Tennyson's Drama.

"Queen Mary," the latest production of Alfred Tennyson, is elaborately reviewed by the New York Herald. In concluding the Herald critic says: The most suprising thing about his drama is its complete unlikeness to everything the critic could have anticipated. In spite of its few Tennysonian lyrics and conceits it is not Tennysonian. It has none of the mawish sentimentality of "The Princess" and none of the morbid and obscure transcendentalism of "In Memoriam." In thought and treatment it is simple to severity. Even when it is most beautiful it is almost hald from the want of adornment. There is not a careless line nor an illconsidered speech from the first act to the last. Sometimes the constraint is too constrained and the severity too severe, but this is true only in the dramatic, not the literary sense. As the work of a poet it may be said to be faultless, and if its dramatic triumph has been equally assured, the laureate might well contest with Shakespeare the palm of been an actor without losing his gift of song, it is quite possible his work would have been a play as well as a drama. Its fault is in its failure to present to the eye what it reveals to the imagination, and yet its very clumsiness of construction is its perfection as a picture. The stage carpenter's hand would mar its beauty and yet fail to give it life. If we should see it on the stage we should miss in it that which is most exquisite, and find no recompense in the multitude of its scenes, matured in a poem, but shifting | P. M., 84; 9 P. M., 78 awkwardly in a play. It is dramatic in form, but not in fact, but while we regret the loss of the play we are not condemning the drama. As a poem even the dramatic form was necessary to the poet's purpose, and if he has cheated the playhouse he has enriched player and play-goer alike. As an historical study, as the picture of a reign and an age in some respects the most marvellous in the world's annals, his work is unsurpassed, we might say unsurpassable. No other, not even Shakespeare himself, could have done better with the materials at his command; and this much we may say of Tennyson's "Queen Mary," that if it is not the highest effort of genius, it tual culture.

The Herald of Saturday, writing with the prospect of a "hung jury before it, says:

With such a result of the trial as now seems probable Mr. Beecher will dark and polluting cloud. Plymouth church may continue to stand by him for a while, but his former ascendant moral influence will wilt into contempt. He will be regarded as a charlatan and a comedian in the pulpit, and if he continues to attract crowds it will be from motives of vulgar curiosity to look at a man who has survived his clerical honor, or a wish to see exhibitions of mere talent divorced from any high attribute of character, The great and respectable denomination of Congregational lists with which Plymouth church is com ected cannot afford to countemance a church which sustains a paszer of doubtful morals, and if a couneil of that denomination pronounces a sentence of disfellowship against Plymouth church it will be cut off from the sympathy of the religious world and must wither like a branch separated from its parent tree. If the Congregationalists disfellowship and cast off Plymouth church it will rest under a ban of moral condemnation which will reduce it to the disgraced pastor. This will be the months. natural consequence of a disagree ment of the jury, and, as a disagree-ment seems inevitable, "Ichabod" is written on the portals of the once famous Plymouth church.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. Synopsis of the Proceedings.

The Board of County Commissioners met yesterday at 3 o'clock, P. M.

Present-James Wilson, Chairman, and Commissioners Wagner, Van Amringe, Morris and Nixon. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The communication of S. A. Cutric was referred to the Finance Committee. It was ordered that the clerk notify Dr.

W. J. II. Bellamy of his appointment as physician to attend the out door poor of New Hanover county, living within the city of Wilmington, and that he be required to attend to all cases of sickness that may be called to his attention by the Chairman of the Board or any of its members, but only to such out door poor as may be confined to their homes by sickness. saddened by the drowning of Misses Hester

Commissioner Morris, who had been appointed with Chairman Wilson to look into the matter of J. H. Smyth and the Index Books, submitted the following report: WIGMINGTON, N. C.,

June 28th, 1875. Honorable Board of County Commissioners: GENTLEMEN: Having been appointed on the Committee to examine the matter of the transcription of the Index-Books, by J. H. Smyth, and the amount paid for said work, I beg leave to make the following report:

I find, on examination of the minutes, page 2,841, a petition from nearly all the members of the bar, to have copied two Index-Books, in the office of the Register of Deeds. I also find two applications to transcribe said books; one from Jasper Bishop, Esq., for fifteen hundred dollars, also one from J. H. Smyth, which reads as follows, dated Nov. 9th, 1874:

Henorable Board of County Commissioners: GENTLEMEN: The undersigned will contract to transcribe the two Index-Books for eleven hundred dollars, or two cents per name; compare and correct the same for fourteen hundred dollars. Hoping you may see fit to award me the contract. I am, with the highest consideration of respect, Yours, J. H. SMYTH.

On page 285, I find the following en-

The County Commissioners, where they deem it necessary, may direct the Register of Deeds to transcribe and index such of the books in the Register of Deeds' office, as from decay or other cause may require to be transcribed and indexed; they may allow him such compensation at the ex-pense of the county for this work as they think just: the books when so transcribed and opproved by the Board of Commissioners, shall be deemed and taken as public records; in like manner, to all intents, as the original books and copies therefrom, may be certified accordingly.

