Local Notes.

The rowing race in the river yesterday was an exceedingly interesting and entertaining spectacle. Maj. Robert M. Orrell has been appointed Postmaster at Fayetteville, vice George Lauder, removed. A meeting of the Children's Memorial Association will take place this evening at 5 o'clock at Society Hall. A slight disturbance occurred on the wharf yesterday after the rowing race. It was however promptly suppressed. "Old Probabilities" hath it that in this latitude to-day there will be easterly winds, warmer, clear and partly cloudy weather. "The History of the Cape Fear Baptists, which Rev. D. K. Bennett, of Brunswick, is now writing will be published in the Robesonian.

Mayor's Court.

The following cases were disposed of yesterday morning: Joe Crawford was arraigned for disorderly conduct. Judgment suspended on payment of costs. Virginia Foster was arraigned for violating section 8th, of the General Ordinances of the city. Judgment was suspended on payment of costs, the defendant promising to leave the city in twenty-four hours. One case was continued.

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter.

The session of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter for North Carolina closed yesterday morning, and the delegates in attendance, under the guidance of a number of members of the Royal Arch Chapter of this city, visited the different State institutions at this place. The session has been a most harmonious and pleasant one, and much business has been done of importance to the Chapters of the State.

Magistrate's Court.

Before J. J. Cassidy, J. P.: Mary Eliza Nixon was arraigned for a misdemeanor and creating a disturbance. Judgment was suspended until Saturday. Precilla Giles was arraigned for a misdemeanor. Judgment suspended on payment of costs. Ella Spencer, charged with the same. Judgment suspended on payment of costs.

THE MORNING STAR.

VOL. XVI.—NO. 69, WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1875. WHOLE NO. 2,396.

THE REGATTA YESTERDAY.

The Yacht Race Postponed—An Exciting Rowing Competition. In anticipation of the yacht race yesterday, quite a number of people had congregated on the wharves in the vicinity of Market Dock early in the afternoon, and seemed to be waiting in anxious expectation for the beginning of the race. All the fair hopes of the eager sailors and their many admirers on the wharves were doomed to disappointment, however, for it was apparent that, do what they would, they could not "raise the wind," and the light breeze that just blew, scarcely rippling the smooth bosom of the river, failed to offer sufficient motive power for fast sailing. The governing committee of the Club, after a consultation therefore decided to postpone the race, until to-day, and several of the yachts had already started off on a cruise down the river, while the Regatta showed her temper at the disappointment by upsetting right at the wharf, giving her crew an unexpected bath.

THE GREAT DEEP.

He characterized the ocean as being divided in name but being one in fact, and as the grandest of material creations on our planet—a type of energy, an ever restless, ever moving body. He treated the vasty deep in a manner that evidenced his deep research into the misty lore of the past, while his description of the wild beauty and grandeur of storms upon old ocean, the thunder of the waves, and the roaring of the waters, was truly eloquent, and we wish that we could have followed him, but this was almost impossible, as his flight from one beautiful description to another was too rapid to admit of our doing him justice. He stated that the coast of North Carolina was warmer in winter and cooler in summer than any other coast on the American Continent, and said that every person who had never seen its beauties should not fail to embrace the first opportunity to witness the grandeur of "the great deep"—the bitter salt sea that sweetened the earth, the wonderful sea, the awful sea, the beautiful sea.

THE MEMORIAL OF LAST NIGHT.

It was a brilliant success. The flower-stands and tables were elaborately and elegantly arranged, and every appointment was of the most perfect character. A feature of the evening was the fine performances of the Cornet Club. These gentlemen, whose services had been so generously tendered for the occasion, were in the best imaginable musical mood and contributed considerably to the triumph of the evening. We are glad to know that the ladies met with as great success in a pecuniary as in an artistic point of view, and that a large sum was realized for the noble cause to which it will be applied. Both the ladies of the Association and the attending public deserve commendation—the former (and this remark includes some of their friends, not members) for their skill, taste and energy, and the latter for the very liberal encouragement extended.

Correction.

In a notice of an admirable little book called "Shooting on the Wing," which is printed on our second page to-day, it was made to appear that the author is an "old gamester." This is, of course, utterly at variance with "the eternal fitness of things," and can only be accounted for on the supposition that the writer of the notice is more addicted to playing "poker" than to "shooting on the wing." At all events, the author is simply an "Old Gamekeeper; and thus endeth the chapter.

The Man Killed Near Laurinburg.

We learn by the Robesonian that Mr. Edward Wilkerson, who was killed on the railroad track two miles above Laurinburg last Saturday, an account of which was printed in THE MORNING STAR of Sunday, was a resident of Robeson county. He was selling books in the counties of Robeson and Richmond, and it is supposed that, becoming weary, he sat down on the side of the road to rest and fell asleep.

Arrived Safe.

The German bark Artilerist, which sailed from this port for Rotterdam, May 5, arrived at Helvoet June 7. The infantry of Mr. H. Reeder, of this city, were passengers on the Artilerist, and their friends will be glad to hear that they have so nearly reached their journey's end, Helvoet being only 16 miles from Rotterdam.

Republican Meeting.

A meeting of the Republican voters of the Second Ward, took place last night for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Magistrate of that Ward to the Ward Convention which meets on the 18th. S. Van Amringe was declared the choice of the meeting for Magistrate of the Second Ward, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court was engaged yesterday in the consideration of the case of Carrot Avery and others from Tarbet, charged with assaulting U. S. Marshall Fuller in July last. The State has eight witnesses, and the defendants fifteen. The State concluded the examination of its witnesses, and those of the defendants were to have been examined yesterday. The defendants are represented by Messrs. Merrimon, Fuller and Ashe, and the State by District Attorney Badger.

THE BEN'S YAWL

The Ben's yawl made the course from the market dock to and around a stake boat at Kidder's mill and return in 21 minutes, the Mary Wheeler's coming in second, the Little Fury's third and the Emma Crook's fourth. The rowing of the latter boat's crew was much admired. A point was raised by the crew of the Mary Wheeler's yawl, they charging that the coxswain of the Ben's yawl had assisted the stroke oar of that yawl contrary to the rules of rowing races, and that therefore their boat, being second, was entitled to the prize. The judges, who were Messrs. G. A. Peck, E. Peschan and W. L. Jewett, ruled otherwise and the prize of ten dollars was handed to the crew of the Ben's yawl. We learn that the latter crew were also the recipients of a similar sum from Messrs. Williams & Murchison, the agents of the Ben, as a further reward for their manly triumph.
