Type-Setting by Electricity.

The London correspondent of the Liverpool Courier writes to that journal: It has been hinted from time to time that one of our wealthy London journals has "under consideration" the practicability of printing its sheets in several of the great towns simultaneously, in order to secure a distribution of its copies as early as the various local journals which are so fast depreciating the circulation and once paramount influence of their London contemporaries. How can this staggering feat be accomplished? The leading journal had its attention drawn some weeks ago to an electric machine in operation at the London Stock Exchange, by which the fluctuating quotations are telegraphed to a number of city offices, where an instrument, composed of movable figures and a dial plate. is made to record changes from hour to hour. If an electric current can be made to manipulate movable figures, it was conceived that a system of mechanical type-setting might be carried on simultaneously in a number of distant places, the operation being directed from a central office in London, the news being there collected from all parts of the world. and that the "copy" might be put in type at several provincial offices simultaneously by operating on an electric keyboard, or a number of keyboards, controlled in the central office. This idea, like so many other inventions, is not new. Mr. Mackay, of the Warrington Guardian, worked upon the same line of invention about eight years ago, to my knowledge, and simultaneous type-setting by machinery was by him carried to a practical issue, though he found that his invention did not result in profit. He worked a number of typesetting machines by operating on the key-board and proposed to set up columns for any number of newspapers by this simultaneous process, the only difference being that the various machines could not be placed in distant places. In other words, he did not connect them with electricity. The fact remains that he actually worked ten or twelve machines on this principle of connected action, which derived its directing power from one keyboard. There is no moral doubt that the same thing can be done on a wider scale by electric agency. But, if done, would the game be worth the candle? I know the Times, or rather the manager of its mechanical department, is putting the thing to a private test in order to ascertain its mechanical practicabilities. If that can be made clear, the Times directors are pect opens to prescient eyes! Beach Concludes on the Eleventh Day Mr. Beach concluded his speech to the jury in the Tilton-Beecher case at Brooklyn Wednesday, with some further pungent review and criticism of Beecher's peculiar religious ideas, as expressed in his writings and sermons, to demonstrate that he was about as bad as Tilton in the freethinking line, if not decidedly worse. Among other things Mr. Beach quoted from one of Beecher's talks, in which the latter said he would rather have been the prodigal son than his brother, who was too stingy to drink and too unsympathetic to sin lasciviously. This quotation Mr. Sherman protested against as an outrage, but he was taken all aback by the Julge, who said he had read it in the Christian Union, which is the official organ of Plymouth Church. Mr. Beach also severely criticised the position of Mr. Tracy, one of Beecher's counsel, who had in his first connection with the scandal gained Tilton's confidence and afterwards, in violation of a pledge, became counsel for Bercher, and finally a witness against Western N. C. R. R.

This road was sold at Salisbury last Tuesday. The following particulars additional to those heretofore published we get from the Raleigh News:

The road was really knocked down to Hon. A. S. Merrimon as purchaser at $825,000, and he now stands day. as ostensibly the holder of the property. Up to the time of the sale, the interests which Mr. Merrimon represented were unwilling to submit to the scaling of their claim as agreed to by other parties, and Mr. M.'s bid being the highest, it was knocked down to him, and he gave a check for the sum required to be paid in cash at the time of purchase-$10,000. Subsequently, however, Mr. Merriman's clients agreed to submit to the scaling accepted by other parties, and the commissioners on the part of the State then agreed to take the purchase off his hands. Still at present the transactions stand in the name of the first purchaser, and the State commissioners will so report to Judge Dick on return day, which will be the first Monday in July. On the 1st Monday in August, which will be Rule Day, the sale is expected to be confirmed by Judge Dick. After the confirmation of the sale, the Governor will appoint three commissioners, who will proceed then to carry out fully the purposes of the Act. Until

Supreme Court Case.

Among the cases considered in this Court on Thursday was that of the Navassa Gu ano Company vs. Wm. H. Willard, from Orange. J. W. Graham for plaintiff, and Merriman, Fuller and Ashe for defends Argument was commenced.

Reunions being the order of the day, a friend proposes an excursion down the river, touching at every camp, fortification and post where our troops were stationed during the late war, and to be participated in by only those who wore the gray or were stationed below. Who will take the initiative steps towards getting it up?

Rowing Race.

Six juvenile crews have already entered a boat each for the rowing race to take place at 51 P M. Monday next in the river. Several additional boats are expected to participate. The boys are full of eagerness for the fray, and a lively and spirited competition is expected. The course and other particulars will be announced bereafter.

