NEW YORK, August 8. The respectable residents of Baby-Long Island, are considerably excited over the elopement of Miss Broncher, the adopted daughter of one of the wealthiest residents of Babylon, with a negro servant named Chauncey Brewster. It appears from the story told by the friends of both parties concerned that on Sunday night last the girl received permission from her guardian to go to church, and she left the house accompanied by a female friend. After going a short distance the two parted as they were going to different churches. At one of the street corners of the village she met Brewster and accompanied him to the house of a colored man named, in Amityville, where she remained a day and a night in company with Brewster. Her friends became plarmed at her absence and notified the police of the village of it. On Tuesday evening she was discovered by Constable Weeks and taken to Babylon.

Mrs. Broncher is a widow, owning one of the finest places in or around Babylon, and enjoys a handsome in-come left her by her husband. Fonrteen years ago she adopted Louella Conklin, the daughter of a blacksmith who had been divorced from his wife. The child was then three years old, and as she grew up Mrs. Broucher sent her to New York and educated her highly. Special attention was paid to her musical cultivation, and much money was spent to make her an accomplished singer. She profited largely by the rare advantages afforded her, and became so proficient a musician that it was currently rumored that her destination was to be the operatic stage; not that it was at all necessary for her to embrace a profession as a means of support, for Mrs. Broucher had provided amply for her. She grew up an extremely handsome girl, and at the newed laughter. Do you remember age of seventeen was spoken of as the story of Webster, that Russell the Belle of Babylon. Her beauty Lowell tells, when we, in Massachuand her expected wealth, as may be setts, were about to break up the supposed, gained for her unnumbered | Whig party? Webster came home admirers, and Mrs. Broucher looked forward to a brilliant match for her

That a girl so attractive and possessed of such rare accomplishments should fall before the blandishments of a colored coachman was a thing so inexplicable that many when they heard of it were half inclined to put faith in the potency of the negro charm spoken of in the first day's preliminary examination, and believe that Brewster had stolen away his dupe's affections by placing nine pins and ten needles, together with a lock of his own and her hair, in a vial, and filling it with water on the first day of each month; for this is said by the colored men of Babylon to be the crafty artifice by which they make a white girl fall into their toils.

Last Sunday evening Miss Conklin went out, as she said, to go to church. That night she was seen to meet Brewster, and on Tuesday Officer man named Charley Jackson. The girl was taken home, and Brewster was locked up in a room in Duryea's Yesterday the examination was concluded. The proceedings were brief, and consisted chiefly in acrimonious arguments between Mr. Walker and Mr. Griffin. The latter gentleman slowed an amount of indignation that s emed rather unprofessional, but the crowd in the court room liked it, and applanded without stint. Previously he had reproached Mr. Walker for defending so flagrant a scoundrel as Brewster. Mr. Walker explained that he appeared not because he had any sympathy with the alleged criminal, but to give him the benefit of such points of law as might arise in his lavor; he esteemed this to be his duty as a barrister. O'Conneil's Eloquence and Courage.

[Wendell Phillips' Oration at Boston.]

