The International Chamber of Com-Merce and Mississippi Valley Society of London-Birect,Trade-

A meeting of the merchants and other business men of our city took place yesterday afternoon at the Produce Exchange by request of Col. W. L. DeRosset, President of the Chamber of Commerce, to listen to an address delivered C. R. Griffing, Esq., general manager of the International Chamber of Commerce and Mississippi - No business disposed of at any Valley Society of London.

Mr. Griffing stopped in our city with the expectation of organizing a branch of the above society, and having officially notified the presiding officers of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, the

At three o'clock many prominent businesss men being assembled Col. W. L. De-Rosset in a few remarks introduced Mr. Griffing as the representative of the above named London association.

Mr. Griffing made a highly interesting ad dress in which he stated the object of the Association, explaining it to be an organization formed of the business men and captalists of London, who proposed to have branches of it established throughout the West and South, with London as the Home Office. They proposed to supply capital and labor for the development of those sec tions of our country. There were immense sums of money in London lying idle for want of an investment and the rate of in terest was consequently very low, the total income derived from the investments in London being only about five hundred million dollars. He said that of course the Association had for its object in part the benefit of the capitalists of England, as it was not to be supposed that so much effort would be made without the expectation of some benefit to be derived. But such benefits would be mutually shared by the peo-August. The Friday included is to be ob- ple of this country and those of England, English capitalists had the capital and the Southern and Western portions of this coun try had the undeveloped resources and the field for investment. It was therefore the object of the Association which he represented to increase the business relations between the two sections by encouraging direct trade and fostering emigration. The plan was first proposed by the Chamber of Commerce of London, the members of which saw the immense advantages to be derived from such an association. They at first formed the "Mississippi Valley Society," which had the same objects in view as the present association, and was called by that name, as it was considered that the Valley of Mississippi embraced the greater portion of the South and West. A prominent member of the British Parliament and the largest manufacturer of London-a man who employs 6,000 hands in his establishment, was elected to the Presidency, and in furtherance of the views of the Association, visited this country some months ago, in company with a delegation, of which he was the Chairman. This delegation was treated with much favor and encouraged on every hand, and their impressions of the good to be derived from such an organization was much strengthened. (Mr. Griffin read an account of a reception tendered this delegation at Chicago.) On the return of the delegation, the objects of the Society were enlarged, and its objects made to embrace the South Atlantic and Gulf States and its name was changed to that of the International Chamber of Commerce and Mississippi Valley Society. The Association Is supported entirely by the membership fees,

At the close of the gentleman's address a few remarks were made by Col. W. L. Mr. VanBokkelen concluded with an appeal to the gentlemen for the formation of the branch association as proposed. Henry Nutt, Esq., advanced some forcible arguments tending to show the necessity for and the benefit to be derived from such a society. Mr. Nutt said that the port of Wilmington did an export trade of about twelve million dollars on a banking capital within her limits of about 600,000 dollars, which tended to show the great want for more capital in our midst. At the conclusion of the remarks the President of the Exchange arose and thanked Mr. Griffing for the interesting discourse he had delivered and promised that the Chamber would early take the matter of the organization of a branch into consideration.

Quite an interesting week has been spent tus far at the St. Thomas Catholic Church in this city. A mission has been in progress under the direction of Fathers Miller and Smulders, of the Redemptorists' Order. Eloquent sermons have been preached to large numbers and a very decided interest was manifested. WILMINGTON & COAST TURNPIKE COMPANY.

The undersigned, a Committee to open books of subscription to the capital stock of The Wilmington & Coast Turnpike Company," appointed at the meeting of the corporators named in the act to incorporate said company, for the information of the public, submit the following synopsis of some of the leading provisions of this act, with such explanatory statements as are

The main stem of the proposed turnpike is to run from the city of Wilmington, or some point near the city to a point near the head of Lee's Creek, sometimes called Bradley's Creek. This is the shortest and most direct route towards the ocean, and the main stem is to be so located for the obvious reason that branches can be run from its eastern terminus, or from some point or points on its line, to Masoboro or to Greenville or Middle Sound, south of said creek, or to Wrightsville or stokely's and Newkirk's, places North of said creek, accommodating in equal de-gree as nearly as is practicable all the different settlements on the coast that are within moderate drives from Wilmington.