The Festival Last Night. The festival given last night at the Rankin Hall by the members of the Sunday School Social Society of the Front Street M. E. Church was an exceedingly pleasant affair. The numerous delicacies were excellent, and were highly appreciated by the large throng that crowded the hall. There were a great number of young ladies present, which of course lent a charm to the scene. The Apollo Band discoursed some excellent music on the occasion. We hope

Republican City Politics. The sea of Republican politics in the city, which has for some time past been rolling, seething and surging, will to-day gather in one huge roll in the Convention. It is said that there are many individuals to satisfy, many parties to conciliate and the consoling faculties of the party are to be brought into requisition very thoroughly. Brooklyn is divided into wings and rings, there being, we understand, no less than six wings there, all flying in a different direction. Third Ward also presents to their minds a problem as to who is the Republican County and Township Convention.

In accordance with a call issued a few weeks ago by the Republican Executive Committee of the county, a nominating Convention will assemble at 12 o'clock today, in the Superior Court room, for the purpose of nominating three delegates to the State Constitutional Convention.

The county Convention will be composed of 57 delegates, viz: Three from each of the thirteen townships of the county, three from each ward (O. S.) of the city, and three from the town of Lillington.

After the nomination of delegates to the State Constitutional Convention, a body and township of Wilmington will nominate two candidates for the office of Magistrate-at-Large of the city, one candidate for Constable of the township, and three candidates for the School Committee.

As there are as many candidates as there are delegates, a lively time is expected, particularly as caucusing is said to have been the order of the day for some time past, especially on the part of the more hopeful of the aspirants. How the matter will be finally arranged it is difficult to say, and we judge from the crainmed appearance of many a historic carpet-bag that dangled from the hand of several worn and weary their practice grounds after the regular county delegates who arrived in the city, business hours, much pleasure was reaped last evening, that an all-night session is ex- from the exercise and several excellent shots

U. S. Commissioner's Court. Before J. J. Cassidey, United States Com-

In the case of the United States vs. W. J. Edwards, Jr., who was arraigned on Thursday for a violation of section 3,892 Revised Statutes of the United Stales, the defendant was vesterday bound over to the next term of the United States District Court, which meets in this city in November, in the sum Edwards departed for home.

The above case was one of some little peculiarity in its way. Defendant is aged 20 years and is respectably connected. It seems from the evidence produced in the investigation that several young ladies who lived some distance apart were in the habit of corresponding with each other frequently. On many occasions they found that their letters had been tampered with and reported the matter to the post-master in charge of the office at Rosindale. That official communicated with Col. E. R. Brink for instructions and as suspicion had been aroused t was resolved to watch the further progress of the matter. It was known that letters were taken out of the office by the defendant ostensibly for the parties for whom they were intended, and on arriving at their destination it was found that they had been tampered with and cut open on the end and had then been glued up or pasted together, which seemed to establish the fact that their contents had been extracted and read and then replaced in such way as to escape detection, if possible.

Another circumstance was in evidence. It was testified that on one occasion the defendant was at the Postoffice whon colored man brought a letter there which was to be mailed to a young lady acquaintance of the defendant. The defendant letter that as he would visit the hause where the young lady resided on the day after, he would take the letter there himself. No objections being raised, the clerk cancelled the stamp and the letter was handed to defendant. It was delayed some time before | tubs rapidly diminished the supply. reaching its destination, and was then handed to the person for whom it was intended by a colored man who stated that the defendant had requested him to deliver it. On examination, this letter was found to be pasted together in a bungling way at the end, as if it had been opened and read. No other reason seems to have been adduced for this alleged opening of letters on the part of the defendant except that he either desired to pry into the secrets of others or was anxious to know what the ladies had to say, or else what they said

The young ladies who testided in the case were summoned for the prosecution. They betrayed an unwillingness to testify. In view of the above evidence the defendant was bound over as stated above.

Cannot, will not, the Board of County Commissioners probe the Index-Book job to the bottom and give all the facts to the public? There is an odor of rottenness about it that is decidedly unpleasant, and that ought to be traced to its source and

Why did the Chairman pro tem. of the Board contract with Smyth to do the work at such an extravagant price? Is he not to blame for that? Why, as charged by Mr. Wilson, has the work been imperfectly performed by Smyth? And if the work were not progressing satisfactorily, why were Smyth's bills approved by the Auditing Committee of the Board of Commissioners? Is it true, as reported, that "addition, division and silence" was the motto in this

There are other pertinent interrogatories that might be propounded, and that ought to be answered; for as the matter now stands it is a stigma on the Commissioners and the county. Certainly, there are some members of the Board who are interested in bringing out all the facts in this case.