It seems that at the time that J. H. Smyth was directed to do this work he was acting as Deputy Register; he was I know, acting as Clerk to the Board of County Commis-

I find on partial examination of the work errors to exist; also many abbreviations are made with the given names, but the sur-names seem to be copies from the old index Books with some errors. I find many names on the old Index, and also new Index Books misspellled. The work is not complete and has not been compared. The Books have never been tendered to this Books have never been tendered to this Board as complete. To examine this work fully would require more time than has been allowed me, and I would recommend that this work be completed at the earliest possible moment, that it may be tendered to this Board and examined fully, that it may be received or rejected as the work may justify.

Reflections having been cast upon this Board in the past few days, and feeling conscious of having honestly endeavored to discharge my duty to the public as a Commissioner, I invite the strictest scrutiny into my conduct, and I would respectfully suggest that the Board invite investigation that they may be vindicated and the public satisfied. All of which is respectfully submitted, All of which is respectfully submitted,

The report was received and placed on

The Chairman asked why his report had not been received in the same way. Wagner said he was in favor of receiving a part of it. The Chairman said he would not change it; if his report (heretofore published in full in the STAR) was not received he would enter his protest.

VanAmringe said he objected to the Chalrman's report because it reflected on the Auditing Committee.

Wagner was willing to receive so much of the Chairman's report af did not conflict with Morris' report; he objected to the charges.

Morris said his report was an Impartial statement of the facts; that he had given much time to it and thought it was cor

The Chairman asked the latter why he did not sign his report.

Morris stated that because he knew nothing of the facts por the conversation the Chairman had with Smyth, and had taken no part in them, and he could not sign what he did not know anything about; he thought it was his duty to investigate the matter himself. The Chai man interposed that he was Chairman of the committee that had been appointed for the purpose; that the report of the other member of the committee had been received and his thrown under the table. He said he intended to look up the whole matter; that he had other charges to prefer against Smyth; that he told Smyth that he would not sign the warrant for him to get all the money before the work was completed. He told Smyth it was an outrage on the county.

Wagner asked if that conversation had taken place before the Board, and if The Chairman responded that it had not. He said while he was on the excursion

Smyth took the opportunity to get the Wagner asked the Chairman why he did not state to the Board something of this matter, and they would not have had Smyth's warrant signed, but would have put it off until the Chairman saw fit to sign it. VanAmringe thought the report reflected on the chairman pro tem. and therefore he would not sign it. He further said that he could prove where Flack under a former Board had drawn $2,800 in some similar transaction.

Nixon said he saw no objection to the re. port being spread upon the minutes.

The majority of the Board dissented, for reasons appering in the above report of the debate, and the report of chairman Wilson was not received. The chairman therefore entered the following protest, and requested that it be spread upon the minutes: Having been appointed on a committee to examine into the matter of the transcrip-tion of the Index books by J. H. Smyth, and having given the matter a thorough investigation, at the last meeting of the Board I presented a report on said subject and as the Board have made objections to the reception of the said report, now therefore, I James Wilson, do solemnly protest against the conduct of the Board in giving to J. H. Smyth moneys belonging to the county of New Hanover amounting in all to the sum of thirteen hundred dollars for work im-properly performed on the said Index

I do further protest against the conduct of the Auditing Committee of the said Board in having audited the account of J. H. Smyth to the full amount and extent of his contract to wit, the snm of fourteen hundred dollars without having made proper investigation as to the progress or completion of said work of transcription. The young men, however, moved bravely on, bending all their engines in order to win the contest. The Wright made a very promising start, but one of the bow oarlocks slipped out, which caused her to fall behind to some extent. The course was from the Market Dock to and around a buoy opposite Berry's Ship Yard and return to the home buoy. After the choosing of the Grand Ju y, His, Honor proceeded to deliver his charge. It was very instructive and elaborate, and occupied about one hour and twenty-five minutes in its delivery. Nearly all the offiences I nown to the law were touched upon, and many of the more important ones dwelt upon at considerable length.

The offences created by recent statutes were explained and the necessity for the eaforcement of the penalties in such laws urged with force. The duty of public officers were treated upon and the law re garding libel came in for a full share of at tention. The misdemeanors of officers of law regarding the treatment and disposal of prisoners was spoken of at some length. Our space is far too circumscribed to give even a synopsis of the very able and instructive charge of His Honor. At the conclusion of the criminal docket was called over and an alias capi 's ordered for each offender who was marked not taken. The other cases were fixed for trial. The criminal docket composes a list of 75 cases. There are among the number several capital cases; some for libel, for assault with intent to kill, and many others of importance. The morning session adjourn-
