THOSE BILLS FOR ADVERTISING.

The law having made the publication of the notice to foreign holders concerning the offer of compromise of the State debt adopted by the late General Assembly mandatory, the London Times and the New York Journal of Commerce rendered their bills for the same amounting to $5,573 67 for 90 days, in the Times, and $2,215 20, in the Journal of Commerce, for 90 days-total $7,-1778 89. By getting the consent of the publishers the weekly editions were substituted, reducing the Times hell to $885 08, and that of the Journal of Commerce to $460-a difference of $6,523 79.

As there was a good deal of critical ink shed on the matter when the first bills were received, we call attention to the changed figures. It seems, though, that the Secretary of State and not the Legislature, deserves the credit for securing the re-

AND KELLEY.

Judge Kelley, the Pennsylvania Redical and Protectionist, has just returned to Washington from a Southern tour. He regrets his vote in Congress last winter in favor of the Force bill, and now condemns the whole policy of his party on Southern affairs. All the country seems to be softening except Grant and a corporal's guard of office-holders. To make sure his calling and election to retire to private life let Grant fight it out on this line.

Muscle Reading. Philadelphia Star, of Wednesday after

Last evening a distinguished company assembled at the residence of Mr. William Whitehouse, 1235 Chestnut street, for the purpose of witnessing some experiments in what is termed "mind reading," but which Mr. Whitehouse modestly calls "musele reading."

Among the gentlemen present were Prof. S. D. Gross, Drs. Getchell, Morton, Brinton, Packard, Burd, Norris, and others of the medical profession; Professors Riche, Rhoads, Worris, Wilson, Howard, Hopper, Houston, Thomas, Snyder, Rev. Dr. Harper, Edward Shippen, Benedict D. Stewart, Thos. D. Smith, Thos. C. Davis, Mr. Burk of the Ledger, Wells of the Bulletin, and others.

Mr. Whitehouse, the experimenter, after a few preliminary remarks, proceeded to business, his work being cut out for him by a committee appointed by the meeting. He made some failures, not, however, any more than Brown, and of which he subsequently gave an explanation.

In order to prove that there was no mental process in his experiments, a glass rod was used, the operator taking hold of one end and the subject the other. Mr. Whitehouse did not touch the person of his subject, save through the medium of the rod, and yet some of his most interesting experiments were performed with it. cated, and persons and numbers thought of accurately pointed out.

Mr. Whitehouse said his theory is that the phenomenon is simply a rec ognition on his part of the "unconscious muscular action" of his subject.

The Daughter of Horace Greeley to be Married To-Day. |New York Sun.]

A limited number of cards have been issued for the marriage of Miss Ida Greeley, eldest daughter of the late Horace Groeley, to Col. Nicholas Smith, of Covington, Kentucky. The ceremony is to take place at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning at the residence of Mrs. John F. Cleveland, sister of the late Mr. Greeley, 233 West Twenty-second street. It is understood that the marriage will be solemnized by Cardinal McCloskey. There will be three bridesmaids—Misses Greeley and Cleveland-and the same number of groomsmen and ushers. Mr. John F. Cleveland will give the bride away, and Mr. Whitelaw Reid will be one of the groomsmen.

The bride is to be married in a travelling dress, and the entire bridal party, Mrs. Cleveland and daughters, Miss Gabrielle Greeley, and Col-Smith and bride, sail at one o'clock in the steamship Abyssinia for Europe. An informal reception will be held on board the steamer, where lunch will be provided, Many distinguished people will be present, and the Broadway florists have large orders, one of which is for a floral fac-simile of the vessel. Col. Smith is of a good Kentucky family, and reputed wealthy.

A South Carelina Catamount. Mr. Wm. Milling, near Salem Church, in Fairfield, says the Winnsboro News, killed a catamount, weighing twenty pounds. He was opt hunting with his rifle, when passing under a tree, the "varmint" sprang upon him from an overhanging limb. It missed its distance and landed upon the ground, but sprang a second time at Mr. Milling, and fastened its claws in the breast of his coat. He struck it off and it ran a second time up the tree. Mr. Milling drew his pistol and fired at it, the ball taking effect in the animal's head. It sprang upon him again, but was soon despatched. Had the beast been larger t might have made a dangerous fight, as it evinced any amount of pluck.