The roadway may be made of rock, shells or such other durable materials as may be considered proper for the construction of a permanent turnpike; and it is ascertained that limestone rock admirably adapted for this work, is found in sufficient quantities within short distances from the first three miles of the main stem. In all subscriptions to the stock of the company, the particular line of road whether the main stem or any particular branch) for the construction of which any subscription is intended, shall be designated, and the several subscriptions are to be applied exclusively to the construction of the lines so designated; and all income and profits derived from each particular line of road are distributed exclusively among the stockholders, by whom such line of road was originally constructed. To this end the company is required to keep separate books and accounts showing the net income derived from the main stem and from to be charged for the use of any part of the turnpike is to be regulated by the Board of Directors; and as a protection against tresany one to use any part of the road without payment of toll, and the offender is subject to a fine not less than $2 nor more than $5, and upon failure to pay such fine as may be imposed by the Justice trying the case, together with the the offender in the Workhouse not less than five days nor more than twenty. It is further provided, that any willful injury to any part of the road or to any bridge or other property of the company, shall be fine and imprisonment. The right to charge tolls, accrues so soon same be completed as a turnpike or not. The shares of stock are $25 each.

deemed a misdemeanor and punished by

The charter is for ninety-nine years, and is in all respects as full and as liberal as could be desired.

The main stem of the turnpike will be ess than five miles, and it is confidently believed that as soon as this is completed the stock will pay a dividend of between ten and twenty per cent. When it is borne in mind that the city of Wilmington is located on a series of sand hills, and every road leading from it is as sandy as it well can be, having now a population of nearly twenty thousand and increasing from year to year, and without even one reasonably good road, by which a ride into ure can be secured, is it not manifest that the proposed turnpike to the ocean must of necessity be very largely used and patron-ised at all times and in all seasons of the year, and that the income from its tolls must necessarily be very large?

Such has been the result at all points similarly located, and in this connection we beg leave to give a few extracts from a letter recently received from a getleman in Savannah of much intelligence and great practical experience, who is thoroughly familiar with our city and its surrounding country. Referring to the turnpike or shell road from Savannah to Bona Yenture and Thunderbolt, he says: "The length of this road is, including the route ria Bona Venture, about five miles, of which about three miles is 25 feet wide, and the other two miles 15 feet wide. The cost of construction was about $3,000 per nile. There are no residences either at Bona Venture or Thunderbolt like those on the Sounds near Wilmington, and conse quently the road receives very little income from the residents at those points, but is supported almost exclusively by the pleasure drives. This road has paid regular dividends of ten per cent. (there may have been one dividend passed) although there is a railroad running from the city to the eastern end of the turnpike, with branches to one or two other points four or five miles further from the city. The great merit of the turnpike is that it costs but little to keep it in order and manage it, while the expense of running, keep-ing in order and managing the railroad (which is now run by steam from the city limits) is thought to be more than its gross receipts, although it transports large numbers of passengers. The turnpike from Savannah to Thunderbolt is one of the great attractions of strangers to the city. and if the people of Wilmington would in-duce visitors, whether they are pleasure-seekers or invalids, to tarry in their city, there is no investment they could make that would pay better than a good turnpike from their city to the sea. It is an improve-ment in which every property-owner in Wilmington is interested and ought to be promptly made.

The facts as also the recommendations embodied in the foreging extracts from the letter referred to, should receive the earnest consideration of the citizens and property owners of Wilmington. Time out of mind it has been a shame and a reproach to Wilmington that unlike any other town in our country of even one fourth of its population there has been nothing like a reasonably fair drive either within or beyond its limits. The proposed turnpike will sapply this great want of our city, en-able our citizens to visit the seashore at their pleasure in one-third of the time at less than one fourth of the present cost and without the wear and tear of either horse, rider or vehicle or any other of the worty-

ing annoyances now incident to every drive beyond the city limits. One of this committee who controls one of the largest livery stables in North Carolina, assures us, that on a good turupike persons in any number can be carried to the seashore at 50 cents per head with more profit to the car-rier than they can over the present roads at five times that sum; and that regular lines of hacks or carriages, making three or more round trips per day will forthwith be established and passegers can be carried at 50 cents each with profit to the propri-

Believing that in the completion of this turnpike all of our people are interested, that it will be of incalculable benefit to Wilmington as a city, and that the stock of the Company, which is necessarily limited in amount, will certainly be very profitable simply as a money investment, we solicit from each and every one of our fellow-citizens subscriptions to the capital stock of this Company, that this great improvement, so permanent in its character and costing so little to perpetuate it in good condition, shall be promptly constructed.
