The Excursion Yesterday.

The excursion yesterday to Smithville and the Black Fish Grounds, under the auspices of the Apollo Cornet Band, was a very enjoyable affair. The steamer Waco, manned with a goodly number of ladies and gentlemen, bent on willing away the hours of a long summer day by a trip in every degree pleasant and agreeable and having a quiet sunder among the streets of Smithville. Owing to a slight defect in the machinery of the Waco the services of one of the tugs was called into requisition and the steamer was towed down below the Dam Tree. By that time, however, the machinery had been put in order and steam was gotten up, and the Waco came with her happy party of excursionists continued on her way rejoicing.

At intervals during the trip the Apollo Band discoursed some excellent music, enlivening the scene which was already rendered grandly enjoyable by the presence of a string band, to the music of which the light fantastic was tripped to the satisfaction of all present.

On arriving at Smithville the party of pleasure-seekers repaired to the garrison, where a spacious hall had been provided through the courtesy of the commandant of the post. Here dancing was engaged in by a number, while others visited the spots of interest in the little town. It was decided not to attempt to go to the Black Fish Grounds on account of the heavy sea prevailing at the time, so that those so disposed were deprived of an opportunity of attempting to capture any members of the finny tribe. At last the pleasant sojourn at Smithville was drawing to a close, but before the excursionists left the garrison, the Apollo Band were drawn up in line upon the green field and there discoursed some of their favorite airs to the delight of many listeners. The party again embarked, and after a pleasant trip up the river, arrived, without further incident, at the city, having spent an exceedingly enjoyable day.

GEORGE APPLEWHITE.

Further Particulars of the Arrest of Applewhite—Interesting Details—A Colored Man Made Rich by the Capture—Doubtful Rumors of Henry Berry Lowrey's Existence—He is Reported to Have Left Goldsboro Thursday Night—Crops and Politics in Wayne.

[From a Star Correspondent.] GOLDSBORO, N. C., July 2, 1875. The arrest of the negro outlaw George Applewhite, in this town yesterday afternoon, caused considerable excitement.

Applewhite has been living here for two or more years, under the name of William Jackson. His arrest was effected by William Freeman, colored, of the town police, and not by the Sheriff of Wayne, as reported by telegraph.

I had an interview with Freeman this morning. In reply to a question of mine as to there being any doubt of Applewhite's identity, the sable officer replied, "No, sir; dar ain't no mo' doubt 'bout de fact dar is 'bout my bein' de man de white folks calls William Freeman." The lucidness of this reply will be seen at once.

William, as a matter of course, expects the reward, which, I am told, amounts to several thousand dollars. William will soon be a wealthy man—a bloated black aristocrat—no longer revolving around the lazzaroni of the town, but the lazzaroni of the town revolving around him in the social system.

Applewhite is closely confined in the county jail here, where he awaits the arrival of the Sheriff of Robeson, who is expected to-night.

The capture of this member of the notorious Lowrey gang has revived the story of Henry Berry Lowrey's existence on this "dark terrestrial ball." A negro blacksmith asserts that Henry Berry boarded at his house in Slabtown (a suburban village of Goldsboro) for four months during the past year, while another colored man solemnly declares he saw Henry Berry leave town last night in company with two women and a baby. "What will Rhody say?"

The corn and cotton crops throughout this section are in a flourishing condition. A fall crop is expected. Wayne County Convention to nominate candidates for State Convention will assemble in Goldsboro on the 13th inst. Hop, W. T. Dortch is spoken of as one of the probable nominees.

HENRY BERRY LOWREY.

A Man Captured at Dudley's—Supposed to be H. B. Lowrey—In the Custody of the Law and the People—The County Agitated.

We learn from a passenger who arrived in the city last night that yesterday at Dudley's, on the W. & W. railroad, an exciting scene took place, caused by the arrest of a colored man said to be the real Henry Berry Lowrey himself. He was accompanied by two white women who he claimed as his wives, and they in turn were accompanied by one child each. It appears that the rumor which circulated in Goldsboro, of which our correspondent in this issue makes mention, that Henry Berry Lowrey had left there with two wives gave rise to a chase which ended in the capture of the man at Dudley's as Henry Berry. Our informant states that the women manifested much affectionate sympathy for the prisoner in his troubles and sore afflictions, which were doubtless full of terror, as an excited mob together with a few officers of the law held him in custody, and the whole county was in an uproar.

Fire Last Night.

The city was thrown into a state of excitement last night, at about 9 o'clock, by the discovery of flames coming from a small frame building, located on Second street, near Market, the appearance of a fire in such a thickly populated portion of the city, being occasion for much alarm. The Fire Department was promptly on the spot, and most effective service was rendered by the Hook and Ladder Company, in pulling the building frame-work to the ground, and thereby contributing considerably to the final annihilation of the conflagration. The fire was confined to two small wood shanties, which were totally destroyed, situated on the Bettsencourt estate. The flames originated in one of the shanties which was occupied by L. Cole, as an eating house. No cause is ascribed for the fire, except, perhaps, a defective stove-pipe, attached to a stove in which it is supposed fire was left when the house was closed up in the evening, it being unoccupied at night. Cole's loss in stock was probably about $100. The other shanty was used in one portion as a colored boarding house, and in the other as a grocery store house. The furniture was sold out of the former apartment and the greater portion of the merchandise which stood in the latter was also saved. The property is insured in the agency of Messrs. W. T. Smith & Co. to the amount of $500, which is probably enough to cover the entire loss. The furniture of Mr. S. W. Dunham, whose residence was thought to be in danger at one time during the progress of the fire, was some while in jeopardy.
