, if your Honor please, to wit: In the distribution of worldly equities, this defendant, on the day in question, working in the plane of duty-duty, honor, justice; justice, honor, duty!-did, to wit: in those portions of the structural man termed the inferior or abdomi-dried apples in question, as the law has it the pomme sec, and that he did, for that reason"—"Stop," says the Judge, "I see it was a painful situation. He lunched on dried apples and spring water, and couldn't get through the door. I overrule that point. Go on, now !" The "Head of the American Bar" diaws a long breath, distends his valuable nostrils, glares at the Judge as if his days were numbered on that tribunal, and slowly

The Symptoms of Liver Complaint are uncasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheulmatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternatin with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful rensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits, sometives many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involves.

IMPORTED ONLY BY THE

Guanahani Guano Company, PETERSBURG, VA.

In offering this FERTILIZER to the Agricultural Community a Second Season we do so with the atmost Confidence, feeling satisfied that the high opinion, we formed, and expressed last season based on its Chemical Constituents have been most satisfactorily borne out by the test, by which all Fertilizers

Last season, owing to the lateness at which we commenced importing, we were forced to put our Guard on the market at once but now having continued our importations during the summer and fall, and having large and well ventilated Warehouses in this City and at City Point, we are enabled to put our Guard on the market, in a condition as to dryness, and freedom from lumps, equal to any Manufactured Fertilizer.

We solicit a careful perusal of our Circular containing the certificates sent us, and which can be had on application at this OFFICE, or from any of our AGENTS. Having nothing to conceal, we made an inner vation in e-tablished usage, by publishing those letters received unfavorable to our Guano, but careful inquiry in many cases proves that the cause of its failure was not owing to any fault in the Guano, but to those far seyond our control. We have frequently heard the same complaints of its kindred rettilizer. Persulan Guano, but the concurrent testmony of well known Farmers and Planters from Mariland and the extreme Western Counties of North Carolina, justify us in claiming a place for our Fertilizer experient to many and second to none.

We confidently expect the continued patronage of the Agricultural Community, and no exertion shall be spared on our part to make
