He did not like her to ask her to pick up his reins for a widow he had paid more attention him, because he did not know what excuse to make for not doing it himself. Then he looked down the road behind him and saw a white-faced horse coming, and at once surmised it was that of Gus. Stockridge. He resolved to do or die, and hurriedly told his errand. but there was no help for it now, so he called Ed. to him, and whispered in his ear. Ed. was like to burst with suppressed laughter, but he beckoned to his wife to draw up, and, after say-ing something to her, he helped the widow out of Bill's buggy and into his, and the two women went on, leaving the men behind. Bill lost no time in arranging his toilet as well as he could, and then with great persuasion Ed. got him to go home with him, and hunting up slippers and socks, and getting him washed and combed, had him quite presentable when the ladies arrived. I need not tell how the story was all wormed out of bashful Bill, and how they all laughed as they sat around the tea table that night, but will conclude by saying that they went to the show together, and Bill has no fear of Gus Stockrider now.

This is the story about Bill and the widow just as I had it from Ed. Wilbur, and if there is anything unsatisfactory about it ask him.

The STAR is one of our most highly valued ex-changes, and it affords as pleasure to recommend it as one of the most racy and reliable dailies in North

It is one of the most manly and vigorous Dallies among the thousands in the land. There is no dodging about this paper, but it meets every issue fairly and squarely. It is always full of interesting matter, and the wonder is how, in the short space of twenty-four hours, it can gather up so much ha-formation, and so varied. It has from the first had an honorable career, and we wish it many years of prosperity.—N. C. Presbuterian.

The STAR is undoubtedly an enterprising sheet, beautifully printed and conducted with marked ability. Mr. Bernard deserves great credit for his efforts in journalism.—Raleigh Sent' vel.

No paper ever started in North Carolina has grown so rapidly as has the STAR. Though only five years old, it is now a fixed institution, enjoying an influ-ence and a prosperity second to none in the State. – Salisbury Watchman.

There is no discase which causes such acute pain or more alarming in its results than when the kid-neys fail to secrete from the blood and uric acid, and other poisonous substances, which the blood accumulates in its circulation through the system. If from any cause the kidneys fail to perform the functions devolving upon them, the cumulations are taken up by the absorbents and the whole sys-tem thrown toto a state of disease, causing great pain and suffering, and very often immediate death. Hence the importance of kneping the kidneys and blood in a healthy condition, through which all the impurities of the body must pass.