The services of St. John's Lodge No. 1 F. & A. M., have again been brought into requisition, they having accepted an invitation tendered them by the Israelites of the city to lay the corner-stone of their new Temple of Israel now in course of erection at the corner of Fourth and Market streets. The time for the performance of these services will be made known hereafter, as at the present it is in the hands of the joint Committee of Arrangements appointed for the purpose by both institutions.

Installation of Officers. Mount Nebu Lodge No. 14, F. & A. A. Y. M., a colored institution, publicly installed the following officers on Thursday at Christian Chapel: Hezekiah Reed, W. M.

John H. Brown, S. W. Sylvester Capps, J. W. John W. Moore, Tressurer. Jas. E. King, Secretary. Jas. W. Pearson, S. D. Jos. H. Lucas, J. D. Wm. Holt, Jr., Chaplain. Joshua Green, S. S. Anthony Maultsby, J. S. Charles H. Ward, Tiler.

A rifle club is being formed in our city and will soon become thoroughly organized. It consists at present of about twenty members, whose wont it is to go across the river every Friday afternoon and spend a few hours pleasantly engaged in target practice. Magistrate's Court. Before S. VanAmringe, J. P.:

Eli Dudley, the colored individual who was arrested some time ago for getting up an exciting entertainment near the corner of Front and Walnut streets, one of the main features of which was the cutting of his wife's throat with a razor by the said Eli, was arraigned for resisting the Deputy Sheriff in the discharge of his official duty of $300. The required bail was given and on that occasion. It appears that the official in question made short work of the entertainment by changing the scene, much to the chagrim of Eli, who took refuge under a house. He was finally arrested and made some not very complimentary allusions to the Deputy Sheriff, for which last mentioned act in the drama he was arraigned. The Court refused to take jurisdiction of the case and issued an order for the committal of the defendant, to answer the charge at the next term of the Superior Court.

> Eli Dudley was also arraigned for an assault and battery upon Mollie Harris. The defendant was found guilty in this case and fined $5 and costs. His pecuniary condition not justifying such an expenditure, he was lodged in jail.

Henry Johnson was arraigned for the larceny of a watch. The stolen property was said to be that of one Odum, who being sometime ago, owing to the force of circumstances, compelled to take his departure for the State penitentiary, left all his worldly goods, which was a trunk containing the watch and several other articles, in the county jail for safe keeping. How Henry got in and got out again is not accounted for. It is highly probable that he was on the watch and when no watch was on, he walked in and watched out. He was sent, in default of $500 bail, to watch the told the postoffice clerk who received the trunk until the session of the Superior

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., June 23. The following little incident that occurred here a few evenings since, during the play of "Rough Diamond" by the Fayetteville Dramatic Association, forcibly illustrates the facility and readiness with which some minds parry an en carte thrust by a stinging repartee, and Shows the telling effect of an instantaneous flash of pungent wit: Mr. - represented "Cousin Joe" in the drama, and by his vivid and masterly conception of the character, sustained the role admirably and by his ingenious rendering of the salient points, and his incidental witicisms and local hits, frequently brought down the house. Just at the close of the play when the curtain maintained a Mahomet coffin like hesitency between the ceiling and the stage, and the audience was trying to catch a last, lingering look at "Cousin Joe's" funny phiz, some wag in the crowd having impregnated a cabbage with assafoetida, threw it to "Cousin Joe," with the expectation of raising a laugh at his expense, and thereby "grinning" him. "Cousin 200 Kegs Nails. Joe," hewever, was not at all disconcerted but, looking at the cabbage in his comic and inimical manner, that convulsed the audience with laughter, suddenly threw off his rustic character and thus addressed the crowd: "Ladies and gentlemen: I little thought when I undertood this comic character, which I have represented this evening, that it would be possible to offend any one by word or deed; but, as you all see, have reckoned without my host, for this picking up the cabbage) is an undeniable proof that one fellow at least has gotten so mad as to completely less his head." Thus the joke, boomerang-like, recoiled on its author, who, for some moments after the laughter at his expense had subsided, would have found considerable difficulty in composing the cuscles or his lips sufficiently to take a chew of tobacco or whistle "Silver