O'Counell owed it to his eloquence.
I do not think I should exaggerate if I said that God, since he made Demosthenes, never made a man so fit for the great work as he did O'Connell. You may think I am partial to my hero, very naturally. But John Randolph, of Roanoke, who hated an Irishman almost as much as he did a Yankee, when he got to London and heard O'Connell, the old slaveholder held up his hands and said: "This is the man-those are the lips, the most eloquent that speak English in my And I think he was right .-[Applause.] Webster coald address a bench of judges; Everett could charm a college; Choate could delude a jury; Clay could magnetize a Senate; Tom Corwin could hold the mob in his right hand; but no one of them could do more than that one thing. The wonder of O'Connell was that he could out talk Corwin, he could charm a college better than Everett; delude a jury better than a Choate, and leave Clay himself far behind in magnetizing a Senate. I have heard all the majestic orators of America, who are singularly famed on the world's circumference. I know what was the majesty of Webster; I know what it was to melt under the magnetism of Henry Clay; I have seen eloquence in the iron logic of Calbean; but all three together never surpassed, and no one of them ever equalled, the great Irishman. [Applause.] In the first place he had—what is half the power with a popular ortor-a majestic presence. God put that royal soul into a body as royal. He had, in early youth, the brow of Jove or Jupiter, and the stature of Apollo; a little O'Connell would have been no O'Connell at all. [Laughter.] Sydney Smith said of Lord John Russell's five feet, when he went down to Yorkshire, after the reform bill had been carried, the stalwart hunters of Yorkshire said: "That little shrimp! What, he carry the reform bill?" " No, no," said Sydney; "no; he was a large man; but the labors of the bill shrunk him." [Re-to Faneuil Hall to protest, and four thousand Whigs went to meet him. He lifted up that majestic presence before the sea of human faces, his brow charged with thunder, and he said: "I am a Whig-a Massachusetts Whig-a Revolutionary Whig -a Constitutional Whig-a Faneuil Hall Whig. And if you break up the Whig party, where am I to go?"

And Russell Lowell says: "We held our breaths, thinking where he could go." [Laughter.] "But if he had been five feet five," said Lowell, "we would have said: 'Well, hang it, who cares where you go?" [Renewed laughter.] Well, O'Conneil had all that. Then he had beside what Webster never had and what Clay hadthe magnetism and grace that melts a million souls into his.

The Fallure of the Mormon 's cial. The failure of the jury to agree in agree in the trial of John D. Lee, a Weeks found them in the house of a Mormoh, for the horrible butchery known as the Mountain Meadow massacre, renders it improbable that there will ever be punishment by the courts for this fiendish atrocity. The number of Mormons on the jury rendered it doubtful from the first whether the accused would be convicted. It is, however, proof of a progress of civilization in that region, which might be emulated with safety in certain more pretentious localities, that two Mormon jurors joined the one Gentile juror in wanting a verdict of conviction. The jury stood exactly as it did in the Beecher case-nine against three.-The nine, in the case of Lec, seemed to have been entirely indifferent to the evidence against the prisoner .-The material points of the prosecution were made out clearly and connectedly, and the blood of the victime fixed upon Mormonsonunder the leadership of Lee, and in obedience to a real or pretended mandate of the so-called Mormon Church. It is nearly twenty years since this crime was committed. The "Danites," then and for years thereafter as much a part of the Mormon Church as its priests and "Oh! o-oh! I'm so 'fraid of the prophets, guarded every channel to retribution. They were the "Avenging Angels" of the Church, and scores of offenders, often unconscious of their offence, fell before the swift and pitiless stroke of that murderous organization. It has passed away as the advance of civilization encompassed it, and now, after two decades, justice has been strengthened to make a feeble effort to assert her majesty in the Mormon dominions. It is a good beginning, and the day is not distant when the Mormon Church shall cease to protect the murderer even in the

Kidney Complaint,

Probably there is no complaint that afflicts the human system which is so little understood at the present time, as some of the varied forms of Kidpresent time, as some of the varied forms of Kidney Complaint.

There is no disease which causes such acute pain or more alarming in its results than we en the kidneys fail to secrete from the blood and uric acid, and other poisonous substances, which the blood accumulates in its circulation through the system.

If from any cause the kidneys fail to perform the functions devolving upon them, the camulations are taken up by the absorbents and the whole system thrown into a state of disease, causing great tem thrown into a state of disease, causing great pain and suffering, and very often immediate death, Hence the importance of keeping the kidneys and blood in a healthy condition, through which all the impurities of the body must pass.

Pain in the Back.

There is no remedy known to medical science which has proved itself more variable in cases of Kidney Complaint than the VEGETINE It acts directly upon the secretions, cleanses and purifice the blood and restores the whole system to healthy action.

The following extraordinary cure of great suffer ers, who have been given up by the best physicians as hopeless cases, will speak for themselves, and should challenge the most profound attention of the medical faculty, as well as of those who are suffering from Kidney Complaint.

The Best Medicine.

