Funeral of Ex-Governor Graham. |Sentinel of Monday.]

The funeral of the late ex-Governor Graham took place in Hilleboro yesterday. Although it was a rainy day the rain held up during the funeral

A very large concourse of citizens from Orange, Wake, Alamance, Guilford and various parts of the State were assembled in the town to witness the last sad funeral obsequies, pay their farewell tribute to one whom they so highly honesteemed in life. The number of those present is variously estimated from one to three thousand. It was perhaps the largest crowd that ever assembled in Hillsboro, and was a striking illustration of the great popularity of the deceased statesman,

The body lay in state in the parlor of the Graham homestead from Friday night until vesterday, and hundreds of citizens viewed the remains and deposited floral offerings on the

The sermon was preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald. Hymns were sung, prayers were offered, the blessing pronounced, and the body was borne from the church to its final resting place in the adjacent burial ground, and there, amid the solemn silence of the vast assemblage and the tears of hundreds of mourners, all that remains of the great and good William Alexander Graham was buried out of sight forever!

Thus ends in the gloom of the grave the day of one of the Old North State's noblest sons.

Death of a Former Wilmingtonian. The many friends of Mr. Wm. Dienst bach, who left here a few years since for St. Louis, where his relatives reside, and who was well known in our midst, will regret to learn that he departed this life in that city on the 1st day of the present month. There are few Wilmingtonians who do not remember Wm. Deiastbach and few have forgotten that he it was who, in 1854, received from the hands of Col. E. D. Hall the first flag borne by the German Voluntners-an organization which, under the command of Capt. Jacob Wessell, was then in its infancy, but which afterwards reflected such credit upon its members and the city-which flag was proudly cherished by the members as a present from the fair ladies of Wilmington, and which was borne by them to Fort Caswell on the breaking out of the late war. One thing can be said to the never-failing credit of the subject of this notice—that he was never known to halt or hesitate when the cry of distress was heard, and many in our midst can bear testimony to the generous impulses which so often moved him to deeds of love and charity. Deceased was about 53 years of age.

A colored man and a colored woman named Mary Morgan, charged with quarreling and creating a disturbance on the premises of a citizen year the City Hall, were fined $10 each and costs.

Mary Morgan, charged with resisting a police officer in the discharge of his duty, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

Two saloon keepers, charged with allowing their places of business to remain open until after 12 o'elock on Saturday nights, were required to pay a fine of $50 and costs, each. Defendants appealed to the Superior Court and were notified to give a justified bond in the sum of $100 each for their appearance.

Cleaning Cp. Mayor Canaday informs us that the whole street force has been put to work in cleaning up and putting the same in a good sanitary condition. I'he various alleys will also receive their attention. In this connection it may be well to state that no lumber. brick or other obstructions will be allowed in the gutters, all of which are to be thoroughly overhauled. The health officers have also received instructions to be diligent and unceasing in their efforts to preserve and promote the health of the city.

Good Time Among the Richmond

On Saturday morning, the 12th inst., ac cording to appointment, a large number of Grangers, representing several Granges, with their Granger friends, met to hold a-Granger meeting and eat a real Granger dinner. The meeting was presided over by P. McRae, Esq., who introduced Colonel Joshua Hudson, of Bennettsville, S. C., who was followed by Colonel C. W. Dudley, of the same place, who addressed the crowd pleasantly, after which a real Granger feast was spread upon the table and the polite assemblage made welcome to the tempting viands placed before them. After the crowd had showed their appreciation of the generous welcome given by Mr. P. McRae. president of the meeting and Master of Laurinburg Grange, watermelon-eating and love-making became the order of the days all of which was cut short by the approach of a threatening rain cloud.

The meeting was largely attended by the citizens of Richmond and Robeson coun ties in North Carolina and Marion and Marlboro counties in South Carolina. Caladonia Church, in Richmond county, where the meeting was held, will long be pleasantly remembered by many who went away happier (and some who went away wetter) for having been there. We think that after the appetites of the large crowd had been satisfied there were gathered up about forty large baskets of

THE MURDER OF MRS. QUICK.

Further Particulars of the Late Homleide-Arrest of the Murderer -The Facts Elicited by the Coroner's Jury Established by the Confession of the Murderer-A Vile Plot Unfolded.

Upon the arrest of Henry Calder, under warrant issued by the Coroner of Marlboro county, S. C., he confessed that some days before the murder beretofore alluded to in our issues of Tuesday and Wednesday last, he had been employed to marry Mrs. Quick and then afterwards dispose of her, unless he could decoy her off alone and murder her secretly on the way to the residence of the minister selected to perform the marriage service. The plot being thus far successful, and when a little over half way from the residence of the woman to that of the minister, Calder drew a club from his clothing, which he had previously concealed, and struck her a terrible blow across the mouth, breaking her jawbone in two places (as shown by post mortem examination.) The murderer then cut her throat and searched her for the large amount of money which Charley Quick had told him she carried about her person, but he found only a small amount of currency and silver, besides numerous papers, among which was a note against Charles Quick, the accomplice, for eight hundred dollars, which was turned over to Quick as per previous agreement. After murdering the woman, Calder left her for the purpose of getting a spade with which to bury her, but felt so badly for what he had done that he final'y concluded not to go about her again, but went to the banks of a stream near by and after searching the pocket book taken from the murdered lady carefully, he took out the contents and threw the book in the water, after which he left for his home in the lower part of Marion county, S. C., where Quick went to meet him and obtain the note taken up and brought to trial, from whence ful murder. As stated before, Charles Quick married step-daughter of the murdered lady, to whom her property was to descend at her death, which induced Charles Quick to secure her departure from this life. Peter Calder, a near neighbor to the murdered lady, had talked over the murder with these parties before hand and knew their plans. He, too, has been arrested, but we know nothing of the result of his arrest yet.

The Excursion To-Morrow-A Grand

Time Anticipated. The excursion on board the fine and commodious steamer Raleigh, of the Baltimore and Wilmington Steamship Line, to be given to-morrow by the Wilmington Light Infantry, it is conceded will be one of the grandest affairs of the season. The members of the company are among our most prominent and promising middle-aged and young men, and this, together with the well known affability and courtesy of the genial commander of the Raleigh, will add interesting features to this excursion. The accommodations for dancers are exquisite. and calculated to afford all who desire an abundance of opportunity "to trip the light! fantastic toe" to their hearts' content, while the refreshment department will in no wise be neglected. Then, those of the excursionists who have never yet had an opportunity to view the broad expanse of "Old Ocean" with the horizon not dimmed by a sight of land, will here have their craving for one of the grandest scenes in nature satiated, as the Raleigh will plough the deep until every vestige of land will fade away in the distance. The Raleigh will leave her wharf, foot of Mulberry street, at 8 o'clock sharp. We are requested to state that members of the organization and others who have volunteered donations of cake are expected to send the same to the office of Messrs. Taylor & Giles by three o'clock this afternoon.

Crops Up the River. In the section bordering the Cape Fear the condition of the crops is generally stated to be good. Both corn and cotton make a good show from the boats. The present freshet has caused a good deal of uneasiness in anticipation of an overflow, and in some few very low places crops are in the water, but the principal danger is now believed to be over, as the flood is fast passing out, and the damage will be slight, save in exceptional cases.
