It is a bad year for civil rights. In Galveston, Texas, an indictment under the Act of Congress was quashed on the ground that the Act was unconstitutional, and it is stated that other cases will be decided the same

The Republicans carried out yesterday their threatened programme of secession from the New Hampshire Senate. Having a quorum conveniently on hand without them, the Democrats proceeded to organize the Fair for 1875, to be held on the 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, and 16th of October, is out. - The house and most of the for-

Published as Maden, h. C.-88 Several heads of mummies were shipped from Egypt to Halifax, England. They were packed in separate boxes, and one of them got soaked in salt water on the voyage. This particular head when taken out was found to have recovered its natural outlines, the sea having had an astonishing effect. M. D. Conway, who was present, says: "For a few minutes we saw an unmistakably Egyptian countenance, with pleasant composed expression—the face of a man who lived at least three thousand years ago. We could only conclude that the powerful aromatic gums which had been used had arrested the decay which the ralt water had now rendered possible, and which speedly set in after the head was taken from its box and wrappings. I can never forget the lifeness of the face before the swift decay of flesh which followed." How They do Things in Kansas. A thoughtless young man from Massachusetts went out to Pottowatamie county not long ago to start a paper, and in order to tickle the ran by of the inhabitants, of whose temher he was ignorant, he published the following in the first issue: "The fighting editor is at home at all hours of the day and night, ready, willing, and anxious to receive all visitors who have grievances. He carries two revolvers, a slung shot, a pair of brass knuckles, a bowie-traite at long as a cross-cut saw, a razor in each boot, an eel-skin blud-geon, and a bottle of poison!" Eve-ry man in Pottowattamie county thought it was a challenge, and all day long they dropped in singly, in pairs, in threes, and in squade and platoons. Every last soul of them whipped the editor. The paper only issued the initial number.

The Latest on the Centennial. There was yesterday on exhibition at the city Marshal's office a strange and mysterious freak of nature. It was an egg of rather a peculiar appearance the shell being very rough and somewhat resembling stone. Traced around the surface in letters of antique shape were the words "Mecklenburg Centenuial May 20th, 1875." A view of the egg impresses one with the idea that he is looking upon a paper writing struck off by nature to prove the authenticity of the Mecklenburg Centennial. It seems to be really an egg and rather an extraordinary one at that. A Centennial egg it is called and we were told it would keep fresh for a hundred years. Probably an egg so fresh as that, would be hardly palatable. However that is not claimed for it as so far there has been no opportunity of testing its peculiar properties in this respect. If there was any probability of its being so, we should advise the cessation of the salt business immediately. However this egg was not at the Centennial, the means of transportation not being sufficient to get it there in time. One story, as told us, goes thus: The egg was produced in a small country village in New Hanover county. It appears that the inhabitants of the village the day before the 20th, were preparing to have a slice of the Centennial served up on the following day. The rooster saw how things were going and sharpened up his spurs, flapped his wings, gave a crow, and took the train for Charlotte. The identical her that laid the egg in ques-

Fire in Hyde County. We learn from a private letterreceived from fairfield, Hyde county, that an exte fire raged almost throughout the county last week. In some sections the sun was hid for three days by the smoke. Ashes and cinders were borne in the air ten miles and pieces of bark three inches long were found eight miles from the immediate neighborhood of the fire. In some places the smoke was so thick that persons were compelled to crawl on the ground to find their way. The entire woods were in flames. The letter gives no estimate of the extent of the damage. Stonewall Society, Wilson. Representative and Champion of American Art Taste lass Prospectus for 1875, able viding houselve told that "A Magnificent Conception, wonder-fully carried out."

EIGHTH YEAR. THE ALDINE. THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA.

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive fallures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once railied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the tamporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pare, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and anapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume can not duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings is any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and, there is the chrome, besides!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmonolic. chrome, besides?

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign ductions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources. The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the astisfactory treatment of details than can be afforced by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of landscape, marine, figure, and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accompaniment, worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical disquisitions as do not increase with the popular interest of the work.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALBINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of THE ALDINE ART UNION.

The Union owns the originals of all THE ALDINE pictures, which, with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces, valued at over $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full, and the awards of each series as made are to be published in the next succeeding issue of THE ALDINE.