Another Burglary. The house of Mr. T. B. Kline, who resides on the corner of Seventh and Dock streets, was entered by a burglar on Thursday night and sixty dollars in money and some other articles of value were taken. It is supposed that the burglar effected an entrance by forcing one of the front blinds, which open upon a piazza. Mrs. Kline awoke at some hour of the night and dis covered a man in the room, when she attempted to arouse Mr. Kline. Before this could be done, however, the burglar became frightened and ran away. It was discovered that he had ransacked the clothing in the room, securing the money and articles.

He escaped. Atempt at Burglary.

Yesterday morning, at about 4 o'clock Mr. W. J. Penny, who lives on Dock, be tween Seventh and Eighth streets, having occasion to leave his house at that hour, passed through the back door and going around the house to reach the front gate, discovered a man trying to effect an entrance into the house. The would-be burglar was standing upon a barrel and making vain endeavors to pry open a front window, The appearance of Mr. Penny, who was unable to discover whether the house breaker was white or colored, caused the immediate retreat of the latter.

It has been a practice in some portions of the city for unruly boys to while away the hours of night by lifting the gates in front of the houses of many of our citizens and carrying them to a distance. Exactly where the joke is it is difficult to imagine. Still it must be a matter of annoyance to law abiding citizens to be made the butt of a number of restless spirits of boys who find amusement in this class of sport. The police will doubtless be on the look out for these midnight maranders who cannot find better employment than engaging in sport to the anneyance of peaceable citizens.

Bitten by a Bog. We learn that on last Saturday, a colored etteville, was so severely bitten by a ferocious dog that he died on Wednesday last. The dog was not rabid and death was caused only by the severety of the bite. This is a remarkable case, as it seldom happens that death ensues from the bite of a Smithville Mail. The Post Office Department have advertised for proposals for carrying the mails by steamboat between Wilmington and Smithville three times a week and six times a week. We understand it is the object of the Department to elect between the two arrangements. Parties desiring information can be furnished with it by applying to the Postmaster at this place.

Going Through the Motion.

A number of little girls were yesterday seen engaged in quite a novel method of whiling away the leisure hours after school They had selected a grassy spot upon a quiet street and by lot appointed a member of their party who was to go out and get drunk and be taken to the guard house. The little girl who was selected at once began to whirl around until she became so dizzy that she fell down upon the grass, when the girlish voices of the others at once rung out with "perlice," "perlice." and instantly there started out another little girl who had a Jew's harp for a police work, may rely on promptness in the execution of whistle and who began to shake an embryo baton at the offender. She approached the intoxicated female citizen and arrested her, conveying her in triumph to the guard house. The offender was finally arraigned before a court and summarily dealt with. This seemed to be the routine for all to go through. Considerable eagerness was manifested by the little people regarding their turns in trying the fairy, intoxication and receiving the penalty for being so naughty. We passed the laughing group who were in great glee, their bright eyes sparkling with merriment and they as happy as the day is long. Their play was suddenly interrupted, however, by one of the number being called by one of her parents, when instantly the leader of the group responded, "Oh! no; she can't go, she's got to git drunk and git took to the gaurd house." We left them, wishing we were a boy again. He who so often partook of the exquisite accommandations of the STAR hotel, reposing his weary limbs ppon the soft side of a board and poising his head upon a glue pot holding sweet communion with the devil. who was the sympathetic sharer of his couch, until his tired eyelids closed in sleep and he sank to slumber so sweet. The accommodations may not have been exquisite, but then he did not complain. He accepted his resting place upon the board beneath the power press, as he would the inevitable doom of fate, and then his musical snores reverberated in harmonious consonance with the thumpings of the press. He borroweth no more three cent stamps and telleth us no more that he is "ye thoroughbred," the hero of a hundred bottles. For this we miss him, and it is with feeling of gratitude to rail roads that we notice his name registered in another city, where he is gone, yes, perhaps to return no more. The tranquility of his slumber reminded us of a steamboat under full headway. We can scarcely realize the fact that he has left; that his form has ceased to darken the door forevermore; that he has ceased to light up the dismal recesses of his former hotel "with a smile that was child-like and bland;" that he has ceased to dissipate the loneliness of the midnight hours by balancing an umbrella on his chin before our Allow me to thank you for the fidelity with which you carried out my instructions. The general outline, beauty of proportion and excellent finish, are all that could be desired, and more than meets my expectations. I am more than ever impressed with the idea that it is as necessary for a man to have a gun built to measurement as to have a boot so built to ensure a good fit. The pattern 175 and penetration 40 are very superior. The pattern is as close as I desire, and the penetration I think is seldom attained, being far shead of any public record which I have seen.