EAST MARSHFIELD. Aug. 20, 1870. MR. STEVENS: Dear Sir—I am seventy-one years of age; have suffered many years with Kidney Complaint, weakness in my back and stomach. I was induced by friends to nee your VEGETINE, and I think it the best medicine for weaknes of the Kidneys I ever used. I have tried many remedies for this complaint, and never found so much relief as from the VEGETINE. It strengthens and invigorates the whole system. Many of my acquaintances have tak-n it, and I believe it to be good for all the complaints for which it is recommended.

Yours truly.

JOSIAH II. SHERMAN. Yours truly,

Pronounced Incurable.

BOSTON, May 20, 1871. Boston, May 20, 1871.

11. R. Stevens. Esq.: Dear Sir—I have been bodly afflicted with kidney Complaint for ten years, have suffered great pain in my back, hips and side, with great difficulty in pass ag urine, which was often and in very small quantities, frequently accompanied with blod and excrutiating pain.

1 have faithfully tried most of the popular remedies recommended for my complaint; I have been under the treatment of some of the most skillful physicians in Boston, all of whom pronounced my case incurable. This was my condition when I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetine, and I could see the good effects from the first dose I took, could see the good effects from the first dose I took, and from that moment I kept on improving until I was entirely cured. taking in all, I should think, about six bottles.

It is indeed a valuable medicine, and if I shou be afflicted again in the same way, I would give a dollar for a dose, if I could not get it without.

Respectfully. 2 J. M. GILE,

351 Third street, South Boston.

Nearly Blind.

II. R. STEVENS: Dear Sir—In expressing my thanks to you for benefits derived from the use of VEGETINE, and to benefit others I will state: When eight or nine years old I was afflicted with Scrofula, which made its appearance in my eyes face and head, and I was very near blind for two years. All kinds of operations were performed on my eyes, and all to no good result. Finally the dis-ease principally settled in my body, limbs and feet, case principally settled in my body, limbs and feet, and at times in an aggravated way.

Last summer I was, from some cause, weak in my spine and kidneys, and it was at times very hard to retain the urine. Seeing your advertisement in the Commercial I bought a bottle of Vegetine and commenced using according to directions. In two or three days I obtained great relief. After using four or five bottles I noticed it had a wonderful effect on the rough, scaly blotches on my body and legs. I still used Vegetine, and the humorous sores one after another disappeared until they were all gone, and I attribute the cure of the two diseases to Vegetine, and obthing else. all gone, and I attribute the cure of the two diseases to VERETINE, and nothing else.

If I am ever affected with anything of the kind again. I shall try VERTINE as the only reliable remedy. Once more accept my thanks, and believe me to be.

Very respectfully,

AUSTIN PARROTT,

Dec. 1, 1872.

Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, etc., are always Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, etc., are always unpleasant, and at times they become the most distressing and dangerous diseases that can affect the human system. Most diseases of the Kidneys arise from impurities in the blood, causing humors which settle on these parts. VEGETINE excels any known remedy in the whole world for cleaning and purifying the blood, thereby causing a healthy action to all the organs of the body.

APPLETON'S American Cyclopædia. New Revised Edition.

Entirely rewritten by the salest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several thousand Engravings and Maps. The work eriginally published under the title of The New American Cyclopedia was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place it every branch of science, literature, and art, have in duced the editors and publishers to submit to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled The American Cyclopedia.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery act and thereone revision, and a fiscale a new cuttion entitled The American Cyclorædia.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knewledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

Large accessions to our geographical knewledge have been made by the indefalitable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose brames are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars.—Great battles have been fought and important sleges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the flay, but which ought now to take their permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh preduction in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct an original record of the progress of political events.

The work has been neguri after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new. Cyclopedia, with the same pian and compasse as its predecesser, but with a far greater pecuniary, expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of platodal effect, but so give greater lucid ity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the processes of mechanics and manufacturers. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excelle

**Specimen pages of the Anguican Cyclopedia, showing type, illustrations, etc., will be sent gratis, on application.
